VIENNA, JAN. 1.—The Standard says the Khedive, once urged by the advice of the German and Russian Governments, has refused to comply with Encladé's demand to buy the Chamber of No able for the purpose of voting a reduction in the land tax and promulgating in favor of the British financial proposal.

The Mahdi's followers are gathered in force to leave march north of Omdurman. They have repeatedly attacked Omdurman, but have been repulsed with heavy loss and compelled to retreat. General Gordon, upon learning that the Bedouin Arabs came to the wells during night and shot them, sent a detachment of British and armed boats to guard the wells and prevent access thereto, thereby causing great suffering among the rebels, many of whom died from smallpox and dysentery. The Mahdi then withdrew with his army to Jibbar, two days from Omdurman. Several tribes have deserted. The Nubians told the principal chiefs he intended to make a stand at Mudir of Dongola. The chief of the Sudan has been ordered to DUBLIN, Jan. 1.—Lord William Comyngham Plunkett, Lord Mayor of Meath, was to-day consecrated Archbishop of Dublin.

THE LETTER FROM GORDON.

KORTI, Jan. 1.—Gen Gordon's note is not an inch square. 2 paper rolled up the size of a gun and a Gen. Gordon estimates the price at Gen. Gordon estimates the Mahdi's force at 20,000. Gen. Gordon's night is a perilous watch, visiting the posts to see that every sentry is on duty. He has two palanquins, with a gun mounted on each. He sits up, examines them and gives to assure himself that they are properly armed and ready for use. At 10 p.m. the moon rises and the great part of the day. Gen. Gordon is described as cheerful. The tale of the Black War continues to have lived at Korti.

must repeat a very old story. I assure you I must last week at the Lawn Club. It is not generally known, but it is too good to be lost. Mr. Gladstone was one of his great friends, the boys and Lord Beaconsfield and the world went up into a great uproar. It is the right honourable Mr. Gladstone. On this the

Mr. Diarsell leaned forward and had left off, his hands clasped in prayer. "The last word was 'satellites,'" he said. "The last word was 'satellites.'"

A Business Change, to take place on February 1st, necessitates a general reduction of Stock in all Lines, a reduction that must be made. It's imperative and necessary. The sale will be for cash only. There will be a sacrificing reduction in prices. After nine years successful trade, we give the public the benefit of a straight-out-at-cost-sale. The Stock is large, full and most complete. We have imported direct, and the lines of Goods are unapproachable value. We will sell you freely AT COST, what we'd rather sell without profit, than not sell at all. We offer you your deliberate choice out of what is probably the largest stock of goods in Peterborough to-day—a stock of many departments; combined, they embrace every class of Goods for personal or home use.

In OUR ORDERED CLOTHING DEPARTMENT single garments or suits will be made up at prices to match our straight out sale, and in keeping with good trimmings and good workmanship.

If you've read, you'll have to come and see. If you come, you'll have to buy. The opportunity is a golden one. We ask to be put to the test. We'll please you in material, in goods and in prices. Come! If you don't go away with more knowledge and goods, and less money, then you are not open to bargains.

A DESPERATE CONFLICT

Between White Traders and South Sea Islanders.

Letters have been received from Melbourne containing particulars of encounters which the Miranda, Captain Acland, had with the natives during a six months' cruise among the Southern Sea Islanders. During her cruise she met into

Havannah Harbour. The schooner John Hunt was in port, and the crew reported that the captain had been murdered by the natives at Rehman's Bay. Hither the Miranda went, by the Undine. The natives assumed a friendly attitude, and when informed that the murderers of Captain Hunt must be given up, attempted to spear the interpreter. After receiving due warning and replying that they would rather fight than give up the murderers, the Miranda opened fire upon the natives with two seven-inch guns, two sixty-four pounders, and two Gatlings. Most of the natives speculily took to the bush, but a number remained on the beach and sent a volley of poisoned arrows after the Miranda's boat. The Miranda's fire was kept up for an hour, and a large party of men were landed to destroy the village, but it was found to be so far inland that they gave up the task. The natives afterwards proceeded to Aipi and demanded payment of the fine imposed some months since upon the natives

by Captain Dale, of the Diamond, for the murder of the Government agent, and two of the crew of the Lavinia. The surrender of Koro, the chief murderer, was also demanded, but neither of these requests being complied with, the natives were loaded under Lieutenant Fisher. Thereupon the natives deserted the place, and the village was at once burnt and the plantation destroyed.

The Thrilling Story.

The following, clipped from a continued story in a newspaper, is a specimen of the way the "thrilling and popular novel" is spun out:—

Deeply and the clasped her hands.

Then wildly beat them on her bosom.

Garford was deceived, touched.

Springing forward, he caught her hands in his. Florence lifted her eyes.

They rested with all love and power on his face.

"Pity me," she murmured plaintively.

It was a severe trial she had put him to.

Who would conquer?

For a space not a word was spoken.

She remained kneeling leaning slightly forward her face upturned.

He, yet clasping her hands, bent over her.

His eyes riveted on her.

He saw the fair bosom have tumultuously beaten her bosom.

He saw her graceful eyes.

He seemed to see the performed breath playing on the red lips.

He trembled.

Her Only Cosmetics.

"The only cosmetics I have used," said an old lady, "is a flannel wash-cloth. For forty years

I have bathed my face every night and morning with clear water as hot as I can bear it, using for the purpose a small square of flannel, renewed as often as it grows thick and felt like. My mother taught me to do this, as her mother had done before. No soap, no powder, nor glycerine even, has touched my face, and this is what my skin is at sixty." The household, touching with praiseworthy pride a cheek whose peachy bloom and fine, soft texture gave effective emphasis to the recipe.—Harper's Bazar.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Ripe tomatoes are hanging on the vines at Tallahassee, Fla.

Thirty feet apart is near enough for orchard tree, and forty is better.

The largest prune orchard in the world is situated at Saratoga, Cal., and contains 10,000 trees.

If you would have sound, active, vigorous handsome horses, have clean, well-ventilated stables, sound food and pure water.

This pear is the longest lived among fruit trees, statistics showing that trees of some varieties live to be a hundred and seventy-five years old.

A watermelon may be sown in good condition up to the Christmas holidays by wrapping it carefully in straw and burying it two feet in sand.

The best time for watering flowers in summer is the evening, and in winter noon is best. Rain or brook water is always preferable to the well water.

Keep the stable windows closed against cold draughts, and by all means have the cooling over the stable as high as possible to prevent the dust and chaff from sitting down on the animals besides.

If the wheat crop is protected by some covering during the winter, it will seldom fail producing a good yield of grain. Wheat roots are not injured by hard frosts, but by being broken loose from the soil when the frost leaves the ground in the spring, or during open weather in winter.

Farm poultry may be known by its full bright eyes, plump feet, and soft comb.

The best is plump, fat and nearly white, and the grain of the flesh is fine. The breast bone of a young fowl may be easily bent with the finger. The flesh on the back and legs of old fowls has a purplish tinge.

In a large litter of pigs there will always be some that are under-sized. If the larger and stronger pigs are taken from the sow first and fed liberally they will not suffer, while the weakerlings, given more of the sow's milk, will grow rapidly and make the litter more even in size than they would be if all were taken off at once.

The Queen's Tribute.

A telegram from Cleveland, Ohio, says:—A committee appointed by the Grand Lodge of the Order of Sons of St. George to have framed the wreath sent by Queen Victoria to the Garfield funeral, report that they have fulfilled their instructions and that the work is complete.

The large, beautiful wreath of calla lilies, presented to the battle of Waterloo to build a

English oak. The wood is taken from a tree that stood for 300 years and was cut down by the British at the battle of Waterloo to build a bridge. This frame is artistically engraved with oak leaves, except the lower border, where roses, the Queen's favorite flower, are intertwined with hollyhocks. At the top of the frame are entwined a sword, a shield and a Bible surrounded by a garland. On the right is the United States coat of arms and on the left is the British coat of arms. Below is a gold plate bearing the presentation words to the family of the late President. Running across the top are the words:—"Honi soit qui mal y pense," and on the lower border the last words of Garfield, "Strangulus pro Republica." This frame is a contribution from every lodge of the Order in the United States.

FROM ALL OVER.

Three hundred carcasses of mutton were destroyed by a fire in a Kingston slaughter house on Monday night.

ing the head, Pimples, Eruptions and skin diseases, use Prof. Low's Skin Soap.

DR. LOW'S PLEASANT OINTMENT—An agreeable, safe and effective remedy for all kinds of worms.

It is rumored that M. Fréchet, the Canadian poet-laureate, will shortly be honored with a decoration by the King of Spain.

SURE TO CONQUER.—The most troublesome cough is sure to yield if treated with Haygarth's Federal Balm. Pleasant to take and safe for young or old.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be a wise conclusion to try Haygarth's Yellow Oil.

It cures all painful cases when other medicines fail.

NANCY WAINWRIGHT, the nurse of the Bontee, has recently been received in the Bradford workhouse in her 82nd year.

A GREAT MISTAKE.—It is a great mistake to suppose that dyspepsia can be cured, but must be endured, and life made dreary and miserable thereby. Alexander's, of Coburg, was cured after suffering fifteen years. Burdock

Blood Bitters cured him.

REUMATISM.—A person suffering from pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak feeling and frequent headache, is seriously ill and should look for kidney disease.

Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the kidneys, blood and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

MRS. HISTORI, who resides in London,

Paris and Rome, is said to be negotiating for the purchase of one in Boston.

A VALUABLE PATENT.—The most valuable

discovery patented in modern times is that of the best blood purifier and kidney regulator known. It is sold by Burdock Blood Bitters, which is making so many wonderful cures and bringing the blessed boon of health to

so many homes.

A PERFECT BEAUTY.—Perfect beauty is only attained by pure blood and good health. These acquirements give the person a pleasant expression, a fair, clear skin, and the rosy bloom of health. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and tone the entire system to a healthy action.

GLADSTONE received 150 telegrams of congratulation on Tuesday. In spite of his 70 years he looked younger than most hard-worked New Yorkers at 50.

iversal approbation as Ayer's Sarsaparilla, state,

THE BOYS OF THE CANAL CORPS

When years ago I was a lad,
To serve our noble Queen,
I was a boy of the Canal Corps,
And I was proud to be a man.

He said we were the best of men,
And I was proud to be a man,
But he did not know the boys of the Canal Corps,
Or he would have been a man.

Oh, boys of the Canal Corps,
I've been in a ship, I've been in a boat,
I've been in a canal, I've been in a lock,
And I've been in a mill, I've been in a mill.

Oh, boys of the Canal Corps,
We are marching now upon the plains,
And we are marching now upon the plains,
And we are marching now upon the plains.

Oh, boys of the Canal Corps,
We are marching now upon the plains,
And we are marching now upon the plains,
And we are marching now upon the plains.

Oh, boys of the Canal Corps,
We are marching now upon the plains,
And we are marching now upon the plains,
And we are marching now upon the plains.

Rev. Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Kingston, died on Monday of inflammation of the lungs after a week's illness.

His Excellency the Governor-General on Thursday granted a pardon to a convict in Kingston penitentiary.

At the trial of the alphas who were in the St. John's Home, Kingston, when it was burned last week, the alphas were found to be innocent.

The Chicago Times says there is no longer any doubt that the bond passage rates are on the verge of a big reduction.

Town on the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will make you feel like a new person. Thousands have found health and relief from suffering by the use of this great blood purifier when all other means failed.

The Governor-General and Sir John and Lady Macdonald received a large number of callers on New Year's Day at the capital.

The epidemic of smallpox in London, Eng., is very serious, the deaths for some time having run in the neighbourhood of 40 per week. At present there are 1,000 patients in the Metropolitan Asylum hospital and 97 in the Highgate smallpox hospital.

We have a speedy and positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth and Herpes, in St. John's Catarrh Remedy. A nasal injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and fresh breath. Price, 50c. For sale by J. D. Tully.

It is understood that a dowry of $150,000 and an annuity of $30,000 will be made for Princess Helena, shortly to be married to Prince Henry of Prussia.

No other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the best combination of vegetable and mineral ingredients, and is a powerful blood purifier and a tonic for the system.

FURNITURE IN POETRY, OR A BELL GIVEN TO THE FRONT.

Good patrons, busy times are past, and I break
The once again.
Thanks I return to one and all that purchased from my store.
While every branch of business booms I will be behind.
While I possess two skillful hands, and a right good mind.
Through out the festive days just past, but you best standing near.
And watched my extensive sale of goods, as quiet they disappear.
As water from mountain side, when spring melted masses snow.
So from my store, kind after kind, in quiet secession.
But do not think I am sold out and left with empty hand.
My ware-houses are again refilled—equally as good.
From the best firms my stock is bought, in style and beauty rare;
There rich designs, artistic taste, would fairly make you stare;
My home-made stock can't be surpassed and small the share as good.
First-class mechanics I employ and sound, well-known wood.
My Tables and my Writing Desk will suit you like a charm.
The Table will delight your wife, the Desk support your arm.
Bureaux and Wash-Stands I prepare in sizes large and small.
I guarantee them in hot rooms—they won't in places fall.
Delightful Sideboards still of hand to hold your rich attire.
On top a Glass and Crochery Stand where friends may view their prize.
Mattresses, bedsteads, and iron springs, strong, beautiful and nice.
One night on them will make you feel as if in Paradise.
Each joint and mortise so close, and light together grow.
The bed will find no place to breed, far less stick in its nose.
Fine Easy Chairs, in every style, to move around the week;
They suit the lady and the dame, the feeble and the sick.
Nice Baby Chairs, with rockers on, and high ones you can draw.
Up to your table, where your child can eat with its Papa.
Rich Dressing Cases every style—with Mirrors large as life.
To brush and comb from head to foot, the husband or the wife.
Young lones you may trim mustache—from boots to necktie view; Sweet miss may trim and twist and dream, to fascinate her beau.
While furnishing your dining-room, please do give me a call.
My tables bear your smoking kiosk, and neither cringe nor fall.
If company is small, or large you simply take your stand.
Arrange your table just to suit—extract it or expand.
My parlor gas, I can't describe their elegant design;
Spring Sofas, Centre Tables, Chairs and What-nots of all kinds;
Black, Red, Green, and all the colors, new, nice, Yellowing with Green.
One set of these placed round your room, you might admit the Queen.
To name the half I have for sale takes too much space and time;
To make large sales more profit yields than naming them in rhyme.
If you think I incline to puff, or soar on fancy's flight.
Call in and see my brilliant show, by the clear electric light.
By selling cheap, material good, I sacrifice my great success.
My customers repeated calls prove they think nothing less.
When once they purchase in my Store they surely come again.
Come—I will suit your various wants with pleasure, and remain,
Yours truly,
D. BELLECHEM.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Meat or poultry left in water after it is sufficiently cooked loses its flavor.
Tallow may be made soft with any oil, such as lard or olive. Paraffin oil and tallow make a very cheap lubricant.
Southerly records in the "Commonplace Book" that a physician had seen more than 40,000 cases of smallpox said he had never met with the disease in a person with red or light flaxen hair.
Dr. Schweninger, of Munich, has discovered a new mode of reducing the bulk of the human frame. It is not by diet and drink at the same time, but to let two hours intervene. He has, it is said, cured Prince Bismarck of a tendency to obesity in this way.
Dr. Henry Tucker recommends the use of the following very simple remedy in the treatment of hemorrhoids, namely, nutmeg granulated sugar with good vinegar. Of this give to an infant from a few grains to a teaspoonful. The effect, he says, is almost instantaneous, and the dose should be repeated. He has used it for all ages—from infants of a few months old to the downy old side of life, and has never known it to fail.
MEAL SOUP.—Put four or five handfuls of oatmeal into a basin and stir in butter till the dough is like cream. Let it stand for an hour, or if sugar is used, for half an hour. Stir in two teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of baking soda. Then add gradually as much flour as will make a firm dough. Knead into convenient balls, knead out, and bake on the griddle. Meal soups take much longer to cook than flour soups. To be eaten cold with plenty of butter.
NEW YEAR'S CAKE.—Three pounds of flour, three-quarters of a pound of butter, eight eggs, half a pound of soft sugar, half a pound of currants, half a pound of Sultana raisins, a quarter of orange peel, one nutmeg, a penny-worth essence of lemon, a pennyworth baking powder, half a pound of currants, and as much as sweet milk as will make it a nice thick mass. Melt the butter, add the sugar, sugar and lemon and stir for twenty minutes; then add gradually the flour, the currants, the nutmeg and the raisins, and knead on all sides. Put the cake into a good oven, and bake them from twenty-five to thirty minutes.

Almost a Native.

"Are you a native of the State?" asked the Judge of the United States Court, at Irving a fat man who had been summoned to testify in a case of illicit distilling.
"No, sir, Judge."
"I mean were you born in this State?"
"I understand. I wasn't born here, but I am nearly right a native."
"Come here when you were quite young, I suppose?"
"No, sir, ain't been here but about ten years."
"If you are not here?"
"Fifty."
"Then how is it that you are very nearly a native of the state?"
"Well, when I come here I only weighed about a hundred pounds. Now I weigh two hundred, so you see I'm 100 pounds of me, native, while only 100 pounds came from Missouri."

DYNAMITE IN LONDON.

Explosion on the Underground Railway
The Train Exploded.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A dynamite explosion occurred on the underground railway between Greger street and King's Cross station, at 9.30 this evening. The windows of a passing train were shattered, and the lights extinguished.
Beyond this no damage was done. The passengers were greatly terrified, but no one was hurt.
The train resumed its journey after a delay of twenty-five minutes.
The houses in the vicinity were shaken and the roadway oscillated. Two trains were passing each other at the time, and in both the lights were extinguished. The windows were shattered, and the framework of several carriage doors was smashed. The green and red lights at the front and rear of the train were extinguished. The ticket collector at Greger street station describes the report of the explosion as sharp and ringing in character, like the discharge of a small field gun. The point where the explosion occurred is directly under the road leading to the main entrance of the London and North-Western railway station.
A lady's nose was split by glass splinters. A gentleman had his side and face and another his wrist cut. These were the most serious casualties re-
Greger street station. Many were in a half fainting condition.
Supt. Williamson, of Scotland yard, and the superintendent and inspectors of the various districts arrived at Greger street station half an hour after the explosion, and immediately proceeded down the line. They discovered the signal box eastward of St. Pancras church completely wrecked. The signal separated and the clock stopped at 9.14. A class inspector showed that the explosion could not have been gunpowder, as the surrounding brickwork was not blackened, and must therefore have been either dynamite or gun cotton. The locality of the explosion is on the north side of the line, midway between St.
Pancras Church and Charlton street. The only clues are a few fragments of paper, which were found strewn about the track.

WOODEN PIPES.

Pipes made of wood can be made strong enough to contain water or steam under pressure, by winding iron bands about them to resist the bursting strains. The pipe is made in sections of about eight feet in length, from the best of white pine, by first boring them out and then smoothing with an auger that will bore straight from one end to the other. The outer surface is then removed by the turning lathe, leaving it smooth in size and free from sap.
They are then laid away to season in a drying room. When they are ready to be banded, the iron bands are drawn around spirally by steam power so tightly that the band is imbedded in the wood and appears like a screw thread, except that the wood is not cut. The wound around three or four times to strengthen the chamber that has been bored out to receive the fluid where the joints are to be made so that they will hold tightly together. The joints out weakening the joint. The timber is made of seasoned timber turned about an eighth of an inch larger in the middle than the chamber in the case of the pipe, so that they must be compressed where the sections are driven together, making in this way a perfectly tight joint without packing of any kind. The weight of the iron banding, and the pressure of the bands to each other, are easily regulated by the amount of pressure that the pipe is to be subjected to in actual use, and where the bands are likely to corrode, they should be passed through a preparation of coal tar, before they are wound on the pipe. After the pipe is laid, it can be covered with hydraulic pressure and then given a heavy coating of asphaltum and where the water is impure, or impregnated with acid, so that the threads of an iron pipe are cut out in a short time, the wooden pipes can be laid by a skilled workman so as to remain air tight, without the liability of bursting or becoming disjoined.

Barefooted Horses.

Of late the subject of shoeing horses has been discussed with an unusual interest and thoroughness. Elaborate and seemingly sound arguments are made against shoeing with iron, and a few writers are contending stoutly that the bare hoof will withstand all the wear incident to any reasonable amount of work. In his lecture on the horse, Prof. J. A. Wood says that the bottom of the hoof was meant to be worn away, and as fast as it wears away it is supplied from above. Man's "happy thought" in the shape of expedients to improve on the original hoof have been extremely poor. An enormous amount of blood is circulated through the hoof for the purpose of supplying the water; but by our system of shoeing it is diverted from its purpose, and gives rise to disease. The horse needs no shoe. Shoeing, in fact, is an injury, and shortens its days. It was only ignorance which believed that the horse in its natural state ran on soft turf where its shoes were not necessary.
The horse came from Central Asia, from a rocky and sandy soil, and if it needed shoeing at all, it would need it in its natural state. Were it not for the shoe, the foot of a horse would be as soft as that of an elephant.
Evidence of the correctness of the above views may be found everywhere on the plains of the West, where the ponies spend their lives in work on dry prairies or on mountain trails.
Unshod and perfectly free from diseases of the foot. Another point in Prof. Wood's lecture is particularly worthy of consideration, since it relates to a common, almost a universal error, that causes much loss of valuable property and a vast amount of needless suffering. He said that it was a remarkable fact that, while people could not think of entrusting a valuable machine to the care of any but an educated mechanic, they were accustomed to permit that much more valuable machine, the horse, to be taken care of by men who were totally ignorant of the animal's real structure or constitution. Nobody ought to be allowed to have the charge of a horse unless, like the driver of a steam engine, he has passed a previous examination showing him fitness for the work.

Farm Life for Young Men.

There is no occupation so grand, so noble, and that which makes one so independent, as farming. It gives you an opportunity for mental culture during the winter, and physical strength during the summer. It is a home where good morals can be cultivated, without those allurements which are always predominant in city life.

He who tills the soil is engaged in an honorable occupation. Agriculture is the greatest of the arts, for it is the basis in supplying our necessities; it favors and strengthens population; it creates and maintains manufactures; gives employment to navigation and material to commerce. It is also the strongest bond of well-regulated society, and the surest basis of international peace, the natural assurance of a good world.

So the young man who desires to leave the farm, and go out into the wide world for himself, perhaps to some far off city, or to some great city, let him first try the life of the farmer. It is a life of nature, where the imagination will be a paradise open for him; such a step in life will be well considered before taken.

It is a good thing to get yourself for a lawyer, a doctor, or a minister, but it is a bad thing to know that you can be one. Young men, favored with every opportunity for enjoyment at home, and not overworked, imagine that they can do far better than to guide the ox, or to till the stubborn glebe. And, with the sacred trifle of an idea, the hands are withdrawn from the implements of agriculture and given to the office or the shop work of the city. The result thousands of young men are utterly ruined. If they would only stop and think, "What can I make of myself?"
The question, "To what is my ability most adapted?" then they might go forward into life's journey with a better prospect of success.
"Ever remember," writes the author, "that for health and substantial wealth, for rare opportunities for self-improvement, for long life and real independence, farming is the best business in the world."—Exchange.

It is claimed by some medical men that smoking weakens the eyesight. Maybe it does, but just see how it strengthens the breath.

A WISE CONCLUSION.—If you have vainly tried many remedies for rheumatism, it will be the wisest conclusion to try Hayward's Yellow Oil.
It cures all painful diseases when other medicines fail.

A MUFF is defined as "a thing which holds a girl's hand and don't squeeze it." Correct. But any fellow in "muff" condition of vegetable

TO USE the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will make you feel like a new person. Thousands have found health and relief from suffering by the use of this great blood purifier when all other means failed.

This following toast was pronounced at a fellowship's dinner, and was received with great applause: "The ladies—their eyes kindle the only flame against which there is no insurance."

When a person is weak and faint, or fatigued and is unable to do his work, he should take and reviving as a little of Murray & Lamman's Florida Water. Rubbed on the hands and temples, and inhaled freely, it tones and braces the whole system.

It was an Illinois court—"Have you," asked the judge of a recently convicted man, "any thing to offer the Court before sentence is passed?"
"No, your honor," replied the prisoner,
"my lawyer took my last cent."

A GREAT MISTAKE.—It is a great mistake to suppose that dyspepsia can't be cured, but must be endured, and life made gloomy and miserable thereby. Alexander Burns, of Cobourg, was cured after suffering fifteen years. Burdock Blood Purifier cured him.

Let me give you the history of pride in three small chapters. I. The beginning of pride is in the heart. II. The continuance of pride is in the tongue. III. The end of pride is in hell. This history shows how unprofitable it is.—Dr.
Mantel.

SEVERELY ILL.—A person suffering from pain and heat over the small of the back, with a weak and weary feeling and frequent headache, is seriously ill and should look out for kidney disease.
Burdock Blood Purifier regulates the kidneys, cleans and purifies the blood, and restores the bowels and liver, as well as the stomach and bowels.

"How is it, Foggy, that you are always advising everybody to marry, and yet you show no hurry about getting a wife?" "Foggy," replied, "my boy, I am too much of a gentleman to help myself before everybody else is supplied."

discovery patented in modern times is that of the best blood purifier and liver and kidney regulator known. We refer to Burdock Blood Purifier, which is making so many wonderful cures and bringing the blessed boon of health to
so many homes.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JANUARY 5, 1885.

SHUNNING THE LIGHT.

As much has been said about the "Crown's" inability to prosecute the telegraphers supposed to have passed between the "conspirators" and Ottawa, it will be well in this connection to show how ready the members of the House Government are to submit, not their private telegrams, but those for which they make the Province pay, to public scrutiny. In the course of the investigations of the public accounts committee it was found that the amount for telegraphing in 1883 was very largely in excess of that for 1882. Whereupon it was moved by Mr. Meredith that the accounts and vouchers for the following items of expenditure, appearing in the public accounts of 1883, be brought down forthwith for examination by the committee.

Executive and Attorney General's Department paid for telegrams $368 07
Crown Lands Department paid for telegrams $343 04 Public Works Department paid for telegrams $122 14
Treasury Department paid for telegrams $169 94
Secretary of the Department paid for telegrams $222 54

To this Mr. Hardy strongly objected, and moved in amendment that the payments made for telegraphing in the several Departments of the Attorney-General, Crown Lands, Public Works, Treasury, Secretary and Registrar, be brought down in detail without the names of the parties to whom messages were forwarded and from whom messages were received; and that this amendment was, of course, carried, so that while the organized hypocrisy has been shaking a great outcry about their not being able to get at the contents of presumably private telegrams, they themselves have been guilty of refusing to allow, not the contents, but simply the names of the senders and receivers of the telegrams paid for by the Province, to be made public.

The reasons which induced such a self-condemnation course of action on the part of the House Government will be apparent to everyone who recollects the contents of the Burden and White telegrams, and when it is further stated that when the particulars allowed to be brought down came before the committee, they showed that out of the $332.04 expended during the year for telegrams in Mr. Pardon's Department, $300.00 was incurred during the months of July, August and September, and that in October the items only aggregated $32.04, but then during the three months named the Algoma count was going on, while in October it was over, the pulling having taken place on the 29th September.

Evidently Mr. Meredith not only makes the Province pay for his election telegrams, but apply a two-fold office and clerk for the Secretary of the Ontario Reform Association, but also pay for the "party" telegrams.

The Globe and its imitators, for want of a policy, are republishing the first edition of the celebrated Reform Association, Mr. L. S. Hunt-ington, entitled "The Pacific Slander." They talk about Sir Hugh Allan's confession that he subscribed three hundred and sixty thousand dollars to a Conservative election fund, as if they were not well aware that their witness has described in detail how he spent a large portion of this sum in opposing Sir G. R. Cartier with the result of causing the loss of his seat and great reduction of the number of his supporters. The records of our courts show that wholesale corruption was practiced by the Reformers in this Province also.

A School Fire. An extensive and destructive fire occurred recently in Foreman, in Burgess county, Dak. The Chronicle says: "Last Sunday evening, as the sun was sinking in the horizon, a fire was noticed smoking this place, and at no greater distance than twenty miles to the north and west. The smoke that immediately followed was so horrible to be thought of lightly. The whole heavens seemed as one mass of seething blinding fire. The roar that accompanied the flames as they darted upward was enough to startle the pioneer and completely shatter the boldest and fearless tenderfoot. A cry was raised, and in a few minutes the citizens had turned out en masse with wet bags and coal oil torches, and, spring to the north and northwest limits of the town, met the creeping flames as they advanced, and, with the exception of a few, were not in about two miles distant, but centering at the rate of about sixteen miles an hour, and when the smoke had been safely met, and about twenty yards from the school house, and a black fire on the north side of the trail, and then, bringing the fire over the trail, it was left to burn around the south side of the school house, being watched by eight or ten to prevent the fire spreading to the building. At one time it seemed as though the flames would get the best of them, but wet sacks were applied and the flames subdued. Other parties were next in different directions and succeeded in checking the fire. The damage done, however, was estimated at $10,000.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

A QUEST CONTINUED IN THREE WARDS AND THE RESULT.

Very little change made in the Council—Two Former Councilmen Again to the Front—Speeches After the Election.

The municipal elections are over. It can hardly be said, so far as Peterborough is concerned, that the turmoil is passed, because there was very little excitement. The Mayor was re-elected by acclamation, as were also the three representatives of No. Three Ward. The

ONLY CHANGE, therefore, was for the representation of the First, Second and Fourth Wards. In the First Ward there were five candidates, although the struggle was really only between four, as the fifth did not seek election. In the Second Ward four candidates went to the polls, and the same number sought election in the Fourth Ward. In each of these divisions there was a sharp contest, but it was quietly conducted, and such a contest, when confined to the Wards and not spread over the town, as in the case of an election of a Mayor, does not cause the same interest and excitement that a municipal election otherwise does. This year's Council will be VERY LITTLE DIFFERENT from that of last year. Two gentlemen, who were not in the Council last year, will occupy seats on the Board during 1885. They are Mr. John McNaughton, from the First Ward, and Mr. John McClelland, from the Second Ward. Mr. McNaughton formerly represented No. One Ward, and Mr. McClelland has also served in the same capacity before, so there will be none in the Council to whom the duties of a representative in that body will be new. Those who retired to make room for the two gentlemen mentioned are Mr. Andrew McNeil, who was elected to fill the unexpired portion of the term for which the late Mr. S. F. Allen was elected, and Mr. Melville Miller, who did not seek re-election. Both of these gentlemen were good representatives. Mr. Frank Mason would have made a good councillor, but the Fourth Ward is already well represented, and as Mr. Mason was only three votes behind, it is likely that his term will come some day. The total number of votes polled was, in the First Ward, 508, Second Ward, 217; Fourth Ward, 185.

THE NEW COUNCIL.

There was one feature of the voting in the First Ward that should not be overlooked. As is generally known, a large number of ladies voted this year, and placed on the voters' list, and some curiosity was felt as to whether they would exercise the privilege thus extended to them. They did not generally do so, but the few who were, for two ladies polled their votes in No. One Ward, and "the Noble Ward" again takes the lead. May we not expect that next year the example of these two ladies will be followed and that other female voters will show the interest they take in the affairs of the town by voting for those whom they think will best represent the taxpayers in the Council?

THE MAYORALTY.

As stated above, there was no contest for the Mayoralty. Mr. Geo. A. Cox having been re-elected without opposition. The voters in No. One Ward resulted as follows: The gentlemen first mentioned being elected: Thomas Cahill, 187; R. S. Davidson, 187; John McNaughton, 187; Andrew McNeil, 187; Wm. Montgomery, 187; Wm. Mills, 187.

It was pointed out as something unparalleled in municipal elections that the three men who were elected should receive exactly the same number of votes.

NO. TWO WARD.

In the Second Ward the vote was as follows, the three first named being elected: R. H. Green, 231; John McNaughton, 231; Thomas Kelly, 231; Wm. Mills, 231.

NO. THREE WARD.

In this Ward Mr. John Douglas, Arthur Rutherford and Wm. Yelland were re-elected by acclamation. The voters in the Fourth Ward were as follows, the three first named being the successful candidates: James Kennedy, 187; John S. Davidson, 187; Thomas McNaughton, 187; Francis Mason, 187.

THE COUNCIL FOR THE YEAR.

will be composed of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Mayor, and Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Green, McClelland, R. H. Green, Rutherford, Kelly, Kennedy, Hartley and Mason.

AFTER THE ELECTION.

After the voting was all done and the returns ascertained, the elected candidates and a number of their friends gathered in the Council Chamber. On motion by Mr. Cahill, seconded by general, simultaneously, Mr. Robt. Weir took the chair.

Mr. Weir made a short, neat speech, and then called on Councillor Cahill to address the election assembly.

MR. CAHILL SPEAKS.

MR. THOMAS CAHILL was the first to speak. He thanked those who had given him their votes, and at the same time did not find fault with those who had voted against him. There could never be a Council that would please the whole people, but the majority ruled, and the majority had voted for him, and it pleased him that they had approved of his selection. He knew well that he could not please all his constituents, because there was bound to be a diversity of opinion on every important question. This was now the eleventh or twelfth time he had been elected to the Council. He had been informed last week that he was going to be defeated; that certain parties were working against him; and all that sort of thing. He did not become at all alarmed, because he knew that the people of No. One Ward knew him, and he was satisfied as to the result. Other election days he had a horse and buggy, and could drive where he liked, but to-day he had neither horse, buggy, nor coat, and he was going to be defeated. A great many people had said it was no honor to sit at the Council Board, but he considered it a great honor to be elected to represent intelligent people, especially those of No. One Ward. Various cries had been raised during the election, but he would give his hearers one bit of advice. "Never believe what you hear at election times." He was sorry that Mr. McNeil had not been elected as an account of his advocacy of the filling up of Spaulding's Bay. This was a question of grave importance to not only the South Ward, but to the town at large. He hoped measures would be taken ere long to have the Bay partially or entirely filled. He again returned thanks to the electors for their support, and resumed his seat amid applause.

MR. HARTLEY'S VIEW.

Mr. J. J. HARTLEY was then called on, and said that he felt thankful to the electors of No. Four Ward for a man returning him to the Council. He had almost determined not to be a candidate again, and had so expressed himself, but his friends did not wish him to retire, and they insisted on his being elected. He did not profess to be perfect, but he did the best he could, according to his own judgment, and did not allow himself to be ruled by others. All his interests were in Peterborough, and especially in No. Four Ward, and it was therefore in his own interest to do the best he could for the town. Should his Ward be elected he would not have anything to be wished in the Council, and perhaps the representatives of the other Wards thought he had got the full share for the Fourth Ward. He believed Peterborough would become a prosperous city. It was now one of the best towns in the Province, and was a rising town. Last year it was almost impossible to get men to do the work that was wanted to be done. Some people opposed spending money, no matter what it was for, but if a town was to progress money had to be spent. He believed that the Council last year spent the funds to the best advantage, and he was pleased to know that a majority of the people thought so too. He again returned thanks for being re-elected.

THANKS RETURNED BRIEFLY.

Mr. R. H. GREEN also expressed his thanks for being the second time elected at the head of the poll. He had endeavored to keep down the expenses, and, with others, had succeeded in not lowering the rate, and he hoped that they would do better this year. Expenses had to be incurred, but they would act as judiciously as possible. He referred to the difficulties of his position as Chairman of the Charity Committee, and resumed his seat after again expressing his thanks.

MR. McCLELLAND.

Mr. JOHN McCLELLAND said that he appreciated the fact that he did not know much, and he would give in that he did not know as much as he (his opponent) did. But when Mr. McNeil defeated him a few months ago he said that he would defeat him (Mr. McNeil) by double the majority that was then against him. He knew that he had 170 warm friends in No. One Ward. He had not run down Mr. McNeil or any other candidate. It had been reported that he had done so, but he denied it. Mr. McNeil's scheme was the best, but there was the bay now? (A voice—At the end of the creek where it always was, an I laughter.) All he owned was in No. One Ward, and it would increase the value of his property to have the bay filled, but he would have it filled if it was not to make the same benefit. He used to think that for the warm, hearty support they had given him he would have been elected, but he was not. Mr. CAHILL—Could you not get in the ring? (Laughter.)

MR. McCLELLAND said he had worked hard in this election, and he was glad that he had done so. He was going to look out for the interests of his Ward and those of the whole town. They were his duties here and he would work to get them done.

A CRITICISM.

Mr. Wm. MILLS said he felt thankful to them for their kindness and for the number of votes he had received. He had not intended to enter the ring, but he had said that if the election would be by acclamation he would serve in the Council. However, his friends nominated him, and he would not show white feathers. He said that the latter would lead to the purchase of the water works. The people connected with the water works were urging the construction of a dam in order to have the water works purchased or to have the water used. He had been informed that Mr. McClelland had said that this was not correct. When he was Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee the expenditure was about $50,000, and he was glad that he had continued to hold that position the town would have been made a large sum. He referred to the arrangements made with the O. & N. Railway Company, and said that he was glad that the town's interests had been sold. He also mentioned the Council for allowing the Company to build the permanent bridge across the water works, and said that he was glad that the Company should have been allowed to do so. He also mentioned the fact that the Company should have been allowed to do so. He also mentioned the fact that the Company should have been allowed to do so.

THE "GAY SEASON."

The approach of the "Gay Season" of 1885 renders it timely that we should call your attention to our line of Dance Programmes which we are now offering.

Our series for the season are more varied in points of design, shape and ornamentation than any we have heretofore had.

Style for special occasions, embracing Bachelors', Military and Society gatherings, are a leading feature of our line, which further is repeated with our own odd and unique shapes.

We carry in stock a complete line of Programmes, French, Spanish, Menu and Overt Cards, fine Writing Papers, and every requisite for the festive season.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the pages of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his customer, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is taken in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short, tradition, habit, common sense, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month for "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COST.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Thanks.
The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home most respectfully thank the Graces, through J. B. McWilliam, Esq., for the very handsome donation of $24.07, being half of the proceeds of Rev. C. Chavigny's lecture.

President and Vice-President.
The curling bonspiel between the President's and Vice-President's rinks commenced Monday afternoon. The bonspiel will probably last some seven or eight days, when the full score will be given.

Organ Recital.
We are glad to learn that Mr. Heathfield is making arrangements to give an organ recital in the Charlotte Street Church on Thursday, Jan. 15th. He will be assisted by the choir and by several vocalists from other churches.

New Bridge.
In accordance with their agreement, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company are building a very substantial wooden bridge over the cut immediately east of the new iron bridge. The overhead bridge will be one hundred and twenty-three feet long and twenty feet wide.

Does not Sleep.
The Orillia Packet says:—"It does not become the Lindsay Post to accuse the Peterborough Review, or any other paper, of having to conscience so long as it continues to quote the Toronto News as a Tory paper. In an acquaintance of fifteen years we have never known the Review to sleep in such a manner as making political capital; and this is not the first time the Post has done it."

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales from the east, veering to south and south-west, cloudy to rainy mild weather.

Get your costumes in readiness for the Coming Carnival.

Week of Prayer.
The opening prayer meeting for the week was held at the Methodist Street Baptist Church on Monday night. The church was well filled. The Rev. Mr. Munro conducted the meeting, and the Rev. Mr. Manning delivered a very interesting and well-considered address. In addition to those already mentioned there were present, the Rev. Messrs. Torrance, Bell and Towell. To-night the services will be held in St. Andrew's Church.

School openings.
The Christmas holidays for the teachers and pupils of the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools end to-morrow. To-morrow all will resume their duties and the schools will be reopened. In addition to those studies heretofore opened, in the Collegiate Institute, another branch will be added—that of Agricultural Chemistry. The department will be placed under competent management and no doubt it will prove to be a valuable addition to the curriculum. The Separate School opened on Monday. To-day being a holiday (Little Christmas) no school was held. To-morrow teachers and pupils will resume their duties for the term.

A Scare.
At about 1 o'clock to-day the people in the vicinity of the corner of George and Hunter streets were put in a state of excitement on seeing smoke issuing from the cellar of the tall, narrow establishment of the Messrs. Bates. It was discovered that a quantity of paper and pieces of cloth which were in the cellar had become ignited and that there was imminent danger of a serious fire. Mr. Chas. Paisley, however, and a few other willing hands soon quenched the fire with a few pails of water. We regret to learn that Mr. Paisley had his hand severely burned while trying to put out the fire. The origin of the fire is unknown and neither Messrs. Bates nor Paisley can account for it. Spontaneous combustion was probably the cause.

Acknowledgment.
The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home gratefully desire to acknowledge the following donations for the month of December, 1884:—Mrs. E. A. Haultain, sugar, and quarter of mutton; from a friend, raisins, and child's dress; W. G. Mann, quarter of mutton; Mrs. J. B. Official Declaration.
To-day at 12 o'clock noon, Mr. Charles D. Macdonald, Returning Officer, made the official declaration of the result of the municipal elections, in the Council Chamber.

A Valuable Present.
We notice the following in a recent issue of the Stratford Beacon:—"On Wednesday evening a number of the members of the G. B. & L. Division, of which Mr. J. M. Riddell was Superintendent, previous to assuming a similar position on the Midland Division, met that gentleman in one of the Athol Hotel parlors and presented him with a valuable gold watch and chain, to mark the mutual good feeling that had so long existed between them. The watch was suitably inscribed, and was accompanied by a beautiful address, to which Mr. Riddell replied happily, saying that he was more than satisfied with the handsome testimonial, and he was the very highly feeling that prompted it."

Although Mr. Riddell has been Superintendent of the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway for only a short time, yet he has commanded the respect and good feeling of those over whom he is placed.

The Grand Carnival over held in the Town of Peterborough, will be announced shortly.

Chas. Chas.
—Dark and Damp.
—No business at the Police Court this morning.

The New Year resolutions for 1885 appear to have been somewhat casual, not really broken, as the police have made no arrests this year. There were several peculiarities about the municipal election in No. One Ward, and among others it has been remarked that the first letters of the names of the councillors elect form the initials of the Town Clerk—O. D. Mc. A few days ago the Belleville Intelligencer said that Jack Frost had formed a bridge across the bay, and the citizens of that place had been long looking for a bridge across that water. Yet when Mr. John Frost sought the Mayor's chair the ungrateful citizens elected his opponent.

Now that Mr. Hilliard is making the bed flour in town, don't forget that you can order it at W. J. Mason's.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Christopher Leary, License Inspector, met with a serious accident while on his way home from Peterborough on Friday evening last. When near Mr. Harper's the horse became frightened and started off the road. The buggy went into the ditch and Mr. Leary was thrown out. He remained unconscious for some time, and was severely injured.

LINDSAY.

PROSECUTED FROM PRISON.—A trial was made here on Monday of the remodelled water works system, with the most satisfactory results. Connection having been made with the mains and completed to-day, there was let on the pumps, and a preliminary trial made. Four lines of hose were laid down from hydrants at various wide apart throughout the town. Although the mains were empty for four minutes after starting up the gauges showed a water pressure of thirty-five pounds. Four small streams were thrown to a great height. By means of its combined steam and water power the business portion of the town is now thoroughly protected, and the most sudden outbreak of fire will not find the town unprotected. During the afternoon repeated trials were made on the main and on side streets with the same favorable results.

PACIFIC IN THE TON.

OVERDOSE. N. Y., Jan. 2.—After partaking of dinner yesterday some members of the family of Charles Meyers, of Flushing, were taken ill with symptoms of mental derangement. Meyers died last night. The others are relieved in the out of danger. Meyers was 68 years old, wealthy, and had a large family. A former wife. The present wife is but 26, and has indicated mental derangement, and is suspected of administering the poison to the son. She and a little daughter did not partake of the tea and were not ill.

They Will Let Women Hold Something.
"I don't see," observed Mr. Grap, "why, when they are giving away all of them offices, they don't let women hold something."
"They would, my dear, but the women won't do it," answered her husband.
"Well, I should like to know, John Grap, what they'll let them hold?"
He took his hat, looked to see that the hall door was open, and in trembling accents murmured, "Their tongues, my dear."—Boston Post.

Another Slight Earthquake Shock.

YONKERS, Jan. 5.—An earthquake shock was largely perceptible in Westchester county at 6 o'clock to-night. A slight shock was felt in Terrytown, Yorktown, Sing Sing and Peekskill. The shock seemed to follow the eastern shore of the Hudson river.

Robbing Salvationists.

DARTON, O., Jan. 5.—A mob of 500 men attacked a Salvation Army meeting last night and battered down the doors of the hall. The police finally drove the mob off. There was also a disturbance in the hall, but the police refused to interfere.

Just received, another lot of White Blankets all sizes, and cheaper than ever. J. S. EMMETT.

Sweet Apple Cider.

We take pleasure in announcing to our numerous patrons and the public generally that we sell the exclusive agency for the Belleville Cider Works. This Cider needs no comment from us, as the quantity we sold last year is sufficient proof of pureness and delicacy of flavor. CARTON, BROS., opposite the Market Square.

A Pointer to Business Men.
Dinner will be served to business men from 12.30 to 2.30 every day at FAIRWEATHER'S Restaurant and Boating.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our early advent from Confederation to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short; tradition, business usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COSE.

Antique Sale.
Every night this week at the Mart, opposite the Opera House. The bankrupt stock of a country merchant consisting of Broad and Narrow Cloths, Tweeds, Shirts and Drawers, Clothing for Men and Boys, Overalls, Boots and Shoes, and a variety of General Goods. Sale will commence every night at 7 o'clock.

The Proboscis.
The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Decreasing westerly winds, clearing weather, preceded in some localities by light sleet or snow, slightly cooler.

Week of Prayer.
The second prayer meeting of the week was held at St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday night. The Rev. Mr. Bell conducted the service, and the Rev. Mr. Musro delivered the address, which was one which evidently cost much thought and reflection to prepare. He dwelt at length on national calamities, national sins, and self humiliation. The attendance was large. To-night the service will be held in the George Street Methodist Church.

Brooms and Mantles made on Shortest Notice. Perfect Satisfaction warranted at TURNBULL'S.

Architect.
We have much pleasure in calling attention to the card of Alderman Thomas Hanley, architect, of Belleville, which appears elsewhere in the Review. Mr. Hanley is now engaged in superintending the erection of a most beautiful residence for Geo. A. Cox, Esq., Mayor, and, being a practical builder, as well as an architect, he is sure to give all who favour him with an order the fullest satisfaction. As an evidence of his personal popularity at home, most of the residences of Belleville are the work of his hand. Orders left at the Grand Central Hotel here will receive attention, or he may be communicated with at Belleville.

Barry Boys.
Mr. Wm. Tighe, postmaster of Lindsay, County Durham, was in town to-day and called upon us. He was one of the earliest settlers of town, having come here with his father 53 years ago, when he was only five years old. There were then only four houses in the town. After a stay of eleven years he went with his father to Cobourg. His father subsequently returned, and dying here, was buried in the Little Lake Cemetery, leaving a widow still living in our town. Mr. Tighe speaks highly of the improvements in the good old town of Peterborough, in which he still retains a lively interest. He related some very interesting reminiscences of the early days of Peterborough.

Get your costumes in readiness for the Coming Carnival.

Our Firemen.
On Tuesday evening a meeting of the firemen was held for the purpose of electing officers for the current year. The following is the result:—
Captain and Assistant Chief, J. D. Craig 1st Lieutenant, W. R. Turner 2nd Lieutenant, W. Wilson
Secretary, J. Outherson
Junior, C. Rutherford
Junior, A. E. Jones

We are pleased to see that the firemen appreciated the services so well which Mr. Craig rendered as Secretary during the past year that they have elected him to fill the position of Captain and Assistant Chief. Mr. T. Rutherford, of course, still holds the position of Chief of the Brigade. Acting on the suggestion thrown out by a townsman the firemen have purchased an all stove and have laid in a stock of provisions, such as compressed beef, coffee, cheese, crackers, etc. After each fire they may be refreshed without going further than the fire station. A committee has been appointed to provide means for the purchasing of a hose reel for the same purpose. A real of this character is essential to every fire brigade and one of which our brigade have never been the possessors, while the brigade of every surrounding town of any size can boast of having one. At the tournament held in Toronto last fall ours was the only brigade which was without a suitable reel and if they had been provided with a light reel with which to do their practicing the result of the tournament might perhaps have been different. This movement should be liberally supported and we hope are long to see the brigade furnished with a reel that, where over it goes, it will be a credit to the town.

There is a great quantity of inferior goods offered to the public at present, but TURNBULL'S Check shirtings are the best Goods made.

THE FESTIVE BOARD.

The "Review" staff entertained by the Carrier Boys at the Mary House.

The annual supper given by the carrier boys of the Review to the employees of this establishment took place on Tuesday evening at the Mary House. This supper is a venerable institution, as it has been held every year for the last twenty-seven or twenty-eight years. On this occasion the attendance was large, thirty persons having sat down around the table. And the table was one well worth sitting down to, as it was abundantly supplied, and the bill of fare was an excellent one. The spread did credit to the Mary House in general, and the culinary department in particular. After "ample justice had been done to the good things provided," Mr. S. R. Armstrong was called to the chair, and Mr. A. D. Browne to the Vice-Chair.

The toast of "The Queen and the Royal Family" was duly honored. "Canada and her Governors" was next proposed, and the company sang "The Red, White and Blue."

The toast, "The Peterborough Review Printing and Publishing Company" was enthusiastically received. The Chairman conveyed to the Company the regrets of Mr. Toke, the Managing Director, on account of his inability to be present, and Mr. Wm. Menzies responded to the toast. He gave some interesting facts regarding the history of the office and referred to the fact that during the past 15 or 16 years, at least, no employee had been called away by death. The establishment had steadily grown, and while for some time the number of employees stood at 12 and 14, there were now 34 persons employed in the office.

Mr. J. Taberner gave a song. "Our Contemporaries" was the next toast, and Mr. F. H. Dobbin, of the Lindsay Post, responded in a humorous speech.

"The Departments" was responded to by Mr. A. D. Browne, of the news room, Mr. H. Alford, of the job department, Mr. J. Taberner of the bindery, Mr. J. Wilson, of the press room, Mr. A. Wright, of the Canada Lumberman, and Mr. C. Beale, of the stationery store.

Mr. Herb. Dixon favoured the company with some clever ventriloquist imitations.

"The Editorial Department" was responded to by Mr. S. R. Armstrong.

The toast of "The Carrier Boys" was received with enthusiasm. Melvin Phillips responded in the following poetical terms:
Kind friends, to the toast of the Carrier Boys,
I rise to respond with a right good will,
And my wish for your welfare in eighty-four,
For the new-born year, are my wishes still.
Our patrons will vouch for the year gone by
That our routes we have faithfully travelled Of,

And we carried the doings in every clime,
From the distant lakes, to their very door.
We told how our gracious Queen had given
To our country a mark of esteem again,
By decking our chief with the honours which She loves to bestow upon worthy men.
We told how the heart of our country beat
With joy to receive him from over the main,
And "Hail to the Chief" was the people's shout
From our eastern shore to the western plain.
Through Canadians by birth, we are Britons,
And we love the old flag under which we were born;
For the royal we're homes, and a welcome, too,
To traitors we have nothing to give but scorn.

From our paper each day, as we mailed forth,
We have fired the zeal of our younger men,
And with paddle and axe, or with pen and sword
What their fathers have done, they can do again.
The land of the pyramids, sphinx and Nile
Is marked by Canadian heroes' graves.
To the sons of Freedom they gave their lives,
For the march of our soldiers makes free the slaves.
Then here's to employers, our mates and friends,
On the journey of life may their cars be few,
And when working and feasting and toasting are over,
May we all meet again in the grand Review.

Albert Benson sang a song and Frank Laroc gave a well-executed selection on the mouth organ.

"The Ladies" found champions in Messrs. Jas. Menzies, H. Alford, Jas. Snyder and S. R. Armstrong. Mr. A. D. Browne sang a song.

"The Root and Branch" was honored and responded to, and the company sang, after singing the National Anthem and "Auld Lang Syne." The supper was a most enjoyable one throughout.

The Grandest Carnival ever held in the Town of Peterborough, will be announced shortly.

Promotions.
The following is a list of those who were promoted and whose names were left out of the report of Monday:—
FROM MISS JOHNSON'S ROOM TO MISS HATHWAY'S.
Willie Armstrong, Nellie Brundrett, Raps Bradburn, Fred Braden, Nellie Brown, Harry Dredge, Willie Hunter, Harold Jewett, Mabel Johnston, Emily Jackson, Carrie King, Thos. Lee, Eddie Leah, Willie Langford, Sophie Mitchell, Minnie Preston, Willie Roadhouse, James Ross, Emma Rutherford, Tommy Robinson, A. Smart, &c.

Now that Mr. Hilliard is making the best flour in town, don't forget that you can order it at W. J. Mason's.

Important Sale of Lumber.
To-morrow there will be held at the Mason Mills a very important sale of lumber. This is the annual sale, and three millions of feet of lumber of every variety, in great variety, will be disposed of. Builders, contractors, planing mill proprietors, and all who are interested in lumber should not fail to attend the sale. Mr. Charles Stapleton will conduct the sale for Mr. Irwin, and under his management the property will go off on fair dealing. Special arrangements have been made with the Grand Trunk Railway Company and all those who attend the sale may buy their tickets at reduced rates.

Poison in the Glass.
On Tuesday evening, Councilor John McNaughton had a very unpleasant and very serious experience. Mr. R. E. McKee had been using, in his store, some crocks to remove a stain from his clothes. While doing so he was called away and placed the glass containing the acid on the safe. Mr. McNaughton, while in the store, went to take a drink, and, having poured water into it from a pitcher, drank it all. He walked back to the store, but soon began to feel uncomfortable, and when it was ascertained that he had swallowed the acid it may well be supposed that he did not feel more comfortable. He went out to the rear of the store, and was happily successful in throwing off the acid. We are pleased to learn that no serious results followed from the accident.

Christmas Feast.

The Christmas feast for the St. John's Church Sunday School Scholars was held in the St. John's Church School House on Tuesday evening.

Ten was served from five o'clock until six o'clock, when the entertainment was commenced. The opening carol was sung by the children, after which Miss Millie Beck gave a recitation. Then came the magic lantern views, in which the children seemed to take infinite delight. The applauding was both loud and long. Mr. Charles Beck was in charge of the working of the lantern, and the way in which the different views shown were received was a sufficient guarantee for the management of it. Misses Lillie Pratt and Alice Cooke gave recitations. Mr. Arthur Heisham sang a solo, another carol was sung, and the entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of the doxology. As the children were departing they were each presented with parcels of sweets. The entertainment was a delightful one, and everything passed off to the satisfaction of all present.

J. C. TURNBULL, cleared out his Fall Tweeds quickly at right prices and is now offering a complete range of New Spring Patterns. For New Patterns, Latest Style and Low Prices go to J. C. TURNBULL'S.

How Rapidly the News Spread.

The housing sale of Dry Goods and Clothing now going on in Peterborough in a number of our stores is attracting buyers from places many miles away from town that usually buy in other places. W. Fairweather & Co. are certainly offering goods at tempting prices, and if anything has prevented people from inspecting their stock they should do so now. Whether the weather is reasonable or not, or the price of wheat exactly what suits the farmer, should pay little to buy goods now even in advance of their requirements, at FAIRWEATHER'S.

Just received, another lot of White Blankets all sizes, and cheaper than ever. JNO. ESKIN.

Gold Medal Ale.

If you want a glass of Leabitt's prize medal fine ale (special brand) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlor Restaurant. This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

Sweet Apple Cider.

We take pleasure in announcing to our numerous patrons and the public generally that we still hold the exclusive agency for the Belleville Cider Works. This Cider needs no comment from us, as the quantity we sold last year is sufficient proof of pureness and delicacy of flavor. CARTON, BROS., opposite the Market Square.

Natles.

You can depend on getting your Oysters always nice and fresh, and at the lowest possible prices, at Carton Bros., as we import direct from the best packers in Baltimore. Special quotations to those who buy in large quantities. CARTON BROS.

Base English Ale.

If you want a delicious glass of Base genuine English Ale (superior to wine), the proper place to get it is at Chamberlain's Lodge and Restaurant. All our liquors are guaranteed pure, and unadulterated. Choicest imported and domestic cigars.

Send for some of Hilliard's Flour, and you will decide that you can get no better. W. J. Mason will transmit your order.

Tom Barry's Oysters.

Are still the "favourites" by long odds. It's the size of them and the way he gets them up that takes. Try a stew or a plate of raw.

THE BANQUET to Sir John was undoubtedly a grand affair, the only thing lacking was that the caterers did not use Hilliard's Rhyte Mills Flour.

Dinner will be served to business men from 12.30 to 2.30 every day at CARTON'S Restaurant and Bodega.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been written on the subject, to tell him how to do it. By "Taking Stock" a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the page of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his customer, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councillors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short, tradition, business sense, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of the WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COST.

The following is taken from the Star's notice of the Grand Opera House, in Hastings:
"The pleasing and novel exhibition of Mr. McManis in the Indian chief, and the performance of the singing and dancing, were highly appreciated by the audience."

Every night this week at the Mart, opposite the Opera House, the bankrupt stock of a country merchant consisting of Broad and Narrow Cloths, Tweeds, Shirts and Drawings, Clothing for Men and Boys, Overalls, Boots and Shoes, and a variety of General Goods. Sale will commence every night at 7 o'clock.

We have been much pleased to learn that Rev. Dr. Sayer, the celebrated lecturer on insanity, is about to visit Peterborough. Dr. Sayer's reputation has reached this country before he came to it, and has been more than sustained by his public addresses in Toronto and other places. We understand that he is to preach in two of our churches on the first Sunday in February, and to deliver three lectures during the following week.

The Christmas feast for the Church of England Sunday School scholars belonging to the lower school was held on Wednesday evening. Tea was served from 5.30 until 7, when the children were treated to a magic lantern exhibition. After tea took place which made up a very interesting and enjoyable entertainment. The scholars were highly delighted with the entertainment given to them.

The election of a trustee to represent No. Two Ward at the Separate School Board took place on Wednesday. Two candidates were nominated, Messrs. W. J. Devlin and Henry Carver. The Deputy Returning Officer, Mr. T. McGrath, opened the polling place, his shop on Aymer street, and during the day received nine votes, all cast for Mr. Devlin. Mr. Carver having tacitly withdrawn previous to the election day. Practically, there was no polling.

The public schools and Collegiate Institute opened on Wednesday morning. The forenoon was spent in the organization of the classes and at shortly before 12 o'clock, soon, arrangements had been completed. At the Institute the pupils were dismissed for the day. This morning all settled down for steady work during the term. The attendance at the Institute this term is large. In addition to those from a distance the Institute has been supplied with new material from the public schools to the number of 35 pupils. It is expected that more pupils will keep arriving until the beginning of next week.

The Horticultural Society. The annual meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held this evening in the office of Mr. J. H. Euper, Bank of Toronto, at 7.45 o'clock. The regular business of the annual meeting will be transacted, consisting of the election of officers, etc. It is expected that there will be a large attendance. This is not only a social but a business meeting. It is an important one and all interested in horticulture should attend. It is the particular desire of the President to see a large number attend this evening. See ad.

Week of Prayer. The third prayer meeting of the week was held in the basement of the George Street Methodist Church on Wednesday evening. The large place was crowded to the doors. There were present the following reverend gentlemen:—The Rev. Messrs. A. Bell, Geo. H. Davis, E. F. Torrance and the pastor of the church, Rev. L. Towell. The address was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Torrance, and it was one of deep and general interest. He dwelt chiefly on the unity of the Christian churches, and the great good to be accomplished thereby. The Rev. L. Towell conducted the meeting, and the Rev. Messrs. Davis and Bell led in prayer. This evening the meeting will be held in the spacious Sunday School room of St. Paul's Church.

DANIEL E. SANDMANN

Appears in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening there assembled at Bradburn's Opera House, if not a large audience, a thoroughly appreciative one, on the occasion of the first appearance in this town of Mr. Daniel E. Sandmann.

The play presented was Shakespeare's Hamlet, Mr. Sandmann assuming the leading role, which, it may be safely said, is the most difficult character to portray ever drawn by mortal man. In this character there is so much that appeals to thought alone; so much that underlies the mere words of the actor, that it requires a subtle and profound mind to thoroughly imbue the various incidents and scenes, and to play the part of the prince. Mr. Sandmann has evidently arrived at a true conception of the character, for he seems to represent Shakespeare's Hamlet, physically as well as mentally. Immediately on entering, in the first scene, that settled melancholy and morose expression is apparent. It perpetually clouds his brow, and renders him imaginative instead of active. He is always philosophizing, never doing. However, there are times when he is hurried into action, and then he is as brave as a lion. Mr. Sandmann is just the build of a man which one would suppose Hamlet to be, tall, powerful, stately, and of a commanding appearance.

Mr. Sandmann's performance of the first part of the play only for short periods of time, but during that time she has won the admiration of the audience. In the latter part of the play, when, after the death of her father, she loses her reason, her representation becomes terribly realistic and truly thrilling. Madness might be clearly discerned in her eyes alone, and her incoherence of speech and wildness of expression and a thrill of pity to the heart. Miss Sandmann evidently possesses those high intellectual qualities with which to obtain a true insight into character and those physical graces with which to carry out her ideal.

Mr. Sandmann, as Hamlet, and Miss Sandmann, as Ophelia, have, with a few trifling openings for criticism, represented these two characters in a high degree of perfection.

The support was well taken, but Mr. E. J. Bostell, as Polonius, Mr. R. G. Gibbons, as Horatio, and Mr. D. Roberts, as the King, showed that they were not without special good qualities.

Tonight Mr. Sheridan, known as comedy drama, "The Hunchback," will be presented. We hope to see the Opera House crowded to the doors, for this company are certainly deserving of liberal support. Such excellent talent is rarely to be seen in Peterborough.

The Grand Opera House, over the Town of Peterborough, will be announced shortly.

Mr. Sandmann, and Miss Sandmann are doubtless at the Opera House. The evening risk was flooded to-day, consequently the lovers of this pastime have been obliged to languish.

Mr. E. J. Bostell will meet his Shakespeare class at 4.30 p.m. on Tuesday next, at the Collegiate Institute building.

The costumes used by the Sandmann-Sandmann Company at the Opera House last night are described as follows. They were rich, elegant and appropriate.

In consequence of an uncontrollable circumstance, the iron work of the Humber street bridge has not been fitted in position. A part of it will in all probability be put up to-morrow.

The Central Bridge Works. On Tuesday Mr. W. H. Law, of the Central Iron Works, went out to Omnes on the occasion of the final fitting of the new bridge built by him over the river Trent at that village. The test was made by means of teams of horses which pulled the bridge up to the top of the bridge, and the bridge was found to be strong enough to support a load of 100,000 lbs. but they were well satisfied and did not do so. On Wednesday Mr. Law will be at the works for a similar purpose. He received some time ago a contract to complete the iron bridge which spans the river Trent at that village, by removing two wooden spans and replacing them by iron ones. The work was completed, and on Wednesday the Councils of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham assembled to inspect the bridge. They were so well satisfied with the work that they considered a test unnecessary, and every member having pronounced the work up to the mark, the other four spans which were manufactured by an American firm, Mr. Law had agreed to construct the two spans of equal good material and workmanship with the other four and it must have been very gratifying to him, and it is certainly commendable, to have so favorable a verdict pronounced upon the work. Mr. Law will personally oversee the erection of the bridge across the creek at Humber street.

Now that Mr. Hilliard is making the best Flour in town, don't forget that you can order it at W. J. Mason's.

This Cider needs no comment from us, as the quantity of the ale has been in constant proof of its goodness and delicious flavor. Carver, Esq., opposite the Market Square.

BISHOP OF LONDON.

Death of the Right Rev. John Jackson, D. D.—The Last Services Interrupted.

A dramatic incident is reported in connection with the death of the Right Rev. John Jackson, D. D., Bishop of London, which occurred suddenly at his Episcopal residence, Fulham Palace. The Bishop would have completed his 74th year if he had lived until next month. He had suffered for some years from occasional spasms of the heart, but was still alert and vigorous in all the affairs of his important diocese. Last Sunday he preached the sermon at the evening service in St. Paul's Cathedral. The Bishop was a clever theologian and a forcible speaker, but his oratorical power was weakened by a slow and cautious style of delivery. During a momentary pause in the discourse a wild-looking individual jumped from a chair, and pointing his finger towards the pulpit, yelled out, "You scoundrel! while you seem to save souls, you are a scoundrel!" This astonishing outburst caused a commotion for a few minutes among the worshippers, but the officers soon removed the scoundrel, and he was given into custody. He was arraigned yesterday morning at the Mansion House police court and refused to give his name or to explain why he had disturbed the public worship. The Magistrate thereupon decided that he was a madman and sent him to goal for two months at hard labor, which is the usual Magisterial punishment for insanity. This episode of the Bishop, and is believed to have been the last of his life.

RELEVANCE. FRA.—A brick building adjoining the lower bridge, owned by W. J. Hunter and occupied by his laundry and David Livery stable, took fire about 9 o'clock on Tuesday night. The flames were extinguished in half an hour. Damage to the building, $300. Covered by insurance in the National. Fire's loss, $2,000. Insured for $1,400 in the Western. Damaged for loss.

Kentucky Horsemen. LIVERPOOL, Ky., Jan. 7.—There has been trouble in this county recently between whippersnappers and officials. To-night Deputy Sheriff White went to arrest James and Henry Burton, charged with aiding Goff, and to be engaged in illegal whiskey traffic, to escape from officers and continue to sell whiskey. The Burtons barricaded their saloon, and with friends on the inside defied the arresting officers. A posse of fifteen men surrounded them, and the sheriff's men tried to break in and were killed by the posse. Burton's friends, ten in number, then attacked the posse, and during the fight several men were killed. Several men are reported killed and wounded, among them Judge Bullock, wounded in the arm.

A Revoked Admirer of Plain Things. "What do you think of this?" asked a wife of her husband, showing him a rainbow colored carpet which she had ordered. "I don't like it because it is gray," "Fudge, you must be a devoted admirer of plain things."

I am, my love; that's why I married you," she said, and the gray carpet which was the result of the family quarrel, was never used.

Send for some of Hilliard's Flour, and you will decide that you can get no better. W. J. Mason will transmit your orders.

Tom Burry's Oysters. Are still the "favorites" by long odds. It's the size of them and the way he gets them up that takes. Try a stew or a plate of raw.

THE BARBET to Sir John was undoubtedly a grand affair, the only thing lacking was that the caterer did not use Hilliard's Blythe Mills Flour.

Just received, another lot of White Elephant all sizes, and cheaper than ever. Jno. KENNEDY.

McGraw's Speedy Cure. Every purchaser of common sense business capacity, when requiring an article for a certain purpose, must be sure that the article is the best of its kind, and that it is the most reliable. You are allowed a free trial bottle of McGraw's Speedy Cure, the great remedy for Dyspepsia, Impure Blood and Liver Disorders, at John McKee's Drug Store, 100 North Main Street, and at all other drug stores. Send for a bottle from persons in your own town.

Prices are down. That is the great point the buyer of to-day must consider. Everything that enters into general use, Woolens, Cottons, Clothing and Furnishings are down.

Our Clearing Out Sale is a success so far. We have given solid, tangible reasons for our temporary swooping out. The public take our word for it and stand to profit by our desperate sweep.

Prices are down—but not values, values with us are up. The public can and have discovered this. They will look to deal with this house—that is continually passing down prices and gives the buyer the advantage.

THE READERS.

The conclusion, the waste of money and the injustice that have distinguished the dealings of the most Administration with the school readers seem to be indeterminate. The job is continually pressing a new aspect, and each one in succession is more unfavorable.

The last revolution certainly does not improve the matter. It appears that the Hon. G. W.
Ross, the Minister for Education, in order further to favor the monopolists, to whom for very dubious reasons he has granted this valuable right, has assumed to fix the discounts to the trade upon these books at an unusually small amount. The bookkeepers throughout the Province are naturally objecting to being thus called upon to add still more to the profits of Mr. Ross's favorites.

This injustice to such a body of men as the bookkeepers of Ontario is objectionable enough in itself, but there is another feature of the case that is of still greater importance to that more numerous body, the parents of the scholars. It appears from the position of the bookkeepers that the three favored firms are making an enormous profit out of their monopoly. These petitions, who are well able to form an accurate judgment in such matters, assert, that even allowing for the trade discount, the monopolists have a profit of not less than a hundred per cent. on the cost of manufacture. When the favored firms are able to make such a profit as this, it is manifest that the Readers might have been produced much more cheaply if other houses had been allowed to compete, so as to get a fair price for the work.

For reasons known to Mr. Ross and Mr.
Mowat they are not only enriching a few but favored individuals, but to do so they are inflicting an injustice upon other publishers, they are cutting down the fair profits of the retail bookkeepers, and they are levying a second contribution upon every parent of a public school pupil. What right have they then to inflict heavy indirect taxes upon the great majority of the households of this Province?

FAIR TRADE.

The following description given by the St.
James Budget, is one of the many manifestations of the change of public opinion in the old country regarding their tariff policy, and of the loss of ground by the Cobdenites:—

"Less than a year ago we used to be told that the cry for Fair Trade was extinguished, as soon as it was raised, by the stout, stern commitment of the leading classes of the same time, however, it was obvious to all but the petting of politicians that this was a mistake of obscuration, and that as a matter of fact, the whole community, including the ruling class, were rapidly becoming infected with doubts as to the benefit of absolute Free Trade when worked against the Protectionists of all the rest of the world. It is one of the great misadventures of the time that not only the rulers of the empire, but by far the larger number of its communities in the press, are men of the class, who seem to have none of that sympathetic acquaintance with the instincts and impulses of mankind in the mass which is so essential to the business of politics. But for this, no such mistake could be made as that which the Cobdenites of all colors are now finding out. It ought to have been foreseen as a matter of certainty that as soon as a commercial policy of England ceased to advance by "leaps and bounds," as soon as the foreign competition was seen to work successfully in our markets both at home and abroad, while our industries languished on every side, the question would be raised whether the Protectionists of the foreigner is really so destructive and the absolute Free Trade of England so beneficial after all. How is it possible to avoid such questions when the most important of all our industries being stifled by foreign competition, not enough of wages can be earned to buy the cheap food which that competition does not supply with. The right and wrong of the matter we are not discussing; and the right and wrong of the matter does not count for much where it is a settled thing that the voice of the people (right or wrong) must decide all questions as soon as it is plainly expressed. All we now say is, that in the condition to which trade and agriculture are reduced in the three kingdoms, in a state in which they are likely to remain a long time yet, to say the least it is the most natural, inevitable thing in the world that our people should ask whether all the other people are really born fools in matters of trade and the Cobdenites the only wise men. The question was certain to be asked; and our conscientious men may well make up their minds to the fact that there is no section of society in En-land, short of the lowest, where it does not take a wider and deeper hold of men's minds every day. The resolution passed on Wednesday at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Agriculture is only one sign out of many that the whole question of free trade and protection has already been opened; one sign out of many that, if the present depression continues much longer, the new constitutions will be more agitated by doubt by about one-sided free trade than by any other subject whatever. And we are persuaded that the artisans are not to be pulled upon at all for opposing the agitation.
Tens of thousands of them are already asking whether they are better off a fivepence a half and four days work a week, than they would be with bread at sixpence a loaf and six days' work a week. No doubt the Cobden Club can give them an answer satisfactory to science, but whether it will prove so convincing to the sovereign people is quite another matter. In any case, it advises the economists to lose no time; and we strongly recommend them to discover a more obvious and cogent sort of argument than they have so far employed."

Interesting Items Regarding the Peterborough Association.

We take from the January number of the Association Notes the following items regarding the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association:—

THE LADIES' WORK.

As a result of the energetic efforts of the ladies, our members are now in the enjoyment of a parlor furnished with a brocade and plush parlor suite, easy chairs, centre and other tables, what-not, brackets, clock, bronzes carpet, lamprequis and blinds, pictures and stove. The whole makes it an exceedingly attractive room, and we are much mistaken if our members do not show their appreciation of the kindness of the ladies, by making use of this parlor very frequently. We have placed the leading magazines on the centre table, and on other tables we intend having chess, checkers and other games. A stereoscope with views would be an acceptable addition, if any friends would like to supply them. Everyone is cordially invited to drop in and see our rooms, especially those who have contributed towards making them so nice.

PERIODICALS ON FILE.

Several new periodicals have lately been added, and we now give a complete list of those to be found on file in our rooms. The sale of magazines, &c., took place on 19th Dec., and nearly all were sold. We have, however, Harper's Young People, the Youth's Companion, the Christian, and many of the democratical papers yet for sale. Young men are again invited to notice that our reading rooms are open to them, whether members of the association or not. The room is well lighted, warm, cheerful, and a much pleasanter place than many other haunts we could name. Come in and try it.

NOTES.

In reviewing the past year's work, we thank God for all He has done for us, and for our many lost opportunities and want of faithfulness; and desire in the coming year to do more for the Master, in His strength, than ever before.

ONTARIO has just sent two more secretaries to the United States field. Mr. A. E. Hines, formerly assistant secretary at Toronto, has accepted the secretaryship at Charlottesville, Va., and Mr.
W. H. Salton, of London, is now secretary at Port Henry, N. Y.

We have received a number of copies of the report of the Provincial Convention recently held here. The proceedings are very fully reported, and the papers read are given in full.
Any friend wishing to obtain a copy will be supplied gratis on application to the Secretary.

Some of the most recent members have already brought others along with them. We commend their example to each member. A large membership will help us in many ways, though that is not our chief consideration in admitting young men to join us.

THAT are some young men are deciding at this time to devote some of their spare hours in active Christian work. Our Association affords opportunities for this in many ways, and gives a place especially for these young men in Christian life. The Invitation and Reception Committees are in need of earnest, consecrated workers.
Will you be one of them?

A VERY happy New Year is the Secretary's wish to every member and every other friend of the Association. May the year throughout its course be one of service for and consecration to God, and may the Lord of the harvest grant that many souls may be gathered in through the instrumentality of our Christian young men.

At this season of the year quite a number of young men apply to us to help in obtaining work. We would like to help them as much as possible, and those who employ labor can help us greatly by informing us of any openings.
We try to help those who are trustworthy only,
and get all the information we can about all applications.

SEVERAL other changes have taken place among the Canadian secretaries. Mr. A. H.
Sandham has resigned at Toronto, and has accepted the position of the British Free Press.
Mr. W. J. Orr, of St. Thomas, has been called to fill his place, but we have not heard whether he has accepted. Mr. Gus. A.
Kubring, assistant secretary at St. John's, we hear, likely to go to Ottawa, and Mr. F. M.
Pratt of Montreal goes to New York.

This Finance Committee would be greatly obliged to any members (not already subscribing) who would subscribe towards the current expenses of the Association. The business men contribute a great deal to our work, and we have no doubt they would be still more willing to help, if they could on the part of the members to do what they could more wisely.
The Finance Committee wish to raise the whole estimated amount of current expenses of the year during the present month, so as to leave the remainder of the year free from financial anxiety. They therefore urgently ask the members to think and act on this matter.

A Dog Captures a Salmon.

The following appears in the Carlisle (Eng.) Journal of Nov. 7th, and needs no comment:— Major Gish, who, for some years past, has regularly spent the fishing season in the County, is the owner of a Dandie Dinmont Terrier, which is his almost inseparable companion in his fishing excursions, and on Monday last, while salmon fishing in the Lament, the Major had the good fortune to secure a fish, which was afterwards found to bring down the balance at sixteen pounds, under the following circumstances: The salmon was fairly well booked and promised to give some excellent play before being brought to book. No sooner did he show himself in the water, however, than Dandie plunged into the stream, and snatched the fish by the dorsal fin. The Major's line entangled around the dog and fish, and at length succeeded in forcing his captively unwillingly near to the bank to enable the Major to make use of his gaff, and the fish and dog were both safely brought to land.

Cows Meet in a Language.

A suburban correspondent sends the following amusing instance of intelligence in cows to a London paper:—"The other morning, a very silly one, two cows came to our gate, evidently on the lookout for something, and after being at first somewhat puzzled by their pleading looks, the thought struck me that they must be in want of water. No sooner had this occurred to me than I had some water brought in a large vessel, which the poor animals sucked up with the greatest eagerness. The pair then went away to a field near at hand. In about half an hour or so we were surprised to see our two friends marching up to the gate, accompanied by three other cows. The water was again called into requisition, and the new comers were in like manner helped liberally. Then with gratified "bo-o-o's"—a unanimous vote of thanks —our visitors slowly walked off to their pasture are. It was quite clear to us that the two first callers, gratified at their friendly reception, had strolled down to their sister cowpals and their companions, and informed them—how I cannot say, and then of their liberal entertainment, and had then taken the very pardonable liberty of inviting them up to our cottage.

..... Pills cured in ten days, rupture in four weeks. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A HEARTLESS MURDERER.

A Georgian shot while his wife knelt at the Murderer's Feet.

A despatch from Columbus, Ga., says nothing ever recorded in the criminal annals of the State equals in point of cold-blooded brutality the murder of Samuel M. Baker at the hands of a gang of desperadoes led by John W. Smith, who has for years been recognized as a terror in the neighbourhood. Not alone was there not the slightest shadow of provocation nor pretext for the deed, but the peculiar circumstances surrounding the case render it one of the most attrocious that could possibly be imagined. The victim was shot to death, even while his weeping wife knelt at the feet of the murderer imploring, but vainly, for the life of her young husband.
Mr. Baker, who was only recently married, settled a few weeks ago on a farm in Carroll county nearly on the line of Heard county. The young couple were supremely happy. The farm was well stocked and the planning of farming operations for the coming year had been discus-ed and agreed upon, the yield promising an abundant return. On Wednesday evening, just about twilight, Mr. Baker took his bride's arm and together they went out to look at the stock.
Just as they turned to retrace their steps towards their home three men, armed and inflamed with liquor, approached them. They were John W. Smith, Andrew Smith, and A.
E. King. All were known to Mr. Baker, who deputed some of his wife to the hope of avoiding any controversy with them. John Smith stepped across their path, and cocking his gun, ordered them to halt. "Go down on your knees," said the brutal ruffian, "or I'll blow your brains out," enforcing the command by pointing the weapon at the head of Mr. Baker, who was unarmed. Smith then poured forth the most villainous abuse on the head of his intended victim, interlarding his frightful rath-ers with the most shocking obscenity. Realizing the perilous position in which her husband was placed, Mrs. Baker hoped to save him from the violence, left his side and approaching Smith kneeling at his feet and clinging to his knees shrieked out: "Spare my husband's life! For God's sake, spare him! He has never wronged you.
Do not kill him!" In the excitement of the ground in a half-fainting condition. The pathetic appeal instead of moving the ruffian to pity appeared rather to inflame him to crime, and, spurring the prostrate weeping woman aside with his boot the infuriated desperado took deliberate aim at the kneeling man and fired.
The entire lot of his terror-stricken head and he fell forward, dying almost instantly.
Smith coolly reloaded his gun and, with his two companions, walked away, all bringing their weapons in the air, cursing and shouting as they went.

Smith, the murderer, made his escape. The killing of Baker has aroused the neighborhood, and if the murderer is found he will no doubt be hung or shot without any form of trial.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning? The signal perhaps the approach of that more terrible disease Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experiences that Smith's Cure will cure your cough it never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold the past year. It relieves cough or whooping cough at once.
Masters, do not be without it. For latest backside chest use Smith's porous plaster. Sold

"A Joy Forever!"

How pleasant it is to behold upon those we love something that will be of permanent pleasure to them or, in kind words "A Joy Forever!" One of the loveliest presents we could possibly make during the winter holiday season would be

OUR PHOTOGRAPH

and that of our children, if we are blessed with any.
"All that's bright must fade," said Moore, but photographs won't fade! They will always be fresh as when taken, and be constantly bringing up pleasing recollections of days gone by. At one time to have a whole family photographed was a very expensive undertaking, but now-a-days, especially since we have reduced our prices in such an unprecedented degree, everyone can afford to make such a present as the one which we suggest.

Photographs in the best artistic style, and fully equal in every respect to those for which exorbitant

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the pages of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short, tradition, business usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month to "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COST.

Extensive Lumber Sale.

On Thursday afternoon Mr. James M. Irwin held his annual sale of lumber at the Nassau Mills. There was a good attendance and a large quantity of lumber was sold at fair prices. Mr. Chas. Stapleton conducted the sale with his usual success.

Frost To-Night.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, between north-west and north-east; fair, mild weather during the day, with light frosts at night.

Billiards.

A match game of billiards will be played at Faucher's Billiard Room on Monday evening, between Mr. J. Sim Morrison and Mr. A. D. Faucher, for a handsome laid-out. The reputation of these two gentlemen as billiardists is well known in Peterborough, and an exciting game may be expected. The game will be of one hundred and fifty points, three balls. It will commence at 8 o'clock p.m.

Adjournment.

owing to the small attendance at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society held last evening in the office of Mr. J. H. Roper, at the Bank of Toronto, (they being held to adjourn until Wednesday evening next, the 11th of January. It is to be regretted that so little apparent interest is manifested in a Society whose object is to foster and improve a love for what is beautiful. The adjourned meeting will be held at the same place and at the same hour on Wednesday evening.

"The Hunchback."

There was not a large audience at the Opera House on Thursday evening, when the Band, managed by the same company presented "The Hunchback." Disappointment was felt by many when it was ascertained that Mr. Bandmann did not take a part in the play. The chief interest, of course, centred in "Julia," and Miss Beaudet certainly gave a charming rendering of that character. Mr. Charles Thornton gave a very good portrayal of "Walter, the Hunchback." His attitudes and play being natural, but his speaking was faulty, as it was not distinct enough. The other parts were satisfactorily taken.

Week of Prayer.

The fourth prayer meeting of the week was held in the Sunday School Room of St. Paul's Church, on Thursday evening. The attendance was large, as has been the case with all the previous meetings. The Rev. Messrs. Towell, Manning, Munro, Bennett, and the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Torrance, were present and took part in the service. The Rev. Mr. Towell gave the address—one of deep interest and eloquently delivered. Education was the chief topic dwelt upon, and the Rev. gentleman dealt with the subject in a wide manner. He spoke earnestly in regard to the relation between children and parents, and the duties of both. The Rev. Mr. Torrance conducted the meeting. To-night the closing meeting will be held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

Peterborough Lodge, I. O. O. F.

At the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge I. O. O. F., on Thursday evening, the officers for the present year were installed by Bro. R. W. Bell, D. D. G. M. The following are the officers: Bro. H. Clegg, P. G.; Bro. T. W. Robinson, N. G.; Bro. J. Clarke, M. D.; Bro. J. Fraser, V. G.; Bro. J. Clegg, F. S.; Bro. W. A. Hutton, T. R. N. G.; Bro. H. Long, R. N. G.; Bro. R. Hamilton, R. V. G.; Bro. H. Adamson, R. V. G.; Bro. W. Lewis, W.; Bro. W. Galt, W.; Bro. R. J. Kidd, I. G.; Bro. Geo. Macdonald, O. G.; Bro. H. Evans, Chap.; Bro. J. Fanning, R. S.; Bro. H. Gray, L. S.

Entertainment at Auburn.

A very successful entertainment was held on Thursday evening at the Mission Church, Auburn, under the auspices of the Auburn Temperance Society. The place was filled to its utmost capacity, and the entertainment throughout was of an interesting character. After the opening exercises Mr. Lewis Croy, the Secretary, read his first annual report, in which he graphically described the objects of the society and the work it had accomplished. Recitations were given by Mrs. Kennedy, Miss E. Glas, Miss A. Only, and Messrs. E. Blackwell and Frank Hartley. Several well chosen dialogues were recited in a pleasing manner. Vocal solos were contributed by Mrs. Homacher, Mr. A. Davidson, Miss E. Glas, Miss E. F. Dene, and Miss Mattie Hemminger. Miss Maggie Davidson read a selection, a duet was sung by Misses E. Dene and N. L. Dene, and a vocal trio was executed by Messrs. H. Kennedy, A. Davidson, and A. Gaskin. The entertainment was closed by the usual exercises, and a very enjoyable and well satisfied. We understand that at another similar entertainment will be held shortly in the same place.

Prepare for the Coming Carnival.

SKATED INTO ETERNITY

A SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT IN THE OTONABEE RIVER.

Three Little Boys go out for an Afternoon Skate and Only Two Return—The Third Skins Through the Ice.

On Thursday evening at about five o'clock news of a startling character spread like wildfire through the town to the effect that a boy had fallen through the ice in the Otonabee River and had been drowned.

The back of the river near the wharf was soon lined with people, and it was ascertained that the report was only too true.

In the afternoon three little boys named George Woods, Warrick Darcy and Tommy Bolton, went for a skate on the ice which skirts the river out from the shore to the distance of about twenty-five yards. After enjoying their themselves for some time around Mr. English's boat-house and northward from it, a proposal was made by one of the boys that they should go down down as far as the Ontario and Quebec Railway bridge. Woods and Bolton agreed and they accordingly started. Little Warrick Darcy being afraid to do so remained where he was. Tommy went first and George followed, but they had scarcely started when one of Tommy's feet sank in an opening of the ice which he had not observed.

The ice parted and he fell into the water. He managed, however, to cling to a piece of ice. He cried for help and Woods ran to get a board to span the parting ice. Before he returned with it the poor little fellow had slipped from the piece of ice to which he was tenaciously clinging, and had sunk to rise no more.

Grappling irons were brought into requisition and the river was dragged during the evening. At eight o'clock the body was found about one hundred and fifty yards from the place the no idiot had occurred.

The body was conveyed to the residence of the unhappy and sorrowing parents on Hunter street.

The deceased was only about nine years of age, and was the son of Mr. G. W. Bolton, plumber, of this town.

Get your costumes in readiness for the Coming Carnival.

A Correction.

Those ladies belonging to Mr. Earl's Shakespear class will please bear in mind that he will meet them at a quarter to four o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday, not at 4.30 o'clock.

Wanting to Smoke.

The following paragraph from the Toronto Mail refers to one who was in Peterborough for a time, and who became well acquainted with the Police Court here:—

"Margaret McNeel, of Lombard street, was taken off the railway track on Thursday while a locomotive was approaching. She had thrown herself down on the track, evidently with the intention of committing suicide. She was looked up on a charge of drunkenness."

Now that Mr. Hillard is making the best flour in town, don't forget that you can order it at W. J. Mason's.

Spaulding's Bay.

Some time ago Councilor McNeil moved a resolution, which was carried by the town council, instructing the Clerk to communicate with the G. T. R. and C. P. R. authorities with regard to filling in Spaulding's Bay. Replies were received from the management of both roads promising to look into the matter and advise the town at a later date. This morning Mr. S. B. McKee, of Toronto, Division Engineer of the Ontario Division of the Canada Pacific, was in town, and by appointment met Councilors Cahill and Davidson and the Secretary of the Board of Health and inspected the celebrated post-hole. The town now owns eleven half acres of land in the bay, while numerous private persons own lots more or less submerged. Mr. McKee thought the creek might be turned so as to run along King, or one of the streets running parallel with it, and thence into the river. He advised the councilors to have a plan prepared, showing the outline of the bay, the depth of water at high and low water mark, the kind of bottom and other particulars, which should be forwarded to the railway authorities. In the absence of such definite information as he required he would not give any estimate whatever as to what the probable cost would be. He explained, however, that in order to properly do the work, additional land, from which to procure gravel, would have to be purchased, and two steam shovels placed in the pits. Then two trains would be necessary to draw and dump the material. All this would cost considerable money, and even an approximate estimate of the probable outlay could not be given until all the necessary particulars were to hand. The Grand Trunk officials also are now investigating the matter, and if, as of late is frequently spoke of, that company construct the cut off to the locks during the coming year, they might be induced to fill in at least a portion of the bay on terms favourable to the town. The plan of changing the course of the creek is one that has been suggested on more than one occasion, and, if practicable, it is by far the cheapest method of ridding ourselves of the now existing nuisance. We are glad to see that the agitation so vigorously carried on by Councilor McNeil is bearing fruit, and we only hope that no stone will be left unturned until by some method or another Spaulding's Bay will be blotted off the map.

Send for some of Hillard's Flour, and you will decide that you can get no better. W. J. Mason will transmit your orders.

The Roller Skating Rink.

Seeing that a new place of healthful resort is to be opened in Peterborough in the shape of a roller skating rink, it might not be uninteresting to our readers to see what a Boston paper says of the roller skating rink recently opened in that city. The journal from which we clip the following says:—

"The rink is pre-eminently the aristocratic skating rink of Boston, being patronized by the elite of the city. From the first Mr. Frank E. Winslow, the proprietor and manager of this rink, has insisted on the maintenance of the strictest decorum of those who patronize the Boston rink. As a consequence the rink is frequented only by persons of respectability, who properly regard roller skating as the most refined and innocent diversion of the day. During the past season an addition has been made in the length of the building, and the skating surface is now 25 feet in length by 70 in breadth."

A $5,000,000 House.

Boston, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Hopkins, widow of the late Mark Hopkins, intends to build the most expensive house in the United States at Great Barrington, Mass. The cost of the house and grounds will be $5,000,000. The house will be built of blue stone from a quarry she owns, and work at the quarry will be carried on day and night. One thousand men will be employed on the job for three years.

A Lady School Trustee.

BURBANK, Ont., Jan. 8.—The voting for the election of two trustees was closely contested here to-day. Mrs. J. R. Smith and Dr. Hutchins were elected. One cause of the interest taken was on account of a lady being the candidate. There was a large vote polled. It is believed to be the first case in this part of the west of a lady being elected a member of a school board.

Pure Gold to His Widow.

Boston, Jan. 8.—The will of the late George Gardner, millionaire, contains the singular provision that with a portion of the fund left, the trustees shall each year until the death of his wife pay her pure gold to the amount of 1,161 ounces, or the same may be paid in alloyed gold, provided the alloy contains the above amount of pure gold.

Gold Medal Ale.

If you want a glass of Labett's prize medal fine ale (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlour Restaurant. This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

THE BANQUET to Sir John was undoubtedly a grand affair, the only thing lacking was that the caterers did not use Hillard's Blythe Mills Flour.

Sweet Apple Cider.

We take pleasure in referring to our numerous patrons and the public generally that we still hold the exclusive agency for the Belleville Cider Works. This Cider needs no comment from us, as the quantity we import direct from the best packers in Baltimore. Special quotations to those who buy in large quantities. CARTON, BROS., opposite the Market Square.

Notice.

You can depend on getting your Oysters always nice and fresh, and at the lowest possible prices, at Carter Bros., as we import direct from the best packers in Baltimore. Special quotations to those who buy in large quantities. CARTON, BROS.

Pure English Ale.

I want a delicious glass of Best genuine English Ale (October brewing), the proper place to get it is at Chamberlain's Bed and Breakfast. All our liquors are guaranteed pure and unadulterated. Choice imported and domestic cigars.

A Pointer to Business Men.

Dinner will be served to business men from 12.30 to 2.30 every day at FARMER'S Restaurant and Bodega.

For nice, light, white, toothsome bun, cakes, etc., use Hillard's Patent Flour. W. J. Mason takes orders.

Bodega.

Spanish Wines, Port and Sherry drawn from the wood, at the Parlour Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

Tom Darcy's Oysters.

Are still the "favorites" by long odds. It's the size of them and the way he gets them up that takes. Try a stew or a plate of raws.

Just received, another lot of White Blankets all sizes, and cheaper than ever. JNO. EASBURN.

Brayogda and Liver Complaint.

It is not worth the small price of 75 cents to free oneself of every symptom of those distressing complaints? Call on Hillard's Patent Flour, and get a bottle of Rillio's Stomachic. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, and according to it, and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. Sold by J. D. Tully.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America, and is now being sent to the Rev. JOSEPH T. LEEHAN, London, D. New York City.

"Our Girls" are coming out, and "don't you forget it." Quirk & Co. are bringing them out.

Prices are Down!

Prices are down. That is the great point the buyer of to-day must consider. Everything that enters into general use, Woolens, Cottons, Clothing and Furnishings are down.

Our Clearing Out Sale is a success so far. We have given solid, tangible reasons for our perspiring sweeping out. The public take our word for it and stand to profit by our decisive sweep.

Prices are down—but not values, values with us are up. The public can and have discovered this. They will look to deal with this house—that is continually piling down prices and gives the buyer the advantage.

THE LIQUOR LAWS

The Supreme Court has at length made public its decision as to the Dominion Liquor Act of 1883, the question of its validity under our constitution having been submitted for its determination. The Court holds that the regulations as to wholesale licenses and those as to vessels are within the jurisdiction of the Dominion, but that those as to retail licenses are ultra vires of the Canadian Parliament, being within the jurisdiction of the separate Provinces. As the Court declines to give, as it was requested, the reasons for its decision, it is impossible to say how far this determination is likely to be finally sustained. It has all along been understood that, whatever the result, an appeal would be taken to the Privy Council. What the decision of the highest court of the realm may be, it is impossible to foresee. The Privy Council has decided that the Scott Act, passed by the Parliament of Canada during the Mackenzie Blake Administration, is valid. It has also decided that the Crooks Act, passed by the Legislature of Ontario under the administration of Mr. Mowat, is valid, at least for certain purposes. Thus our ultimate court of appeal has pronounced in favor of both Dominion and Provincial jurisdiction, but so far it has not drawn the dividing line. This, it will probably now be called upon to do. It is very important that this question, upon which the courts and leading lawyers have differed, should be settled once for all, by an authority to which all must bow.

The Reform journals are raising a shout of triumph because, as they assert, Sir John Macdonald has been proved to be mistaken in this matter. This has not yet been finally settled, but even if it were, it is a knotty point upon which leading lawyers, without regard to political opinions, have differed. The late Mr. Bethune, probably the best lawyer in the Reform party, held the same view as Sir John Macdonald, while Mr. McCreedy, the Conservative leader in Ontario, differed with them. The legal advisers of the Mackenzie Administration, Mr. Blake among them, upheld Dominion jurisdiction, and put their views into effect by the passage of the Scott Act, legislation even in regard to the license fund, control of which was reserved by the B. N. A. Act to the Province. As to Mr. Blake's opinion, his criticism, now being quoted of the McCarty Act, are chiefly in regard to the supposed invasion of municipal rights, though, as we all know, it is the Mowat Administration that has most seriously interfered with the municipalities, depriving them all of the control of the license and the benefit of the fees.

From a temperance point of view it matters little which Act is sustained. The McCarty Act, even if pronounced invalid, has had this good effect, that its manifest superiority over the Crooks Act forced Mr. Mowat last session to adopt many of its most important provisions in amendment to his own legislation. As to our own predictions, we do not hesitate to say that our sympathies are in favor of Provincial jurisdiction, always with the proviso that such jurisdiction shall not be used to invade and abridge municipal control, and the rights of local self-government. It is, however, a matter not of sympathy but of fact that we are glad that it will shortly be decided by the ultimate Court of Appeal, the decision of which, whatever it may be, will doubtless be accepted cheerfully by all law-abiding people.

WAS JEFF DAVIS A TRAITOR?

Heated discussion in the United States Senate.—A spirited debate in the Senate this afternoon over Hawley's resolution calling for the statement concerning the policy of the Confederacy filed at the War Department by Gen. Sherman. The Southern Senators opposed the resolution, and defended Jefferson Davis. They said he was beloved by millions of people, and had been no more an enemy of the United States than many Senators now on the floor.

Legals said so long as we were made it was useless to declare that the antislavery movement by the war had been buried forever. It did not sound well to hear Senators extolling Davis as a patriot and a man of honor. The debate finally became warm. Hawley, Harris, George, Vest, Sherman, Ingalls, Morgan, Conger, and Lamar took part. Sherman, after reciting the circumstances of the controversy, said he did not desire to wound the feelings of an old man, "but great God" said he, "will it ever be disputed in this country of ours at any time within a thousand years that in the war and before the war Jefferson Davis was a conspirator and a traitor to his country? Never, I trust."

Lamar characterized Sherman's statement of the controversy as marked by flagrant inaccuracies as to the issues between Jefferson Davis and General Sherman. The South, Lamar said, had surrendered upon all questions dividing the sections, had given up the right of the people to elect from the Union, and had given up the right of each State to judge for itself of infractions of the constitution and the mode of redress. It had fought for its own view, and it had lost. But no man could in his presence call Jefferson Davis a traitor without his responding with a stern and emphatic denial.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

ITS HARD ON REFORMERS.

A stringent election law is not without its disadvantages.—Brockville Recorder (Reform).

AN EXPLANATION WANTED.

Certain printing firms in Toronto have a ten years' monopoly of printing school books, and are not having obtained the privilege by competition. The whole work is stereotyped, and there is nothing but press work and binding to be done. Why this work not been left open to the public competition as was promised? Hon. G. W. Ross owns the country very clear and full explanation on the subject.—Parkville Gazette (Reform).

A WORD FOR JOURNALISTS.

The French press in Canada has a singular mania; that of prying into editorial rooms to try to identify the writer, and about them, instead of endeavoring to answer their articles. These quarrelsome methods are borrowed from journalism in France. Would it not be far more dignified and instructive to adopt in this respect the English method?—L'Electeur.

AN ABSURDITY.

We have to some extent suffered and still are suffering from over-production in Canada; and the remedy that some wise men of Golden would urge upon us is truly a remarkable one, all things considered. We are advised that, as we are making more cloth (of cotton, as all sorts) than the home market will take, our best plan is to open our market freely to imported cottons, and woollens too. That seems like telling a man who cannot get three meals a day, but only two, that the proper remedy is to be able to come down to one meal a day, and get fat on it. Open our ports to foreign goods, let our factories be shut up, and then, sure, there will be plenty of work and no wages for all. To bolt a dog with a bullet cannot be called the height of nonsense, but surely this reveals it as absurdity.—Canadian Manufacturer.

MARVELOUS ENERGY.

The time for the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway is being constantly shortened, as first by year, and lately by months. The date for the completion of the Lake Superior section was recently advanced to next March, a little over two months from the present, and now Mr. B. Ross, the superintendent of construction, shortens the date at the other end, and announces that it is the intention to complete the entire line from coast to coast by August. The marvelous energy which the company has displayed in pushing the work is almost without parallel.—Winnipeg Sun (Indep.).

A WORD TO AUDITORS.

While on the subject of town finances, we may be permitted a word to the auditors, by way of finding fault, for we believe they do their duty just about as well as it is done in other municipalities, but in the hope that a different system may be adopted in the future. We do not think their whole duty is performed when they see that the additions are correct, and that there are vouchers for the different payments. It is their duty to ascertain whether there has been expenditure contrary to law, or whether the finances have been managed according to law, and report any irregularity, so that the ratepayers may have knowledge of it.—Owen Sound Times.

AN OPEN CONFESSION.

One of the richest things about the whole School Reader business, which is at the present time being largely commented upon by the public, is the reason given by the publishers for favoring certain publishers in the matter. The Government after admitting that the other Readers issued were failures, in other words, after admitting that it had made several mistakes through which these publishers lost money, admits that it now gives them the inside track in order that by the sale of the new and acceptable Readers they may be able in some measure to recompense themselves for what they lost through their former blundering. We cannot deny but this is an honest enough confession and one probably good for the soul that makes it, but at the same time we doubt that the parents who will have to turn the money to recompense these publishers will be the better pleased for it as they fork over the shekels.—Kingston News.

HOW TO DO IT.

"The question arises how can we keep Canada for the Canadian or Canadians in Canada?"—Grit St. Catharines News.

It is very easy. Quit lying about Canada. Let your miserable politician party take care of itself, and cease to slander the country in its interest. Stop all this foolish and criminal assertion about the country being driven to the dogs; let up on the lying section; the truth is, the country can do better in Dakota than he can in Manitoba; and neglect to abuse everything connected with Canada simply because it chances to be governed by your opponents. You may even go further, and occasionally point out a few of the exceptional advantages that Canada enjoys over any other country in the world. Follow this advice, and time will show that the young Canadians will come to believe that Canada is really worth living in.—Hamilton Spectator.

CAUGHT AGAIN.

The Toronto Globe has made the somewhat startling discovery that Sir John Macdonald adds cowardice to his many other virtues. In the Monday issue, we read the following remark: "He dared not, coward that he was, wait until the full parliamentary term had expired, and his policy had been more fully tested." And yet we do not know or remember that long before the dissolution was determined on, this same Globe repeatedly and persistently defied the Government to go to the polls, and submit its policy to the test of an election? But of course this challenge was never made under the impression that it would be complied with.—Shelburne Gazette.

OUR COMMERCIAL POLICY.

At a very early period in the course of the recent discussions in London, Sir John Macdonald caused it to be understood most distinctly that under no circumstances would Canada surrender what she had already asserted the right of making a commercial policy to suit her own requirements. His boldness in taking this position very firmly at the outset saved many a long-winded speech, and any amount of talking in its purpose. It compelled the advocates of free trade to drop all such happy coincidences as that of going back to the coast of Ontario to the mother country; and the limits of a revenue which would be found quite wide enough for them after all—that of such changes as are in harmony with the policy of the time. For it is remembered that while it pleases free traders to say that protectionists are Tories, they prove themselves to be Tories of "the oldest kind" every time that they invoke the power of the Imperial Government, or of any other new Confederation, which may be created, to crush out protection in the colonies. We may truly say that if now, as we are drawing near to the close of the nineteenth century, we were to look for such survival as there may be amongst us of the Toryism of more than a hundred years ago, we should be met by the old Toryism of England and Canada free traders. They are the men who would impose upon Canada, if they could, such terms of commercial submission as Burke declared against on behalf of the old colonies, and such terms as George the Third was a young man. And this, wonderful to tell, is called "Liberalism!"

Sir John's view of the situation, so far as Canada is concerned, was in brief this:—that anything looking towards a surrender of our commercial independence was clean out of the question. And the powers that be in Downing Street, justly alarmed at the attitude of affairs as did also the London press generally, Mr. Forster, who occupied the chair at more than one important meeting of Mr. Forster's Cabinet, and a man who has the reputation of having "no nonsense about him." He said that Imperial interference with colonial tariffs was not to be thought of, and the Prime Minister followed with the remark that powers of self-government once conceded could never be recalled.—Canadian Manufacturer.

"Isn't that Mrs. Holmes? I thought the doctor gave her up. She looks well now."

"She is well. After the doctors gave up her case she tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and began to get better right away. I heard she may not long ago that she hadn't felt so well in twenty years. She does her own work and made that life seems worth living at last. 'Why,' said she, 'I feel as if I had been raised from the dead, almost.' Then do thousands attest the marvelous efficacy of this God-given remedy for female weakness, prostration, ulceration, leucorrhoea, morbid humors, nervousness, stomach tendency to nervous disease, nervous prostration, general debility and kindred affections."

Dr. J. C. Holmes.

Dr. J. C. Holmes, of the University of Toronto, has written a book on "The Science of Life," which is a great work on manhood. Exhaustive Vitality, Nervous and Physical Health, Preserves the System from Decay, and is a most interesting and valuable work. It contains 120 illustrations of all sorts and chronic diseases, each of which is valuable. So found by the author, whose experience for 25 years is such as to make it a most reliable work. Price only $1.00 by mail, post-paid. Illustrative sample is sent. Send now. Gold medal awarded the author by the National Medical Association, to the officers of which he refers. An Editor's Rhyme.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—Pistol shots were exchanged in the Mayor's office between J. D. Huston, state tax collector, and Geo. Osmond, editor of the Monitor, to day. Huston and Osmond each received a wound in the hand. The trouble was caused by an article published in the Monitor, reflecting upon Judge Huston, brother of J. D. Huston, Brewster, who accompanied Huston and took part in the shooting, received a wound in the region of the heart, two in the left arm above the elbow and one in the thigh. He will die.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the page of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active businessman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short; tradition, business usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COST.

A Farm Change Made.
We learn that Mr. J. E. Hammond has sold his farm on the Lakeside road to Mr. John Fitzgerald, of Smith, the amount paid for it being $5,000.

The Market Lodge.
At a meeting of the District Lodge of Orangemen held in the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening the following officers were installed:—

Bro. Wm. King, D.D.M. do John Agnew, Secretary.
do D. E. Moore, Treasurer. do John Quinn, Chaplain. do Alex. Hamilton, D.D.C. do J. G. Weir, D.D.C. do J. Campbell, Lecturer.

Health Records.
The records kept by the Medical Health Office for the first two weeks in this year show a decrease in the prevalence of typhoid fever and other systemic diseases. Rheumatism, bronchitis, pneumonia and croup are, however, on the increase, but considering the season of the year and the prevailing weather the showing of the records is not out of the ordinary course of events.

The Coming Organ Recital.
The organ recital to be given by Mr. Heathfield will be held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Saturday evening. The price of the tickets has been reduced from 35 cents to 25 cents, and all those who attend may rely on getting full value for their money. Mr. Heathfield has had long experience as conductor of similar musical events, and no doubt this one will, under his management, be very successful.

English Spelling Reform.
Any one who studies the English language is aware of the defective nature of its orthography. Many revised methods of spelling have been brought before the public, but for the most part formed on the basis of association, which are used in all systems of shorthand. While it may take some time to get a system of phonetic spelling into general use, there is not much doubt that such will be the orthography of the future. In view of what has been said towards this end, the lecture by Mr. J. H. Long, (of the Cambridge Institute) to be given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Thursday evening will be of much interest. Every one is invited to attend.

Writers will find a Splendid Stock of first quality Knitted Goods in all Colors and Numbers, at TURNBULL'S.

An Evening of Pleasure.
The approaching carnival is creating no end of talk among skaters and others in Peterborough. The skaters are hard at work preparing for, embellishing their skates, and the rink on carnival night will look beautiful in its dazzling splendour—lit up, as it will be, with electric light. It is expected the outcome on this occasion will outshine anything of the kind ever attempted in Peterborough. The prize offered for competition in the various events are really good—some of them being especially valuable. The Fire Brigade Band will be present, and during the evening they will perform some of their favourite instrumental and vocal selections. Secure your tickets early, as the number is limited.

Installation of Officers.
The following is a list of the officers of Otumbee Lodge, No. 13, I. O. O. F., for the current term, recently installed by D. D. G. M. Ball, assisted by Bro. A. McFarlane, P. G. M., P. H. P., of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111:—

A Happy Life.

An idle life is not a happy one. A happy person is always perplexed, easily irritated and unhappy. To be contented one must be occupied. The work need not be laborious, but the mind must have something to do. One must have a sufficient income to meet all necessities, and, if possible, a few luxuries at least. He must have pleasant companions—persons of similar dispositions and of equal temper and work. If his income is not large he must be carefully economical. But that need not make him unhappy. He need not worry because he cannot purchase as many things as others do, or as costly articles, but he should make it a point to be always neatly attired when in company, never allow himself to become moody or morose, and to be cheerful and pleasant. By doing so he will be welcomed among those who are naturally and habitually cheerful and good natured, and his chances of passing a pleasant life will be good. One point to be remembered is, to purchase clothing where it will be neatly made, and also where the price will be low as is consistent with mercantile security. By this means he will not only always present a neat appearance, but also act in accordance with his common sense principles. Therefore be sure to buy your goods at A. McNeil's, Hobbs' Hall.

OUR ROUSING SALE

Throughout the surrounding neighbourhood the news has travelled that Special Bargains in Overcoats Suits and Tweeds have now been offered at the CITY CLOTHING STORE. These goods differ from those printed Pilots, Cottonades, and shoddy that have been palmed off for All-Wool Canadian Tweeds. We made up our minds to give Low Prices and High Quality Goods that would stand the test and bring a Large Increase to our business. It has become an old story that the CITY CLOTHING STORE leads in Clothing bargains, leads in Low Prices, leads in Styles. Come at once and get the correct thing from the fountain head, then you can be well treated, well clothed and well fitted. Every customer spreads the news of unequalled Bargains we are offering. This month we expect a greater rush than we had. Come and see our Special Bargains.

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—A profound sensation was created by the announcement that Police Commissioner Rumpff had been murdered. Rumpff was actively connected with the prosecution of the Anstettists at Leipzig. The police state there is no doubt the friends of the condemned Anstettists committed the deed. One report of the murder is to the effect that while returning home about ten o'clock, and when in front of his home Rumpff was struck a violent blow on the back of the head, which fell him to the pavement, rendering him unconscious, without giving him time to cry for help. TAKING STOCK!

No day devoted more to the business man than the day of taking stock. It is a day when the business man is called upon to look back upon the past and to look forward to the future. It is a day when he is called upon to take stock of his business, of his resources, of his opportunities, and of his prospects. It is a day when he is called upon to take stock of his own life, of his own health, of his own family, and of his own soul.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1886.

George W. Matthews' Career.
An account of the career of George W. Matthews, a prominent business man of Peterborough, is given in the following article. He was born in 1825, and spent his early years on his father's farm. He then went to school, and after completing his education, he engaged in the mercantile business. He was successful in his career, and accumulated a large fortune. He was a generous philanthropist, and contributed liberally to the support of the various churches and schools of his native town. He died in 1885, and was buried in the cemetery at Peterborough.

The Weather.
The weather has been very cold and stormy since the arrival of the new year. The thermometer has fallen to a low point, and the wind has been blowing from the north-west. The snow has fallen in some places, and the roads are very slippery. It is hoped that the weather will soon become milder, and that the snow will melt.

The Town.
The town of Peterborough is a busy and thriving place. There are many fine buildings, and the streets are well kept. The people are friendly and hospitable, and the town is a pleasant place to live. The town is also a center of commerce, and many goods are sold here.

The Schools.
The schools of Peterborough are well attended, and the teachers are good. The children are happy and healthy, and they are learning many things. The schools are a great benefit to the town, and they are a source of pride for the people.

The Weather.
The weather has been very cold and stormy since the arrival of the new year. The thermometer has fallen to a low point, and the wind has been blowing from the north-west. The snow has fallen in some places, and the roads are very slippery. It is hoped that the weather will soon become milder, and that the snow will melt.

The Town.
The town of Peterborough is a busy and thriving place. There are many fine buildings, and the streets are well kept. The people are friendly and hospitable, and the town is a pleasant place to live. The town is also a center of commerce, and many goods are sold here.

The Schools.
The schools of Peterborough are well attended, and the teachers are good. The children are happy and healthy, and they are learning many things. The schools are a great benefit to the town, and they are a source of pride for the people.

George W. Matthews' Career.
An account of the career of George W. Matthews, a prominent business man of Peterborough, is given in the following article. He was born in 1825, and spent his early years on his father's farm. He then went to school, and after completing his education, he engaged in the mercantile business. He was successful in his career, and accumulated a large fortune. He was a generous philanthropist, and contributed liberally to the support of the various churches and schools of his native town. He died in 1885, and was buried in the cemetery at Peterborough.

OUR INLAND WATERS.

Important Memorials to the Ministers of Railways and Canals and Public Works.

We understand that a certain amount of dissatisfaction has been created this year among the different industries on the waters between Young's Point and Peterborough, owing to the irregular supply of water from the large reservoirs north of us. A meeting was consequently held in this town on Dec. 10th, at which there was a full representative attendance from all the points interested, of lumbermen, mill owners, vessel owners, &c. It was resolved after some discussion to present the case to the Government in the form of memorials. As the subject is one in which not only a large number of property holders are interested, but over 12,000 employees, most of whom have families depending upon them, it will be seen that the subject is of grave importance. We, therefore, submit the documents in question. They are addressed both to the Minister of Canals and Railways and the Minister of Public Works, both Departments having at present control over the waters.

SIR,—I have the honor herewith to enclose you two memorials from the lumbermen, vessel owners, woolen manufacturers, and others, in reference to the management of water, as well as to the state of certain dams and slides on the Trent Valley system of waters.

I am desirous to assure the Government that while the memorials complained of in these memorials seem to have required your attention called to them, the memorialists do not wish to throw any difficulties in the way of the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, a scheme which they believe to be of the utmost importance not only to this particular section, but to the country at large.

It is felt, however, that there is no necessity, with proper precautions and due consideration of the capabilities of the contractors who may be employed on the construction of the canal, to have the difficulties arise which the memorialists complain of.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. M. INYR,
Secretary.

We the undersigned vessel owners, lumber and woolen manufacturers, millers and others immediately interested in the navigation and water supply of the Trent Valley system of waters respectfully call your attention to the following:

That at the original conception and construction of the Trent Valley Canal, large reservoirs were created at various points on the route of the proposed Canal, provisions being made therewith for the floating of logs and timber down the said waters.

That parts of this system have been under the control of the Government of Ontario, and other parts under the control of the Dominion Government.

That the principal reservoirs now affecting the interests of your memorialists are those of Sturgeon, Pigeon, Stony, Clear, and Katchewan lakes, the extent of which may be seen by reference to the accompanying plan.

That these reservoirs have been managed in the past for the purpose of raising the spring freshet and furnishing an annual supply of water during the summer months for the purpose of navigation, the floating of logs and timber and for the other various industries requiring water lower down stream.

That this year owing to certain contracts let by your Government for the construction of locks at Buckhorn and Burlington, and dams at Young's Point and Lakefield, the water has been improperly retained in the reservoirs, and has been handled in the interests of the contractors, to the interruption of navigation, and to the serious loss and inconvenience of your memorialists, whose vessels and mills have been thereby idle for a large portion of the season.

That the result of such management has also been, to create at this time an unusual and dangerous back of water in the large reservoirs above alluded to, and which unless run off during the winter, (a proceeding attended with much danger) will be liable to cause great damage to the different industries in which your memorialists are interested, when the spring freshet reaches the already full reservoirs.

Your memorialists would wish to point out that owing to a new dam being constructed at Young's Point, a large portion of water properly belonging to the main stream is liable to be thrown down the Indian River outlet of Stony Lake thereby depriving your memorialists of their upper water rights, unless a guard dam is constructed at the said outlet, whereby the water supply may be regulated and an equitable amount of water allocated to each stream, such supply being based on the supply of water as has been allotted in the past, on the then existing condition of affairs.

Your memorialists would therefore pray that your Department will take such action as will obviate the grievances complained of, and having the water at once so governed as will relieve the danger anticipated by your memorialists, in the spring; and also manage the flow of water during the future so as not to cause interruption and loss to the different industries carried on by your memorialists, and also take such measures in regard to the Indian River outlet of Stony Lake as will protect their property from being deprived of their proper supply of water.

Your memorialists would also suggest that the regulation of the water in all these reservoirs, places, and also the proper management of our officers in such a manner, that no conflict of authority between the officers of construction of the Trent Valley Canal, and the officers over the maintenance of the existing Public Works shall occur.

In conclusion your memorialists look to the Government for relief from the grievances above complained of, and compensation for any damage resulting to them by a delay in the customary way of regulating these waters.

And your memorialists will ever pray, etc.
Signed by all the manufacturers and vessel owners interested.

We, the undersigned lumber and timber manufacturers on the Trent Valley system of waters beg to respectfully call your attention to the following:

That certain dams, slides, piers and locks at Burroughs Rapids for facilitating the driving of logs and timber, have been taken to the Dominion Government for the purpose of the construction of the Trent Valley Canal.

That the improvements referred to are in such a state of repair as will cause great expense and inconvenience next spring for the running of logs, and are almost impossible, if not wholly so, for timber.

The damper known as "The Big Chute," being controlled by the contractor who has the construction of the locks, part of the system of the said Trent Valley Canal will be entirely closed and the water known down the other channel, which will still further reduce the quantity to your memorialists, unless improvements are immediately made at the existing dam and slide which will permit of the safe passage of logs and timber.

Your memorialists would therefore respectfully request that these improvements will be made at once.

And your memorialists will ever pray, etc.
Signed by all the lumbermen operating on the Ontario waters.

The Truchesson Inc.
HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 16.—A young lad named James Zwickler, about fifteen years of age, was drowned at Mahone Bay yesterday morning. He had been engaged helping his father, Era Zwickler, to load a team with wood. The father started with the load for lumbering and the son returned home, crossing Zwickler's mill dam. His brother went to look for him some time after found him lying on the ice. A raft was made and the body was found under the ice. A young girl ten years of age named Jennie, who was crossing the ice on her way from school, fell through and had a very narrow escape from drowning.

Killed on the C. F. R.
OTTAWA, Jan. 16.—Francis T. Kirby, son of the late F. T. Kirby, of York street, who was one of the oldest residents of this place, was accidentally killed at Sturgeon Falls, Canadian Pacific Railway. No particulars of the fatality have been received. Intelligence of the accident was wired late last night from Sudbury Junction. Mr. Kirby left Ottawa a few years ago and opened a general store at the Falls. He leaves a wife and two children. He was 40 years of age. The remains will most likely be brought to Ottawa for interment.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

PORT HOPE.

SUBMER DEATH.—Mr. Richard Barry, a carpenter that worked in the Midland Railway shops, but who has been out of employment for some time past, died very suddenly on Saturday morning. The physician called says it was apoplexy. Deceased was in his usual health on the previous evening and called at our office for his paper. We have not seen him looking better for some time past than he appeared to be. He was 35 years of age, and leaves a widow, one daughter and several sons to mourn his sudden death.

DAMAGE BY A STORM.—Port Hope and vicinity was visited on Friday night and Saturday by one of the most violent wind storms ever experienced in this section. It was quite equal to what is reported of a Manitoba blizzard. A good deal of damage was done in town and surrounding country. Several of the new shined glass windows of the First Presbyterian Church were broken by the force of the gale. One family residing in a three-story brick dwelling on Walton street was compelled to vacate their sleeping apartments during the night, because the windows were blown in. Buildings in all parts of the town suffered more or less. The Methodist church at Welons had its roof injured by the falling of one of its chimneys. Many barns and sheds in the surrounding country were unroofed. Mr. Israel Gibson, 5th concession of Hope, had a couple of large sheds entirely stripped. The iron roof of the life boat house was blown off. Trees and fence on all sides were laid flat. The iron chimney of the Midland work shops was also blown down. James Brown, 2nd concession of Clark, had four head of cattle killed by the falling of the roof of the barn in which they were housed.—Guide.

The Scott Act.
NAPANE, Jan. 16.—The Flinton stage driver has arrived at Tamworth and brings the following returns from the back of Shirefield:—Piloton gave 40 majority for the Scott Act, and Cloncy gave 3 against it, making a total majority for the Act of 41, with Dring and Vannocher to hear from. As the vote is small at these places, the impression is that the Act is carried beyond a doubt.

A Safe Spell.
A Scotch family, residing in London, at first could not get into the way of the Cockney aspiration. They had a servant who called herself "Hannie," but they were not sure whether her name was Hannah or Annie. After deliberation they decided to call her "Hannie." The result was still more confusing, for she said it as follows:—"Hannie-ben-hannie." What was it?

Field Lightning.
There are but few that have never suffered in tolerable pain from Toothache, Neuralgia, or like acute pains. To them such an instant relief as Field Lightning is an untold blessing in time of trouble. No disgusting offensive medicine to be taken for days. One application of Field Lightning cures. GRAY NO MORE HAIR.

Graytime! the Great Hair Restorer and Renewer, changes gray hair to its natural color gradually and permanently. Not a dye. A marvellous invention. Gray-haired persons, old men and old women made to look young in three weeks. It soon gives hair. Also grows hair rapidly and insensibly back to its natural color, and restores the hair to its natural texture and color. It is the only restorer of the hair. Address, J. E. NICOLSON, 1 Murray St., New York.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the page of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short; tradition, local usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COST.

Astrachan Mantles, Ready-made Mantles, Sealottes, Knitted Goods—all kinds.

Very cold weather.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh westerly to south westerly wind, fine very cold weather to-day and to-morrow.

Railway Accident.

Owing to an accident which occurred some where on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway east of Ottawa, the early morning express on Sunday did not pass through Peterborough until late in the afternoon. The accident was caused by a freight train being stuck in the snow, and the express derailed into it. The locomotive was wrecked, and the passenger cars were derailed. Fortunately the passengers were not injured.

The Emma Wells Comedy Company. The above mentioned company will open a two weeks engagement at Bradburn's Opera House to-night in the highly wrought tragedy entitled "Caprice." Miss Emma Wells, the four-voiced vocalist, will give a portrayal of five different characters and will sing four distinct parts, soprano, mezzo, tenor and contralto. This company have just come from Ottawa, where they have closed a very successful season.

Spectacular Progressing.

The carnival committee report steady progress in arrangements for Friday evening, the 23rd inst. All are doing their level best to make the event a most enjoyable one for those attending. As before announced, the excellent band of the Peterborough Fire Brigade will be in attendance, and during the evening will render several vocal selections, with brass accompaniment. The ice will no doubt be in first class condition, and the rink will be brilliantly lighted with electric light. Go and enjoy yourselves.

Unreserved Sale.

We would call attention to the unreserved sale by auction of the house-hold furniture of Mr. Richard Lund, to be held at his house on Aymer street, north of London street, by Mr. Charles Lloyd on Thursday, January 23rd, at half-past 12 o'clock. Besides the house-hold furniture, there is a new organ, a good horse, buggy, wagon, a shop fixture, a quantity of groceries and other articles. The whole to be sold without reserve, as Mr. Lund is leaving town, so there will be a good chance for good bargains.

Egypt and the Nile.

A lecture on the above subject and illustrated by magnificent diav-living views will be given in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, by the Rev. T. W. Paterson, on Thursday, Jan. 22nd. Admission 25 cents. The Mail says of this lecture, which was recently given in Toronto:—

"The lecture was very interesting and instructive, being amply illustrated by views of the principal cities, temples, mosques, pyramids and other wonders of Egypt. A large map of the Nile was exhibited, showing its whole course and the position of the Cataracts, where the Canadian contingent have proved their superior skill and bravery."

Tickets may be had at Messrs. Salisbury Bros. and A. L. Davis & Co's.

Architects.

Our readers will not be that Mr. W. Blackwell has entered into partnership with Mr. Geo. W. Ranney, as such. During Mr. Blackwell's stay in the North-West from which he has recently returned, he has been assiduously practicing his profession, having erected many buildings in Winnipeg and towns to the west of the Prairie Capital. Mr. Blackwell studied his profession in the well known office of Mr. Walter Strickland in Toronto, and has since then had considerable experience both as an architect and contractor. Being a native of Peterborough he has a number of friends here, and with his high qualifications we hope he will establish a thriving business.

Chit-chat.

—Cold.
—Bitter cold.
—And it is to be colder.
—The evils were vacant last night, and there was no business at the Police Court this morning. Moral town, this!
—While skating at the rink on Saturday afternoon, Mr. Frank Sherrard slipped on the ice and sprained his ankle.
—The snow plough has had a comparatively easy time of it so far, but now that there is a quantity of "the beautiful" on our sidewalks it has material to work on.
—The w. rmen have commenced to put the flooring down on the Hunter street bridge. The cold weather makes the job anything but a comfortable one.

TURBULL is ahead of the times; he is showing how spring residences in lovely patterns, cheaper than ever.

"Storm Beaten."

The above is the title of a celebrated drama that is at the present time enjoying a successful run in the principal cities of the United States and Canada. "Storm Beaten" is a quotation that could be applied to various shipwrecked undertakings in this world. How many a bark has left the harbor with the prospects of a safe run, and ere midnoon was reached the frail and spongy craft would meet with disaster—all through the unworthy state in which she was launched the first day. The storm and tempest was more than the ship could bear; other vessels of more massive build, and with careful and experienced hands to steer them through the surging sea, have safely weathered the storm and arrived with a safe cargo. In the "era of life" many there are who ride out on the billows of ambition, and, long before their vessel has even been known, sunk in the midst of success and fortune—simply because there was no one at the helm to steer the boat on to the port of safety. Now there are in Peterborough to-day some young men who would do well to begin now to steer their worldly craft in the right channel—that channel is sure to lead to the ocean of success in the end, and it empties right into A. McNair's store, Habliment Hall.

Buy your Blankets before the next cold snap. You will find the prices right by calling at TURBULL'S.

Personal.
Messrs. Geo. A. Morrison and A. Wilson on Saturday went to Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the North American Life Assurance Company, by special invitation from the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, President of the Company.

The morning and evening services at the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday were greatly enhanced by the singing of Miss Fanning, of Hamilton. She took the more prominent parts in the anthems and the solo singing by her in the evening was particularly well rendered. She possesses a rich soprano voice, well cultivated, well controlled, and of considerable pianity. We are pleased to learn that she has been engaged as leading soprano in the George Street Methodist Church choir.

Mr. Fred. Rathford, an old Peterborough boy, who has been residing in Milwaukee, is now spending a few weeks here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rathford. Since his departure from Peterborough, some five years ago, Mr. Fred. has deserted the ranks of the benedictines and has taken unto himself a "better half." He, together with his wife, will return to Milwaukee in about a week.

Mr. Hugh R. M., the energetic "first" of Messrs. Hugh Ross & Co., has just returned from a trip to New York, where, from some of the leading cattlemen in that city, he has learned some "tricks of the trade" well worth knowing. He says that those who patronize him need not be afraid of getting bad fits.

We regret to learn that the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rector of Peterborough, and Rural Dean, has been indisposed for the past week. On Sunday the services of the church were conducted by the Rev. T. B. Aspl, of Halliburton.

Our Customs House.
The following appears in the Canada Gazette of Jan. 17th:—

"Charles Hamilton Clement, of the Town of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario, gentleman, to be Leading Waiter and Clerk in Her Majesty's Customs."

Now that Mr. Hilliard is making the best flour in town, don't forget that you can order it at W. J. Mason's.

Gold Medal Ale.
If you want a glass of Labatt's prize medal (special brewing) call at W. H. Chamberlain's Parlour Restaurant. This ale has received four gold medals at the World's Exposition, Paris, Australia, Philadelphia and Canada. It is kept in one of the best cellars in Canada, and is pleasant to the taste, and at the same time a wholesome beverage.

Springtime Treats and Supporter.
See Prof. Hotchkiss's Springtime Treats and Supporter advertisement in another column of this paper. Go and see him. He rebores the henna he cannot hold. Will be at the Grand Central Hotel Feb. 16th, 17th and 18th.

Don't English Ale.
If you want a delicious glass of Don't English Ale (Guthrie's), the price per glass to get it at Chamberlain's Restaurant and Bodega. All our liquors are guaranteed pure and unadulterated. Choice imported and domestic cigars.

A Carnival. will be held in Lakefield Skating Rink on Thursday next, the 23rd inst. Peterborough Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Tickets 25c. Doors open at 7:30.

Shooting Rink.
The ice is in good condition and the Band will be in attendance to-night and every Friday night until the Rink closes.

Immense cases of New Spring Prints have landed at TURBULL'S. Do not be persuaded to buy old goods.

The BANQUET to Sir John was undoubtedly a grand affair, the only thing lacking was that the caterers did not use Hilliard's Blythe Mills Flour.

Bodega.
Spanish Wines, Potatoes and Sherris drawn from the wood, at the Parlour Restaurant of W. H. Chamberlain.

Dinner will be served to business men from 12:30 to 2:30 every day at FARMER'S Restaurant and Bodega.

Tom Burg's Optician.
Are still the "favourite" by long odds. It's the size of them and the way he gets them up that takes. Try a stew or a plate of raws.

Send for some of Hilliard's Flour, and you will decide that you can set no better. W. J. Mason will transmit your orders.

For nice, light, white, toothsome buns, cakes, etc., use Hilliard's Patent Flour. W. J. Mason takes orders.

English Criticism of Grant.
The financial difficulties of Gen. Grant and his action in connection with Vanderbilt's proposals are subjects of much editorial comment in the London papers. The Liverpool Post refers to the General as the modern Bonaparte, and says:—"From fighting the enemies of his country he has turned to fight the Wall Street beast. Napoleon watching the sea across the Atlantic was not half so painful a spectacle, or half so acute a sufferer, as Grant receiving the hangers and buffers of conquest from the hands of the money king."

The Queen to Visit Germany.
Notwithstanding the perambulation with which the report is circulated that the Queen purpose visiting Cannes during the winter, there is high authority for saying her majesty has no intention of leaving the United Kingdom.

The Liverpool Post refers to the General as the modern Bonaparte, and says:—"From fighting the enemies of his country he has turned to fight the Wall Street beast. Napoleon watching the sea across the Atlantic was not half so painful a spectacle, or half so acute a sufferer, as Grant receiving the hangers and buffers of conquest from the hands of the money king."

Burned to Death.
Mrs. Peter Loss of Gananoque, while insane, set fire to her cottage and before the flames were extinguished burned herself so badly that she died. Her husband attributes her madness to large quantities of medicine given by a doctor.

A LAWLESS SON.

Shoots His Father and Brother-in-law and Burns the Barn.

NAPASHE, Jan. 17.—A desperate affray has just been reported from near Erinville. A man named John Mullen, who has lived with his father for some time, and has become dissipated in his habits, became annoyed at the other members of the family because he was not allowed to handle the property as he wished. The son-in-law, John Mulholland, also lived on the place, and towards him the animosity of the younger Mullen was also directed. An open rupture occurred last week, when the latter shot at his father, and then fired at Mulholland with better effect, as the latter was struck on the hand his thumb nearly blown off. The desperate then ran off, and has since been seen by the fact that the barn has since been set on fire and completely destroyed, with a splendid team of horses, three cows and the winter fodder and seed grain. The family live in constant dread of some further mark of his desperation.

A Terrible Crime.
Utica, N. Y., Jan. 17.—William Druse, a farmer of moderate circumstances living in the town of Warren, Herkimer county, has been missing a month. Suspicious of murder were caused by quarrels between him and his wife. For several days it was rumored that Druse had been murdered by his wife, but only on the night of the 10th, the body was put into a grave. An axe owned by Druse was found in Werhabe's pond last Saturday rolled in paper. A nephew of Mrs. Druse named Yates, now 18, had been in the house the night of the murder. He confessed that Mrs. Druse shot her husband while he and her son were out, and that she put a rope around his neck and compelled him to shoot; also that they buried the body and buried the bones. The odor of burning flesh was noticed on December 18th. Mrs. Druse and Yates are under arrest, and it is said that she has admitted the crime. An inquest is in progress.

How the Sun's Fire is Kept Burning.
How is the heat maintained? Not by the miracle of a perpetual self-sustained flame, we may be sure. But then, by what fuel is a fire fed? There can be no question of simple burning, like that of coal in the grate, for there is no source of supply adequate to the demand. The State of Pennsylvania, for instance, is undecided by the one richest coalfield in the world, capable of supplying the consumption of the whole country at its present rate for more than a thousand years to come. If the source of the solar heat (whatever that is) were withdrawn, and we were enabled to carry this coal there and about it into solar furnaces fast enough to keep up the known heat supply, so that the solar radiation would go on at just its usual rate, the time which the coal lasts in easily calculable. It would not last days or hours, but the whole of these coal beds would demonstrably be used up in rather less than one thousandth of a second! We find in a similar calculation that if the sun were itself one solid block of coal, it would have burned out to the last cinder in less time than man has certainly been on the earth. But during historic times there has as surely been no noticeable diminution of the sun's heat for the olive and the vine grow just as they did three thousand years ago, and the hypothesis of an actual burning becomes untenable. It has been suggested by some that instead of striking the solar surface might generate heat by their impact, just as a cannon ball fired against an armor plate causes a flash of light and a heat so rapid and intense as to partly melt the ball at the instant of concussion. This is probably a real source of heat supply so far as it goes, but it cannot go very far, and, indeed, if our whole world should fall upon the solar surface like an immense projectile, scattering it as it fell, and finally sinking (as it would) with the force due to the rate of 300 miles a second, the heat developed would supply the sun for little more than 60 years.—C. P. Langley in the Century.

Prices are down. That is the great point the buyer of to-day must consider. Everything that enters into general use, Woolens, Cottons, Clothing and Furnishings are down.

Our Clearing Out Sale is a success so far. We have given solid, tangible reasons for our peremptory sweeping out. The public take our word for it and stand to profit by our decisive sweep.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1886.

MR. MOWAT'S FRIENDS.

Mr. Mowat seems to be determined that there shall be no doubt that he is in sympathy with the corruption of his party—with the grossly illegal and corrupt acts by which the Reformers have recently been pursuing even their own bad record of old. The Attorney-General and Premier of Ontario has just commended to write an election "dodge" on behalf of his corrupt and disqualified friend, Dr. Dowling, who is trying for a third time to reap the benefit of his illegal acts in South Renfrew. He is doing this under the guise of a letter to Mr. Robert Campbell, M. P. for South Renfrew, who seems to have doubts as to the propriety of Dr. Dowling, but it is evidently published now in order to aid the election of his disqualified and disgraced friend.

An Attorney-General, the leading law officer of this Province, it is especially Mr. Mowat's duty to aid the law, to support the law courts, and to uphold their judicial decisions. But instead of doing so, he is coiffe at the options of his judges, two of whom found that Dr. Dowling committed corrupt acts personally, and one of them held that they were sufficiently grave to disqualify him. He is now this decision of his judges by disingenuous legislation, though he did it so covertly, as the Bench said, displaying utter ignorance of the law, as to fail in his own object, which his friends were again removed by a judicial decision from his unbecoming seat. Now he is again supporting this disreputable candidate, who is well held by judges to be under the ban of the law for his misconduct. But Mr. Mowat now demands to an even lower depth, for, in the concluding sentence of this previous document, he actually threatens to introduce further legislation, in the coming session, so as to "overrule our law courts and force this man into the legislature in spite of the law." But Mr. Mowat has another position besides that of an official law officer. He is the leader of the Reform party in the Province of Ontario. He is the mouthpiece of his party, especially in a public manifestation like this, and speaks for them authoritatively. He thus officially declares that the Reformers consider an eligible candidate one who has been found by one judiciary to be a corrupt man, and therefore also a perjurer. He declares as the Reform leader that there is no objection to a Reform candidate even though undoubtedly corrupt, if a majority of parties in the Legislature can be found to whitewash him. He goes out of his way to advance the cause of the corrupt candidate, the perjured witness, the faithless official, the false story, the hired infirmer, who is now running for South Renfrew, through the connivance and with the support of Mr. Mowat.

Regarding to Messrs. Warwick & Son's offer to publish the school readers for a low price "the present publishers receive, the Book-Whiff Recorder says:

"Not having anything in the old readers, which they could afford for a time to publish at the low price, a little cheaper than some other firms."

The argument is simply that the three firms who have been given the exclusive right to publish the books lost money through the blundering of the Government, and that therefore they should be rescued by being allowed a monopoly of the Reader business. No matter what way the question is viewed, Mr. Mowat's Government is responsible for the annoyance and unnecessary expense caused to the parents of the pupils by the changing of the books.

A TELEGRAPH to being published by many Reform papers, credited to the Hamilton Times, in which the admission is made that Sir John Macdonald was once an authority on constitutional law. Even this admission is something, considering the source from which it comes, but as these journals have always heretofore pretended to see nothing good in the Dominion Premier, the admission will weaken their present contention that Sir John's opinions on such questions should have no weight.

A REFORM contemporary says that the majority of Reformers favor prohibition, but that prohibition will not be taken up by the party because they fear it would keep them in Opposition. It has long been known that the Reform party would bury their principles and try to leap into power from the elevation made by the group, but we did not expect such a frank avowal of the fact.

The Panama Canal.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Capt. Bedford Pim, of the British navy, who has recently been exploring the route of the proposed Panama canal, in a letter to Secretary Fish, says that on the canal, over six million dollars has been expended on the work thus far, and less than three miles of the contemplated 41 miles of water-way have been opened; that owing to the nature of the soil it would be impossible for a form of 10,000 laborers to complete the canal in less than 15 years, and that to protect the work from overflow will require five years of great industry and immense outlay.

Mysterious Poisoning.
ST. ALBANS, W. Va., Jan. 18.—Great excitement prevails here over the poisoning of Miss Annie Blanche, and Jennie Barnes, three highly respected young ladies. They prepared breakfast yesterday, using water from a barrel. Shortly after eating they became violently sick. Upon examination the water in the barrel was found to contain arsenic. How it got there is a mystery. The victims are in a serious condition.

THEIR GREAT NEED.

First, they (the Reformers) need a plain simple platform of principles, which every elector can be made to comprehend, and they need a consistent, unflinching, and uncompromising policy, which will compel all the electors to stand about the subject to be attained.—Hamilton Times (Reform).

A TRIFLE RIDICULOUS.
For those who cry out against a surplus as wrong in principle, and who justify Macdonald's repudiation of his resources as the proper line of conduct, to call in question a diminished income as a failure, is a little too funny.—London Free Press.

SIR JOHN'S POPULARITY.
Sir John should consider that if Canada were to become an independent monarchy he would certainly be King John I. and as such would not be invested by the Queen with the highest honor of all—that of the garter.—Montreal Witness (Reform).

EXPELLING PROTECTIONISTS.
Hitherto Reformers have felt at liberty to hunt with the hound and run with the hare. They have, in some instances, especially when engaged in manufacturing, desired a preference for protection. They are no longer at liberty to do so. The time for running is past. If Reformers are protectionists they are no longer Reformers but Conservatives.—St. Catharines News (Reform).

RANCOROUS AND IMPUDENT.
Hon. Edward Blake, who coqueted with protection at the time of the general elections of 1882, now abuses what the Reformers for years made him their leader. Like all converts, he goes to this new task with a rancor which often makes him forget prudence.—La Canada.

THE SCHOOL BOOK DEAL.
They (the Conservatives) would probably be successful if they attacked the principle involved, which is a bad one. If a man reads a book or incurs expense on behalf of the public he should be paid for his labor or expense a distinct sum, and the matter be finally settled. To repay him by giving him an office is not at all proper.—Reformers Independent (Reform).

EXACTLY SO.
Whatever may have been the real or fancied claim of the learned publishers against Mr. Mowat, these claims should have been met squarely and directly by the Government, and not made a charge upon those who may be compelled to buy school books; and we mistake the spirit of the people of Ontario if they submit to the gross imposition.—St. Mary's Journal.

THE REGULAR DODGE.
Wherever the Grit party enter an election contest their organs of the press begin to howl lustily about the corruption and bribery of their opponents, and they begin in the most deliberate and scientific manner to corrupt and debauch the electors.—Reformers Independent.

A COSTLY BLUNDER.
To set over the difficulty created, through the blundering of Messrs. Crooks and Hardy, who had authorized three sets of Readers, the present Minister wiped them all out and paid, from the public exchequer of the Province, for the compilation of the New Readers about to be introduced into our schools, and also paid for losses sustained by those who held the right of publication of the previously authorized school readers.—Reformers Independent.

THE LIQUOR LICENSE ACTS.

The judgment of the Privy Council, the court of final resort for the Empire, in the case of the Queen, affirmed the constitutionality of the Scotch Act, on the ground that it was a measure for promoting the "peace, order, and good government of Canada." It requires no legal acumen to conclude that if a measure for restricting the liquor traffic falls within the purview of the Dominion Parliament, for that reason, that a measure to regulate the liquor traffic also comes within the scope of its power, and, consequently, is ultra vires of the local legislatures. If the Scotch Act was good, then it naturally followed that the Provincial Act was bad. It was bad, it is now bad, the imperative duty of the Dominion Parliament to legislate at once for the regulation of the liquor traffic.—Ottawa Sun (Index).

A GOLD YIELDING RIVER.

Now Mining is Carried on with Profit in the Saskatchewan.

It is well known that the bed of the Saskatchewan contains a rich deposit of gold dust. This has been worked here for the past 20 years and has been a considerable source of profit to them and of service to the district. Mining is still, though not so profitably, carried on, the average wages being from four to six dollars per day.

Until now mining had chiefly been confined to the river bars at low water, but Jerome Bonbrun, of New Brunswick, who spent last season here, by means of tunnels excavated into the bars, or what is naturally supposed to have been the original bed of the river, and discovered that the diamonds there contained as rich a deposit as the new bars. His experiments have shown that the yield was from one dollar and forty cents to two dollars and fifty cents per cubic yard. Having ascertained and secured the secret of these facts, he left last month for Winnipeg with the intention of purchasing machinery to operate next spring on a large scale. The fact that which he is so expertly known as Prince in Pied, and has been known by the old miners here for a long time past to be very rich. Indeed they have taken out a great deal of the pay dirt for a few feet into the ground, but the rest of the ground is still unexplored. With suitable machinery there is no doubt that the large deposits of pay gravel there existing could be excavated at a very moderate cost. Besides at the place mentioned there are many other similar and richer deposits on the river, which have not been worked at all, that being worked chiefly because it was close to the settlement.—Edmonton Bulletin.

The Princess Beatrice.

The last of the Queen's family is going to be married next year, and every one wishes Princess Beatrice and her accepted suitor all the joy that springs from a happy marriage. There is a pathetic element in the spectacle of the last fledgling leaving the almost deserted nest, and the Queen, it is said, feels it so much that she stipulates as a condition of the marriage that her new son-in-law must reside in close proximity to Her Majesty. This arrangement seems to the Daily Telegraph to constitute the essence of human felicity, another illustration, we suppose, of how far royal prerogatives differ from other mortals. Outside the charmed circle a stipulation that a man must live with his mother-in-law is hardly deemed a matter for enthusiastic congratulation on the part of his friends. By this marriage Princess Beatrice becomes sister-in-law of the Prince of Bulgaria, and what is more curious, sister-in-law to her own niece. Princess Alice's daughter married the elder brother of Princess Beatrice's future husband. The brothers Battenberg have married the daughter and the granddaughter of the Queen of Prussia, and, oddly enough, the granddaughter fell to the lot of the elder brother. It is interesting to compare the different ages at which Her Majesty's children have been married. The Princess Beatrice is now betrothed in her twelfth year, the Princess Royal was married in her eighteenth year, the Prince of Wales was married when in his twenty-second year, the Princess Alice in her twentieth year, the Duke of Edinburgh in his thirty-fifth year, Princess Louise in her twenty-fourth year, the Duke of Connaught in his twenty-sixth year. The union now at marriage of the five royal Princesses make 111 years; the called ages at marriage of the four Princes make 111 years. By setting an average one finds that Princesses are married at 21.5 years and Princes at 27.3.—Full Mail Gazette.

Human Culture.

An exchange says: "Nine-tenths of the unhappy negroes who are humanely treated by the white race in the United States are suffering from the effects of the chronic or lingering diseases of today originate in human bondage, liver complaint or biliousness, resulting in scrofula, consumption (which is but scrofula of the lungs), some nervous, all in diseases and kindred afflictions. Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery' cures all these. Of Druggists."

An Epidemic of Measles.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Jan. 18.—Ten thousand cases of measles are reported in this city, an average of one case to every thirty persons.

Anarchist Plot.

LYONS, Jan. 18.—An anarchist plot has been discovered. It contemplated the seizure of arms and the proclamation of a revolution.

Accidentally shot.

SHERBROOKE, Jan. 17.—Mr. S. Brooks, Senborn, a rising young barrister of this city, son of the late Hon. Judge Sanborn, accidentally shot himself fatally this morning, while showing his revolver to his little son. The bullet entered the chest, passing through his body.

Fatal Result.

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 19.—William McRoberts, an old and respected citizen, and who had been fireman in Waver & Co.'s sewing machine establishment for 25 years, died yesterday from injuries received by a fall last Friday, by which his skull was fractured. The deceased was 60 years of age, and leaves a grown up family.

In Self-Defense.

She was a book agent. She called in our office. She was very pretty and sweet, and we fell in love on the spot. "Sir, I am engaged." "Oh, we are a sorry. When is it to be?" She blushed and modestly withdrew. She was new to the business, and would probably have told us what she was engaged in, if she had not acted in self-defense.—Louisville Journal.

A Contender who Loved her Dram.

Two miles from Coley, Arkansas, there has just died a woman reported to be the oldest on the continent. She said her father was a Cherokee Indian and her mother a white woman. She was born in Alabama county, N. C., and was 13 or 14 years old when independence was declared which would make her 123 years old when she died. Her name was Betta Lucas. She used to say her father was a soldier in the revolutionary war and died or was killed during the fighting on that battle. A grandson of Coley says that he knew her 40 years ago and that she claimed to be 86 years old. She chafed and smoked tobacco and would make a drag of whiskey whenever it was offered her.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1885.

WEST PETERBOROUGH.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Reports of the President of the West Riding Society, and of the Branch Societies. The selection of the New Grounds sustained. Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the West Riding Agricultural Society was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday afternoon, and it was, perhaps, the most enthusiastic annual meeting that has been held for many years. The place was well filled, and the audience was a representative one of all the townships of the Riding.

At half past one o'clock the President of the Society took the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

THE DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The annual report of the Directors was read by the Secretary, Mr. John Gurney, together with the annual financial statement, as follows: To the Members of the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society.

GENTLEMEN—Your Directors during the past year, in accordance with the recommendation contained in their predecessor's report adopted at your last annual meeting, have devoted much time and attention to procuring a suitable and permanent site for the exhibition of the Society, and they trust that at the decision at which they have arrived will meet with your approval. They are well aware that a difference of opinion exists as to the wisdom of the choice which they have made, but they are convinced that the more the matter is considered the more apparent will it be that the site selected is not only the most convenient, but the one which will afford the largest amount of accommodation for the smallest number of buildings, while the terms of the agreement with Mr. Morrow are such as to afford ground for believing that under proper management, without either unduly taxing the public or involving the Society in any undue expenditure, the Society will be able to become the permanent owners of a show ground not only equal to local requirements, but well fitted for the holding of the Provincial Exhibition.

During the destruction by fire of the sheds, &c., on the grounds, the loss sustained by your Society, your Directors were unable to hold the usual fall show. What this was to be regretted it will not prove an unduly evil loss, as the Audit of statement, as a consequence, shows a balance of $300 in your Treasurer's hands at the close of the year.

The one-levelling show was held and proved a success both in respect to the number and quality of the shows shown, while the gate receipts and entrance fees nearly paid the whole of the expenses connected therewith.

JOHN CAMPBELL, Secretary.

THE SOCIETY'S ACCOUNT.

The financial statement of the above Society, as read by the Secretary, showed a balance in hand of $133.08. Together with the statement was annexed a list of the members and a list of the officers of the Society for this year as follows:—J. H. Roper, President; Jas. Stevens, Vice President; T. J. Collis, Sec'y; J. F. Lewis, Treasurer; Dr. G. O. Burnham, Rev. Vincent Clementi, J. R. Stratton, Jas. Best, and Wm. Miller, Directors; T. K. Bell and W. Bennett, Auditors.

THE SMITH SOCIETY.

The report of the Directors of the Smith, Emmons and Lockfield Agricultural Society was read as follows:—

GENTLEMEN—Your Directors feel grateful for the success of the exhibition held during the past year. From the state of the finances we were compelled to lower the amount of some of the prizes, so that an exhibition could be held at a cost not material to the number of exhibitors. By adopting this plan we had a successful exhibition at the same time leaving a small balance in hand.

The following is the average number of bushels per acre for grain and other crops:—Wheat 25; corn 30; barley 20; peas 20; hay 30; turnips 40; clover 30; potatoes 200.

M. S. FAN, Sec'y.

GEO. W. FITZGERALD, President.

Annexed to the report was a financial statement showing a balance in hand amounting to $128, also a list of the officers of the Society for the year as follows:—Geo. W. Fitzgerald, President; J. H. McWilliam, Vice President; M. S. Fan, Secretary-Treasurer; Alex. Fitzgerald, J. H. McWilliam, Wm. Caldwell, Wm. Abbott, C. Quinn, John Fairbairn, Jas. Garbutt, Thos. Young and Edward Fitzgerald, Directors. Wm. M. Graham and Andrew Fairbairn, Auditors.

THE SOUTH MONAGHAN SOCIETY.

The Secretary also read the report of the Directors of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society as follows:—

The annual report of the Directors of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society for the year 1884.

Your Directors, in submitting their annual report, have much pleasure in congratulating the members of the Society upon the great success attending the Fall Exhibition of last year and the continued prosperity of the Society. Although the balance sheet shows a small balance of $300 in the hands of the Treasurer, not collected, and only awaiting to be asked for.

Your Directors have carried into effect that which you submitted to them for consideration at the annual meeting, viz., that of procuring suitable grounds on which to hold the Fall show.

We are satisfied this improvement will result in good to the Society, as there is now ample room for the exhibition of live stock, and an opportunity afforded for classifying all articles brought for exhibition.

To make the required improvements it was necessary to provide means, which was done by public subscription, to the amount of $106, still leaving a balance of $75 to be provided.

Your Directors would recommend that a subscription list be placed in the hands of each member of the Society, and that no opportunity be lost to subscribe, so that by the next annual meeting the Society may be able to report the debt settled.

We would also recommend that in the future 15 cents be charged for admission, instead of 10 cents as heretofore.

The fall show held on the 9th of October last was the largest ever held in the township, the number of entries being 755, an increase over the previous year of over 400.

The departments were well represented—horses, cattle, sheep, and pigs were accordingly in fine quality. The Indian department was particularly worthy of notice, grain of all kinds being excellent. Roots and vegetables were beyond an average, fruit and flowers could not be surpassed and last but not least, were fine arts and ladies' work. The latter included some very excellent and beautiful specimens of needlework, knitting and crochet work, which added very much to the interest of the exhibition as a whole.

E. BALL, Secretary.

Accompanying this report also was a list of the members of the Society, and the list of officers as follows:—David Truscott, President; John Buckham, Vice-President; E. Ball, Secretary; Thos. M. Wilan, Treasurer; John Byers, M. Dawson, Thomas Wood, James Higgins, John Lightfoot, and John Manney, Directors; W. H. S. Martin and E. B. Truscott, Auditors.

The financial statement showed a deficit of $30.93.

On motion the reports were received.

ENQUIRIES.

Mr. T. E. BALL asked if it was legal to pay subscriptions after the meeting had been opened.

The Secretary stated that the statutes decided that all those who wished to pay their subscription should do so before the opening of the poll for the election of officers.

THE NEW EXHIBITION GROUNDS.

Mr. DAVIDSON requested that the agreement entered into by the Directors with Mr. R. A. Morrow be read.

The Secretary read the agreement in full.

Mr. McCLELLAND moved, seconded by Mr. WALTON,—That this meeting do now confirm the agreement entered into by the Directors of this Society with Mr. R. A. Morrow, and thus give an expression of opinion as to whether the Directors acted wisely or not in the selection of the new exhibition grounds.

Mr. T. E. BALL said that this meeting was called for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year, and that the business expressed in Mr. McClelland's motion could not legally come before the meeting. He contended also that the action which the Directors had taken was not in accordance with the statute, and that they had no right to involve the Society in so great a debt. To transact business of this kind it was necessary to call a special meeting for the express purpose. This the Directors had not done.

Mr. F. E. BALL moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. SCOTT,—That no expression of opinion be taken at this meeting in regard to the selection of the new exhibition grounds.

Mr. McCLELLAND stated that at the last meeting of the Society Mr. Ball had intimated that at the annual meeting would be the fit and proper place to express their approval or disapproval of the action which the Directors had taken, and now Mr. Ball wanted to further delay.

Mr. COX said that if it was not out of order he would like to make a few remarks as to this matter. He had no strong feelings in regard to where the grounds were located, but now that it was concluded that it was desirable for the Society to get into possession of suitable grounds in his opinion now was the proper time to say rather than at nine or ten years hence. No doubt Mr. Morrow would be willing to sell his property at a low price now than he would be years from now. Mr. Morrow could have an object in renting the property, as the rent he was to receive would be much less than the ordinary rate of interest on the estimated value of the property. In ten years this property was valued to be worth $500 per acre. Why not buy it now at its present value? The property would then belong to the Society. At the expiration of the proposed lease the Society would perhaps have to pay a high price for the land, or sacrifice their buildings and buy in another part of the town at an equal high price. It would be better to pay $3,000 or $3,500 now for suitable property than to pay $7,000 or $8,000 ten years hence.

Mr. MORROW said that he would be willing to take less than $500 per acre if the property was bought and paid for now.

Mr. STRICKLAND thought that Mr. Cox's suggestions were very good ones. He was in favor of such a scheme as proposed by Mr. Cox.

Mr. COX moved, as an amendment to the amendment, seconded by Mr. EDMOND,—That in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable to defer the confirmation of the lease to day and that the new Directors or a committee appointed for the purpose make further inquiries as to the possibility of obtaining suitable grounds on more favorable terms.

Mr. CARNEGIE said that it was not customary for the Secretary to give an expression of opinion on matters brought before the Society, but as a private member he wished to say a few words in reference to the question now before the chair. The Directors of the Society had carefully considered the advantages and disadvantages of each site offered and had decided by a division of 9 to 3 to accept Mr. Morrow's offer. He would like to give a few reasons why the Directors held that Mr. Morrow's property was the most feasible and the cheapest for the Society to purchase. The Society was not very rich, and a good deal of buying would be required to be done before the buildings and fencing of the land were completed and it was therefore better to lease the grounds than to incur an immediate debt by purchasing the grounds. The land in the south end of the town was the most accessible for the visitors who would come to see the exhibitions. Most people from the country would come to the heart of the town to find places for their conveyances and the proposed grounds were also the nearest to the railway stations so that people coming by railway would not have far to go to reach them. While the Society secured the 15 acres by the lease they also secured the use of the 15 acres adjoining (the Driving Park). No doubt before long the Provincial Exhibition would be held in Peterborough and while the members noted the cost of the grounds they should remember that it is virtually 25 acres of ground, not 13, that would be used. The Driving Park was one of the best horse rings in the Province, complete with grand stand, judges stand, &c., and without a good horse ring the exhibition would not be completely successful. Another consideration was that one side of the 15 acres was already fenced, which would be a considerable saving. The Society have also the right, if the Driving Park Company decline to buy it, to purchase the ground on which the Driving Park is situated. He then clearly showed that the agreement entered into with Mr. Morrow was really a payment at the expiration of ten years of $300 per acre. In fact it would be better for Mr. Morrow to day if he took $320 per acre cash than take $300 per acre under the consideration of the lease at the end of ten years. Altogether Mr. Morrow's offer was more available, the land was really cheaper and he had no doubt that with judicious management and proper arrangements the grounds would pay for themselves before the ten years had expired. He expressed a sanguine hope that ere long the Society would have grounds and buildings that would be a credit to both town and county. In his opinion the Directors of the Society had worked with zeal and earnestness during the past year.

Mr. BALL again addressed the meeting in regard to the suitability of the site in the north part of the town.

Mr. COX said that he had not been giving his special attention to the relative suitability and value of the various lots, but it appeared to him that necessary land might be obtained much cheaper. He thought the land in the vicinity of the Driving Park might be bought at from $150 to $200 per acre, instead of at $500. As far as his own land was concerned, he would rather sell it at the price he had first offered it at, although he did not wish to retract the offer. Circumstances had arisen since the offer had been made such as rendered the land more valuable than ever. If the selection of the grounds had been made in the best interests of the Society and with careful consideration he had no desire to make any objection to it.

The Secretary then read over the various tenders which the Directors had received. All the grounds had been visited, and the selection of the Morrow property was deemed the most advisable.

Mr. COX's amendment to the amendment was put and lost.

Mr. BALL withdrew his amendment and Mr. McClelland's original motion was put and carried unanimously.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers for the present year was then proceeded with.

Mr. CAMPBELL, the President, moved, seconded by Mr. WALTON,—That Mr. John Carnegie be President for this year.

Mr. CAMPBELL, in supporting the motion, said that Mr. Carnegie had long been one of their most energetic members and he would like to see him at the head of the Society.

Mr. BALL rose and stated that Mr. Carnegie had been so efficient a Secretary that he thought it would be a loss to remove him from his present position. For that reason he would nominate Mr. John Garbutt as President.

Mr. GARBUTT thanked Mr. Ball for the honor conferred upon him, but stated he would rather decline.

Mr. COX thought that the selection of a President was a matter that should be unanimous. He for one would give Mr. Carnegie his hearty support.

The being no other nomination, Mr. Carnegie was declared elected.

Messrs. Wm. Rutherford and John Garbutt were elected as first and second Vice-Presidents respectively. The following is a list of the Directors which were elected:—Messrs. John Riddell, South Monaghan; Hugh Davidson, Smith; G. W. Fitzgerald, Smith; R. C. Strickland, Lakefield; Wm. Collins, North Monaghan; Joseph Tolly, North Monaghan; John McClelland, Peterborough; Dr. R. Kitchin, Peterborough; and Robt. Vasey, Cavan. Messrs. J. J. Hall and James Edwards were elected Auditors.

The meeting then adjourned.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with the books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable estimation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the pages of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of the year.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial candidates.

In short, tradition, business usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at cost.

At the Y.M.C.A. Hall to-night, at 8 o'clock, Dr. Bell will lecture on "The Sanctity of Human Life." The lecture is the third in the Y.M.C.A. popular lecture course. Admission to single lecture, 10 cents; course tickets (8 lectures) 50 cents. Every one is invited.

A Moral Town.
The town of Peterborough is to be congratulated upon its present state of morality. To-day is the 22nd of January, and so far during the month only six cases have come before the Police Magistrate. Out of the six, five were allowed to go, the cases either being dismissed or the offence being trifling, and only one case of drunkenness was sent to the workhouse. This is undoubtedly a very creditable beginning of the new year, and we hope to see the state of things continued.

Grand Opening Concert, I.O.O.F.
Mr. E. G. Chant, of Port Hope, has been in town for the past few days making arrangements for the running of an excursion train from Peterborough to Port Hope and return on the opening of Wednesday next, when the Grand Opening House, Port Hope, will be opened by the giving of a grand concert, under the auspices of the members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in that town. The talent which has been secured for the concert is of a high order, and consists of the following:—Mrs. Caldwell (a Peterborough favorite), Toronto; Miss McGee Barr, Hamilton; Miss A. Howard, Milbrook; Mr. Sam Richards, Toronto; and Messrs. Joe and Sam, violinists, Toronto. If the party from Peterborough numbers fifty, the return tickets will be $1.00; if it is a party numbers seventy-five, they will be 75c.; and if the number reaches one hundred, the tickets will cost 50c. The train will leave as follows:—Peterborough at 6 p.m., and Port Hope (returning) at 11 p.m. We understand that the management have been successful in raising tickets, and it is probable that the excursion train will be well filled. The plan of seats may be seen at Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co.'s bookstall.

A lecture under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's, will be delivered in the Sabbath School room, on Monday, 26th inst., at 8 o'clock, by Rev. G. Burdett, M.A., B.D., of Brockville. Subject: "In and about Jerusalem." A silver collection will be taken up for the funds of the Ladies' Aid Society.

A Handy Calendar.

We have received from McCall Bros., of Toronto, the well known manufacturers and dealers in Lardine and other machine oils, a copy of their new office calendar for 1885. It is a very effective reference of the daily dates, the figures being clear and bold, and the weeks being distinctly divided by the Sundays being printed in red ink. McCall Bros. are also large dealers in the best known qualities of coal oil.

An Important Match.

During the carnival on Friday evening a curling match, in curling, will be played between Lakeside and Peterborough, the former representing the timber interest and the local club the local profession. This will certainly prove a very interesting feature in the carnival, enjoyment to see the plucky lumber firm of Strickland Bros. dressed in the original shanty costume, measuring "Bacon" with the "Limbs of the Law."

Egypt and the Nile.

Lecture on the above subject and illustrated by magnificent drawings will be given by the Rev. T. W. Peterson, Thursday, Jan. 22nd, at 8 o'clock, in the hall of the Odd Fellows, which was recently given in Toronto. The lecture was very interesting and instructive, being accompanied by views of the principal monuments, pyramids and other works of Egypt. A large number of the Nile was exhibited, showing its whole course and the life of the peasants, where the "Canaanite" is still to be seen in his superior and brave. Tickets may be had at Messrs. Sillbury, Bros. and at Mr. Davis & Co.

—The morning while some cars on one of the Grand Trunk Railway sidings were being shunted, so great was the momentum that the brakemen were unable to stop them until the cars had struck the support at the end of the siding and two of them had run out to Charlotte street. They have been taken from the street.

—A team of horses attached to a sleigh were tied to a post on Elizabeth street, Ashburnham, at about six o'clock last evening. By some means they became loose and ran across the bridge towards town. They turned into the Temperance Hotel yard, where they were recovered by the owner.

The Principal Point.
There are people without principle and people without principal, and very often those who have the most principle have the least principal, while those who have the least principle have the most principal. It is a bad thing to have neither principle nor principal, for that would be apt to lead one into crime. This is not mere punning; it is good, sound, common sense. And it may save you many cents, as well as make your presence pleasant in many places, and perhaps lead to your receiving presents, if you will but heed the advice that is given in this item. It should, however, be borne in mind that there are men who have both principle and principal, and plenty of both. Integrity of character, confidence and industry, often carry one up the highway to wealth. But to come to the principal point of this article, (and how mark well the advice given, for it will be valuable to you, if you follow it), all gentlemen desiring Clothing and Furnishings of the best material, and at reasonable prices, should go to A. McNeill's, Haberdashery Hall.

The Impassioned Feelings Between the British and Native-Entrusted-Whites of the Nile—When the Canadians will return.

Special Correspondence of the Review.

DEAR REVIEW.—I have been just writing a special to the "Home Department," and drop you a few lines of odds and ends at the same time. I have not any news of moment. The harvest for the present is poor, the sheaves are all garnered and I merely rake up the gleanings.

It was reported on the 14th that some of the Mahdi's men had made a forced march across the desert and had struck Khartoum station on the Nile between Assuan and Wady Halfa, and had killed 17 of the 75th Regiment, but I have since learned that it was a false report, founded on a pugilistic encounter between some men of that regiment and Egyptian soldiers stationed there. Our men and the natives, civil or military, certainly do not fraternize. Last week a soldier, one of a boat's crew en route upwards, slipped off a very high cliff while trying to reach an eagle's nest, he fell one hundred feet or more, and was dead before he reached the water. On the 11th or 12th a boat was upset, all the cargo lost, and two Egyptian soldiers drowned.

Two Egyptian soldiers were court-martialed and shot for refusing to go on a trip to duty as sentries at a lonely post on the Nile. At this time a short time back. An English officer at Wady Halfa at a native for throwing another officer into the Nile and striking him with a sword. These people don't like us. They would not stand near us and I have no doubt would use force if they dared or had an opportunity to do so without detection. The murder of Col. Stewart, a Mr. Foster plainly shows this. I've got down the details in command of our forces, and their feelings pretty well and the number of the Egyptian boat, a sort of a messenger, in coming down the Nile ran on a rock, upset and one of the corps of Engineers was drowned. I could not find out his name or the number of the boat. The Gardner is a very de-structive weapon. It is 5 or 6 feet in length, and six or eight inches in diameter at the breech. It will fire 240 rounds per minute, with a killing range of 2,000 yards. There are soldiers in camp here who have seen them at work during the last campaign in Egypt, and they say that it properly handled an enemy would be utterly annihilated before they could reach them. The muzzle fire can be utilized in a semi-circle, and the discharge must be fearful.

The end of the week will see us and the lack of a direct line to the Nile. Our officers say that our return trip will commence about five weeks from this (18th) if they are not mistaken, you will see us all before the snow is gone out of the Nile. It is wonderful how inflated one gets with the Nile. Why I sometimes myself looking round as my shoulders, right and left, and feel surprised at the amount of the Nile. I got out of my ship in which my duties are to enter through all difficult places, see the men row in good form, have the ropes properly fastened, in fact we are the advocates of the Nile expedition—in theory, and General Wolsey's orders were very strict that there should be no interference with us in our peculiar sphere. But some of the army officers would have a finger in the pie somehow and I always obey their orders as long as I felt they were right. But if they were not, I did not want my own judgment dictated. At first the officers showed considerable anger toward me, but after while they began to see that I knew what I was about and their anger gradually melted and they would take me out of my boat and consult me as to the passage of had plans, good luck followed me and I had my own way as far as my right to have, and my last trip was made in safety, and it won't be my fault if the next one does not have a happy termination. If I blow much I never'll worry the right point, so will say far-well.

Yours faithfully,
J. A. R.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 24, 1885.

CLERGYMEN AND POLITICS

The Toronto Globe is indignant because some persons have ventured to express the opinion that clergymen should not become politicians.
We do not know who has aroused its wrath on this subject, but it pours forth a column of vir-tuous indignation in order to flood out any such opinions that may have found a lodging place in the minds of people in this country. Its virtuous indignation has the appearance of being assumed, and its statements and arguments are extraneous, which makes the article an amusing one.

It begins by trying to show the meaning of the word "politics," and quotes the information given in the dictionaries. But it leaves out one meaning of the word furnished in the "Cama-bridge" of Noah Webster, the very dictionary it appears to have quoted from, and we therefore supply it for the information of the Globe, as it has a carefully cultivated habit of overlooking any expression of an authority from which it quotes which might interfere with its argument. The words which the Globe overlooked are: "In a looser sense, political affairs, or the conduct of parties for power." The actions of the Reform party in Canada for some years past, in endeavoring to elevate the standard of political morality, by spending "lots of money" and other questionable means, has had such a bad effect on the political atmosphere that "politics" is now more frequently used in the looser sense above referred to than in the higher sense. And does any man who respects the position of the clergy, or the religion which they preach, desire that they should descend into the excitement of a political contest, where such means are used in order to gain a victory?
Is it desirable that those who have entered the sacred profession should attach themselves to a political party, and buthline voters, or deliver political harangues from the hustings, not to speak of driving through the country with a dark lantern and a roll of money, if they should unite with the Reform party? A clergyman has a sacred duty to perform. He should consider the best means of performing it. If he believes that political impartiality is present in the community, he should counsel his hearers to beware of the voice of the temple, and endeavor to prevent the people from committing wrong in this way, as he would do in the case of any other evil. But that is different from becoming an active worker in political campaigns, as some clergymen have done in the neighboring Republic.

Rich. "Does he cease to be a citizen by virtue of his office?" asks the Globe. Certainly not.
A citizen, if he has the necessary amount of property, may vote, and so may a clergyman. A clergyman may also express his views on political questions, if he feels so inclined. He may even enter actively into an election contest, and fight with all his strength for the supremacy of one party, as some clergymen did in the United States, but in so doing he injures his usefulness as a minister of the Gospel. And that is where the harm is done. A clergyman, on account of the sacredness of his office, usually possesses an influence over his congregation, such as he would not possess were he not a clergyman. If he makes use of this special influence to further the ends of a political party, he prostitutes his power of doing good. He does not leave those whom he influences free to exercise their own intelligence on the questions involved, or if he addresses the people simply as a citizen, and diverts himself for the time being of the influence of his sacred office, it is very probable that what he attempts to put the garment on again it will not fit him, or that, in his case, it has long been the charm for most of his hearers. For a clergyman to enter actively into a political contest injures the influence of the pulpit and does little good to compensate the church for the loss sustained.

"Is he not to seek the good of the land he lives in?" exclaims the Globe. Certainly he is, but at the same time he should bear in mind that his chief business is not to look after the politics of the country, or the material welfare of the community, but to promulgate the Christian religion and to seek the spiritual good of the people. "Is he to wink hard when iniquity is decreed by law?" asks the Globe. A clergyman should attack iniquity in any form, so long as he knows that it is iniquity, but the Globe has used that word in such a loose manner that he would not be safe in taking it for a guide in the matter. "When truth lies slain in the streets,"
"is he to utter no protest?" screams the Globe. It is doubtful. In such a case he should not take time to protest, but if he sees truth lying in the street he should hurry to it, assist it up and carry it to the nearest surgery—or take it home, for fear the police should find it in its unfortunate predicament and lock it up.

A clergyman can oppose wrong, fight iniquity, do valiant battle against sin and in aid of virtue, and do all that the earnest preacher of an undisputed religion would wish to do, without becoming an active party politician. To take part in elections and electioneering, a clergyman loses his distinctive position as a clergyman and must expect to be treated as a partisan. We do not think that the clergymen of Canada have any desire to become party politicians, or that the extravagant appeals of the Globe will affect the opinions of either the clergymen or the people in this matter.

PROVINCIAL REVENUES.

SOME Reform journals are shouting "Victory" over the recent decision of the Supreme Court, and are loudly asserting that it means the defeat of Sir John Macdonald by Mr. Mowat. If there can be said to be a victory at all, it is
Mr. Mackenzie's who in victory over Mr.
Mowat. It is held that the Dominion Scott Act passed by the Mackenzie-Blake Administration has alone force where it is adopted, though it not only controls the liquor trade, but even destroys the power of raising a revenue by liquor licenses—a power especially resorted to by the Provinces by our constitution.

LINDSAY.

SAVED!—Army meetings are well attended considering the cold weather, and so far have been successful. Forty persons have professed conversion since the Army opened at Lindsay, a week ago last Saturday.

DROWNED IN MINNESOTA.—Who knew Joseph Tevins? The first was received the following letter from the Village Marshall (chief of police) of Chiquet, Carlton County, Minn., in reference to a man named Joseph Tevins, who was drowned at that point during October last.
It is possible that the unfortunate man may have friends or relatives living in this country.
DEAR SIR,—I write you regarding a man from your town or county. His name is Joseph Tevins. He was drowned at this place about the middle of last October. After being in the water 18 days he was found and buried.
Up to this time I did not know where he people lived, but I learned yesterday from one of the men with whom he worked that he lived at or near Lindsay I write to you hoping that his friends may learn through your paper the fate of their relative. He was about 26 years of age, dark complexion and of medium height.
He has a small amount of money due him at the office of the Company which he was employed in. Very respectfully yours, A. W. Mc-DONALD, Village Marshall, Chiquet, Carlton County, Minn.—Post.

HORSE LOST.—Mr. John Irwin, of Hogan's Island, lost a horse on Tuesday while threshing at Mr. Geo. McHugh's. The animal while working on the horse power slipped and falling on one of the iron stakes broke his hip and had to be killed.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.—A team of horses used to a veranda post opposite Mr. R.
Gregory's store took fright Tuesday morning and attempted to run away, but before they got fairly started they were caught and stopped.
The horses managed, however, to pull out the post, letting the veranda down on one side and just missing the head of Lock Master Clarke, who was passing at the time. No further danger was done except the breaking of the tongue of the sleigh.—Warder.

HOBWOOD.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall on Thursday, 22nd inst. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
PRESIDENT, C. O'Reilly; VICE PRESIDENT, W.
G. Patterson; 2nd VICE PRESIDENT, Wm.
Burgess; TREASURER, W. E. Roxburgh; DIRE-CTORS, Messrs. F. Birdall, J. Breckenridge, Jas.
Elliot, John Boland, Geo. Elliott, Thos. Cam-berton, J. Finlay, Jas. Fleming and D. Cameron.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM FIRE.—On Friday evening between eight and nine o'clock the McGregor House narrowly escaped being destroyed by fire. It originated in a closet on the second floor and was first noticed by one of the servants. The alarm was promptly given, and in an incredibly short time a large number of people gathered, and providing themselves with buckets, commenced work with a will which soon told on the flames. After a hard fight the fire was subdued, and not a minute too soon, as all the walls in the vicinity had been ruined. The ceiling, carpets, etc., were badly damaged by water. The losses, however, were fully covered by insurance. Near the closet in which the fire started stands a table on which lamps for the bedrooms are kept, and it is supposed that one of the boarders, after having lamps, carelessly threw the burning match on the carpet, which ran under the door of the closet, and thus caused the fire. Both the building and contents are insured with Mr. H.
Dean.

ANOTHER CLOSE CALL.—On the same evening, at about the same time, Mr. W. H. Tucker's bakery and confectionery shop had a close call. This time the fire was caused by a lamp exploding. Mr. Tucker, with commendable presence of mind, took off his coat and so on and in a moment the flames were out, great damages had been done. He estimates his loss at $15.—Register.

WEDDING BELLS.—On Monday, January
19th, Mr. Richard Howden, w., and Miss Jane Hooy, of this township, were united in the bonds of wedlock at the Methodist parsonage in Peterborough by the Rev. I. Towell. Miss Elliot acted as bridesmaid and Mr. David Armstrong was the groom's best man. After the ceremony the party returned to Mr.
Howden's residence, where a large number of invited guests assembled. A sumptuous wedding supper was partaken of, and the company enjoyed themselves splendidly for some hours, music and dancing being the chief enjoyment, into which old and young entered heartily. The happy couple begin their life together with the best wishes of the whole community.

Mr. Peck Agita.

Mr. Peck, the stipendiary magistrate of Hal-burton, seems to have a chronic tendency to get into trouble. It seems from the information that has reached us, that he and Mr.
Mooney, late county treasurer and still registrar, joined hands to defeat Mr. Gainer for Reeve of Minden township. They took an active part in the canvass and addressed public meetings. We know nothing about the merits of the question at issue, but it was certainly an indecorous and improper proceeding for Judge Peck to interfere. If Chief Justice Ritchie, of the Supreme Court at Ottawa, were to meddle in the municipal affairs of the capital he would be severely condemned. How much more, then, should Judge Peck be told that he should not degrade the bench in the way he has done?
It seems that the election of Mr. Peck should have carried the election by about two votes, proceeded to hang and burn Judge Peck and Mr. Mooney—in effigy. This exhibition shows that there must have been a good deal of local excitement over the election. Mr. Peck should confine himself strictly to the proper discharge of his magisterial duties. His appointment to the place was not in our opinion a proper one, and has done much harm to the local government and the Reform party; we apprehend that to have to carry any more discredit would be more than either would stand.—Lindsay Post (Reform).

South in the Snow.

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 22.—Intelligence has reached here of the finding of the body of J. N.
Smith who was lost in a Dakota blizzard on December 18. Smith was one of the prominent farmers of the State. He left Lansing some time ago with a brood mare for a Dakota stock ran-che. While driving through from the railroad terminus separated, Smith and another Michigan man, named Cole were never heard of again until they were found wrapped in their blankets by a party of men who had been searching for them.
Smith was over sixty years old and leaves a family.

FARM AND GARDEN.

Some apple trees in Kansas are said to have borne three crops of apples during the past year.
The feet of horses, not at work, should be carefully examined every few days, at least twice a week.

Within a few years the manufacture of cheese has increased in the States from 70,000,000 pounds to 450,000,000.

See that the stable doors can be fastened so as to either open or shut, and not allow them to be broken to pieces by the wind.

The importation of oranges and lemons from Mediterranean ports to Montreal during the past year aggregated 773,478 packages, being an increase of 200,657 packages over the preceding year.

The common annual blackberry is a prostrate, gracile plant, and though it grows in the garden, it makes an admirable soil in flower if taken off in spring and buried in the ground.
In very cold weather it is difficult to make some cows drink as much as they should. Giving them a daily small ration of salt in their feed will increase their demand for drink. When fed partly with roots or green food, twice watering fattening cattle often drink but once a day.

Unknown Dead.

Port Egan, Jan. 21.—Captain Ed. Brooks of this place, who returned a few days ago from the Indian Peninsula, reports the finding of a human body between Big Pike Bay and Little Pike Bay by several men in that vicinity. The body was dressed in dark clothes and fine shoes, the upper part of the head being separated from the lower, leaving the under jaw attached. It is thought that the body was that of a man who died of the typhoid fever or of the cholera, lost off the schooner Explorer. Both vessels were wrecked in that vicinity, and the bodies of those two men were not found. Captain Brooks will gladly render any assistance or furnish further particulars to enquiring friends.

Juvenile Delinquency.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—Harry and Willie Wainwright, aged 8 and 6, were discovered by a policeman yesterday afternoon as they were about to drown their baby sister in a pond. They had some packages of the skeleton sold her.

SLANDERS AT WORK.

In order to give compassions if possible to their assertion that there are 6,000 working men without employment in Montreal, some of the reformers of that city have been organizing a little force. A deputation of pretended workmen men out of employment called on Sir John Macdonald at the time they knew he was speaking at the banquet given to him, and went away without attempting to see him, that they might falsely assert that the Canadian Premier had refused them an interview. Subsequently they had a meeting, which, though held in the evening, only numbered 200. The principal mover seems to have been one Babourin, a jail-bird and thief, who may for a time be out of employment in his vocation, and the hearse slanders retained by the Globe in Montreal, who certainly is not cut of work in his line. The Globe and the baser Reform journals are busily misrepresenting these circumstances as an insult to unemployed working men by Sir John Macdonald.

THEIR COUNTRY'S REVENUE.

When Mr. Sandford Fleming published last year his interesting and instructive book on the route of the C.P.R. from ocean to ocean, the Globe, perceiving at once that Mr. Fleming completely exposed the fallacies of its columny that our great national highway runs for a great part through a desert, abused both the work and its author. Now, however, the Globe quotes extracts from the same authority, to the effect of nearly a column, in order to prove that there are glaciers in the range of the Rocky Mountains, and to insinuate that the route of the C.P.R. is therefore badly chosen.

It seems that Mr. Fleming is, in the Globe's eyes, a bad authority when he exposed falsehoods uttered to injure our country and its great national undertaking, but a good authority when it is thought he can be misinterpreted so as to afford assistance to the aspirant designs of those domestic assassins of Canada.

We may add that this last effort is not original on the part of the Globe, but is adopted from a disgraceful pamphlet, teeming with falsehoods, recently published under the nom de plume of "Hito Veritas." This secret slanderer evidently calls himself a "lover of the truth" because, like the Globe, he values truth too highly to send it forth to the public.

HEALTH MATTERS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The following suggestive letter from Mr. John Crawford, at one time a resident of Peterborough, but for many years a prominent citizen of Montreal, to the Herald of that city, contains matter well worthy of the consideration of our town Board of Health, and of the public generally, and I would ask you to publish it, and oblige.

Yours,

W. H. MOORE.

Peterborough 26th Jan., 1885.

The public will be pleased to learn that the Board has at length awakened to the gravity of the epidemic. The committee have unanimously agreed, and I believe wisely, adopted Alderman Gray's motion, "that first be the best means of dealing with disease," a conclusion which must recommend itself to every citizen who has given the sanitary subject any attention.

The two systems proposed were—entirely quarantine with quick time. The latter, frequently expounded upon, has invariably been pronounced a signal failure. The former—quarantine or destruction by fire—has the condemnation of common sense, supported by science and civilized intelligence.

We are health and life are involved, the question of cost should be forgotten. The chairman stated the key note when he stated that "lives were of more value than money." I am disposed to believe that a million dollars would prove a miserable equivalent for the loss of life within the last decade on the altar of sanitary economy!

The committee should keep abreast of the times; and in discharging their important though often unrequited, functions, establish that Montreal is second to no city in the world in point of salubrity.

Above all, I respectfully ask the Council to iron down again in so momentous an issue.
Citizens look for some immediate action—no procrastination. The Council should take the lead in educating the community to a sense of the grave responsibility resting upon them. Should cholera make its advent here next spring, mutual recrimination for the sake of sanitation or compassion will be futile, and a poor substitute for efficient sanitary precautions.—Let the public then do their duty by strengthening the hands of their representatives!

The last report of the United States National Board of Health practically endorses the recent action of the Health Committee. It also points out that sanitary matters to be effective, must be put in force a long time before the introduction of disease; because purification of a sub-or impure soil is the work of time.

Verdon, Montreal, January 17, 1885.

Care of Sanitation.

The smallpox in Hongkong is a thing of the past. Now comes the payment of the bill. At a meeting of the council held in the town hall, the local board of health handed in all accounts against them received to date, making a total of $3,446, and several more to come in yet.—Medical Review.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

ELOQUENT SERMONS IN THE GEORGE AND CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCHES

The Rev. Dr. Sutherland, Missionary Secretary, and the Rev. Mr. Longley in the Pulpit.—The Services Very Largely Attended.

On Sunday morning and evening the annual missionary services were held in the George and Charlotte Street Methodist Churches. The services were all well attended. In the morning at the

GEORGE STREET CHURCH
the Rev. B. Longley occupied the pulpit, and in the evening the services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Sutherland, Missionary Secretary.

He took his text from John iv, 35, 36:
"say not ye there are yet four months and then cometh the harvest? Behold, I say unto you, lift up your eyes and look on the fields, for they are already white to harvest, and he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together."

It was God's great purpose and design, he said, to gather all mankind into the fold and this great gathering, he believed, was very near. A feeling of universal prevalence over the world, and while nations appeared to be on friendly terms, they were secretly laying up immense military stores. Kean politicians might forecast impending calamities and these calamities might occur, were it not that there was a Lord of Lords and a King of Kings behind all kings, statesmen, politicians and all those who wield power, who guided the guidance of nations and determined their attitudes towards each other.

But a restless deeper in his character and more important in its influence had been born of mankind. It was from this that he inferred that the time was fast approaching. There seemed to be a universal longing, a groping in the dark, a feeling that could not find rest in the hand of a universal humanity reaching out after the living God. To-day the world was ready to receive its deliverer. The southern nations seemed to be decaying and their religious institutions were decaying and were rapidly approaching dissolution. When Christianity was first introduced into Japan no notice was taken of it by the rulers of the Buddhism and Brahminism. But as Christianity spread they became alarmed and sent out their priests to preach against the new religion and now they even take their texts from the Bible.

The activity of opposing forces indicated that the great gathering was near. There was never a time when skepticism was more rampant.
There was a time when it would merely sneer at Christianity, and pass it by without notice. But this time was passed. Skepticism is now literary, philosophical, scientific; it enters into every form of life. It could be seen in the papers, magazines, school books, nay, even at times in the church itself. There was never a greater mission movement in the Christian church as that of the latter part of the present century. The Church was marshalling its forces, preparing for an advance all along the line.

To show how Christianity was advancing, he stated that at the end of the first thousand years of the Christian world there were 50,000,000 followers of Christ. Five hundred years later there were 100,000,000. In the year 1800 there were 1,000,000,000. In the year 1885 there were 2,000,000,000. But in the last eighty years it had increased more than in the whole of the preceding eighteen hundred years, and the year 1885 eighteen hundred and eighty three were 315, 000,000 of Christians in the world, and yet he said you could find homeless boys that would tell you that Christianity was dying out; that it was an old superstition, and so forth, but if this ratio of progress continues there would be little fear of its dying out, but, on the contrary, it would not be long before the whole world was evangelized.

And the Christian churches have abundant resources, both of men and money, to carry out this great evangelizing scheme. If he told them to give so many hundreds of thousands of dollars towards the work perhaps the people would tell him that he was r-manning, but he assured them that the Christian people could carry on this work and in the end be no poorer in this world's goods than they were before. He wished to put the case before them in a simple manner. Let every member of the church in this country—not speaking of adherents of the church, but every communicant—contribute to the cause of Christian missions but one cent per day and missionary work could be provided for every settlement of emigrants, for every parish in the province of Quebec, for every band of Indians from here to the Pacific coast, and before the end of the present century the gospel could be preached to the 37,000,000 of people in Japan and then after that the church would have a large surplus to carry on the great missionary work in other parts of the world.
There were 170,000 members of the Methodist church in Canada to-day and he asked those who could do so to figure out the problem for themselves when they went home.

It afforded great delight to astronomers to discover some new heavenly body or to a scientist to discover some new method of compounding different elements, but, oh! it was a far greater pleasure to discover men, especially lost souls of God that were living in darkness—to bring them out of the prison, forth to the radiant light of the living God.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

At the morning service the Rev. Dr. Sutherland preached an eloquent sermon. The Rev.
Thos. Manning, B. A., pastor of the Church, was also present.

At the evening service in this church there was again a good attendance. The pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Longley, who took his text from Isaiah xlv, 12—"The morning cometh." He said that this passage was part of a prophecy which was difficult to be understood.
It carried them back to the time of the Babylonian captivity, which to the Jews was a time of the deepest humiliation.
He graphically described the state of the Jews in their captivity; their anxiety for release; the soaring question of the night, "Watchman, what of the night?" and the answer of the Prophet, "The morning cometh, and also the night." The morning would come to the people of God, and the night to the heathen and scornful. These words had a significance for them. There was the night of ignorance, of sorrow and of sin. Those in the darkness were anxious to know when the morning would break. The day would come, and the last lingering cloud would fly away for aye. But for those who asked the question scornfully the night was drawing near and eternal alienation from God would overwhelm them.

There was also the darkness of deep, heart-broken contrition for sin. He described the darkness and dreariness of the night of penitential sorrow. But the morning would pass. Their restless state of mind was an indication that the Spirit of God was brooding over the waters of the deep sea of their souls and it would not be long before He would say "Let there be light." There was again the night of discouragement; the night of earthly burden and loss, and pathetically he described the sorrow of mourning. But the day would dawn, when the very tear drops would bring eternal joy. They looked out beyond this congregation and church, and upon the land that lay beyond. Some of them were shrouded in deep darkness, and from them came the cry of millions of people, "Watchman, what of the night?" Skepticism, superstition, and ignorance were blighting many, and heathenism held numbers in darkness. Through all they could hear the voice of the watchman on the walls of Zion. "The morning cometh, and also the night." The morning cometh, and the night shall be no more. When God's flickering lights in this earth were put out in death by the powers of evil, they became brighter lights above, shedding their radiance through the universe. When the lowly man of Nazareth said "I am the light of the world," the people said they would put out that light and they hung him on the cross, but when they thought the light was quenched it was only raised higher and was shining more brightly.

He drew a beautiful picture of the many nations of the earth slaying an emblem, prophetic of the coming day; and of the veil which shadowed the earth being root and branch and the whole earth becoming a temple, flooded with the light of God's majesty. The morning was coming.

Already the buds of eternal spring-time were seen. His heart was sometimes filled with joy when he dwelt on that thought, "The morncometh." The morning was for all who had been troubled and pained—for all the ransomed millions of the earth. Oh! to help by their contributions to bring about that time! Oh, to watch the dawning of the morning and feel its kindling warmth upon their faces, and through all eternal day to bask in the unclouded brightness!

The Rev. gentleman is a pleasing speaker.
His descriptions were very graphic and at times brilliant and poetical, and he held the careful attention of the audience to the end.
The choir sang a good anthem, and at the conclusion of the sermon Mrs. Chambers sang
"The Ninety and Nine" in a charming manner.

IN THE AFTERNOON

at the George Street Church a children's missionary service was held, which was attended in mass by the Charlotte and George Street Sunday School scholars, numbering in all 630 —400 from the George Street School, and 230 from the Charlotte Street School. Mr. Heath-field presided at the organ, and Mrs. Chambers and Miss Fanning greatly reinforced the choir.
The meeting was addressed by the Rev.
Messrs. Longley, Manning and Tovell.

GENES OF THOUGHT.

Do not speak of your happiness to a less fortunate man than yourself.

The main strength and force of a law consists in the penalty annexed to it.

In judging of others, a man often errs; but in examining himself, always fruitfully.

There is but one way to heaven,—the way of self-denial, self-sacrifice and unselfish service.

But little would be done in the world if evil never could be done in the name of good.

Independence and self-respect are essential to happiness, and these are never to be attained together without work.

There can be no good character without a conscience. But to be of the best stock it must be enlightened as well as sincere.

It is little troubles that wear the heart out.
It is easier to throw a bomb-shell a mile than a feather—even with artillery.

When a nation gives birth to a man who is able to produce a great thought, another is born who is able to understand and admire it.

We tolerate the men of wealth who do nothing for others; but our grandfathers, with their better lights, will call such men simply thieves.

He who is generous in his conduct justice and charity accomplish the most beautiful work.

The good man is, in his way, the greatest of all artists.

Every man has his chain and his dog, only it is hidden from him and he does not know it; and he is more at ease who takes it up than he who drags it.

To be happy, the passions must be cheerful and gay, not gloomy and melancholy. A propensity to hope and joy is real riches; one to fear and sorrow real poverty.

The moral law is written on the tablets of eternity. For every false word or unrighteous deed, for cruelty and oppression, for lust or envy, the price has to be paid at last.

The world deals good naturedly with good natured people; and we never know a sulky mis-anthrope who quarrelled with it but it was he,
and not it, that was in the wrong.

A kind word the wing may carry a seed that shall add a new species to the vegetable family of a continent; and just so a word, a thought, from a living soul, may have results immeasurable, eternal.

Nothing is so contagious as enthusiasm. It is the real allegory of the life of Giphon; it moves stones; it charms brutes. Enthusiasm is the gospel of sincerity, and truth accomplished in victory without it.

Who, now, are destitute of sight? They who do not perceive the future world. Say who are the deafest? Those who do not listen to good advice. Who is dumb? He who does not know how to say kind things at the proper time.

PETERBOROUGH REVIEW
PRINTING AND PUBLISHING COMPANY
LIMITED, PETERBOROUGH.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1886.

BURNING THEIR PRINCIPLES.

The Belleville Ontario charges the Review with misrepresenting it, and gets very much excited over the matter. If we have misrepresented or misrepresented anything the Ontario said, we regret it very much, but if our contemporary had kept cooler, it might have been able to see more clearly. We remarked that a Reform contemporary had said that a majority of Reformers favoured prohibition, but that prohibition would not be taken up by the party for fear that it would keep them in opposition. The paragraph which the Ontario reproduces from its own columns, if it means anything, is an apology or an excuse offered to the temperance people because the Reformers do not take up the question and make it a party issue, and the reason given is that, although a majority of the party favor prohibition, they would not be able to carry it. Our contemporary argues that the temperance people in the Conservative ranks would not support the Reformers even if they did take up prohibition and make it a party question, and that "though the majority of the Reform party are in favour of the spread of temperance and even favour prohibition," so long as the Conservative prohibitionists retain their allegiance to the party, "it is useless to try to make temperance a party issue." We fall to see wherein the Ontario was misrepresented. According to its own account a majority of the Reformers favour prohibition, but do not think they could carry it, and rather than injure their chances of gaining power they throw aside prohibition.
They bury their principles in the hope of securing office. This is the only legitimate conclusion to be drawn from the Ontario's own words, and its abuse of the Review cannot hide the fact.

PEOPLE TO BE REVIVED.

THE Globe having started the falsehood, the latter lights of Reform journalism are offering that Sir John Macdonald "walked away" from a deputation of workmen out of employment at Montreal. In the first place Sir John did not refuse to receive the deputation, which called when it was known that he was speaking at a public dinner, and left without saying a word to the workmen. In the second place the movement was not that of workmen out of employment. The leader was a chandler in the pay of the ship and not out of work, his most prominent associate being a jail bird and temporarily unemployed thief and hired performer at elections. Honest men will agree that such characters might well be shunned, and if they did request an interview.

Some Brookville Recorder objects to our assertion that the Committee on Privileges and Expenses decided that Sir Charles Tupper was not disqualified and that his case was not required, so that no relief from disqualification was required or granted. Our contemporary says:—"If such was the case why was such an act passed at all?" No such act was passed, and the Recorder should have ascertained before displaying its ignorance by writing on a subject with which it is not acquainted. If the Canadian statutes are not on its side, there are surely law officers in Brookville where they might be seen.

A Good Suggestion.

The Toronto World's suggestion that Canadian newspaper proprietors should combine to employ a special agent for the collection of European news in London, and for the despatch of such intelligence direct to Canadian centres, is worthy of serious consideration, and, if adopted, would avoid much of the misapprehension now prevalent in both this country and England. For it is morally certain that the enterprise of English journalists would be enlisted, and reliable news interspersed, which would constantly discount the colored calumnies despatched via New York. By the completion of a reliable cable, and the sending of a cable for a few hours daily, the most desirable end could be attained at comparatively small cost—a cost that might be still further reduced by arranging with the Government for the despatch of official telegrams over the same medium.—Week.

A Curious Divorce Case.

Alexander Harvey, of Gloucester, N.J., late Justice of the Peace, is the defendant in an action brought by his wife for alimony on account of alleged desertion. The defence offered to the wife's charges is quite novel and is without precedent in divorce proceedings. The defend-ent alleges that he left his wife for justifiable cause; that for a year he kept him in constant physical pain by the application of croton oil to his undergarments, and that when the oil came in contact with his skin and was subjected to friction, it acted as a torture, especially when walking. Harvey was a club man, and was frequently out, as his wife alleges, in the evening. After the application of the croton oil he was always home at night and became a peculiarly subservient husband. His wife revealed the secret of his tortures to a number of married ladies, whose husbands were also members of the club, and they informed him of the real cause of his hitherto inexplicable sufferings.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

A QUESTION FOR EVERYBODY.
This is not a question for Conservatives and Reformers to take side on, but every parent in the province is interested, and all should unite in demanding of the Government that the school book monopoly be broken up, and that the poor man may have the opportunity of equipping his children as cheaply as possible to receive a necessary elementary education.— Ottawa Sun.

PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.
The Grits are down on "monopolies," and yet they lose no opportunity of creating them.
Witness the Cus timber and mineral monopoly and the school book monopoly.—Belleville Intelligencer.

CONDOLENCE AND TRUTH.
We condole with our Grit friends on the absence of the long looked for reaction, but we can assure them that it will never come to stay until they change their tactics, adopt an honest policy and abandon their miserable course of sectionalism and abuse of the country.—Moncton Times.

UP TO THE STANDARD.
But howling, Lyon, Hawley and the whole lot of them are good enough for the Reformers.
They have lost some of their value to the Reform leaders—some of their "respectability" with the Reformers because of their popularity with the Reformers and their reason of the corrupt acts of which they have been proved guilty.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE PRODUCER.
The following which we clip from a circular addressed to us from Mr. Hubbard, of Fredericton, N.Y., is worthy of note:—"Niagara vines will be delivered to our Canadian Agents from our stock on that side until exhausted, after which they will be delivered from our stock on this side at such a reduction in price as will cover the 20 per cent duty." Who pays the duty?— Brampton Conservator.

A TONE OF DESPAIR.
It will be seen that the opposition leader has not advanced much from his position. His reforms he advocates are very good in their way, but he appears to lack boldness, and was careful not to commit himself to anything more than a general condemnation of democratic principles.
Mr. Blake wants to lead the Canadian people he must place himself in sympathy with their highest aspirations. Nor will he ever reach the first position in the land so long as he holds that tone of pessimism which is the gangrene that afflicts the Liberal party. Victory was never yet achieved by men whose melancholy was the tone of despair. Mr. Blake is not a despair of the country. It would be very sad if he did, but if he would change a forlorn hope into a victorious army he must first bring to the masses, beat his drums and lead himself in the front, march boldly forward to the conflict.—Ottawa Sun, (Indep.)

MR. DOWLING'S CASE.
The law of the land, the decisions of the courts under that law, are of no moment when the interests of party are in question. And consequently we find the Government advising the nominations of a disqualified candidate, under the promise that when the Legislature meets its majority will be used to remove the disqualification, and to elect the disqualifying candidate to the tribunals which it is the boast of these same Liberals that they provided for the settlement of electoral disputes. It would be difficult to imagine anything more disgraceful than the statement of Mr. Preston, which he says Mr.
Mowat authorized him to make.—Montreal Gazette.

A SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCE.
But there is another and a most suspicious aspect which this affair takes on. And that is this:—How is it that the Legislature was about so soon to meet that this agreement in relation to the school books was not kept out for its approval? What was the need (if the intentions were honest) that the matter, such a matter, should have been hurried through and finally closed up just previous to the assembling of the representatives of the people? Would not the transaction bear the light, and so was it all the more necessary to have the illegitimate bargain made, and the whole signed, sealed and delivered so as to deprive the Legislature from passing upon the merits.—London Free Press.

THE KNIFE IN LONDON. ONT.

Serious stabbing affair in a Saloon—A man Permanently Wounded.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 23.—Last night about 7 o'clock David Moore, colored, was thrust out of Robert Carruthers' hotel, where he was making a rumour, and alleging that he had been robbed of a watch. As he left Moore remarked, "The next time I come I'll be better prepared." An hour later he again entered the bar-room, and walking up to a man named Dickson Penner, accused him of stealing his watch, and attempted to put his hand in his (Penner's) pocket. Penner remained calm and cool. In the scuffle that ensued, Penner's fist slipped and he fell forward. Instantly Moore raised a large butcher knife he had in his hand and drove it into Penner's back. Moore then went to the door and made off. On examination Penner was found to be very seriously wounded. The wound was wide and ragged, and extended, in the doctor's opinion, through the left lung. Penner was removed to the city hospital. Twenty minutes after the affair occurred it was reported at the station. Chief Williams and Detective Phair visited a number of Moore's haunts, and after an hour's search came upon him in one of them.
He was asleep on the lounge, and one of the Darbies encircled his wrist before he opened his eyes. In one of his overcoat pockets was found a ragged-looking butcher knife with stains of blood on it. The blade was about six inches long and the edge in some places broken away.
The point was worn off, and the handle was looked as if it would tear through the flesh rather than cut. Moore was partially under the influence of liquor when arrested. He was once before tried for stabbing a man in a saloon years ago, and convicted and punished for it.

Two Fires in Orillia.

ORILLIA, Jan. 24.—Between twelve and one o'clock this morning the alarm sounded announcing a fire in the premises on Missisquoi street, occupied by Mrs. McMillan as a millinery establishment. The entire contents of the building were either destroyed or damaged to such an extent that they may be considered a total loss. The damage to the building, which is a substantial brick one, is slight, as the firemen, who promptly on hand, confined the flames within the store. The contents of the building and contents are insured, but the amounts are not yet known. This is the second fire in Orillia within the last three days, the dwelling house of Mr. Clarke, a well known and making firm of Herbert & Clarke, having narrowly escaped destruction on Thursday evening. The origin of the first fire is yet unknown. That of the latter is believed to have been caused by some wood being left to burn in a kitchen stove while Mr. and Mrs. Clarke were both from home. There was an insurance on Clarke's property. He is recently a resident of Orillia, and his other business being very extensive his insurance was overlooked. He has since insured.

Marine Disasters.

QUEBEC, Jan. 24.—The Direction of the Bureau Veritas has just published the following statistics of marine disasters reported during the month of November, 1885, concerning all flags.—Steamers reported lost—1 American, 12 British, 1 German, 3 Italian, 1 Spanish; total, 17. In this number is included one steamer reported missing. Sailing vessels reported lost—7 American, 40 British, 3 Chilean, 2 Danish, 1 Dutch, 5 French, 13 German, 1 Hawaiian,
1 Italian, 13 Norwegian, 1 Portuguese, 4 Russian, 4 Swedish; total, 96. In this number are included two vessels reported missing.

From Wrecking to Murder.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 24.—A frightful murder took place in Dietrich's grocery on South Canal street, Tonawanda, last night. A Canal driver of low repute entered into a dispute with Mr. Lampkin, a well known citizen of Fulton, N.Y., and during the altercation drew a revolver and shot him. Mr. Lampkin died in a few minutes.
Dumont, under arrest; he had been wrestling with Mr. Lampkin in a saloon a few minutes prior to the assault and had been defeated. He followed his man wailing vengeance, and fired four shots.

THE PECK CASE.

As the Local Legislature meets for the "dispatch of business" next week we trust no further uncertainty will be lost in dealing with the Peck case. The petition was sent down at the opening of the House last session, and promptly presented by a local representative, but somehow Mr. Mowat contrived to stay, or rather delay it during the whole of the session, and there it now lies, a shining mark in the Mowat circulation office. When is Mr.
Mowat going to be able to "take it into his most secret consideration" as what the people of the northern district want to know, and what he is going to do about it when he has accomplished this great undertaking.

If Mr. Mowat and his Government think that according to the law they can gain anything by setting the prayer of the people of Haliburton at naught, they reckon without their host. The man by his own showing is acknowledged defaulter to the County he represents as Chief Magistrate to the sum of $2,500, principal and interest, in addition to which are discrepancies in his railway accounts of about $1,100. Mr.
Mowat is aware of this; he knows the man offered to return $400 of his ill-gotten gains in cash, and give his worthless notes for the balance of the County Council would accept of. He knows, too, that the Council very foolishly did so, and like everything else they did with Peck, got nicely "left." Yet Mr. Mowat, with all his so-called Christian professions, his love of honour and his abhorrence of anything calculated to lower the Magisterial Bench, could state he could not see that "Mr. Peck had done anything wrong." And so he has considered it, and will consider it, we presume, till the County Council once more takes hold of his petty and either makes him set his ill-gotten gains to rights, or serves his innocence in a court of law.
Are we to take Mr. Mowat's action in this matter as an instance of the "purity" practised by Reform legislators when local considerations are at stake? If so, Haliburton has had all it wants of it, and a great deal more. In the interests of common honesty and justice at all events a change must be made, if it cannot be made in the long run a great deal more unsatisfactory to Mr. Peck, and to the County.
Mr. Mowat will have the honesty this session to deal with the matter in the way that only an honorable man can who has the well being of the Province at heart, namely, to compel him to pay up his indebtedness to the County he has defrauded and banish him to his farm in Dakota.—Lindsay Warden.

RENT VALLEY CANAL.
Every item of news, past, present, or to come, in connection with the Trent Valley Canal, must be of interest to those who expect so much impetus to the country from its completion.
It appears, then, from a number of the *St.
Catharines Journal* of 1885 (fifty years ago) that among the measures laid before Parliament, which sat at Toronto, there was a bill for "Navigation of the Trent." The Hon. W. H.
Merritt, the projector of the Welland Canal, was the father of this measure. A large sum was voted, considering the resources of the country at the time, for the opening of the Trent navigation. A good deal of work was done on it the following year, 1886. On the breaking out of the rebellion in 1837 the work was stopped, and the very different nature of the canal in the suppression of the unfortunate uprising.
Mr. Merritt became so much enraged with the general development of the country and construction of the Welland Canal in particular, that he practically forgot the Trent waters.
The scheme lay in abeyance some years until revived by the late Sheriff Ogilvie, of Peterborough. What the late Sheriff Ogilvie, of Peterborough, was doing at the time of the rebellion was to build the Hudson's Bay Company, one vessel annually was sufficient to carry all the fur harvest to England, and by proper timing, the very difficult navigation of the Trent was made easy. The necessity for the opening of this magnificent water way was not felt then as it is now, and will be in the future, when millions of people will be coming to the city of Fenelon and will require outlets to the seaboard.
The original Welland Canal was only a ditch for small boats. Part of the original canal at Merritt is shown. The canal is now a fine waterway, and the necessity for the opening of this magnificent water way was not felt then as it is now, and will be in the future, when millions of people will be coming to the city of Fenelon
and will require outlets to the seaboard.

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following places again:—
LINDSAY—Season House, Feb. 18th, 14th and 15th.

PETERBOROUGH—Daily's Grand Central Hotel, Feb. 18th, 17th and 18th.

Prof. Hotchklin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. His object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having heated ligaments and Unbilled as well as Varicose, at the advanced age respectively of from 65 to 90 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses for children as well as adults. Prof. Hotchklin has had thirty years' experience and has become master of his profession, and dispenses the Heroin in the place of the truss. Prof. Hotchklin has been successful in curing all cases as his other inventions. Go and see for yourself.

Prof. Hotchklin's post office address is Albion, Ontario, N. Y.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1885.

THE REEVES ASSEMBLE

AND ORGANIZE THE PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL FOR THE YEAR 1885.

Mr. R. C. Strickland is Elected without Opposition to Fill the Warden's Chair of the Associates and Executive Clerk

At shortly before two o'clock, on Tuesday afternoon, the Reeves and Deputy Reeves of the several municipalities of the county assembled at the office of Mr. Edg. Pease, the County Clerk, to fill the requisite declarations of office, and after that business had been completed an adjournment was made to the Council Chamber, where the following representatives of the different municipalities of the county for the Council for the year 1885 took their seats:—Messrs. John P. Brown, Reeves of Ashfield; Jas. Stephenson, Deputy Reeves of Ashfield; John Brown, Reeves of Belmont and Metheun; Francis Elmhurst, Reeves of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandon; Archibald R. Kidd, Reeves of Dammer; John Moloney, Reeves of Douro; Wm. Crough, Reeves of Ennismore; Michael Mansfield, Reeves of Galway and Cavendish; James Hicks, Reeves of Harvey; Joseph Forster, Reeves of North Monaghan; John Lang, Reeves of Otonabee; Michael Sanderson, Reeves of Smith; John Burnham; Reeves of Ansburnham; Roland C. Strickland, Reeves of Lakefield; Wm. H. Stephenson, Reeves of Newwood.

THE WARDEN ELECTED.

The Clerk announced that it was the duty of the representatives assembled to elect a Warden.

Mr. JOHN LANG moved, seconded by Mr. JOHN MOLONEY, That Mr. R. C. Strickland be Warden for the ensuing year.

The motion was carried unanimously. The Warden, Clerk, mover and seconder retired for the administration of the oath of office, and when the Warden again appeared he was clothed in his official robes.

The Warden thanked the Council for the unanimous manner in which they had elected him to such an honourable position. We looked on the matter as a great honour for the county to see in him the desired qualities for the taking of the responsible position. He felt that he had had sufficient experience in municipal affairs to conduct the business of the office in a satisfactory manner, and that when his term of office expired he could say, with the late Warden, that the county had not suffered during his term of office. He was anxious to do everything in his power to further the interests of the county. He again thanked the Council for the honour conferred on him.

The minutes of the June meeting were read and confirmed.

AUDITORS APPOINTED.

Mr. John J. Hall was appointed auditor and the Warden named Mr. J. T. Bell for the other auditor.

COMMITTEE TO DRAFT THE CHARTER.

Mr. A. R. Kidd moved, seconded by Mr. JOHN BURNHAM, That Messrs. Burnham, Moloney, Sanderson, Lang, Forster, and the mover and seconder, be a special committee for the purpose of drafting the Standing Committee of the year. Carried.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read from Mr. W. E. Brown in reference to the dog tax, and from Mr. C. A. Waller, President of the Peterborough Law Association, urging the necessity, in the interests of the litigants, of appointing an efficient stenographer as reporter in the County Courts.

The communications were, on motion, referred to the Finance Committee.

The Council then adjourned to meet on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

WEDNESDAY.

The Council met at 10 o'clock pursuant to adjournment.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. KIDD, Chairman of the Special Committee for the drafting of the Standing Committee for the year, read the following report:

THE SCHOOLS.

On motion Mr. Jas. Coughlin, County Inspector of Schools, read the report for the last half of 1884 as follows:—

To the Warden and Council of the County of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN.—In presenting my report for the latter half of 1884, according to your instructions, contained in the resolution passed in June last, I must express my regret that it is not complete, and in some instances not as full as I could wish. Sickness and death in my family prevented me from being on the road for some weeks, therefore this time I must claim your indulgence. In my report for the current half year the information will, I hope, be much fuller and more satisfactory.

The progress of many of the schools is very materially retarded by irregularity of attendance, and in some instances not as full as I could wish. Sickness and death in my family prevented me from being on the road for some weeks, therefore this time I must claim your indulgence. In my report for the current half year the information will, I hope, be much fuller and more satisfactory.

NO TEARS.

"No tears to weep!" And therefore not? May, in thy sorrow such And has thy heart no other spot That sympathy may touch? Can no kind word unlock the springs, And give thy tears their flow, And human souls their fellow things, That none their depths must know?

"No tears to weep!" Nay, speak not thus, For tears can bring relief, And God has sent them unto us To wash away our grief. When earthly sorrow, pain and care Our souls in sadness sleep, We pray to Him who hears our prayer To send us tears to weep.

The true world is sometimes dark With gloomy clouds that veil the sun, And trembling hope, with wailing spurs, Fades faintly out-and dies! But when some heavenly vision fair Meets us in our sleep, We wake with joy to find that there- There are no tears to weep.

AN ABLE FISH STORY.

The Whimsical Experiences of the Steamer Princess Louise.

Some very big stories are afloat concerning the fishy tribe and experiences with fishmen. The latest is from British Columbia. The Portland News does not vouch for it, but H. W. Davidson, of Fraser river, does.

"On the 20th of June, 1872, at 6 p. m.," said Mr. Davidson in a report, "the Princess Louise, bound up the Fraser river, the Fraser, he it is known, is the second largest river on the Pacific coast, being next in size to the Columbia. A good many people will be surprised to learn this, but it is true. It drains an immense area and is stocked with hundreds of kinds of fish. Well, the day in question was a dark one, and the Louise advanced slowly toward Yale, something nudged up and swooshed along against her bows. The steamer sort of settled back a little, I thought, and careened a little to one side. The next moment, 'thump!' 'thump!' it was—got hot, and signalled to the engineer to go ahead, at the same time nipping off a huge chow of navy, and emphasizing his remarks with a few words to Captain John Irvine, Fell, and half a dozen others of Victoria, who were aboard. You see there was much a run of salmon at that time as to literally block navigation. As the Louise turned there with only a few minutes to go, and the engine was running at a great rate, great shoals of these red fleshed fish whirled by. We waited there a full hour to let the struggling mass pass. They filled the water from shore to shore, and if I had any way of heading off and raking in those fish, I'd a foregone had a corner on the fish business of the universe. It took us all night to get five miles up the river, and I don't know how good day! Now, don't go off and say I've said this business, and classify me with the fellows who are admitted here everywhere, when it comes to such a topic as this."

And he turned him about, with the air of one whose story was a matter of history.

A MUSICAL PRODIGY.

A Six-Year-Old Successor to Blind Tom Down South.

A Greenville, S. C., despatch says:—Mr. Geo. Ward, from the upper portion of this County, was in this city a few days ago and had with him one of his children, who is a musical prodigy, and who, it is believed, will soon rival Blind Tom and other musicians gifted by nature. The lad is about six years of age, and therefore knows nothing of musical instruments. While at home he amuses himself by making music with boards and sticks arranged according to his own ideas. When his father brought him here, an accordion—the first he had ever taken in his hands—was handed to him. One of the party present whistled an air, and to the astonishment of the witness he played the air. Every air that was whistled he played on the accordion. A gentleman present who was so deeply interested in the little fellow, took him to his house and placed him in front of the first piano he had ever seen. On that instrument he played with one hand whatever airs were sung or whistled to him. The boy's musical talent is unaccountable, and all who witness his performance are of the opinion that with proper training he will be the wonder of the musical world.

Famous Journalists.

George Augustus Sala in his speech at the New York Press club banquet in his honor, said that he had been much pleased to hear the president refer to Jerrold, Dickens, and Thackeray as newspaper men. The general impression was that they were novelists and men who trained in a sphere above working journalists. This was a utterly false impression. All three were at one time active working journalists. Dickens himself was a stenographer. Thackeray was a descriptive writer on the press, and Jerrold had been a typesetter, who was concerned into the editing of reports to a penny. The "god of the steep ascent to literary fame," Mr. Sala said that it had been truly said that Dickens had buckled on his (Sala's) armor when he first entered the field of journalism. But his was not the only armor that the great novelist had riveted. He drew around him by his publication of Household Words, Household Names and other such of distinctive journalists. The Household Words was alive with the work of descriptive and other writers. Thus Dickens unconsciously established the cheap press of London, and writers drifted away from him and became editors, reporters and correspondents on the cheap morning newspapers. At first the writers of the aristocratic newspapers looked upon the writers of the penny journals with feelings akin to contempt, but that day has long since passed, and with the exception of the Times, every morning newspaper in London, including the conservative Morning Post, had come down to penny. The writers for the cheap journals had swept the literary field, and they were a power in the land. Some of them earned no more than the chief justices in New York, but to their earnings they added a power that was felt by the world. They monopolized public opinion, pulled the underpinning from sham statesmen, and invariably helped the lame dog over the fence by republishing the cause of the people.

Reunions—Keely at Work.

KINGSTON, Jan. 27.—A week ago the remains of Margaret Keely were placed by sorrowing friends in the Raiton vault. Some days afterwards the gentleman in charge of this graveyard found that the lock on the door had been picked. He thought that there must be something wrong, and there was. On counting the skulls he was mis-lead, that containing the body of Margaret Keely. Of course the robbery was charged to the medical students, and the police were asked to make a search. They quizzed some of the students and all indignantly denied knowledge of the case. Oh, say they wouldn't do such a thing. The police yesterday searched their "den," and closely scrutinized every nook and corner, but they found no trace of the missing remains. The deceased's friends, it is said, are now satisfied that the body is not in the city. Mrs. Keely's son was in the city yesterday, and had the Female Medical College searched for the body of his mother. He feels his position keenly and says he will leave no stone unturned to find it. On Thursday caretaker Lyons, who has charge of the vault at Sydenham, discovered that it had been burst open, and that the body of J. Wright, placed in it three weeks ago, was missing. On examining the door it was found that the three locks, which had kept it secure, had been picked. The people are very much aroused by the affair, and are quietly trying to work up a clue. At present they do not know who are the robbers.

Libel Suit Settled.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Labouchere has compromised with William & Co., bankers, in an action brought by the firm for libel against Truth. Labouchere paid plaintiffs £8,000.

KEELS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CHILLING.—There is some talk of re-organizing our curling club. That is right but there is no delay, as there is plenty of first class material for a fine club.

CARNIVAL.—The first grand carnival of the season will be held in the covered rink here on Wednesday evening next. An unusually large number intend to be present in costume. Mr. E. J. Hartley, of Peterborough, will give an exhibition of fancy skating, and the V.B. Band will also be present under the leadership of Prof. A. Freeman. Everything points to this being the grandest carnival ever held in this village. As the sleighing is grand a large number are coming from a distance.

BRIDE.—Business is brisk, and the people of this village with a few exceptions, are mending their own business, despite what anyone says to the contrary.

MARONIC.—The regular meeting of Keene Lodge No. 374, A. F. & A. M., will be held on Thursday evening next.

ORANGE.—The regular meeting of Keene R. B. Precinctory will be held on Friday evening next. A large number of members are to be advanced, also several initiations.

OTOMARE.

ENTERTAINMENT.—An entertainment was held on the 26th in aid of St. Luke's Church. It was very well attended and a good programme was presented. Vocal solos were given by Messrs. C. H. Gale, R. Orde, W. Whittaker, Miss Stephens, Mrs. Chambers. Readings were contributed by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of St. Luke's, Mr. Whittaker, Mr. S. Fowler, Mr. Adams, Mr. W. C. Lawson and Miss Fowler, and Miss Anne (Haycock) played a very pleasing piano-forte duet. Mrs. Chambers and Miss Stephens sang two duets, and an instrumental duet—violin and organ—was given by Mr. Cooper and Miss What. Mr. Cooper, in his 70th year, recited his favourite selection.

PORT HOPE.

ALMOST DROWNED.—Mr. Wm. E. Beauchamp came nearly losing a valuable span of horses on Monday. They were drawing ice off the pond when the roadway broke through and they went down into ten or twelve feet of water. They were rescued after being twenty or twenty-five minutes in their cold bath.—Guide.

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.

THE family of Fran Crisp was taken violently ill on Friday last, with symptoms of poisoning. Mrs. Crisp's mother and a little girl aged 12 are dead. It is thought the poison was put in the tea. An investigation is proceeding.

An Abecedario.

DATON, Ohio, Jan. 27.—Joseph Taylor, a commercial traveller, was to have been married on Sunday to a society belle of this city. Friends had gathered at the church, but Taylor failed to appear. Subsequently it was learned that he had absconded with a large sum of money belonging to his employer. The lady has gone in pursuit of Taylor.

A Child Crushed to Death.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 27.—Isabel, a 9-year-old daughter of David Macbie, who looks after the sawmills at the west end of the Grand Trunk Railway freight yards here, while on her way home from school last evening, and while crossing the tracks in the yard was struck by one of the engines that were being shunted and crushed to death, living only a few minutes after being extricated from under the cars.

Anti-Dynamite.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—There is a movement on foot among business men of this city to organize a committee to drive away dynamite gangs. The committee do not propose to take the law into their own hands, but it will collect evidence against the parties, and assist the authorities in punishing them. Many prominent men of Wall street and elsewhere have been approached on the subject and are anxious to join the association.

Truth.

Truth counts to us only by glimpses. There are some who refuse to receive a partial truth, who insist upon having a clear idea of the whole, or at least upon perceiving themselves that they have it, before yielding assent to anything. They will believe nothing which they cannot understand, they may, forgetting that although we may both believe and understand many things to be true, it is only by occasional glimpses that we can ever discover how they came to be so. For instance, we all believe the wonders and then the natural world, the existence and motions of the planets and stars, the changes in the earth's surface, the marvellous growth in the vegetable world, and the still more wonderful development of the animal creation—of conscious life and human intelligence. In believing these things we understand that they are so; but how they came to be so, how they perform their several functions, what are the laws which govern them and the forces they obey—these things we do not understand, except as study or thought, or participation in another's thought, gives us glimpses of truth.

Feeds worth Knowing.

There are 2,750 languages. A square mile contains 640 acres. A barrel of rice weighs 600 pounds. The average human life is 31 years. The first steel pen was made in 1830. One million dollars of gold coin weigh 3,600 pounds avoirdupois. Until 1776 cotton spinning was performed by the hand spinning wheel. One million dollars of silver coin weigh 36,000 pounds avoirdupois. The first complete sewing machine was patented by Elias Howe in 1846. Glass windows were first introduced into England in the eighth century. Albert Durer gave the world a prophecy of future wood engraving in 1527. Measure 200 feet on each side and you will have a square acre within an inch. The Bible contains 2,585,400 letters, 773,746 words, 31,107 verses, 1,180 chapters, and 66 books. "Over and Over Again."

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true Murray & Leamon's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Lanman & Kemp, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take the small amount of bother rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which hold up to the light, and no Florida water is genuine that does not have this test mark.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the pages of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his customers, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilmen to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Day.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularity with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short, tradition, business usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will soon be cleared off.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1885.

Sing Song Service.
The Saved Army will hold a sing song service in their hall this evening. Short addresses will be given by officers and others. Silver collection at the door.

Weather Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Increasing winds from north-east backing to north-west, cloudy to fair continued very cold weather, with local snow falls.

Lecture by the Rev. A. Bell.
The Rev. A. Bell, who lectures on Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, on "A Wise Man and His Sayings." The ability of Mr. Bell to handle a subject he takes up is well known in Peterborough. The lecture will commence at 8 o'clock.

Entertainment.
Remember the entertainment in St. John's Church School House in connection with the Church of England Temperance Association, on Thursday evening. Vocal and instrumental music, recitations, temperance addresses, &c. The Fire Brigade Band orchestra will take part.

Bradburn's Opera House.
At Bradburn's Opera House last night "Her Little Hope" was presented for the second time. The attendance was not so large as the company and the play deserved. "Her Little Hope" is a production of some strength and interest; the language is choice; and the play, as it was presented in Bradburn's Opera House, is well worthy of support.

Almost an Explosion.
A slight flutter of excitement was caused at the Grand Central Hotel on Tuesday night by what might have ended in a serious fire. A lamp had been left burning on a table by the occupant of room No. 25. The burner became heated and the oil inside of the lamp ignited. Some one noticed it through the open door and called the door porter who, with precise worthy presence of mind, clasped his overcoat over the lamp and thus smothered the flame.

Go to see TURNBULL'S 4 Button Kid Gloves, fresh stock at 40c. a pair.

No Council Meeting.
At the last meeting of the Town Council an adjournment was made to Tuesday night the 27th. Before 8 o'clock there was a quorum present—in fact nearly all the councillors were present, but no meeting was held. Councillors McNaughton and Rutherford were the only ones that took seats, and as they did not constitute a quorum no business was done. It was said that the business on hand was not of an urgent character, and as some of the councillors had important meetings to attend it was decided to defer the sitting of the Council.

Personal.
We are pleased to learn that the Rev. J. W. H. Beck is recovering from his recent illness, and that he will probably take a part in the services on Sunday.
The Rev. T. B. Angel, of Haliburton, is registered at the Grand Central Hotel.
Mr. E. A. Eck went down to Newwood this morning to attend a session of the Division Court which is being held in that village.
Mr. Manhard, Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will take upon himself the duties of town agent, until the recovery of Mr. A. Elliott.

Music and Water.
Some time ago there was placed in position in St. John's Church one of the Turk mutans for the purpose of furnishing motor power for the organ, instead of, as has been the case since the re-opening of the church, having to engage a man to perform the laborious duty of pumping the immense bellows by hand. It was found rather difficult to get the gearing accurate, and, in consequence, the motor has not been used. Now, however, the difficulty has been entirely overcome, and on Sunday next the congregation will be enabled to hear the sweet strains of the organ driven by water power for the first time.

To the World's Fair.
A special excursion train will be run over the Canadian Pacific Railway and connections from Peterborough to New Orleans, on February 12th. The return tickets are only $33.00, and a opportunity will thus be afforded for our townspeople, as many as feel inclined to go, to see the World's Fair, which is being held in the above named city. The party will be under the paternal care of Mr. Henry Calcutt.

A special point in this arrangement is that ladies accompanied by gentlemen will be specially cared for and nothing will be spared that will lead to the comfort of the party. All those who intend to join the party are requested to send in their names at once to Mr. H. Calcutt.

For Dress Goods all the year round go to TURNBULL'S in his Varied Stock you will always find something fresh and pleasing.

Nominations.
In consequence of the disputed claim of Mr. Shea to a seat in the Municipal Council of the Township of D.uro, as a representative of Number 4 section, and his declining a right to it, Messrs. Mark Curtis and Wm. King were nominated on Tuesday as candidates for the position. The election takes place on Monday.

Call That.
—Bright.
—A special meeting of the town Council will be held to-morrow at 2 o'clock p.m.

—The Floral Club will hold an entertainment in the Charlotte Street Church to-morrow evening.

—The committee of the County Council have been busy at work this afternoon.

—The brass band of the Postpool Minstrels, of Freetown's carnival notoriety, go to Keene to-night to attend another carnival. No doubt they will charm the people with their weird melodies.

—Large numbers of people have been passing through town on the Canadian Pacific Railway en route to see the grand carnival at Montreal.

Telephone Suits.
The following is the position of the various telephone matters in court at present. The Minister of Agriculture has rendered his decision in the case of the Bell patent, but his right to try the case has been disputed by the Bell Telephone Company, and this question has yet to be settled by the Court of Appeal. The other suits brought by the Bell Telephone Company are now in progress in the Court of Chancery and are against the Dominion Telephone Company, of Montreal, the Toronto Telephone Mfg. Co., the Port Arthur Telephone Co. (and some of the subscribers to its exchange), &c., and are for infringement of the Bell and Edison patents on transmitters and the Phelps and Anderson patents on telephone receivers, as well as the Bell. It is expected that some of these cases will come up for trial shortly in Toronto.

TURNBULL'S New Prints are pronounced beautiful; the way they are selling speaks louder than words.

A Cold Snap.
The present cold weather is likely to remain for some time yet—encouraging, is it not? The winter has thus far been a remarkably changeable one. One day the business man might have been seen going to and from his establishment with overcoat and fur complete to keep out "Jack Frost," and the very next day the whole scene would be changed; that same individual would immerse from his residence and walk out to business with the look and dress of a millennium holiday seeker. But this time indications point to the continuation of the "cold dip" for some time at least. This may not prove at all interfering to the average cold and wool buyer, nor will it be a matter for congratulation among the members of the Street and Walker brigades—yet, nevertheless, business men are, as a rule, ever ready to welcome the cold and snowy weather. It helps to stimulate, makes business more lively, and in fact goes a long way in making things brisk in general. At present there is no business house in Peterborough prepared to give bargains in warm clothing as an offset against the powers of Jack Frost. That establishment is Hamilton Hall. Call and be convinced. A. McNeil.

Coal Mine on Fire.
HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 27.—Fire has been discovered in a passage in the Sydney coal mines leading to an unused room about a mile from the pit mouth. Efforts have been made to check its advance by isolating the burning portion of the mine and by banking and shutting off the air supply, and it is thought to be under control, but should this course not prove successful the mine will be flooded.

A Greatly Wronged Man.
BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 27.—In 1880 Maria Croe, of Grotton, was shot and killed in her house. Stevens Kendall Abbott was arrested and charged with the crime. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Through the intervention of Wendell Phillips Abbott was granted a reprieve, and the death penalty was granted to imprisonment for life. He is now in the State Prison at Charlestown. Joe Croe, husband of the murdered woman, had just died in Worcester County, and it is reported that he made a full confession of the murder.

A Bank of Montreal.
MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—Extraordinary precautions were taken by the chief of police to prevent the explosion of an infernal machine discovered in the post-office last evening. Guards watched the can all night, which was placed in a dark corner of the station and covered with snow. This morning the snow was removed cautiously, and the machine was disclosed to the view of the few who had the courage to remain in its vicinity, when to the horror of the police who thought they had discovered a link that perhaps would lead to the unearthing of some terrible plot, the cover of a water closet was all they had to reward them for a night of vigilance.

Finerty's Savings.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Shortly before the House was called to order, a number of members were discussing the recent explosion in London in the cloak room on the democratic side. Representative Cobb expressed himself as strongly opposed to the means resorted to by Irishmen to effect the removal of their country. Representative Finerty replied that under the circumstances the explosion in London were justifiable. "It was the only way," he said, "the Irish could gain their cause." "You claim that to be justifiable," said Cobb, "when the lives of innocent women and children are jeopardized, you look upon it in that light you do not humans." "If an humane," replied Finerty, "as humane as you are, and a damned sight more so. I wish those people would be hanged to hell. The dispute ended at this. Both members were considerably agitated, but controlled themselves, and confined the dispute to words.

THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS.

WHETHER right or wrong, we take it the de-cise action of the annual meeting of the West Hiding Agricultural Society settles most effectually the question of where the new show ground shall be. That being the case, it is to be hoped that those who opposed the selection made, as they had a perfect right to do, will now be satisfied. It has been made fall into line and do what they can to build up a successful annual exhibition in Peterborough. While it is unquestionably true that Peterborough is the best point between Toronto and Ottawa for such an exhibition, yet if we are to have an annual exhibition which will be a credit to the district and a benefit to the town, it must render it a heavy support. Although the arrangement with Mr. Morrow relates the Society from providing any funds for the purchase of grounds at the outset, from the cost of providing a horsing, visitors' and judges' stands and a large portion of the fencing, yet the immediate outlay must be very considerable, and entirely beyond the unassisted resources of the Society. No doubt there are many of our citizens who will cheerfully aid the undertaking with private contributions, and we should hope that both the Town and County Councils will see their way to granting substantial aid thereto—five hundred dollars from each would not be felt by the ratepayers of either municipalities, while the two combined would prove a most substantial assistance to the undertaking, and would be a capital investment for the donors, if the experience of other places is any guide to what we should do in our own interests.

PLUCKY MISSIONARIES.

The Wonderful African Plains They Hope to Reach and Work in.

Bishop, William Taylor's missionary party of Methodists, numbering over fifty men, women and children will start today for the field of work it has chosen in Central Africa. This party is the largest band of missionary workers that has ever gone to Africa, and it is entering with great apparent cheerfulness and confidence upon a journey that the best explorers could not undertake without a vivid sense of its difficulties and perils.

Scientific societies that promote exploration instruct their enterprises to men who are supposed to be especially fitted by their education, intelligence and physical powers to travel among the savages of little known lands. They provide them with every facility that experience suggests or money can buy, and yet the fear that some blunder or unlucky chance will ruin them is never dispelled until they are safely at their journey's end.

The clergyman, farmers and artisans who,
with their wives and little ones, compose the missionary band, hope to penetrate a part of Africa that the bravest explorers would not tread without extreme caution. According to Bishop Taylor's plan, they expect to plunge into the African jungle, ford many bridgeless creeks and rivers, pass through tribes that are hardly known by name, and finally reach a continent of 800 miles from the west coast and 300 miles from the south of the Congo, where only two white men have visited. One of these white men lived to go back and tell us, and the other Lionel. Winman brought home wonderful stories about the great plain that Bishop Taylor hopes to reach. If his report is accurate, it is the most densely populated part of the continent, and its friendly tribes, living in a fair and benign climate, and more highly skilled in agriculture and iron working than most African peoples, are well worth seeking out by the teacher and trader, and, however, is yet known of this country or its populace. Every step in the beginning of enterprise in such a land should be cautiously taken. It is a serious question if this missionary band will not in the disaster if it perishes in its present purpose of pushing on at once into the depths of Africa with the burden of women and youths and children in arms.

One Linyanti tragedy in this century is enough. Livingstone thought he saw, near the Zambesi, a fine field for missionary labor. He was told that if white men came to live among the Makololo the chief would remove his residence for their benefit from Linyanti to the more salubrious highlands 20 miles north. At the request of the great explorer missionaries with their wives and children, were despatched from England to Linyanti. They traveled a thousand miles of wilderness in ox wagons, only to find at the end of their terrible journey a faithful chief, an indifferent people, and a deadly climate.
All of them except two little orphans and one man died in Linyanti, purposely detained in a hot bed of fever by the treacherous king, who enriched himself with all their belongings as fast as they perished.

Bishop Taylor's party will enter Africa at the Portuguese port of Loanda. The climate of this small city is comparatively salubrious, and the neighboring districts of Pungo Andongo is the most healthful in Angola. When those Methodist pioneers are thus far on their way they will very likely decide that it will be wise for some of their strongest men to push on ahead, that they may learn exactly what is before them and that they may shield the weaker elements in their band from needless exposure to suffering and danger. It might improve their chances for ultimate usefulness in the Tushilane country if Bishop Taylor's people should make haste slowly in reaching it.—N. Y. Sun, Jan. 22

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.
THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Session opened by the Lieutenant-Governor's Speech from the Throne—Subjects Reviewed and a Few Little Promised.

TORONTO, Jan. 28. The second session of the fifth Legislature of Ontario was opened today with the usual ceremonies. The Lieutenant Governor delivered the following SPEECH FROM THE THRONE:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—
It is with much pleasure that I meet you again as a Legislative Assembly for the discharge of important duties which devolve upon you under our Constitution.

PROVINCIAL BOUNDARY.
In pursuance of the agreement between this Province and the Province of Manitoba, which last session received your approval, the question of our Provincial boundaries has been submitted to the Judicial Committee of Her Majesty's Privy Council, and now I am happy to have it in my power to congratulate you that so far as their Lordships dealt with the question, they have adjudged our true boundaries to be those which were awarded by the Abitibi, and have ever since been insisted on by this Province, in opposition to the Dominion authorities, and to the claim of Manitoba. My Government was anxious that they should be submitted at the same time, to the same tribunal, the question of our whole northern boundary, and also the question of title to certain lands to which the Federal Government has set up a claim on other grounds. The correspondence on these subjects, and some other correspondence, which has taken place on matters affecting the territory, will be laid before you.

THUNDER BAY AND RAINY RIVER.
After the decision of the Privy Council, I issued a proclamation bringing into force the act passed at your last session, for establishing the Provisional District of Thunder Bay. By another proclamation authorized by the same statute, that part of the Province which lies west of the old Provincial line from Hunter's Island, has been erected into a territorial district under the name of "The Territorial District of Rainy River." Legislation will now be necessary for the more effectual administration of justice and the establishment of registry and surrogate offices in this territory, and a bill for these purposes will be submitted for your consideration. I commend to your attention also the propriety of encouraging settlers and settlements by free grants in specified portions of the territory.

RIVERS AND STREAMS.
I have to congratulate you that since your last session Her Majesty's Privy Council has pronounced a judgment in regard to the legal rights of the public in the rivers and streams of the Province, affirming the views so strenuously maintained by the Provincial Legislature.
THE LIQUOR LICENSE QUESTION.
I have also to express my satisfaction that the questions submitted to the Supreme Court of Canada touching the validity of the License Act passed by Federal Parliament in 1883 and 1884, have been answered by the Supreme Court to the effect that with certain inconsiderable exceptions these enactments exceeded the jurisdiction of the Federal Parliament. The confusion which these acts created has thus been removed.

THE HARVEST.
The Province has been favored with a buni-tiful harvest of farm produce, and the official returns of the Department of Agriculture again show that in its staple cereals the average yield is larger than obtained in any other equal area on the continent. It is, however, a matter for serious regret that, owing to the low market prices which have prevailed for some time, the full commercial benefit of the harvest has not been realized to any such extent as in former years.

THE LUMBER INDUSTRY.
It is to be regretted that the lumber trade of the Province, from which a large portion of our revenue is derived, has not escaped the depression which has effected other industries here and elsewhere during the past year, but our lumber producers will help in any improvement occur-ing in the trade of Great Britain and the United States, which are the principal markets for the products of our forests.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.
The work of agricultural education and experiment, at the Agricultural College and Model Farm continues to be carried on with success.
The professors of the College, in addition to their ordinary work, have recently conducted institutes in different parts of the Province, for the purpose of discussing with our farmers improved methods of agriculture and other matters of special importance to the farming community.
These institutes have excited much interest, have been largely attended and appear likely to prove of considerable service to the great industry for the benefit of which they were devoted.

IMMIGRATION.
The number of immigrants who settled in the Province during the past year is not so large as in the preceding year, but I am glad to say that they have, on the whole, been of a better class, and have been better fitted to earn a livelihood for themselves than many who came to the Province in the previous year. Owing to the present abundance of labor and paucity of employment in all parts of the Province you will be asked to appropriate for the purpose of settling immigrants, a sum considerably less than the expenditure in recent years.

THE ANTLION AT ORILLIA.
Notwithstanding the increased accommodation which has been provided for the inmates during the past few years, it is my duty to inform you that a further expenditure for a similar purpose is again necessary. Additional buildings at Orillia for the idiotic are also required, the present buildings being insufficient for the proper care and custody of those now in in confinement, and there being also numerous applications for admission, with which, for want of room, it has been impossible to comply.

THE FRANCHISE.
The important subject of the extension of the franchise, will, I trust, receive your careful attention.

EDUCATIONAL LAWS.
Owing to the changes made in the acts respecting public high and separate schools since the Consolidated Acts of 1878, it is desirable that another revision should be made.
Bills for this purpose will be submitted, containing amendments which, I trust, will simplify the law, and at the same time extend still further the advantages of the system of education, which has contributed so much to the intellectual life and vigor of our people. The subject of higher education has received special attention from my Government during the session, and considerable progress has been made towards a federation of the Universities of the Province, from which valuable results may be expected.

JURISDICTION OF COURT COURTS.
Among other measures in preparation for your consideration are a bill for extending the jurisdiction of the county courts bill for the promotion of the efficiency of the administration of justice in the Province, and a bill for simplifying titles and transfers of real estate in certain cases.

THE HOWAT & CO. PLOT.
The judges appointed under the act of last session to inquire into certain attempts to corrupt members of the Legislature, have made their report, with the evidence, I will cause to be submitted for your information.

DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS.
The reports also of the various Departments of the public service for the past year will be laid before you.

ESTIMATES.
The estimates for the current year have been prepared with a view to economy and efficiency and with due regard in every case to the main object of public interest which it is desirable to aid and foster.

HIDDEN FOR YEARS.
Material for a Romance in the National Capital.

The Capitol is the growth of years, almost a century of work, upon different plans and under the direction of many minds. The result is that there is such a perfect labyrinth of corridors and out-of-the-way places within its walls that one may be about the Capitol for years without learning all the places in this rambling building.
This much of an explanation is necessary in order to appreciate the remarkable story told by John Chauncey, who has been in the constant employment of the House for the last 27 years.
In ransacking one of the upper nooks of the House side of this building the other day Chauncey, who knows more about the building than any other man in it, in his wandering about that morning came into a corner which he had not visited since the war. As he entered this long forgotten nook he was surprised by the sight of a military uniform stretched out upon the floor. A gun and the accoutrements of a private soldier of the army of the United States were in a corner. The uniform was still in a very fair condition, although badly moth eaten.
It lay upon the floor as if it had been hastily stripped off by its owner. But how had it come there? John Chauncey could not for a few moments tell, but soon he remembered that during the war the Capitol building was used as a barracks for soldiers. The House of representatives (then) was used as a hospital. A soldier who had belonged to a Massachusetts regiment, and who had been severely wounded, was employed for many days in the upper part of the hall. One night he wandered off to this out-of-the-way corner, alone. When his body was finally discovered, his uniform was taken off and the remains carried out. From that day the body was carried away until John Chauncey walked into this corner, 20 years after, no one had visited the place where the poor soldier died.
If the odor of a decaying body had not been perpetrated to one of the upper storerooms of the House document room into which invalids had been carried, it might not have been found until long after the war. John Chauncey would have found in full uniform stretched out in this dusty corner. What a story that would have made! The accoutrements of a Massachusetts private are in the journal clerk's office now.—From a Washington Letter.

The Story of Vesuvius.

A little more than eighteen centuries since the form of the mountain was totally different; its height was probably some hundred yards less than at present, its outline a blunt, truncated cone, having a wide crater at the summit.
No eruption in the memory of man had disturbed the peace of the district; scarce a tradition of such an occurrence appears to have lingered. The floor of the crater was overgrown with luxuriant and dense vegetation, and the crater was a garden of flowers. The mountain was covered with ivy and the wild vine. Once only does it become prominent in history, when the Cyprian gladiators sheltered themselves for hide in this natural fort, from which, under command of Spartacus, they escaped to begin the Servile War. In the year 79 of the present era there was a change; earthquakes settle the neighboring district, and at last the imprisoned fire broke forth. From the crater of Vesuvius a huge dark cloud rose into the air, spreading itself out like a great pine tree, presently a hail of red hot lava came rattling down over the flanks of the mountain, and at night fell the cloud grew larger and darker, and the shower of stones became thicker, heavier and more widely spread. All night long the darkness for many a mile was raised blacker still by the thickly falling scoria, though illuminated at intervals by a lurid gleam from the mountain and rendered yet more awful by the loud booming of the lava as it rolled down the sides. At last and later still the air cleared; half the ancient crater wall had vanished, leaving the fragment that now bears the name of Somma, while the lower part of Vesuvius, Pompeii, Herculaneum, Stabiae lay buried, and the ground, even at Misenum, was white as snow with the fallen ashes.—Picturegraph Europe.

How pleasant it is to bestow upon those we love sweetest presents we could possibly make during the

and that of our children, if we are blessed with any.
"All that's bright must fade," said Moore, but photographs won't fade! They will always be fresh as when taken, and be constantly bringing up pleasant recollections of days gone by. At one time to have a whole family photographed was a very expensive undertaking, but now-a-days, especially since we have reduced our prices in such an unprecedented degree, everyone can afford to make such a present as the one which we suggest.

TAKING STOCK!

No duty devolving upon the business man is so pertinent as that of Taking Stock. Books have been called the Merchant's repeating clock, to tell him how he goes on. By "Taking Stock" and a comparison with his books, the trader is enabled to arrive at a reasonable computation of the business done during the year, and to tell whether the balance on the pages of his ledger shall be for or against him. It is not only the recognized duty of the active tradesman to "take stock" of his goods, his trade, his custom, but of his competitors.

Just now it is the manifest duty of our citizens to "take stock" of our newly elected Town Councilors to see what are the indications as to the filling in of Spaulding's Bay.

The universal application of the rule is shown in the particularly with which young ladies "take stock" of prospective matrimonial chances.

In short; tradition, business usage, custom, convenience and other good and sufficient reasons all corroborate the advisability of "taking stock." This is the month we "take stock," and the balance of our WINTER GOODS will now be cleared at COST.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The County Council.

The members of the County Council were actively engaged this morning in Committee work, preparing reports to be read and considered in Council.

Captured.

A man named Kally, who was formerly a Midland Railway official at Campbellford, was arrested here this afternoon on a telegram from Belleville on a charge of stealing $200. P. C. Adams officiated.

Weather Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—West and south-west winds, fine weather, not much change in temperature.

Exhibition of Poultry.

The Annual exhibition of the Midland Central Poultry Association will be held in the Old Music Hall in this town on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, February 3rd, 4th and 5th. The prize list is an excellent one, and no doubt the exhibition will be a successful one.

Entertainment.

Remember the entertainment at St. John's Church School House, in connection with the Church of England Temperance Association, on Thursday evening. Vocal and instrumental music, recitation, temperance addresses, &c. The Fire Brigade Band will take part.

A Who Man and His Sayings.

The public are reminded of the lecture on the above subject in the Y. M. C. A. Hall to-night by the Rev. A. Bell. As there appears to be some misunderstanding about the matter, we are requested to state that these lectures are open to ladies, and are not simply for the male portion of the community. The lecture will commence at 8 o'clock. Admission is only ten cents.

Promoted.

Mr. J. Morley Campbell, son of Mr. Campbell, late Clerical Master in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, who for some time held a position in Mr. A. White's office, and latterly was secretary and shorthand writer in the office of Mr. Russell, Superintendent of the Midland Division, has been promoted to the office of Mr. J. Stephenson, General Superintendent of the Grand Trunk Railway, in Montreal. He departed for that city on Tuesday evening.

Fighting Ahead.

The Directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society, elected on Jan. 21st, are apparently determined not to let the grass grow under their feet with reference to preparing the new show ground for exhibition purposes. Already tenders for the supply of cedar posts and lumber have been called for, and a meeting of the Directors will be held on Monday, the 2nd February, to take the same into consideration, and to take such other steps as may be deemed expedient under the circumstances.

Races.

The articles of agreement were signed between Mr. J. E. McIntyre, of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, and Jas. McLean, of Port Hope, for a matched running race to take place on the Peterborough Driving Park on May 25th, 1886, between "Nancy Lee" and "Lady McDonald," the property of Messrs. McIntyre and McLean respectively. The race will be mile heats, three out of five, and the stake $500 a side. The preliminary deposit of $50 each was made Mr. Hector McIntyre, being the temporary stake holder.

Personal.

We are sorry to hear that the Hon. James Benson, of St. Catharines, suffered so severely from the extreme cold on Tuesday that he was compelled to break his journey on his way to Ottawa, and registered at the Oriental Hotel, where, under the skillful treatment of Dr. Pigeon, he was soon able to resume his journey and left here yesterday.

In a recent number of the Sporting and Theatrical Journal, published at New York and Chicago, we find the following in reference to Mr. Orm. Dixon, the well-known Peterborough ventriloquist:—

"Orm. Dixon can justly lay claim to being one of the most entertaining ventriloquists before the public. . . . Orm. Dixon is now playing his best appearance at the Lyceum in three years. His art is not only greatly improved, but his two best figures have been added, which make his turn very strong."

In another part of the paper Mr. Dixon's name appears in large black type as "the accepted peer" and "the most entertaining of ventriloquists."

The accomplished actress, Miss Edna Courtney, of "His Last Day" Company, stopping at the Oriental Hotel, was so indisposed on Monday night after the performance that it was thought necessary to call a physician. Dr. Pigeon was sent for and under his care she was able to go through her arduous duties on Tuesday evening, and was so far recovered that she was able to accompany the troupe to Lindsay yesterday.

THEY ALL TAKE SEATS

AROUND THE WARDEN'S FESTIVE BOARD AND DO JUSTICE TO THE VIANDS.

The Warden's Dinner—His Fellow Legislators and Friends Enjoy His Hospitality at the Stewart House—Speech and Song Toast and "Tale."

On Wednesday the newly elected Warden, Mr. R. C. Strickland, invited the members of the County Council, some prominent citizens of the town, and a few personal friends, to dine with him at the Stewart House at 8 o'clock that evening. At the appointed hour the invited guests had arrived and a few minutes after eight the company sat down to a sumptuous spread, prepared by mine host Carruthers's special caterers, Messrs. Bowman and St. John, and it was one that evinced careful and thoughtful preparation. The tables were tastefully set and adorned and the spread was one that did credit to the house.

Mr. STRICKLAND, the Warden, occupied the chair and Mr. John Burnham, the vice-chair. When the proper time arrived the Chairman arose and proposed the health of our Queen, after which was sung, in a right loyal manner, the National Anthem.

The next toast was proposed by the Vice-Chairman, that of the Lieutenant-Governor and Local Legislators. He coupled with the toast the name of Dr. Kincaid, a gentleman who had represented the West Riding in that Legislature.

DR. KINCAID, in responding to the toast, said that in his opinion the present Governor of Ontario was in every respect qualified to fill his office and one who would continue to govern constitutionally and command the satisfaction of everyone. For a brief term he had been chosen to represent this Riding in the Ontario House, but he would not advise anyone to aspire to the position which he occupied. He had been elected as an independent member and was true to the principles incumbent on that position. He closed his short political career convinced that as an independent member in the Local Legislature, so closely were the party lines drawn, was simply nobody. In his opinion one member for a county was sufficient and the business of the Province might be transacted with 44 men as well as with 88. He congratulated the Council on their wise selection of a Warden.

THE CHAIRMAN proposed the toast, "Our Governor General and House of Commons," coupling with it the names of Mr. Burnham and Mr. Cox.

MR. BURNHAM felt that here in Canada we were blessed by having our ruler appointed, not as it was in the United States, where the whole nation was, every four years, buried in turmoil and excitement over the selection of a President. Lord Lansdowne, he was satisfied would make a wise and good Governor, he would acquaint himself with what was for the interest of the country and govern the people in accordance. He (Mr. Burnham) felt somewhat diffident about going to Ottawa now. It was difficult to say where these dynamites were and what they would attack next. While sitting in the House of Commons he and the rest of the members might all at once find themselves blown to smithereens (laughter). He did not think, however, there were any measures so stringent, enforced in this country that would tend to create discontent. He complimented the Warden on his having been raised to his present responsible position, and was confident that the County Council had selected a worthy man to fill the position.

MR. COX could hardly suppose that he was intended to respond to this toast, as he had never sat as a member in the Dominion House. He thought he might be called upon to respond on behalf of the little Parliament over which he presided, but to respond to this toast he was taken by surprise. He would not, he said, like to see our Dominion Parliament buildings blown up by dynamites or anybody else, but he would certainly like to see his friend Mr. Burnham blown to the other side of the House. (Applause.) He admired our constitution and our statesmen. He was confident that there were as able speakers in our Parliaments as there were in any country in the world. Our system of government was one to be proud of, and one that is a source of satisfaction to every Canadian. He desired also to congratulate the Council on their excellent choice of Warden.

THE VICE-CHAIRMAN, in proposing the toast "The Army, Navy and Volunteers," said it was one that should awaken enthusiasm in every heart, especially at this time when the army and navy were doing service at Egypt. He did not know if there was a representative of the army or volunteers present, but at any rate they had a representative of the navy—one that was not unable, when duty called him, to brave the storms of Rice Lake and steer his human freight safe into harbour. He called on Commodore Calcutt.

MR. CALCUTT felt proud to be a representative of the navy, if such he was, on account of what had transpired lately. When the British Government wanted to send troops to Egypt he had to send to the Ontario river for boatsmen to take them there. (Loud cheering.) The Ontario river was a small affair as yet, but he felt that it would not be long before it was larger. He referred to the Trent Valley Canal—a work that was one of national interest. The North-West was in his opinion the destined backbone of the country. It was a great wheat raising country, and the people up there wanted a cheap outlet for their produce. This could only be done by establishing a water way.

DR. KINCAID also responded to the toast as surgeon to the 57th Battalion. He did not believe in war—he thought that all differences might be settled by treaties. But at any rate whatever other nations did he would not like to see fair Canada engaged in war. We should be left here in our glorious North America to carve out our destiny, and cultivate the attributes of peace, concord and brotherly love.

"Our Dominion" was proposed by the Chairman and responded to by Mr. Sanderson, of Smith, and Mr. Thos. Menzies.

MR. SANDERSON thought that this country was as well governed and as happy as any in the world. Our Confederation Act and all other ones of a national interest were good ones. He had travelled considerable but had found Canada to be as prosperous as any.

MR. MENZIES said that it was his wish to see everything prosper, and Canada was having her fair share of prosperity. He came to this country in 1847 by way of Niagara Falls. There were no railways then and he had to pay $7.50 stage fare, and then got out and showed the stage along himself. He thought that railways were a great developing medium—perhaps they have done for this country more than any other agent.

THE VICE-CHAIRMAN proposed the toast "Our County and Town" and coupled with it the names of Messrs. Lang, Stevenson, Cox and Menzies.

MR. COX said that he had been in a good many cities and towns in his life, but none he had seen he liked so well as Peterborough. Twenty-six years ago he came to this town and he then made up his mind that it was to be his future home. He did not think he had any cause to regret it, Peterborough and its prospects were bright. He had no reason to doubt that ere long it would be a city. With reference to the Trent Valley Canal, even he would tolerate their intolerable government at Ottawa if it would build the Trent Valley Canal, and would support it with all his power. He hoped that good feelings would exist between the two corporations, for their interests were certainly identical.

MR. JAMES STEVENSON said that it was 40 years ago now since he came to this town, and there was then only a population of 1,800 or 1,900. Trials had to be endured, but now the old residents were meeting by the score. Some people had said there were hard times, but for his part times had never been better. He urged the union action of the Town and County, for whatever was the interest of one was the interest of the other. It was probable that a large stove factory and a lock factory would be established here next year, and this increase of population would necessitate a second bridge. Some would object that a farmers' better market for their produce that would not stand shipment. Thus the more the town prospered the more the county prospered, and the more the county prospered the more the town prospered. The town would reap corresponding benefits. In answer to Mr. Sanderson he explained why the county and town had separated. The county was assessed at five-eighths its value and the town was assessed at its full value. The county wanted the town to pay taxes on the full value, while the county only paid taxes on five-eighths its value. This state of affairs did not now exist. The county was now assessed at its full value, and he would like to again to see the town and county one corporation.

MR. CARLIS said that he fully endorsed what the worthy Mayor had said. It was not at all unnatural for the town and county to have little disagreements, for it was not a fact that a man would at times fall out with his wife, yet she was often in his heart? Such was the relationship between the town and county; they were constantly connected and their interests were bound up and entwined with each other.

THE CHAIRMAN proposed the toast, "Agriculture and Commerce," which was responded to by the Rev. Mr. Macdonald, Minister of the Gospel, and W. J. Stephens, of the Revue of Douro, and W. J. Stephens, of the Revue of Douro.

"Our Educational Interests" was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Macdonald, Minister of the Gospel, and the name of Mr. J. C. Brown, County Inspector of Schools.

MR. BROWN said that the interests of the county were bound up in the educational interests. As the hour was getting late he did not wish to enter into a long discussion of that educational subject that was now so much discussed, but he would say that he was simply making a few remarks upon it. During the illness of the late Mr. Crooke two sets of readers had been authorized by Mr. Hardy. This was a mistake, as it should have been done. When Mr. Ross became Minister of Education he emphatically said that he would have only one set of readers. Whether he took the best method of selecting the desired and not it was not his place to say, but it was probable that Mr. Ross would speak for himself in the course of a few days. He then passed on to another subject.

THE CHAIRMAN proposed the toast, "The County of Essex," which was responded to by the Rev. Mr. Macdonald, Minister of the Gospel, and W. J. Stephens, of the Revue of Douro. He said that the County of Essex was a magnificent people, both physically and intellectually. While the natives of Egypt looked on and saw of our boatmen glide through the rapids of the Nile, managing their boats with so much skill and dexterity, they looked on with wonder and exclaimed, "Allah is great! We had agricultural resources, mineral resources—why, up to now we had not known a coal mine was discovered, which would supply fuel for heating the whole country for 1,000,000,000 of years. That is what they want up there—heat, but what we wanted was not heat, but a coal mine. He then went on and made some valuable suggestions in regard to the organization of Public Schools, showed clearly some defects and advocated remedies. LINDSAY—Benson House, Feb. 13th, 14th and 15th.

Prof. Hotchkin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having heated ligaments and U-billings as well as Variocoids, at the advanced age respectively of from 60 to 80 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses for children as well as adults. Prof. Hotchkin having had thirty 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and devotes the Herald to his place.

Prof. Hotchkin has invented an apparatus to hold the place in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourself.

BUYING OUT THE MORMONS.

Proposal to Pay the Polygamists People to Emigrate to a New Land.

Referring to the proposition from a Chicago source that the national government solve the Mormon question by buying out the Mormon possessions for $50,000,000 on an agreement by them to leave the country, emigration to New Guinea or some other of the islands of the Pacific being suggested, the Chicago Tribune says: This is a curious illustration of history repeating itself. In the summer of 1883, while on a visit to the Sandwich Islands, the Freeman correspondent had a long and pleasant interview with the veteran, the Hon. William M. Gibson, Minister of Foreign Affairs for King Kalakaua's dominions. In notes of the conversation I find that Mr. Gibson in 1857 was a party to a scheme for buying out the Mormons on somewhat the same terms as now suggested. But he proposed that the Mormons seek a home among the islands of the Pacific, and New Guinea was mentioned by him as a fertile land, at that time without government or protector. The Mormons, he thought, would accept $5,000,000 for their Utah possessions, and agree to depart within three years, the government to furnish a conveyance of naval vessels to their new home. Mr. Gibson drafted his plan and sent it to Brigham Young. That wily leader, wearied with a long agitation against Mormonism, promptly replied, inviting Mr. Gibson to Salt Lake City. After conference with Gen. A. C. Secretary of State, and several prominent Congressmen, all of whom regarded the scheme with favor as promoting the peace and stability of the West, Mr. Gibson started for Utah. Brigham Young went over the details carefully and authorized Mr. Gibson to submit the plan unchanged to his associates, and to the authorities at Washington. He did so, but President Buchanan earnestly opposed it on the ground that it was unbefitting the dignity of a great nation to virtually admit that it would not enforce its laws within its own borders. The Presidential opposition killed the scheme. Now it crops up, after all these years, with a proposition to pay ten times the original amount, and the question is whether President Buchanan would doubtless have equal weight to-day.

THE COURT HOUSE PARK.

On motion a deputation from the Horticultural Society of the Town of Peterborough was heard. The deputation was composed of Messrs. J. H. Roper and James Stevenson.

Mr. Roper said that at several annual meetings of the Society, the question of beautifying the Court House Park had come before them. The grounds were beautifully situated and if a liberal grant for the beautifying of them was made, and if they were properly laid out in walks, drives, etc., it would form a very desirable resort for the citizens of Peterborough, for visitors to the town, and to our country friends when they came to town. Ornamental trees could be planted, shrubs, etc., could be introduced and the whole place made a beautiful garden. It would cost a few hundred dollars to put it into proper shape. The Society asked the County for $200, the town was willing to give $300, and Mr. Roper also asked for $200. The Society undertook this work for nothing more than the establishing of a beautiful place of resort in the town, and by doing this they were relieving the Park Commissioners of the expense of maintaining the same. The Society also proposed to foster and cultivating a few which was beautiful among the people generally.

Mr. Stevenson said that if the grant was made, the Park Commissioners would be enabled to put in operation at a comparatively small cost.

THE BORN'S BRIDGE.

On motion a deputation in regard to building a bridge across the Otonabee river at Ross's Point was heard. The deputation consisted of a joint committee from the township of Smith and Monaghan and the Council of the Town of Peterborough.

Mr. Cox was called on to express his views on the question. A deputation from South Monaghan had waited on the Town Council, that afternoon, he said, to see if an arrangement could be made for the building of a desirable bridge across the Otonabee river at a convenient point, thereby very much shortening the distance by road between the two municipalities. He hoped the County Council would treat the matter liberally. He then called on Mr. Riddell to address the Council and give his views.

Mr. RIDDILL said that there was considerable talk about this bridge occasionally, and the opinion had been expressed in the Council that a bridge should be built across the County of Peterborough. He hoped the County Council would treat the matter liberally. He then called on Mr. Riddell to address the Council and give his views.

Mr. BURNHAM moved, seconded by Mr. FITZGERALD, that the matter be referred to the Road and Bridge Committee and that the Committee confer with the Special Committee of the Town Council in regard to it.—Carried.

The Council then adjourned, at 5.30, till 10 o'clock the next morning.

KILLED HIS BENEFACTOR.

A Drunkard Murders the Man Who Gave Him Family Food.

A despatch from Mount Sterling, Ky., says: James Lindes, one of the best citizens of Gilmore's Creek, Wolf County, was brutally murdered by William Cadey, a drunken desperado, who had refused to provide for his family, and was accustomed to whip his wife for failing to provide food. Lindes had allowed Cadey to live in his tenement house, and furnished the family with food. Two weeks ago Lindes asked Cadey to pay something for rent, whereupon the latter threatened to kill him if he ever entered the premises again.

On Jan. 22 Lindes was passing through Cadey's yard when the latter came out with a double-barrelled shot-gun and ordered him away. Lindes, seeing he was about to shoot, started towards him, and caught the gun as it was discharged. The first load took effect in his breast and the second went through his side and lung. He died in a few hours.

Cadey fled at once, and his friends hope to protect him. Four hundred men are in arms, searching for him to lynch him. An armed collision is expected. Heavy rewards are offered for Cadey, as Lindes was prominent and popular.

Sensationalism.
A very peculiar and painful accident happened the other morning to Mr. W. Edgett Tisdale, eldest son of Colonel Tisdale, Simcoe. In a fit of sensibleness, he rose from his bed, opened the window and jumped out to the ground a distance of some fifteen feet. The force with which he struck the ground was so great as to break the bones of one of his feet.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL, LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

GO INTO SESSION ON THURSDAY AFTER-NOON TO RECEIVE DEPUTATIONS.

THE Collegiate Institute Grant.
The Collegiate Institute and the County Board of Education met on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The various committees of the County Council were actively engaged in regular work.

At four o'clock the Council went into session to receive a deputation from the Board of Education of the town.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE GRANT.
The deputation was composed of Messrs. Jas. Stevenson and J. R. Stratton.

Mr. STEVENSON addressed the Council. He said that notwithstanding that the Council had for the last few years given nothing towards the Collegiate Institute, yet the Board had managed to keep the Institute in a first-class condition. He referred in high terms to the Principal and the staff, and stated that now that an important new branch of study had been added to the curriculum, that of agricultural chemistry, the school was one which would be very desirable for those engaged or interested in farm work to attend. A feeling had existed in the Board of Education, and in fact throughout the town, that those coming from the county should be charged, but for his part he had always advocated free admittance to the Institute. If the Council would give a liberal amount towards the Institute he thought friendly relations would be established and there would be no difficulty in regard to the fee question.

Mr. STRATTON also addressed the Council. He endorsed what Mr. Stevenson had said, that a liberal grant from the Council would help to make Peterborough what it was gradually becoming, a great educational centre.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

AN IMPORTANT COMMUNICATION.
On behalf of Charlotte J. Nicholls, Mr. A. P. Fossente presented a letter in regard to establishing a hospital in Peterborough. The communication in full may be seen in another column.

Mr. BURNHAM moved, seconded by Mr. KIDD, that the thanks of the Council be tendered to Mrs. Nicholls, and that the Warden, and Messrs. Lang, Brown, Sanderson, Burnham and Kidd be a committee to consider the question in conjunction with a committee from the Town Council.—Carried.

THE COURT HOUSE PARK.

On motion a deputation from the Horticultural Society of the Town of Peterborough was heard. The deputation was composed of Messrs. J. H. Roper and James Stevenson.

Mr. Roper said that at several annual meetings of the Society, the question of beautifying the Court House Park had come before them. FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1886.

A SLANDEROUS FALSIFIER.

We have before us another of those shameless attacks upon our country, its chosen statesmen and great national work; another of those disgraceful attempts to injure Canada with which, unfortunately, we are too familiar. It is a pamphlet on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and is entitled "An Appeal to Public Opinion," its author calling himself "Philo Veritas," for he sheds under a new name, a new time in the dark basement, able and better men than himself. Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper and their colleagues, Mr. Stephen, Mr. Angus, Mr. Van Horne, and their associates in this great undertaking, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, C.E., Mr. S. C. Reid, C.E., and a number of other gentlemen of repute are all attacked and misrepresented by this critic.

It would be a thankless and futile task to follow the author through the tissue of false statements, stupid blunders and confused and vicious criticisms with which page after page is filled. It will be sufficient to give a few specimens, by which the whole may be judged.

Mr. S. C. Reid, C.E., in a very clear report on the line between Kamloops and the Kicking Horse Pass, describes nine miles of temporary track built around a proposed tunnel, and some heavy work at a spur of Mount Stephen, near the summit of the chief range of the Rocky Mountains, to save a year's time in completion of the road. Our author is either silly or dishonest enough to consider this as equivalent to a statement that the tunnel is to be nine miles long. Time after time, on page after page, he repeats this absurd falsehood, though no such tunnel is contemplated on the C.P.R., from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He makes his own stupid blunder, or wicked invention, the excuse for the further falsehoods that the tunnel will take over ten years to construct, that it will cost eleven millions of dollars, that this temporary track is really to be permanent, &c. He actually has the audacity, on the strength of his own invention, to accuse Mr. Van Horne of uttering a falsehood in stating that the grades of the permanent road through the Rocky Mountains do not exceed 116 feet, because they are greater on this temporary track.

He quotes a memorandum read by Sir John Macdonald to compare the time for a voyage from England to Japan by the Mediterranean and by the C.P.R. He cannot even tabulate the figures he quotes without falsely putting into Sir John's mouth the blunder that from London to the Pacific via the C.P.R. would take only five days, and then he proceeds to refute these figures by his own, one element of his calculation being that ships make twelve miles an hour in the Suez Canal. If "Philo Veritas" will sell his secret for attaining this speed to the shareholders of the Suez Canal they would gladly enrich him far beyond any need for employing his pen in slandering his betters.

Our author makes a terrible outcry because glaciers may be seen from the route of the C.P.R. and there are heavy snow falls, so he thinks the line impracticable. Well, there are many successful railways within eight of glaciers, which, though always on the move, are hardly swift enough to catch a railway train, and though their constituent ice is always advancing they do not themselves extend their area, melting away at certain points to form a glacier stream. And as to snow falls, they should be at least as troublesome in his favorite Northern Pacific, which is nearly 300 feet higher. By the by, the Central and Union Pacific summit is nearly 3,000 feet higher.

To show that the heavy timber east of the main summit will not give profitable freights to the C.P.R. he calculates the cost of taking it to Lake Superior, and even to Montreal. He cannot conceive that the settlers on the comparatively treeless prairie will want timber.
So with fish, that is all to be carried away by team. Well, it is possible that the prairie farmers may like some fish to be carried inland, even if it is only a can of salmon occasionally.
They might also possibly have some use for coal, for metals or other goods from British Columbia, and it is just conceivable that they might send some of their produce to the miners, the lumbermen and fishermen of our Pacific coast. It is of course a sufficient damper on all hopes of an Atlantic trade to ask for proof that it exists at present. Our applicant critic never heard of greater facilities drawing trade.

We could go on exposing similar falsehoods, blunders and absurdities without number, but why weary our readers with more of this misnamed author's trash? We have given enough to show that he is utterly untrustworthy in anything that he advances.

His object seems to be to make political capital against the Conservative statesmen, chosen by the people of Canada to administer their affairs, and to damage and obstruct our great national work and all connected with it.
That he thereby injures his country seems only to add greater zest to his evil designs.

What a pitiful creature he is as he lurks in hiding, may be judged from the fact that one of his gravest charges against Mr. Van Horne, is that he has raised himself by his own remarkable energy to his present position. So too he derides the report of Mr. Reid as that of an unknown man, though he is an engineer of great experience in prairie and mountain work, the Union Pacific Railway having been built under his supervision.

The author even has the impertinence to sneer at the "ship-slop English" of Mr. Reid's well written report, though there is not a page of this precious effusion that does not contain specimens of bad grammar, solecisms and faulty construction. The style, however, has one merit—it is in keeping with the matter.

THE PROVINCIAL PROGRAMME

This speech from the throne at Toronto—that is, the programme of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues—is remarkable for its omissions.

It is represented that the Privy Council has adjudged our true boundaries to be those which were awarded by the arbitrators. We are not told the truth that the award was declared invalid by our highest court, so that Mr. Mowat has deprived the Province of its territory for many years by his obstinate adherence to a mistaken course.

It is suggested that the Rivers and Streams Bill was favoured by the Privy Council, though it was never before them, and they were of the opinion that the law upon which their judgment was given in a private matter was a bad one.

The statement is made that the Supreme Court has decided that with inconsiderable exceptions the License Act of the Dominion exceeds their jurisdiction. The decision really is in favor of Dominion jurisdiction totally of a third of the Province, and partially over the remainder.

Attention is called to proposed school law amendments, but nothing is said as to the school book jobbery by which all the parents are forced to enrich a few friends of Mr.
Mowat.

The extension of the franchise is to be considered, so the Conservative policy in this respect is to be adopted, though Mr. Mowat and his supporters opposed it so bitterly before the last general election.

We are to have a report upon attempts to corrupt members of the Legislature, but we are told nothing of the attempts to procure corruption by Mr. Mowat, his colleagues and their tools.

Provision is still to be made for expenses of immigration and the Province is congratulated on its accession of immigrants, so Mr. Mowat does not agree with his organs in censuring the attempt to aid immigration.

Some beneficial measures are promised, but we will be better able to discuss them when their details are before us.

CURLING.—There is some talk of re-organizing our curling club. That is right let there be no delay, as there is plenty of first class material for a fine club.

BRISK.—Business is brisk, and the people of this village with a few exceptions are minding their own business, despite what anyone says to the contrary.

CARNIVAL.—The carnival held on Wednesday evening last was one of the grandest ever held in this village. The ice was rather keen, but all seemed to enjoy themselves. There were over fifty in costume and about two hundred in the rink. Mr. E. J. Hartley, of Peterborough, gave two exhibitions of fancy skating. The Pontypool Minstrel Troupe gave a concert on the ice with their usual ability. The following list of those in costume is as complete as possible:

Miss Kate McFarlane Red, White and Blue

follows: Two great U. K. S. with banner, J. J.
Hawkins, R. Hartley, R. Salisbury, R. Tait, COUNCIL MEETING.—The first meeting of the Council elect for 1886 was held in the town hall on Jan. 19th. The members having taken the required declaration of qualification and office took their seats, the Reeve, Jos. Forster, Esq., in the Chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Reeve appointed Mr. James Edwards Auditor, on his behalf, and on motion of Mr. Dunlop, seconded by Mr. Brown-combe, Mr. Robt. Eastland was appointed Auditor on behalf of the Council. A by-law confirming the appointment received in several readings, was passed, signed and sealed.

On motion of Mr. Johnston, seconded by Mr.
McIntosh, the account of Mr. E. B. Edwards, $7.55, was ordered to be paid. Moved by Mr.
Dunlop, seconded by Mr. Browncombe, "That the sum of $300.00 be paid Mr. Wm. Collins in consideration of the trouble and expense sustained by him in caring for and supplying medical and for the late Richard Hicks, of the Town of Peterborough, during his sickness at his (Mr.
Collins) residence, provided that Peterborough Council pay a similar amount." Carried. The Council then adjourned to meet again on Monday, Feb. 2nd, to appoint certain township officers and transact other township business.

SALE OF TIMBER.—The timber on the roadway of the quarter line, 14th concession, was sold to Mr. Robert Goodfellow, Esq., on the 29th inst.
We have not heard the price paid.

Enormous Crop of Turnips.

Mr. Thomas A. Stevenson, Mayor of Wakefield, planted five acres in turnips last spring.
This fall, when they were harvested, it was found that they averaged one thousand bushels per acre. Many of the turnips weighed as high as nineteen and a half pounds each. This proves that the Ottawa Valley will compare favorably with any part of the world as a root growing section.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Council Meeting.
A meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening at 7.45 o'clock.

Shooting Risk.
Tickets may be procured from the agents at half rate for the remainder of the season.

Weather Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds shifting to the south-west and south, generally fair to-day with rising temperature, considerably milder to-morrow.

Meeting of Graduates.
A meeting of graduates of the University of Toronto will be held at the Law Library, Mechanics' Institute Building, on Wednesday evening next, at 7 o'clock, to consider the university confederation scheme, and to appoint delegates to attend the meeting or convocation at Toronto on Feb. 6th.

A Scene in the Park.
On Saturday night a good humoured warfare was carried on for some minutes shortly before nine o'clock, between the caretakers and skaters. It seems that the caretakers wished to have the rink and the going was rung for "all off." The skaters seemed disinclined to go for not a soul budged from the rink. The caretakers resorted to new tactics. All of the electric lights on both curling and skating rinks were turned off and the skaters left to grope their way in darkness. Nothing daunted the gliders continued to glide and the juvenile part of those on the rink set up a vigorous cheer. Defeated in this respect the caretakers struck on a happy idea to drive the gay party from the ice. The hose was turned on and soon the ice began to be covered with water. The lovers of the invigorating pastime, acknowledged their defeat and reluctantly adjourned to the dressing rooms, but not without many a hearty laugh regarding the incident. The ice was duly flooded and is now in good condition. The skaters may go and enjoy themselves as much as they please.

Real Estate.
Negotiations for a heavy real estate transfer have just been completed whereby Mr. Geo. A. Cox assumes the ownership of the Stewart House block, consisting of the stores on Hunter street, from Mr. W. J. Devlin's barns and store to the corner of Hunter and Water streets inclusive, and the Stewart House yards and garden; the place of business on George street from Mr. J. H. Kelly's dry goods store to the corner of Hunter street and westward, including Duffy's hotel, the store on the west side of George street, occupied by Mr. James Best as a dry goods store; and the stable and sheds on Chambers street in connection with Duffy's Hotel. This property was previously owned by Mr. Wm. Chalmers. Mr. Cox has purchased also Mr. Chalmers' residence on Robb street, paying for the whole property one hundred and twenty thousand dollars. Mr. Cox informs us that he will not permit any sale of intoxicating liquors on his property, and as two hotels are situated on the property just purchased the proprietors will be required to close that part of their business or remove to other places. Mr. Cox says he will allow the present occupants reasonable time to arrange the matter.

Personal.
Peterborough is about to lose, or rather has lost, one of its valued citizens. Mr. J. Frith J. Frith has been appointed manager of the British Empire Insurance Company for Western Ontario. The territory over which he is placed is that portion of the Province west of Toronto, and his headquarters are at London. We are pleased that Mr. Frith has secured this appointment, but we regret that it necessitates his removal from Peterborough, although our loss will be London's gain and the British Empire Company's gain. Mr. Frith has been a resident of Peterborough for ten years. In 1875 he was appointed (Classical) Master in the Collegiate Institute, and in the following year he was appointed Head Master of the same institution. In 1881 he retired from the Head Mastership to assume the position of Auditor for the Midland Railway Company, which position he held until 1 year, when, through the Grand Trunk Company leaving the Midland line, the office was rendered unnecessary. Mr. Frith then entered the insurance business, being appointed Inspector for the Canada Life, and more recently was appointed to his present position. Mr. Frith was an active member of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, and was an efficient and popular Superintendent of the Sunday school of that church. He was also an active worker in the Young Men's Christian Association, of which he was President. Mr. Frith will remove his family to London in a short time and will make that city his place of residence. While regretting their removal, we wish them prosperity and success in their new home.

Mr. Huxley, Port Hope's champion runner, was to have run Saturday and Sunday. He is a reality wins him friends wherever he goes.

THE FATAL DRAUGHT.

A MAN IN THE PRIME OF LIFE SLEEPS THE SLEEP OF DEATH.

Landmann Endeavored the Dire Agent—Efforts made to Awaken Him from his Heavy Slumber but Without Avail.

Shortly before nine o'clock on Friday morning a messenger arrived at the office of Dr. O'Shea and informed him that a man named Charles Fallis was in so heavy a slumber at his house on King street that all efforts to awaken him were unavailing, and that he had been sent to summon medical aid.

The doctor proceeded to the house, opposite Brant's Hotel, and found the man to be in a deep slumber and breathing very heavily. The heart was beating but very faintly and the pulsations were almost stopped. Blackness had commenced to settle in his face, and it was evident some potent agent was at work in his frame.

At first the doctor was inclined to think the sufferer was subject to heart disease, but on further dissection of the case he became convinced that opium in some form was the cause of the man's unconscious state. Restorative and stimulant were at once applied and given, and every means adopted for the restoring of the gradually decreasing circulation of the blood.

The man was taken from his bed, and the doctor, with the help of assistants, kept him walking up and down the room for some time. Meanwhile a small bottle had been found in an alcove in the wall. It was labelled, "Laudanum, Poison, from J. O. Wood, Chemist and Druggist, 181, King street, west, Toronto." There was about a teaspoonful left in the bottle, and the evidence was only too plainly shown that it was from this vital that the fatal draught was taken.

Mr. Fallis had been to Toronto to have some surgical operation performed on his right leg, which, it appears, had been afflicted with a running sore for some time. It is probable, in fact everything points to it, that he obtained this bottle while in Toronto, and while suffering from pain endeavored to alleviate it by taking this powerful fluid.

After considerable walking up and down, sleeping the hands, and other methods of restoring circulation, he was brought into such a state that he could understand what was said to him. He was asked if it was laudanum that he had taken, but he was unable to speak, and a nod of the head was the only reply. When asked again how large the bottle was he commonly measured its length on his finger.

The doctor left the man in competent charge while he went to his office for other medicines. While sitting at his desk the attendant expressed a hope to the effect that he would survive the effects of what he had taken. He listened to catch what the sufferer might say and the words came in almost an inaudible whisper, "small dose."

He never spoke afterwards. The pulsation became weaker and weaker until the vital organs ceased to beat. All through the day and night he gradually sank. The slumber became heavier and heavier until the deathly silence fell upon him and he breathed no more.

The bottle referred to was a two ounce one, but whether full or not at the time when he took the fatal draught, is not known. If it were full the man must have taken more than nine hundred drops. It is probable that the laudanum was taken about five o'clock in the morning, and so effectively had its influence taken its place in his frame that all efforts to remove it by emetics and every other method proved futile. Whether he took the draught because he was tired of life or to relieve the pain in his leg is not known.

Charles Fallis was a man of very fine physique—tall, powerful and compactly built. Formerly he was a member of the Toronto police force and subsequently was a constable at Millbrook. Lately, however, he has been engaged on the Ontario and Quebec railway construction department.

The body was taken to Millbrook this morning for burial.

(Lat. adv. Feb. 1, 1885.)

A season of revelry and merrymaking in Italy, which originally began on the feast of Epiphany or Twelfth Day—January 6th—and ends on Shrove or Pancake Tuesday, which is called also Fasten Even—the day which "farewell to flesh," the etymological meaning of the word carnival, strictly refers, because next day is Ash Wednesday, on which the fasting and austerity of Lent begins. In modern times the carnival season is restricted to the eight days before Ash Wednesday. (Globe.) The date of the carnival carnival is 17th of February, the day preceding Ash Wednesday. Do not fail to attend and participate in an agreeable, healthy and invigorating exercise. No more suitable evening could have been selected. Let us see a bumper house. Tickets 25c.

All Dispensaries.

A motto which every one should adopt—one which should guide in every good work—is, "Never Despair." Though sorrow should enfold us in its sable mantle, though trouble rush towards us with all the terrible apparatus of an irresistible avalanche—do not despair. If no one gives up to despair, and let all hope, then, indeed, he is a dream. So long as hope is not all gone reason will abide; but if a person peers into the future, and above and below, and on all sides, sees nothing but the dark shadow of despair, without a faint glimmer of the star of hope to relieve his sight and cheer him on, reason will forsake its way, morbid fancies will rule his mind, and the will will be handed over to the control of a mind without strength enough to execute, but without judgment to guide aright. Then it is that the poor being, bereft of hope which means bereft of reason, resorts to suicide. But never do that. While there is life there is hope. And if you gentlemen, have sought for a place to purchase clothes and furnishings of good material and at suitable prices, without finding it, do not give up hope. A. McNeill, Hamilton, B.A. is the place you want. Bel desperandum.

Now that Mr. Hilliard is making the best flour in town, don't forget that you can order it at W. J. Mason's.

Death of Warden Crighton.
On Saturday morning Warden Crighton, of the Kingston penitentiary, died, aged 67 years, after a lingering illness that lasted about a year. Deceased came to this country when a boy, and served his time in the Chronicle and Gazette office. He was guardian in charge of the Asylums, and subsequently of the city book store. He represented Victoria for three years, and in 1884-5 was mayor of the city. In 1886 he was appointed P. M. in the Chronicle, and in 1887 was warden of the penitentiary. He was very popular and highly respected, and his death is deeply regretted by the public in general. He was a member of the Victoria Club for 50 years, and was a Sunday school teacher, editor, and in every respect a public man. In politics he was a lifelong Conservative.

Burning Mines.
NEW STRATFORD, O., Jan. 31.—The Plummer Hill Mine, which was supposed to have been fired by the strikers, will probably be destroyed. The mine had just been put in readiness for the operations of the "blowings." The gas from the fire is so terrible that it is uncomfortable to be on the street. There is only one mine here now owned by the syndicate that is not burning, and the hope of the strikers that the mine will be destroyed is a great one. The Local Investigative Committee arrived yesterday.

Cutting Rates.
CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—The Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt lines yesterday reduced passenger rates to New York and Boston. The rates to New York are as follows: First-class $12, second-class $10. It is said that the Erie and the Erie and Erie are selling at $10.50 and $5 respectively.

An Unlucky Fellow.
JUNATA, N.Y., Jan. 31.—Irvin Farabee shot about a week ago a young man with his fat and broke his neck. Farabee has been paying attention to Miss Young. Her brothers disliked him and had attacked him with knives.

OUR MONTH FOR Wonderful Bargains!

During the month of February, previous to the arrival of our Spring Goods, we will hold a CLEARING SALE of Dry Goods for the Twenty-four days in which it is lawful to do business in this month. When it is ascertained that this month will be a month of Wonderful Bargains, it is our wish that the purchasing public should distinctly understand that we mean what we advertise.

Now then, Listen!
GIBROUX & SULLIVAN have not hood-winked the public of Peterborough since they commenced business, and when we advertise a CLEARING SALE every customer has gone away impressed with the genuine and honest character of our sales, and have admitted that they got bargains that they could not get (comparatively) with good goods in any other store in Peterborough. Besides, we have not only disposed of our goods at a living profit, but also derived the double advantage of causing new customers to throng our store. This is a well-known fact.

Then, Read This!
The Bargains that we have given the citizens of Peterborough and surrounding vicinity in the past will be totally eclipsed at this sale. We have a large stock of CHOICE NEW GOODS, and as above stated, we are bound to sell them, just so sure as you are reading this advertisement. We mean business, and, knowing how to do business, the public will at all times have their share of the benefits derived from our knowledge of the trade.

"A Joy Forever!"

How pleasant it is to know upon whom we have something that will be of permanent pleasure to them or in their hands. "A Joy Forever!" One of the most pleasant we could possibly make during the winter holiday season would be

and that of our children, if we are blessed with any. "All their bright smiles," said Moore, but photographs won't fade! They will always be fresh as when taken, and be constantly bringing up pleasant recollections of days gone by. At one time to have a whole family photographed was a very expensive undertaking, but now-a-days, especially since we have reduced our prices in such an unprecedented degree, everyone can afford to make such a present as the one which we suggest.

Photos taken in the best artistic style, and fully equal in every respect to those for which comparable prices are demanded.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1885.

A GENEROUS BENEFACTION.

We certainly would not be representing popular opinion in this town and county did we fail to express the public appreciation of the generous benefaction of Mrs. Robert Nicholls in presenting Moore Hall to the two corporations as a hospital, and adding to this gift a liberal endowment. For some time past there has been a growing conviction that such an institution was needed among us, and now all obstacles have been removed in this pleasant manner by the public want being supplied by private benevolence. Not only is there the matterial benefit to be derived from this handsome gift, but such acts do untold good by showing the power of the life of our common humanity.
It promotes good feeling and kindly sympathy when those who are richly endowed with their world's goods show themselves willing to relieve the wants of those who are less fortunate.

Of course the fitting maintenance of an efficient hospital will require a considerable yearly sum. But with such an excellent example set in its foundation we may hope that as the requirements of the Nicholls' Hospital increase by the growth of population, they will be met, at least in part, by other private benefactions.
There could hardly be a better method of contributing towards the assistance of those whose sufferings and poverty call for alleviation.

THE SCOTT ACT.
It is Decided to Test the Opinion of Victoria County.

By Telephone to the Review.
LINDHAY, Feb. 3.—A meeting of the temperance people was held here last night to consider the advisability of submitting the Scott Act to a vote in Victoria County. It was decided to circulate petitions at once, to obtain the necessary signatures, and a committee was appointed for that purpose. The campaign will be vigorously pushed.

THE RINK.
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I wish to call your attention, and through you the attention of the public, to the manner in which the skating rink is conducted.
Last Saturday evening the skaters were ordered off the ice at five minutes to nine o'clock, although the printed rules state distinctly that the time for closing is ten o'clock. Now, Mr.
Editor, there were people in that rink that paid the usual fee and were on the ice just ten minutes when the bell rang, which I consider a piece of barefaced imposition on the part of the rink authorities, who took money at the door up to the moment of ringing the bell to clear the ice, which was seemingly done on the sole authority of the individuals who exercise a despotic rule in the rink, to the exclusion of every sense of right and justice. I do not wish, Mr. Editor, to allude to this as a personal matter myself, but there were about one hundred patrons of the rink there, who one and all denounced the action of the rink authorities.

If the directors of the rink wish to preserve its popularity they should see to it that the rights of the public are not trampled upon by their servants, which said servants would do more credit to their society and themselves if they acted in a more gentleman-like manner than they did on Saturday night last. Trusting that there will be no more cause for complaint, and thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, Yours, etc.,
Peterborough, Jan. 31, 1885.

TOLLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 31.—A sleighing party of seven persons returning from a ball late last night were struck by a Lake Shore train at a crossing at Port Clinton, O. S. S. Hall, of Detroit, who was visiting at Oak Harbor, Miss Jennie Hoops of the latter place, were instantly killed. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vogel, of Oak Harbor, were fatally injured and both died this afternoon. Mrs. A.
Thompson, of Oak Harbor, was fatally injured, and still lying, but her death anticipated. Of the entire party only two escaped injury. The terrible accident is attributed to the carelessness of the driver.

THE DYNAMITER SHOT.
O'DONOVAN ROMA FIRED AT FIVE TIMES AND WOUNDED.

A Young Woman the Would-be Assassin —Her Identity a Mystery—Statement by the Wounded Enemy of England.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—At twelve minutes past five o'clock this afternoon an O'Donovan Roma was passing in front of the Stewart building, on the corner of Broadway and Chambers street, he was approached by a handsome young lady, dressed in plain clothes. She wore spectacles, and had the appearance of an intellectual-looking school teacher. She drew a five-barrelled revolver from her pocket, and, leveling it at him, fired one shot. Roma threw up his hands above his head, and cried, "I'm shot." He then fell heavily to the sidewalk.

THE WOMAN FIRED
The remaining bullets in her pistol at the prostrate man, and calmly and unconcernedly walked off with the smoking revolver in her hand. She was followed by a large crowd, while a still larger mob surrounded the wounded dynamiter. City Marshal James McAuley, in the absence of a policeman, saw the revolver in the woman's hand, and arrested her. She was conducted to the Twenty-sixth precinct station-house in the city hall. Her important gravity and coolness at the sergeant's desk McAuley handed the revolver, a small caliber five-shooter, to the sergeant, and said he found the woman brandishing it, was on the street.
A citizen who entered the police station with the prisoner said she had just shot a man on Chambers street. "Do you know the man," asked Sergeant Cass, turning to the woman.

"Yes,"
said the prisoner, with a slight English accent.
She looked very demure and pretty as she stood at the bar, and betrayed no excitement whatsoever. She gave her name as Yvonne Dudley and said she was a native of England, and an accomplished nurse by occupation. She described herself as a widow, 34 years of age, but she does not appear to be over 18. A number of questions were put to her while in the police station, and she answered a dignified silence. The woman was locked up and all reporters were denied admission to the present. She did not appear to be in haste, and answered all questions deliberately, and with some degree of caution. She declined to divulge the cause of the shooting, but it is presumed to have occurred through Roma's DYNAMITE SCHEME.

As soon as she ceased firing Roma got upon his feet, with the assistance of a bystander, and started back for his office. He was prevailed upon to go to Chambers street hospital instead.
He walked all the way, nearly a quarter of a mile. There it was found that only one bullet had pierced his body. It entered his back below the left shoulder blade. Physicians at once commenced to probe for the bullet. The wound is not considered dangerous.
Wesley Post, of the O'Donovan's office was one of the shooting. He was surprised, as his chief had left the office only ten minutes before. He at once locked up the office and went to the hospital.

At about six o'clock he said he thought his condition was serious enough to warrant him making

AN ANTI-NORTHMAN STATEMENT. and the coroner was sent for. When that officer and O'Donovan made the following statement:

"On Saturday, Jan. 31st, about 4 p. m., I received a letter at my office, No. 13, Chambers street. The message was in writing and was delivered by a messenger boy. The note stated that a lady wished to see me; that she was interested in the Irish cause and desired to see me at the time I was on my way home, and remain there waiting until I came. She would only ask for ten minutes' time. The boy told me the lady was at the telegraph office in the Stewart building, corner of Broadway and Chambers street. I went with him and met her.
I told her it would be well to go to some hotel, as the telegraph office was a place to talk in. We went to the telegraph office, and she came in into the ladies' parlour, and she said she would be able to give considerable money if anything good was done. She then said she would call on me at 8 o'clock, at 4 o'clock. Today she sent another message to my office, and I went to the telegraph office and there I met the lady. She showed me a paper which I was to sign. She said that she was going to send me a check for $10,000, and that she was going to send me a check for $10,000, and that she was going to

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1885.

THE COCKS AND HENS,

GESE, TURKEYS, AND OTHER KINDS OF POULTRY OF EXHIBITION.

The Midland Central Poultry Association held their eighth annual exhibition in the old Music Hall.

On Tuesday evening the eighth annual exhibition of poultry, under the auspices of the Midland Central Poultry Association, was opened at the old Music Hall. The forenoon was spent in arranging the coops in their proper places, and in the afternoon Mr. W. H. Dael, of Toronto, the appointed judge, placed his judgment on the merits and demerits of the respective birds.

The exhibition this year is very creditable,
and much in advance of that held last year.

The principal exhibitor this year is Mr. J. H.
Clapp, of Belleville. He shows three coops of Dark Brahma's, three coops of partridge Cochin, a coop of Buff Orpington, a coop of Black Brahma's and Red Game Fowl, Plymouth Rocks, Dorkings and other kinds. He makes also a very fine exhibit of geese.

The chief exhibitors after Mr. Clapp are Messrs. T. E. Bell, Smith; James Baple, Springville; John McCallan, Peterborough; Kidd & Wright, Bowmanville.

Mr. John McCallan exhibits a very fine pen of light Brahma's numbering nine. This pen was awarded the silver medal.

Mr. A. H. Rackham exhibits a pen of old Brahmas that carried off first prize in that variety.

The pen of light Brahma's exhibited by Mr.
Isaac Dorman attracted considerable attention.
They are a fine healthy lot of birds. Altogether the light Brahma's exhibit is a very good one.

In the Buff Cochin the exhibit of Mr. John McCallan and J. L. Clapp were the best, the former excelling in chicks and the latter in old fowl.

Several coops of Langshans were shown among which was a coop which carried off the first prize at the Ontario Poultry Show, held in Guelph some time ago. This coop is the property of Mr. N. Lush, and it contains particularly fine specimens of birds. Mr. J. H. Doube also shows good specimens of Langshans.

The game fowl department is not very large, but the birds exhibited (black-breasted red fowl) are of very fair specimens. Mr. E. H. Henderson, of Peterborough and J. L. Clapp, of Belleville, divide the honors between them. Mr. Doube takes a special prize for old birds and Mr. D.
Macdonald shows two coops of chicks.

The exhibit of Dorkings is not at all up to the average as far as excellence is concerned, but the quality of the birds is full up to the mark.

The best exhibit, perhaps, is that of the Plymouth Rocks. Fourteen coops are on exhibition and the birds shown are really fine specimens. Mr. N. Lush heads the list in chicks and Messrs. Kidd and Wright carry off the palm for old birds. Mr. T. M. Moffat shows two very fine coops.

The turkey department is filled with some variety only, that of the bronze kind. There are several coops on exhibition, but that of Mr.
A. R. Kidd, of Dummer, carries off the first honours.

The Geese exhibit is an excellent one. Although there are not a large number of entries in this department, yet the coops shown are, for the most part, of a different variety and each and every coop contain fine specimens. Mr. J.
L. Clapp is the principal exhibitor. The coop of Grey Chins attracted a good deal of notice.
The white and grey geese were worthy of inspection.

The number of entries in the exhibit of White Leghorn chickens was fairly large, and the Browns Leghorns were also well represented.
Mr. J. L. Clapp figured conspicuously in this exhibit also.

Only three coops of Houdans were shown, but the number lacking in this exhibit was fully made up by the large number of Hamburg showers. Both the Golden Spangled and Silver Spangled varieties were well represented—in all fifteen coops were shown. In these exhibits a pair of Silver Spangled broilers, that had carried off the diploma at the Industrial Fair held at Toronto in 1884, were shown by Mr.
James Baple.

The collection of the Poland variety was also a very good one, the two coops shown by Mr.
J. M. Hearn being especially fine. The different classes of this species, consisting of the silver, white, and white crested blacks varieties, were all shown to advantage. Four coops of average Brahmas were shown.

The ducks exhibited were very good ones and consisted in several fine specimens of the different varieties.

A special feature of the exhibition was a very pretty and pleasing collection of pigeons, the property of Mr. William Logan. No prize was attached to this exhibit, but it attracted perhaps as much attention as any feature in the hall.

An incubator, a curiously constructed machine, made by Mr. William McLean, of Peterborough, was inspected by many with evident interest. The eggs are laid on a sheet of perforated zinc laid over a small horizontal boiler, which generates sufficient steam to produce the required temperature for hatching out the chicks. The incubator is a neatly constructed apparatus, and we are pleased to hear that Mr. McLean's invention has met with general satisfaction.

The exhibition will be open this evening and to-morrow.

Opened out last week at Turnbull's, New Black Dress Goods, pronounced by those who have seen them just perfection.

The curling match played at Lakeside between the two rinks a side from the Peterborough and Lakeside clubs resulted in a victory for Peterborough by 9 shots all around. Mr.
Hall's rink having won by 11 and Mr. Fer-guson's losing by 2. After the play was over the visiting rinks were entertained in a hospitable manner by the Lakeside club, at Pinner's Hotel.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

Forwardness of Public Business—Involuntary Liquidation—Factory Legislation—The Liquor Laws—The C. P. R. Loan.

MONDAY, Feb. 3.—A large number of Departmental Reports were brought down, and notice was given of several Government measures.

INSOLVENT.
Mr. CURRIE introduced a bill for the distribution of the assets of the insolvent debtors.
He said it did not provide for the discharge of insolvents.

FACTORIES.
Mr. BROWN introduced a bill to regulate factories.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD said the Government had the question of factory legislation under-consideration.

THE LIQUOR LAWS.
Sir JOHN MACDONALD said a report was being prepared as to the effect of the Supreme Court's decision on the Liquor Laws of the different provinces. Until that report was considered they could not say what their course would be.

C. P. R. LOAN.
Sir L. TILLEY said that eighteen millions and a half had already been paid to the C. P. R. out of the loan of twenty-two millions and a half to them. Since July last the increase of the public debt was seven millions.

DYNAMITERS IN NEW YORK.
A Gentle Reminder to American Sympathizers with Jerry Brown.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Early this morning six or eight men were noticed loitering around the vicinity of Garry Brothers' dry goods store, Grand street. They were driven away by the police. Shortly after two o'clock, a tremendous explosion shook the street, the shock awakening the people for blocks around.

Investigation showed that dynamite had been put under the windows of Garry Brothers' store. The windows were shattered, the ceilings and work blown away, and the whole front of the place centrally divided. The shock also broke the windows on the Al on street side of Ridley's dry goods store, and the damage to this firm's establishment was nearly as great as to Garry Brothers'. A squad of police, and several detectives were soon on the spot, and began to hunt down the men who had been driven away. Four were found in the shadow of the Livingston street station of the elevated railroad. One, Charles Henry, a labourer, who said he was living at Williamsburg, was severely cut about the head and face, and the others, W. W. Britton, a waiter, James Dwyer, an actor, and Joe Lamb, a printer, were binding up Henry's wounds. The quartette was reined and locked up. Later in the day a man was brought to the station-house for experiencing with dynamite at the corner of Grand and Essex streets, where he succeeded in disfiguring a portion of a horse car track. He could not be connected with the other explosion. A man on a shelf in a house 300 feet away was thrown to the floor. Diablos in the tenement houses in the neighbourhood rattled and the iron standards of the elevated road near the store looked as though they had received violent blows. There is no evidence that the cartridge was applied to Ridley's store. Had it been, the heavy elevated railway structure which runs up Allen street between the two stores, the probability is a good part of the west side of Ridley's building would have suffered. Many of the firm's employees came to the spot to guard the premises. There were a number of people in the vicinity when the explosion occurred, but none were injured. Three were taken to the hospital, but their chances are good. One of the men was a member of the Association, a protective organization, and the other three were not. The man who was taken to the hospital was a member of the Association, and was the cause of the strike, was discharged for failing to properly secure the door of the establishment one night. The Dry Goods Clerks' Union went so far as to station men in the vicinity of the store and to ask intending patrons to boycott the firm. When the strike was ordered by the Union, the firm was left without a clerk to transact the business of the day. Non-Union men who were subsequently employed have been threatened in various ways. Committees from several trade unions called upon the firm, but the brothers answered all harassing they would run their own business.
The men looked tired, but their chances are good. A private meeting of dry goods dealers was held, but what action was taken has not been ascertained. The firm's employees are endeavouring to induce the proprietors to close at 6 o'clock. Ridley & Sons were among the firms that refused. For some time they were persecuted as the Garrys have been. The proprietors were never discovered. The union has passed words, grips, &c.

Mr. Thos. Garry, of Garry Bros., said: "Of course the Equality Association is at the bottom of the outrage. What surprises me is that they have done nothing worse. They have made threats of all kinds, but we were inclined to trust their exerting upon our clerks rather than on our premises."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

For Prohibition—Consolidating the Statutes—No Reduction of Postage—Court of Railway Commissioners.

TUESDAY, Feb. 3.—A number of petitions were presented in favor of prohibition.

SYNOPSIS.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD brought down the reply of Her Majesty to the address of sympathy by the Parliament of Canada on the death of the Duke of Albany.

CONSOLIDATED STATUTES.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD laid on the table the report of the Commission to consolidate the Statutes of Canada.

POSTAGE.

MR. CARLING said it was not the intention this session to reduce letter postage to two cents.

MEDICAL STANDING.

MR. BERNIS moved for correspondence with the Imperial authorities as to the British Medical Act.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS.

MR. MCCARTHY gave notice of a bill to establish a court of Railway Commissioners.

"Lord Nelson."

MR. WILLIAM COLLINS, of North Monaghan, is one of the foremost thoroughbred cattle breeders in this country. The interest he has taken in imported stock, both in sheep and pigs, as well as cattle, has done much for advancing the class of stock in the county at large, and particularly in the western portion of it. To-day Mr. Collins came to town expressly for the purpose of having his thoroughbred Durham bull, "Lord Nelson," weighed. "Lord Nelson" is a very fine looking animal, compactly built, well proportioned, and he turns the scale at 2,020 pounds. He is closely related to "Brampton Hero," who carried off the first honors at the Industrial Fair held at Toronto in 1882 and 1883, and also at the Provincial show held last fall at Guelph. Mr. Collins is to be congratulated in being the owner of an animal that is a credit to the county.

For the Medal.

Four rinks, two representative of the Lakeside Curling Club, and two from the "Heathers," of Scarborough, arrived in town to-day and are playing a match this afternoon for the Caledonia Medal. The following is a list of the names of those who comprise the rinks:—

HEATHERS. Rink No. 1.

F. Macdonald, Geo. Strickland, J. Clark, John Clark, R. Crawford, skip.

LAKESIDE. Rink No. 2.

H. Young, W. Young, A. Hood, R. C. Strickland, S. Rennie, skip.

The first two rinks slid up the rinks at shortly after two o'clock this afternoon, and as we go to press the play continues.

A Crushing Repetition.

Whatever may or may not be said of George Francis Train, no one who has ever met him will deny that the erratic gentleman is remarkably quick at reports. It was during a lecture he gave in Chicago some years ago that he exclaimed:

"Every man has his price."

"What is your price, Mr. Train?" cried a voice from the gallery.

Quick as a flash the lecturer faced the questioner and exclaimed:

"Fifty cents admission; children" (pointing out the owner of the voice, while the entire audience focused its gaze at the astonished person in line of Mr. Train's index finger) "half price!"

MURDERED BY A HIRER.

A Former Canadian Clergyman's Wife and Child Murdered in His Absence.

DUFFALO, Feb. 2.—The following despatch received here Saturday night possesses peculiar interest to Canadians:—

"GRAND FORKS, Dak., Jan. 31.—The wife and 11 year old boy of the Rev. C. H. Snell were murdered on Sunday by George Miller, a hired man, while Mr. Snell was absent holding a meeting. Their dead bodies were found yesterday by the neighbors. The murderer took a train for Winnipeg."

Rev. C. H. Snell is undoubtedly the person referred to. He is a well-known Baptist minister, and was for several years incumbent of the pulpit in the handsome Baptist church at Fort Colborne. While in the ministry there the reverend gentleman was so unfortunate as to lose his eldest child, a boy of sixteen or seventeen, who was employed as clerk in the Imperial Bank there, and who was drowned while bathing in the lake. This untoward event cast a shadow over the reverend gentleman's household, and he was anxious to leave the home as soon as possible. A large number of people who were formerly members of his congregation, having removed to Dakota, becoming aware of his desire, extended a call for him to come west and administer to their spiritual wants. He gladly accepted the offer, and some four years ago removed with the rest of his family to Dakota, where he has since resided. He came originally from Nova Scotia, and was in the ministry there, and at a later period had a congregation in eastern Ontario.

PRESENTATION.

MR. E. C. HILL receives a testimonial from Leading Citizens of Port Hope.

The following account of a presentation to our townsman, Mr. E. C. Hill, is from the Port Hope Guide:—

"Between the acts at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, Feb. 3rd, ex Mr. Hill presented Mr. E. C. Hill, the superintendent of the improvements in the Opera House with the following address:

To E. C. Hill, Esq.

SIR.—The undersigned citizens of the Town of Port Hope wish to congratulate you on their own behalf, and they feel assured they do so likewise on the behalf of many others, on the successful completion of the charming opera house lately opened in the town, which meets a want long felt.

To your indefatigable labor the completion of this beautiful resort at so early a date, is no doubt owing, and the whole building bears evidence of your skill in all the requisites and requirements of a theatre and in an equal degree exhibits your good taste.

Permit us to tender you our thanks for your labours and to ask your acceptance of a small token of our appreciation of your efforts.

We remain, Yours truly,

R. A. Mulholland, H. A. Ward, Dingwall & Ross, A. von Hugel, Stanley Peterson, J. G. King, G. M. Furby, R. Roddick, J. N. G. Lodge, W. G. Stevenson, J. W. Williams, A. W. Fringle, Thos. H. Ambrose, A. A. Adams, R. B. Williamson, P. R. Randall, D. Chisholm, W. H. Parsons, E. J. W. Burton, A. Purdon, F. E. Gaudre, Wm. Mackie, T. T. Baines and E. Baird.

"The present was a beautiful silver ice picher and most artistically engraved.

"Mr. Hugel, after reading the address, said that the citizens of Port Hope were under great obligations to the proprietors of the property, Messrs. G. A. Cox, J. Stevenson and D. W. Dumble, of Peterborough, for their liberality in providing such a magnificent opera house, and on their good fortune in selecting Mr. Hill to do the work.

"Mr. Hill, who was taken by surprise, said he had not a set speech, but he felt flattered that his efforts had met with the approval of the citizens generally, and said that strangers had been equally loud in their praise of the beauty of the work he had brought to so successful a completion.

"Mr. Wm. G. Stevenson and Mr. A. A. Adams were on the platform with Mr. Hugel, and assisted at the presentation."

We have had the pleasure of seeing the silver picher referred to, and it certainly is a very beautiful one. Our Port Hope contemporary did not exaggerate when it said that it was most artistically engraved, and the engraving reads as follows:—"Presented to E. C. Hill, Esq., on the completion of the new opera house, Port Hope, Feb. 3rd, 1885." We congratulate Mr. Hill on this handsome, but deserved, recognition of the services he rendered in connection with Port Hope's opera house.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEATHER NOTES.—January has been of varied temperature, with snow, rain, cold and fine. During the month we had three cold dips, namely, on the first day; on the 20th the thermometer again falling, and on the morning of the 22nd it stood 24° below zero, and again on the morning of the 27th it stood at 17° below. Although the cold was felt severely in the eastern Provinces, it did not range so low here, as on the 22nd, the coldest dip in December. Rain fell on 5 days, but only to the depth of 78-100th of an inch. Snow fell on 13 days to the depth of 11 inches and the 3-10 of an inch. So both in rain and snow our down fall has been below the average, while the mean temperature of the month was only 14-11-21°. During the month at sunrise the wind was blowing from the following points the respective number of days:—North, 3 days; north-west, 11; south, 5; south-west, 3; east, 5; west, 3; south-east, 1. Our cold dips were from the north or north-west, and only once from the east and once from the south-west did the thermometer drop below zero. On Monday morning, February 2nd, at sunrise the thermometer stood 27° below zero, being the same as the 25th of December, our coldest day of the season.

Recent Conditions.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Blossoms passed a comfortable night. This morning he was allowed to proceed to the corridor of the hospital. This afternoon Bressa was removed from the Chamber street hospital to St. Vincent Hospital, which is under the charge of the Sisters of Mercy. There he was given a private room and made as comfortable as possible. The bullet is still imbedded in his back.

THE RAILWAY EXPLOSION.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The police have obtained special information which will probably warrant an indictment against Cunningham for personally operating the dynamite which caused the explosion near Gower street railway station. The guard on the train and the sergeant and police who examined the passengers have identified Cunningham as one of the three men who were suspected of having caused the explosion.

A DYNAMITE MACHINE.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—A policeman found a supposed dynamite machine, with a lighted fuse attached, lying near St. John's Church, in Finsbury, last night. He put out the fuse, immersed the apparatus in water and took it to the police station. Subsequent examination showed that there was nothing explosive about the package.

ATTACK ON BRITISH SCOUTS.

ALEXANDRIA, Feb. 4.—The attack by Osman Digma's followers upon a scouting party of British cavalry proves to have been a narrow escape from a wholesale slaughter. The British numbered only 80 men. They were incited by 5,000 Arabs. After severe fighting the British charged in close column through the Arab lines and gained shelter under the guns of Saikhin.

RETURN OF THE CANADIANS.

ALEXANDRIA, Feb. 4.—The Canadian boatmen, whose term of service has expired, will embark for home on Thursday. They will be handsomely entertained at the Government's expense at Cairo to-day as a reward for their splendid services.

GAINED THE PRIZE.

CAIRO, Feb. 4.—The First Battalion Royal Irish Regiment gained Wolsley's prize of a hundred pounds sterling for making the quickest passage from Suez to Debbah.

TRENT VALLEY NAVIGATION.

We are glad to observe the action taken by our County Council to unite with the other municipalities along the line of the Trent Valley Canal in urging upon the Dominion Government that a further and more substantial grant of money should be appropriated towards the construction of the Canal. There can be little doubt that the other municipalities will unite in this appeal, and that the matter will be laid in a suitable manner before the authorities at Ottawa.

It may probably be urged that owing to the remission of duties last season and other causes, the surplus is not so large as it has been for the preceding two or three years, and that consequently there is less money available for such purposes. But if not so large as it has been, there is still a surplus, with every reasonable prospect of its increase. And even if a grant could not be made out of revenue, the opening of our inland navigation through these waters is so important that an expenditure on capital accounts would be judicious, even if it caused a comparatively trifling addition to our public debt. The benefit to be derived is so great as to make the required expenditure sink into insignificance. Such improvements are indirectly, even if not directly, reproductive, and works of far less importance have been undertaken and carried out by Canada, even when the cost could not be met from the current revenue.

The advocates of this great improvement have been patient while the priority has been given to other projects. They now wish to urge that it is time their turn should come.
The merits of this work are so thoroughly well known that it is needless to dwell upon them. We will content ourselves with calling attention to the fact that while the opening of this navigable route through from the Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte, will be of inestimable advantage, we need not wait for its completion to secure much benefit, as the construction of any section would at once greatly extend the already very extensive local navigation, afforded means of communication to important districts. A substantial grant to forward the construction of the Trent Valley Canal would meet with very general approval.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT is not pleased that Sir John Macdonald should have received the additional honor of the Grand Cross of the Bath, and he expressed his displeasure by a long speech in the House in his usual coarse and abusive style. According to the Globe's report Sir Richard is more frank than some of his allies, for he said:—

"The parties who are to blame, to say the truth, are no doubt the majority of the electors of the people of Canada, who were ill-advised enough, knowing its antecedents of the First Minister, to elect him to the important office which he now holds, and to confirm him again in 1882."

Thus it will be seen that Sir Richard's quarrel is with the majority of the people of Canada, who are thus included in his savage and disrespectable abuse, because they exercise their right to select the foremost statesman of Canada to manage their public affairs.

The London Advertiser says:— "The award was not legally binding for the simple reason that Sir John refused to pass the necessary legislation to give it effect."

The award was not legally binding because the Executive (that is, Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues) usurped the power that our constitution gives to such matters to the Legislature.
Even if Parliament had sanctioned the arbitration the award would have not been legally binding, because the arbitrators exceeded their instructions by making a convenient boundary, not finding the true one. Sir John is not the Parliament of Canada, and if he had endeavoured to play the dictator as to the boundary, he would have been guilty of a usurpation similar to Mr. Mackenzie's.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Coe Job—Further Motions Asked for —The Jurisdiction over the Liquor Licenses—The Creamery Bill.

TUESDAY, Feb. 3.—Mr. Hardy presented the report of the Special Committee appointed to strike the Standing Committee, which was adopted.

NEW MEMBER.
Dr. J. F. DOWLING, the member elect for South Renfrew, was introduced by Mr. Hardy and Dr. McLaughlin.

BILLS INTRODUCED.
Mr. WATERS introduced the following bills, which were read the first time:—Respecting under-drainage; to amend the Municipal Act of 1883, and to enable widowed and unmarried women to vote for members of the Legislative Assembly.

LICENSE JURISDICTION.
Mr. MOWAT, in reply to Mr. Creighton, said that so long as the decision of the Supreme Court stood unreversed the Government did not intend to issue wholesale and vessel licenses.
They intended to acquiesce in the decision, provided the Dominion Government did so also.

SALE OF PUBLIC LANDS.

Mr. CARRIDGE moved for an order of the House for a return showing the several lots in the township of Belmont, Madoc, Chatham, Aurthur, Galway and Cavendish, in the County of Peterborough, and of the townships of Cardiff, Monmouth, Snowdon, Lutterworth and Glamorgan, in the Provisional County of Haliburton, which have been sold, located, disposed of, or applied for, since the first day of January, 1880; also, the date of sale, and the persons to whom sold, the prices paid, and terms of payment; also the dates of the several applications for the purchase, location, and terms of location of said lots. In making the motion, Mr. Carridge hoped that the return would be made speedily, and would not be like the return to a similar motion moved for by Mr.
Wood last session, which was incomplete.

Mr. PARDEE objected that the return would involve a great deal of labor, and he asked that the mover should indicate the particular information he desired to get. He contended that the return in answer to Mr. Wood's motion contained everything asked for.

Mr. Wood said that his motion had asked for the prices paid, and the terms of payment for lots, which had not been given.

Mr. PARDEE said he could have the information.

Mr. Wood said he would like to have it. The complaints that lands had been taken up unjustly by Mr. Coe were numerous. He had discovered that the Department had cancelled several of the sales made to Mr. Coe on the application of settlers.

Mr. CARRIDGE did not object to amending his motion if he was allowed to stand until to-morrow. No one had supposed that the crown lands were being handed over to private parties to the extent which the return disclosed. As in the County of Hastings, where the amount of crown lands to be disposed of was not very large, the lots had been sold over the heads of the settlers. It was important that the municipalities should know how matters stood so that they might collect the taxes. He would like to know definitely the price paid by Mr. Coe, and the country would like to know it.

Mr. PARDEE—One dollar an acre.

Mr. MURPHY, while agreeing that there should be no unnecessary expense, protested against the adoption of any rule that would limit the right of the Opposition to any information from public documents. If they went to the Departments for the information they would not be entitled to get it, and applying for it in the House was the only means they had of getting it. The Parliamentary experience of the hon. gentleman who made the motion was a guarantee that the motion was in the public interests.

THE SMALL POX OUTBREAK.

Mr. WOOD moved for a return showing in detail the expenditures made in the township of Hungerford by the authority of the Provincial Board of Health during the late smallpox epidemic that prevailed in that township, with the number of cases and deaths, and the length of time the epidemic prevailed.

At the request of Mr. A. M. Ross the motion was allowed to stand over till next day.

THE CREAMERY.

Mr. BURNETT moved for a return showing the number of instructors engaged in the creamery at Guelph with the salary of each; the number of students instructed in the art of butter-making, distinguishing between those attending the college and those attending to learn the butter-making only. In 1883 the Government took authority to establish this scheme, and, as nothing had been done since, it looked like an election device.

DELATED RETURN.

Mr. CLANCY called attention to the fact that the return regarding drainage works, ordered last session, had not been brought down.

Mr. Ross said that he would look the matter up.

HALIBURTON COUNTY COUNCIL.

The municipal council of the county of Haliburton assembled for its session in the Town Hall, Minden, on Tuesday last. The following gentlemen took their seats:—

D. Galloway, Esq., Lutterworth.
J. Dover, Esq., Dysart.
W. Ogilvie, Esq., Cardiff.
W. Ritchie, Esq., Snowdon.
H. Cockell, Esq., Monmouth.
W. Gainer, Esq., Minden.
J. Mortimer, Esq., Anson.
H. Ferrier, Esq., Stanhope.
A. McColl, Esq., Glenora.

J. H. Delamere, Esq., County Clerk, having called the meeting to order, it was decided that the vote for the Warden should be taken by ballot. Two gentlemen were nominated for Warden, Mr. Gainer, Esq., Reeve of Minden, and Mr. Warden, Esq., Reeve of Dover. Mr.
Dysart. Upon the ballot being taken, it was found that the vote was as follows:—For Mr.
Dover, 4; for Mr. Gainer, 3. Mr. Dover and Mr. Gainer not voting. The Clerk declared Mr.
Dover the Warden elect. Mr. Galloway and Mr. Ritchie moved and seconded Mr. Dover, and Mr. Ferrier and Mr. Mortimer did the same for Mr. Gainer.

On the declaration of the vote, Mr. Gainer bowed to the decision of the Council and expressed his hope that Mr. Dover would have a happy term of office.

The Warden, after taking the chair, remarked that the County was now in a better position than it had ever been since its formation. At the end of the year they had fully paid up everything and had money in hand, but there were the railway debentures to meet, and the Treasurer and Warden had found it necessary to borrow $3,000. This sum would, however, be paid out of current revenue.

The appointment of auditors was then proceeded with. The Warden appointed A.

Niven, Esq., for the one auditor. Mr. Gainer and Mr. Ferrier nominated Mr. J. E. Crowley, and Mr. Galloway and Mr. Ogilvie nominated Mr. Fielding. On a vote being taken there were four for each candidate. The Warden gave his vote for Mr. Crowley, who was accordingly appointed.

Mr. FUSEY, of the iron mines in Snowdon, on motion addressed the Council on the subject of the Hancock railway and the Monk Road iron mines. He appeared before that Council, he said, to explain to them the position of the iron mines and railway in which he was so deeply interested, and to ask them to appoint a Committee to take the whole matter into consideration, to co-operate, if necessary, with the Company, and to report to that council. They were aware that the Company had a charter to construct a railway from the Victoria branch of the Midland Railway to Hancroft, and to lease the construction of that line the Dominion Government had granted an annuity of $3,200 per mile on fifty miles. The object of the railway was to open and develop the iron mines in the Snowdon area, and to construct two blast furnaces, that as it would be of a capacity of 30 tons per day. The furnaces would require a very large quantity of charcoal and fuel. So much that the consumption of wood would clear up ten acres each working day in the year. He had consulted with Hon. Mr. Pardee, the Commissioner of Crown Lands, and that gentleman had assured him that the Government would grant them a sufficient wood reserve on some basis to be agreed upon in the future. They proposed to ask the Provincial Government for a land grant of 5,000 acres for each mile of railway constructed by the Company. The land would be leased to the Company at a rate of 25c. per acre to be used in the promotion of settlement. The Company would sell the land to settlers, taking payment in wood. He found that the land would yield about 25 cords of wood to the acre. For this the Company would pay in cash, retaining say one tenth in payment for the land. The Company would build houses, and start the settlers in the lumber trade. The Company had had at its disposal the line of railway with men who would furnish them with wood for charcoal. His arrangements were now approaching completion and the land grant from the Provincial Government was being negotiated, and would greatly promote the furtherance of the object in view.
A general conversation ensued, in which the foraging points were more clearly brought out.
The Council, in order to take time for consideration, adjourned. Conclusion of report next week.—Independent.

CANADA PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Mr. VAN HORNE, general manager of the Canada Pacific railway, states that the company do not intend to rigorously enforce the monopoly clause, and that they have no objection to the construction of the railway across the boundary of the United States. He also gave notice of refuting the charge that the company employ Americans in preference to Canadians. Mr.
Van Horne pays a high compliment to the Cohoburn Car Works, whose work, he says, surpasses that turned out in the States.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

OF THE CENTRAL CANADA LOAN AND SAVINGS CO. OF ONTARIO.

The first annual meeting of the shareholders of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario was held at the company's office, George street, on the 3rd of February, at half past three o'clock, when the following report was presented:

The first annual meeting of the shareholders of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company of Ontario, held at the company's office, George street, on the 3rd of February, 1885.

The Directors, in submitting a report of the operations of the company, for the nine months ending 31st December, 1884, accompanied by the Balance Sheet to that date, duly audited, entertain the hope that the result will be satisfactory to the shareholders.

It was decided at the first meeting of the shareholders to limit the issue of stock for some time at least, to $500,000. That amount was promptly subscribed, and at the 31st December 1884, $100,000 was paid up.

From the net profits of the period under review, your Directors have been enabled, after deducting all preliminary expenses in the organization of the company, and expenses of management, to pay a dividend at the rate of one per cent. per annum, from the date of payment by each shareholder to the close of the year, leaving a balance at the credit of profit and loss account of $2,897.74.

The steady demand for money on first-class securities, the marked preference of borrowers to deal with home companies, and the favor with which this company has already been received, both by the investing and borrowing public, afford every reason to hope for a prosperous and successful career.

The Directors will continue to exercise the utmost precaution in the selection of their investments.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Geo. A. Cox, President.

MONTEBELL, Feb. 3.—Burglars broke into Darius' hotel at Longue Point, last night, and carried off the safe, weighing 800 or 900 pounds and containing $500, besides valuable promissory notes and other securities. After going a mile from the hotel on the ice of the St. Lawrence the thieves blew the safe open and rifled the drawers. The safe was found this morning, but its contents were gone. The men, who are said to have come from Toronto, were arrested to-day, and a store of dynamite found in a trunk they had with them. The cartridges were marked "Hercules, No. 1XX." The police are reticent, but it is believed the prisoners are the burglars who operated on the hotel safe at Longue Point.

Triple Murder in France.

M. DELAROCHE, a retired lawyer living near Paris, together with his aged mother and servant girl, have been murdered in a brutal manner.

A SOCIALISTIC REVOLT.

Ready for an Attack Upon Capitalists at any Moment.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 2.—The Chronicle-Telegraph says it has come to the knowledge of some secret agents in that city that socialists have stored arms and dynamite in Pittsburg, and are ready for an outbreak and an attack on capitalists.

Men from Hocking valley and elsewhere are said to be ready in Pittsburg for business. The paper alluded to says: "Within the past two weeks information has been obtained which shows that in Pittsburg there is smouldering a volcano ready to break forth at any propitious moment. Information is to the effect that:

DYNAMITE ARK ARMED, supplied with explosives and ready to cause an outbreak whenever a favorable opportunity presents itself. For several months Russian and English spies have been at work at Pittsburg and vicinity endeavoring to learn who was in sympathy here with the Irish dynamiters. Men in mills and mines who believe in the doctrine of assassination have been liberal in donations to the cause and at least two men worth millions have furnished money in considerable sums. There are at this moment, the paper says, several thousand men in this county who would not stop at anything which would carry out their ideas of the rights of poor men to the possessions of the rich. Disaffected men of this class from Chicago, Hocking valley, and the coal regions in this state have been drifting into the city and are in part, for a month or more to take a hand in any movement of

against the law that may be organized. With in the past three weeks from a thousand to five hundred guns and revolvers have been received by these men. Arms have been put into the hands of those only whose character is known and who can be relied upon. A large quantity of dynamite has also been obtained by the revolutionists and is stored in secret magazines which are only known to the leaders of the movement. This the paper asserts, is true, and is known to be true by persons who have interest at stake. The movement is against millowners and other capitalists. Several of these have been warned or have discovered the condition of affairs in part and have notified the police. That there is an uneasy, restless feeling among them can be readily proved. It is claimed that here most recently visited Hocking and Maumoning valleys, in consultation with the revolutionaries, and that the military and police authorities are quietly making preparations for emergency that may arise at any moment.

A PUBLIC banquet will be given by the citizens of Bradford to Mr. John H. Stratford as a mark of their appreciation of his generous gift of a public building to the city.

A FOURFOLD WORK.—Burdock Blood Bitters act at the same time upon the liver, the bowels, the kidneys and the skin, relieving or curing in every case. Warranted satisfactory or money refunded.

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet written around and about the true Murray & Lannan's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Lannan & Kemp, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of trouble rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which though pale and faint, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no Florida water is genuine that does not have this mark.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Court House Grounds.
 The action of the County Council in placing the Court House Grounds in charge of the Horticultural Society is worthy of approval. The capabilities of the grounds are great, and no doubt they will be thoroughly well developed in such excellent hands.

Confederation.
 At a meeting of the Toronto university graduates held in the law library of the Mechanics' Institute on Wednesday evening Messrs E. B. Edwards and T. A. Hamilton were elected delegates to attend the convention which will be held in Toronto to-morrow for the consideration of the confederation scheme.

At the Post.
 The fact that the member for West Peterborough was not in his seat in the Legislative Assembly on Monday seems greatly to disturb the Globe. As President of the West Peterborough Agricultural Association, he was attending a meeting of the Directors in this town, thus performing a public duty.

Committee of the Legislature.
 We notice that Mr. Carnegie, the member for West Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature, has been appointed in the following Standing Committee:—Public Accounts, Printing, Municipal Committee, and Railways. Mr. Blizard, member for East Peterborough, has been appointed in the Privilege and Elections, Railways, and Private Bill Committee.

Go to the Bon Marche for Muslins.
 Embroideries, Laces, Edgings, &c. All New Choice Patterns.

The Town Clock.
 The Town Council is taking a wise step in considering the protection of the town clock, so as to make it of use as a public time keeper. It has been well, however, if they had enlarged the scope of their enquiry, so as to ascertain the cost of glazing the faces as well as of covering them with a wire netting. The question of illuminating the dial might also have been considered at the same time.

Teachers' Convention.
 A convention of town and county school teachers was opened at the central school building at 11 o'clock this forenoon. There were about fifty teachers in attendance. Messrs. Jas. Stratton and Jas. Coyle Brown, Inspectors respectively of town and county schools, were present, also some of the members of the staff of the Collegiate Institute and representatives of two educational journals.

For Himself.
 Mr. John Duncan has long been known in Peterborough in this town as a thoroughly experienced man in the trade. He has occupied the position of chief miller in some of our leading mills, and by his courteous and genial manner has won hosts of friends among the patrons of the various establishments over which he has presided. Mr. Duncan has now made a new departure. He has purchased that valuable property known as the Allendale Mills, situated in the township of Otonabee, for the sum of $3,300, and will carry on milling in all its branches. This property originally cost the sum of $40,000 and the purchaser has obtained it at a sacrifice.

To Decide the Point.
 On Wednesday evening a curling match of twenty-two ends was played at the rink between two picked rinks of the Peterborough Curling Club, to decide which was the most dexterous in rolling the stones into their proper places. The following are the names of those who composed the rinks, and the result of the match:— R. S. Davidson Wm. Van Every
 A. McGill W. G. Ferguson
 W. H. Budden A. McNeill
 Geo. Dunsford, skip 18 T. P. Aitken, skip 12 Majority for Mr. Dunsford's rink, 6 points.
 After the match, which was keenly contested, the defeated rink entertained their vanquishers to an oyster supper at Faucher's Hotel.

DR. SEXTON'S LECTURES

SCIENCE AND SCRIPTURE SHOWN NOT TO BE AT VARIANCE

The Astronomy of the Bible Marvelously Accurate—The Account in Genesis of the Creation—No Conflict Between Science and Revelation.

The third lecture by the Rev. Dr. Sexton, on "Science and Scripture," was delivered in the George Street Methodist Church on Wednesday evening. Mr. A. P. Frouzette presided, and several clergymen occupied seats on the platform.

The CHAIRMAN, in introducing the lecturer, said that the subject to be dealt with was of absorbing interest on account of the attacks of scientists upon the Christian religion, and it deserved the earnest attention of every Christian.

Dr. SEXTON said that this age might hereafter be known as the age of science, on account of the advancement that had been made in scientific knowledge. The advance had been greater in the past fifty years than it had during all the years that had gone before. It had not, however, been an unmixed good, for there had arisen out of it a phase of thought that had done harm. It did not follow that the advance in science during the next century would be as great as it had been during the present century.

In the history of the world, period of advancement had always been followed by a period of retrogression. Science was so much a characteristic of the present age, and the people were so much addicted to the study of natural laws that they neglected the spiritual. The most powerful argument at present against the Christian religion was the talk about science. A large majority of the eminent scientific men of to-day believed in that religion, but there was a number of quasi-scientific men, and pseudo-scientific men, who attacked religion.

ALL TRUTH MUST BE IN HARMONY.
 Science was true and the Bible was true, and there could be no discrepancy between them. He wished them to draw two very broad lines, namely, between true science and the speculations of some men, and between the true teachings of the Bible and the interpretations that some men put upon it. A large number of the speculations of scientific men (such as evolution) were not based on science at all. They were dreams, and would pass away and be buried in the tombs of the theories of many eminent men of the present age.

His first proposition was that the Bible did not aim to teach them science. It professed to contain a revelation from God of matters that they could not discover for themselves. The only thing that it was impossible for man to discover. As the Bible did not profess to teach science, the objects of the Bible and science differed. All religions, except the Christian, never existed. A powerful influence on other people besides those among whom it originated and for whom only it was adapted, but the Bible, although also an Eastern book, was adapted for all ages, all nations, and all conditions of men. One man had said that the Bible used incorrect language because it referred to the rising and the setting of the sun, yet that man himself referred to that phenomenon in exactly the same manner. Even the scientific men referred to things they appeared to be. The language of the Bible was the language of the scientific men of to-day. The Biblical phraseology was

MARVELLOUSLY ACCURATE.
 Job spoke of the circle of the earth, and there was a time when sceptics objected to these very terms. The origin of rain was graphically and truthfully described by Job, and more than 2,000 years before the trade winds were discovered the sacred writer referred to the currents of the winds. Isaiah wrote of the orbit of the earth and Job of the equilibrium of space, and the latter had referred to the influence of the Pleiades, which some had thought was a reference to some astrological notion, but which was now known to refer to a great astronomical fact. His second proposition was that science was not a standard of universal truth. There were thousands of subjects that were not within the province of science at all. Science did not cover the ground and had nothing to say regarding the moral and mental nature of man. It could not, therefore, be a substitute for the Bible, even if the Bible were not true. Again, even in its own domain science was continually

CHANGING ITS GROUND.
 Tom Payne had said that Paul was wrong, because he said that one star differed from another in glory, but science had shown that the stars did differ in glory or brilliancy, and Paul was right and Payne was wrong. They knew very little of the laws of the universe and the opinions they now entertained might be changed. His third proposition was that the Bible was not opposed to science, as far as they knew science at present. The Israelites had always looked on the heavenly bodies as the workmanship of God, while the people around them looked upon them as gods. If they read Job and the Psalms they would see how marvellous were the teachings with reference to these bodies. Astronomy had done more in bringing out religious feelings and devotion than any other star. Some said that the Bible was not in harmony with science in regard to

THE CREATION.
 Genesis i. 1, should be translated "In the beginning God created the essence of the heaven and earth," or the substance of which the heaven and earth were formed. He gave authorities for this rendering. The word translated "beginning" carried them back farther than the mind could conceive. Directly after the Spirit moved upon the face of the water light was created, and it was objected that there could not be light without the sun. It used to be thought that light was something passing off from the sun, but it was now known that light, or ether, existed independently of the sun. Light, heat and electricity were all forms of force and ether produced these, according to the length of the waves. The ether had to be made first, for the sun would have been of no use without it, as all the sun did was to stimulate the ether into activity and produce a wave, which was light. It was also objected that the Bible said the earth would last forever. Curiously enough, it was not long since sceptics objected because the Bible said the earth would be destroyed. The Hebrew word there translated "forever" had a limited application, and it was applied to many things which should exist so long as they answered their purposes. The three great divisions in nature were organic, inorganic (that which had life), and mental or spiritual. The word created was only used three times in the first chapter of Genesis. The first place was in the first verse, where God created the substance of the world. The second was in the second verse, where God created life. The third was in the third verse, where God created man. The three creations referred to there, in the account written so long ago, agreed with modern science. An infidel had stated that the Bible said the earth was created 6,000 years ago, but there was no such passage. The account in Genesis, from its poetical formation, seemed to be a grand hymn of creation. The word translated day was frequently used to refer to a cycle of time. It did not say that the evening and the morning were the seventh day, because the seventh day, or period, in which God rested was not yet ended. Sir Wm. Dawson said that Moses might have had

 of the creation. It was certain that it was revealed to him in some way, and it might have been as by a panorama. He saw six periods go by and the chief objects in each period, and he described them as, and might have thought them, days. In that case Moses would not see the most numerous objects, but always the most conspicuous objects. This explanation had not been adopted to meet the discoveries of geology, because it had been adopted before geology was thought of, by men of the faith. The chief question was, was there any difference between the Bible and geology in the order of creation. The creation of the substance of which the world was made, then of living things and then of man was the order in the Bible, and was also the order of geology, so that they were in harmony. Some had said that man was in existence many years longer than the Bible had said he was, but it was now tolerably certain, from a geological view, that man was a more recent creation, and had not existed longer than the Bible said. Chemistry showed that every molecule was a manufactured article, and the Bible and chemistry agreed. He had taken the sciences and shown that they were in conflict with the Bible and shown that they DID NOT CONFLICT.

 Galileo, Kepler, Boyle, Newton, Herschel and Lord Rosse, and many of the most eminent scientific men of to-day, were Christians. The trouble was that the people did not know who were the most eminent scientific men. Prof. Tyndall and Prof. Huxley had done much to popularize science, but he did not know that they had discovered anything new. The Bible had nothing to fear from the opposition of the past. Shiploads of books had been written against it, yet its influence remained paramount. All the literature of Greece had not exercised as much influence as one chapter of the Bible. It had influenced people as well as individuals, for whatever denotation had restricted it had gone down into darkness.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE said that he knew each one felt like saying "Thank you, Dr. Sexton," for the lecture they had heard, and to give expression to this feeling he moved a vote of thanks.

Mr. JAS. STRATTON seconded the motion, which was carried with applause.
 Dr. SEXTON acknowledged the vote and remarked that the attendance on his lectures in Peterborough, and the attention paid to what he said, were more gratifying to him than applause and votes of thanks.

The Rev. A. H. MUNRO then announced that Dr. Sexton would lecture in the same church on Friday evening, on "The Testimony of History to Christ." (Long applause.) The lecture would be free and a collection would be taken up.
 A hymn was sung, the benediction was pronounced and the proceedings terminated.

Correction.
 In reference to the appointment of Mr. J. Frith Jeffers it should read, "The British Empire Mutual Life Assurance Company," of which Mr. Jeffers has received the appointment of General Agent for Western Ontario, with head office at London. This is the same company Mr. E. E. Henderson represents in Peterborough.

The Talk of the Town.
 Just now the general topic for conversation among the young ladies and gentlemen in the coming grand carnival to be held in the skating rink on Tuesday evening, Feb. 17th. Although the last carnival proved a success in every respect, it is the intention of the Committee who have the matter in hand to make this carnival a much greater success and a grander feat in every respect. Painful costumes are being prepared by many, and there is sure to be an unusually large number of masqueraders. Perhaps it is owing to the handsome and costly presents offered for competition that so many are having new and unique "get-ups" made, some of which will be costly. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance, and discourse sweet vocal and instrumental music. The tickets have been placed at the small cost of twenty-five cents for both the afternoon and evening. Children, if they will be seen by the poster, are admitted for half price.

By His Dress.
 When a man does a mean act, for instance, he embosoms a sum of money from his employer, or perhaps, falling in love with some rich heiress, seeks seclusion under the cover of darkness, and, like the Arab, "folds his tent and steals silently away" with his fair prize, the first thing that the two-confiding employer or the irate and unforgiving parent will do is to rush to the telegraph office and have messages flashed across the wire to all parts, in the hope of getting the culprit and runaway in custody. He commences by giving a description of the clothes worn by said runaway, describing with minuteness every detail—even going as far as stating the color and style of the necktie. Thus it often happens that justice overtakes the young man of flying propensities, and he is summarily dealt with. So it is with almost everyone, they are "sized up" by their dress. A well dressed man is sure to cause more than ordinary notice—in a measure his outfit will invariably denote the character of the man inside the clothes. A good, substantial, well-made suit will add considerably to a man's social standing, and the place to get the suit thus described is at Habillment Hall. A. McNeill.

The Bon Marche is the leading place for Choice New Teas, Coffees and Sugars.

Dr. Geo. Sexton.
 There was no mistaking the significance of the warm applause with which the large audience in the George Street Methodist Church, on Wednesday night, greeted the announcement made by the Rev. Mr. Moore, that Dr. Sexton, in compliance with the urgent solicitation of many who have attended his lectures, had consented to give one more lecture before leaving Peterborough. He will lecture on Friday evening in the George Street Methodist Church on "The Testimony of History to Christ." In accordance with his own suggestion there will be no charge made for admission to this lecture, but a collection will be taken up at the close. Those who have heard Dr. Sexton will need no persuasion to be present on Friday night. Those who have not enjoyed that privilege should avail themselves of the last opportunity that in all probability they ever will have of listening to one who is certainly a very remarkable man.

 HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 4.—The description of Cunningham, the man arrested in London, on a charge of implication in the explosions at the Tower of London, published in the despatches, has led many persons to believe that he is Brecken, one of the dynamitists arrested here last year, as his actions in court were similar, and the reported appearance tallies with his. BAD NEWS FROM KHARTOUM.

THE intelligence that Khartoum had fallen and was in possession of the Mahdi has been received with deep regret, not only throughout the British Empire, but, as appears from the despatches, in other countries as well. Coming so soon after the brilliant victories gained in the Sudan by small numbers of brave British soldiers, and when it was thought that Gordon was perfectly safe and that the relief so long looked for had about reached him, the news was indeed startling. Whatever opinions may have been entertained regarding the judiciousness of General Gordon's undertaking, no one could do otherwise than admire his courage and his zeal, and the uncertainty of his fate, or the certainty that he must have fallen into the hands of the enemy, will cause a deep feeling of regret.

Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues have a grave responsibility cast upon them. They delayed sending any force to relieve the brave officer shut in at Khartoum until forced by public opinion to do so, and now it is found that the expedition was despatched too late to save him from becoming a prisoner. The fact that the relief force was very nearly at Khartoum when the town fell does not improve matters, except that there will be British officers and soldiers nearer to the enemy to ascertain Gordon's fate and assist him, if it is not altogether too late for assistance to be of any avail.

The despatches also indicate that the position of Gen. Wolseley's forces is not a safe one. No doubt the Government will now take active measures to prevent another disaster, and it may be hoped that nothing will be left undone to secure their safety, and to investigate the fate of the hero of Khartoum.

SOME Reform agitators strongly advised in tending settlers not to take up land in Manitoba and the Northwest. This advice had some effect upon the more timid and to a certain extent checked settlements, and now the Reformers are finding fault because less land was taken up last year in Manitoba and the Northwest.

THE rallying cry of the Dominion Opposition, if one may judge from their doleful speeches, will be "Woe, woe." The chief impression made by their mournful orations, however, is that they are far too very bad humor, and that their condition is much worse than that of the country.

GARDEN HILL.
DEATH BY BURNING.—Death has many ways of approach, and none, we think, more shocking than the following:—One morning last week Mrs. E. Galbraith, of this place, left her little two-year-old boy alone in the house while she went to a neighbour's, a little distance, on business. When she returned she was terrified to find the child enveloped in flames, having set fire to his clothes, it is thought by matches. Dr. Johnson was speedily called, and did all that human skill and kindness could, but without avail. After about 30 hours of acute suffering death came to his relief. The funeral took place on Friday morning to Oak Hill cemetery. The services at the house were conducted by Rev. J. Jamieson and Horton, and at the cemetery by Rev. Mr. Horton. The young couple have the sincere sympathy of all for their unusually sad affliction, the loss of their only child.—Port Hope Guide.

FALL OF KHARTOUM!

RUMORED FATE OF GORDON.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The rumors concerning the fate of Gordon are many, but all agree that the Mahdi captured Khartoum by treachery. The most reliable reports say Feraz Pasha, being left in charge of the ramparts, opened the gates on Jan. 26th and admitted the enemy. Some rumors state that the Mahdi, with a few Levantines, is coupled up in a church. Others say Gen. Gordon has been seen wearing the Mahdi's uniform. The majority agree, however, that Gen. Gordon has been killed.

HOW THE NEWS WAS RECEIVED.
The first news of the fall of Khartoum received by Gen. Wolseley was brought by a messenger who left the island where Colonel Wilson was stranded, and came on foot to Gubat. Two messengers were despatched to Korti via Abu Kila and Gakdul. They reached their destination safely owing to the fact that the news of Khartoum's fall had not reached the desert. The intelligence of the disaster soon spread far and wide, and some of the tribes hitherto professing friendship for England have declared for the Mahdi. The Arab garrison at Metemneh received the news with salvoes of artillery. When Col. Wilson's flotilla reached Omdurman it was discovered that the enemy were in possession of the island of Tuti, just outside the city. The English still pushed ahead, but were dismayed to find the garrison commencing firing upon them. No flags were flying from the public buildings, and the town appeared to be in undisputed possession of the enemy. The palace seemed to have been gutted.

THE OBJECTIVE POINT.
It is reported that Wolseley commenced to advance from Korti to-day for the relief of the troops near Metemneh, and that he sent orders to Gen. Eadie to hasten his advance against Berber, in order to assist in the relief of Metemneh. The objective point of all Wolseley's movements is now Metemneh.

PRESS CENSORSHIP.
Press messages from the Sudan are greatly retarded. Several newspapers have made application to the War Office for permits to communicate instructions to their correspondents, but they have all received the reply that General Wolseley has sole control in the matter.

CALLING FOR REINFORCEMENTS.
The War Office this evening decided to advise the Government to despatch 3,000 troops to Suakin immediately. Gen. Stephenson telegraphs that 5,000 men will be needed to clear the road to Berber, as the news of the fall of Khartoum will induce the central tribes to join Osman Digna. Gen. Stephenson also advises that the present strength of the troops in Upper and Lower Egypt be maintained and that reinforcements be drawn from England and India. Gen. Wolseley has renewed his demand for the expedition to Suakin to consist of 3,000 men under Gen. Greaves.

THE FOREIGN PRESS.
The foreign press expresses universal regret and sympathy over Gen. Gordon's disaster, and unite in blaming the dallying policy of the British Ministry for the pending misfortune to the station. It is considered that Indian and even Turkish co-operation is imperative at the present juncture.

A BROTHER'S OPINION.
Sir Harry Gordon, brother of "Chinese" Gordon, says there is no further news of the General's fate. He is of opinion that the Mahdi's regulars, who submitted to Gen. Gordon in December, mutilated and betrayed the garrison. Gen. Gordon's great fault was in placing too much confidence in men. Unless the mutineers murdered him in the first step of their rebellion he has no fears for the General's safety, which will be simply a matter of money.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS
THE ARAB MENACING GUBAT AND THE SITUATION DESPERATE
The Government Decided on a Vigorous Policy—Reinforcements to be Sent—Gen. Wolseley's Determination to Hold the Position or Die.
(Special by Telegram to the Review.)

ATTACK ON GUBAT EXPECTED.
LONDON, Feb. 6.—Gen. Wolseley telegraphs from Korti to the War Office this afternoon that a courier has arrived from the British camp near Metemneh, who reports that the rebels at Metemneh have become defiant since hearing of the fall of Khartoum. An attack upon Gubat may be looked for at any moment. The rebels expect reinforcements from Khartoum. Gen. Wolseley states that he will remain quiet pending further orders from the Government.

REINFORCEMENTS.
The Cabinet met this morning and decided to send telegraphic orders to India for the despatch of Indian troops to Suakin, and meanwhile to reinforce the garrison at Suakin by drafts of troops from England and the Mediterranean.

VIGOROUS POLICY DECIDED UPON.
The consensus of opinion in the Ministry is in favor of a strong, active and vigorous policy. The Ministry will sanction any demand of Gen. Wolseley which will aid in the defeat of the Mahdi and secure the release of Gen. Gordon, if alive, or wreak vengeance upon the Arabs, if he is slain. The telegraph line between London and Korti is entirely occupied with despatches between the Cabinet and Gen. Wolseley.

IN GREAT DANGER.
LONDON, Feb. 6.—The latest despatch from Gen. Wolseley is couched in such terms as to leave no doubt that the situation is desperate. He has received a despatch from Gen. Buller, at Gubat, urging the immediate forwarding of reinforcements. Gen. Buller states that the Arabs at intervals approach in large bodies to within a few hundred rods of the British position. Should they combine for another attack they may overwhelm and annihilate his force.

WOLSELEY'S DETERMINATION.
Gen. Wolseley says:—"I can embark my forces on steamers here, but I have determined not to abandon the position which was so gallantly obtained by my predecessor while one of us is left alive, unless otherwise commanded by you (meaning the Government)."

THE CABINET IN SESSION.
Mr. Gladstone, upon being acquainted with the tenor of this despatch, recommended the members of the Cabinet. It is now in session, and the result of their deliberations is anxiously expected.

ADVICE FROM CAIRO.
LONDON, Feb. 6.—All the military advice from Cairo counsels the immediate despatch of the whole British force into Lower Egypt for the capture of Berber, and the sending of not less than 15,000 reinforcements from England or India to Suakin, to ensure the retreat of the other troops or the chastisement of the Arabs.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The express train for Cannes, in which the Prince of Wales was a passenger, collided to-day at Ayr with a freight train. The Prince suffered only a slight shock.

OCCUPATION OF BEILUL.
CAIRO, Feb. 5.—The occupation of Beilul by the Italians was forcibly made. The Egyptian governor has protested but without avail. The Khedive has notified the Porte of the Italian occupation.

ANOTHER ARREST IMMINENT.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—An important conference was held here this afternoon between the officials of the police, Treasury, and home department and the inspectors of Scotland Yard. It is believed the conference was in relation to the dynamite crimes, and that another important arrest is imminent.

RESPONSE FOR THE PRINCE.
PARIS, Feb. 5.—At a meeting of the Irish revolutionary delegates yesterday it was declared that the person of the Prince of Wales was sacred because he was the Grand Master of the Freemasons, who had rendered services to the cause of freedom.

THE PRISONER BURTON.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The man who was arrested on Tuesday evening in Whitechapel with Cunningham's box in his possession, and arranged to-day and charged with complicity in causing the Tower explosion. Mr. Doveton Smythe appeared as a counsel for the defence. The prisoner gave his name as Harry Burton. His arrest was accomplished through the aid of the cabman who removed Cunningham's trunk from Prescott street. Cunningham told his lady that the trunk belonged to a friend, who might call for it. The police assert their ability to prove this friend was Burton. There is no doubt the Fenians are taking an active interest in Burton's behalf. When first arrested he gave his name in many different ways to different interrogatories.

CHURCH DESTROYED.
ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 5.—The Russian police have ascertained that the Greek church at Jacobstad was destroyed by dynamite and not burned as has been reported.

SEIZURE OF A NEWSPAPER.
BERLIN, Feb. 5.—The Government seized yesterday's edition of the Danziger Zeitung, a Liberal paper, because of the rabid tone of its Hamburg correspondence. The seizure was considered extraordinary. It is the first seizure of a newspaper here for twenty years.

A Wyoming Tragedy.
SEATTLE, W. T., Feb. 5.—James Barker was hunting on Shew's Island, San Juan, and when he failed to return after the lapse of ten days the sheriff organized a search party. They arrived at the cabin of Hugh Parks, an eccentric individual, but he refused to admit them, or even to give them a drink of water. The sheriff formed an ambush and watched the cabin. After some time parties were seen to emerge, dragging the body of Barker. This occurred on Friday last. Parks again locked himself in his cabin, and for three days a watch was kept up and not a sign of life was manifested. Wilbur Wilson volunteered to enter the cabin, but on reaching the doorway was shot dead by Parks. The posse then fired the cabin. A second shot was fired in the cabin, but it is not certain whether Parks shot himself or at the men. His charred body was afterwards found in the ruins.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1885.

IT IS STILL NECESSARY.

The Hamilton Times appears to be one reform paper that has a fixed principle, and that principle is free trade, pure and simple.
Such, at any rate, is the conclusion we draw from an extract taken from its columns and republished by a Reform exchange. The Times says:—

"If cheapness depends upon competition, we had rather trust to the competition of one hundred Americans and ten Canadians than to the competition of ten Canadians alone."

Perhaps so, but with one hundred American manufacturers determined to extinguish the Canadian factories, and to capture the entire trade of the Dominion, how long would we have the competition of the ten Canadians, if the Times' free trade ideas were carried out? The results that would follow are easily understood.
When these hundred Americans had caused the machinery in the ten Canadian factories to be molested, we would be entirely dependent on the Americans for our supply of manufactured goods, and how then could Canada ever expect to become a great country, such as all true Canadians, native or naturalized, hope it will?
With no factories in the country, we would have no artisans; with idle machinery, there would be no employment for mechanics. The mechanics in Canada now would be compelled to go to the country from which we purchased our goods, and as the farmers found the market for their produce curtailed by the emigration of the mechanics, they, too, would follow to the country which had factories and consumers of farmers' produce, and an "exodus" would be the result.
No, we do not languish for such competition as that. Canadians tried a dose of it for a time and they found the medicine so strong that they knew the cure proposed by the free traders would be far worse than the disease these free traders say exists.

The National Policy may not preserve Canada from periods of depression, but it has mitigated the severity of the depression which is now passing away. It prevents the numerous American manufacturers from taking possession of our markets. It prevents them from unloading their surplus goods into this country in times of depression across the lines, and thereby increasing the severity and duration of depression on this side. It assists the manufacturing industries and thereby provides more employment for mechanics and sear and larger markets for the farmers. The National Policy has done Canada a great benefit, and its usefulness has not gone. The Conservative party believe that it will do more good, and the people agree with them.

A REFORM contemporary sees in the desire of the Dominion Government to push the business of the session an indication of weakness. It must have a remarkably powerful vision, for the Government's evident intention to push forward the business looks more like an exhibition of energy than of weakness. We are promised, however, many long speeches from Mr. Blake and Sir Richard Cartwright, so that the session may not be a short one, although the only result of the delay will be more pages in the Herald and increased expenditure.

Among the things which the Party of Gloom pretend is all wrong is the Dominion Senate, but they are not agreed as to the "remedy" that should be applied. One suggestion is that the Senate should be appointed by the Provincial Legislatures, but that would cause Dominion and Provincial political questions to be intermingled, while it is desirable that they should be kept separate as much as possible.

The Globe corrects an error it made in reference to the "conspiracy," wherein it spelled Judge Senkler's name Sinclair. It is amusing to see the Globe correcting this small mistake when it allows the gross errors it has perpetrated in regard to the same affair to pass unnoticed, except by reiteration.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

High Schools and Colleges.—The Small-pox outbreak at Hungerford.—Motion for Returns in regard to Sale of Crown Lands.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 5.—Mr. Ross (Huron), in reply to Mr. Ermatinger, said that the continuance or discontinuance of the Provincial exhibition was under consideration.

HIGH SCHOOLS.
Mr. Ross (Middlesex), said that the intentions of the Government in regard to the positions of high schools in towns which were separate from the counties, would be made known on Monday or Tuesday.

LAST SMOKE ELUTION.
Mr. MEERDIT, at the request of Mr. Mowat, consented to allow his motion for the issue of a writ for an election in East Simcoe, stand for a day or two.

THE SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC.

Mr. WOOD moved for a return showing the expenditures made in Hungerford township by the authority of the Provincial and local boards of health during the smallpox epidemic, with the number of cases and of deaths and the duration of the visitation. He did not desire to expend the Provincial Board of Health, but the expenditure incurred was extraordinarily high, a bill having been sent to the local board for $10,000, and some things had occurred for which someone was to blame. A respected farmer was compelled to go to the hospital, though it was afterwards ascertained he had not the disease, but while there he contracted it and died if the law was imperfect it should be altered.

Mr. ROSS (Huron) referred to the difficulties of the situation. The portion of the sum expended to be borne by the Province was $1,000, and the township was responsible for $10,000.
There had been 200 cases and 40 deaths. Considering the circumstances he did not think the expenditure too great. The report of the secretary of the Board would be brought down.

Mr. MOHRIS pointed out that the question was one of great public importance, and they should consider whether the township should bear all the expense incurred in suppressing what might have been a great public calamity.

The discussion was continued by Messrs.
Ferra, Phelps, Hudson, and Dr. McLaughlin.
Mr. FRASER suggested that the motion be amended to include the townships of Seymour, Campbellford and Elzevir, with a list of those patients who had been vaccinated or re-vaccinated, which was agreed to, and the motion adopted.

THE LAND GRAB.
Mr. CARVER'S motion for a return of lots sold and applied for in Peterborough and Hal-burton was taken up, and the mover consented to amend it by inserting the words "otherwise than under the Free Grant or Homestead Act" after the word "applied for."

Mr. HARDY referred to the amount of work involved in the return to prepare the House to expect a delay in furnishing the information.

The motion as amended was carried.

REGISTRY OFFICES.
Mr. HARDY, in reply to Mr. Monk, said that the outstanding relations in relation to registry offices would be prepared as soon as possible.

REPORTS.

Mr. HARDY presented the report of the Minister of Education for 1884, and the report of births, marriages and deaths.

The House adjourned at 4.30 p.m.

CAUSE OF EARTHQUAKES

How Little is Known of the Origin of Seismic Phenomena.

The intimate relation between earthquakes and volcanoes is universally admitted, though earthquakes do occur in regions which give no indications of either past or present volcanic activity. Along the southeast coast of Spain, however, there is ample evidence of such activity in past times; and it has been remarked by a writer on the subject that an earthquake is simply an integrated volcano. As to what, however, is the exact cause of seismological action geologists have not yet made up their minds.
The mathematicians have compelled them to give up as quite untenable the old idea of a thin crust over a molten interior which in its surges would break through in the shape of a volcano, or reproduce in the shell the surging waves which would swell along the internal surface. The hypothesis of a solid shell and a solid nucleus with molten matter between has fared little better. The earth, it is now held by the best geologists and physicists, must be a solid body to a very considerable depth, if not, indeed, to the core. At the same time we may be assured that the most intense heat exists at no very great depth beneath the surface, heat so great that but for the immense pressure exerted by the superincumbent mass the matter would actually melt; it is held that it does occasionally do so when from any of the many forces which are at work the pressure is relieved, and this according to a certain school gives rise to volcanic or earthquake phenomena. Others, however, maintain that these manifestations can be satisfactorily accounted for by chemical or mechanical action. It seems to be generally admitted that great masses of water are constantly filtering into the depths of the earth from the ocean bed; and that the molten matter which issues from volcanic vents have absorbed enormous quantities of steam and other gases. Professor Judd tells us, we have the most indisputable evidence. "It is to the violent escape of these gases from the molten rock masses as the pressure upon them is relieved, that nearly all the active phenomena of volcanoes must be referred." And what accounts for volcanic action may also account for at least a certain class of earthquakes. For there may be other causes, most of them, however, referable to the movements which must be almost constantly taking place in the interior, owing to the cooling of the earth's crust. Variation in atmospheric pressure have been thought to account for some earthquakes, and it is noticeable that a sharp fall of the barometer was observed all over the south of Spain in the afternoon before the first great shock, and that there have since been frequent fluctuations.
The mere falling of an internal cavity would almost certainly produce vibratory phenomena.
Indeed, Professor Milne seems to believe that the earth is full of cavities of all sizes, like a huge Gruyere cheese, and that consequently vibrations of greater or less intensity are constantly occurring, as we should find had we instruments delicate enough to measure them.
But it is possible, perhaps, to have seismographs of much too fine a structure, so fine as to record the vibration of every passing jinnikah. Essentially the explanation of all these phenomena seems to be that our planet is a cooling body, and they will only cease when every particle of heat has left the heart of our old mother, when the air itself will have vanished, and the earth will be as dead as the moon.—London

HASTINGS

From Our Own Correspondent.

GYMNASIUM.—Our gymnasium is now in working order with 25 members to start on.
The club has leased the old Temperance hall, which has been refitted and made comfortable.
It makes quite a large room for our local athletes, of whom many promise fairly, to desert themselves on trapeze, horizontal bar or vaulting horse. Besides having an excellent set of gloves lie temptingly awaiting the most ambitious who have previously hardened their bosoms and supinators with the dumb-bells, or Indian clubs. Fells and single stick is also an attractive feature for those of quick eye and fine fence. Our young men take to it largely.

Nearly a fire.—Mr. Jas. Fife, whose well filled store, next door to the Coughlin House, furnishes attractions for those having leisure for contemplative and deliberate trading, has had cause to rue the despatch of a wooden poker, said w.p. being guilty of arson in setting fire to some valuable consignments of tea direct from the almond-eyed people of the China, from which it is first decocted. The aroma of burnt tea and ditto coffee is more than different, what when thoroughly mixed and four ounces of tea has now experienced. The Coughlin House block has already suffered much, owing to fire.
It is to be hoped our village has seen the last of the fire bird for ever.

WOOD FLEETFUL.—The good sleighing is bringing plenty of wood to the village; grain also is on the move at a slight advance.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—Accidents of a minor kind seem to have been plentiful of late.
Even the Star office is not exempt, as W. M.
Nelson is in bed "from" from a bruised hand.
A clerk in the Montreal House, House of the weight of a barrel of sugar, but the bones of the foot did not stand the test, and a bandaged foot is the result. The planing mill filled the bill by proving this tenor saw, &c., would not be trifled with, and in consequence lacerated feelings in consequence of undue familiarity.

CURE FOR SMALLPOX.—The Star publishes the following:—"Sulphate of lime one grain, digitalis of lime one grain, half a teaspoonful of sugar, mix with two tablespoonfuls of water, when thoroughly mixed add four ounces of water, a spoonful every hour." It is something fearful to contemplate the results. Suppose one teaspoonful of sugar was used. Then it does not matter whether the water should be hard, soft, distilled or boiled—what sized "spoon" will every hour? What preparation of Digitalis?

The Danger of Tobogganing.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—A far greater number of serious accidents happened at the various toboggan slides during the carnival than have so far been published in the local press. An American visitor who received dangerous injuries at the Turque Bleu slide by coming in collision with a sleigh at the foot of the run has since died, and his body has been taken to his home. A young lady from Boston, who came here with her aunt, met with such serious wounds at one of the mountain slides in a similar way to that of the deceased American gentleman that she has been confined to bed with two doctors attending her since. The sufferer's face is terribly disfigured and her head and body are terribly bruised.
The medical attendance have no hopes of their patient recovering for some time. Quite a number of minor accidents are also reported.

KHARTOUM FALLEN!

GENERAL GORDON IS TAKEN PRISONER BY THE REBELS.

HIS HEROIC RESISTANCE OF THE MAHDI'S ARAB HORDES.

Finally Forced to Capitulate—Col. Wilson Finds the City and Citadel in the Hands of the Enemy and Retorts.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Intelligence has just been received that Khartoum has been captured by the rebels. The whereabouts of General Gordon is unknown. He is probably a prisoner in the hands of the victors.

GENERAL WOLSELEY'S REPORT.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—General Lord Wolseley telegraphs that Khartoum has fallen. He says that when Colonel Wilson, who went from Metamneh to Khartoum, reached the latter place he found it in the hands of the rebels. He returned to Metamneh under a heavy fire from both banks of the river.

OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED.
The Daily Telegraph on official authority confirms the report of the fall of Khartoum. It says the rebels secured the city by treachery. General Gordon is probably a prisoner.

REPORT OF THE WAR OFFICE.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The War Office has issued the following Telegrams from General Wolseley announcing that the fall of Khartoum occurred on January 26. Colonel Wilson arrived at Khartoum on January 23, and was greatly surprised to find the city in possession of the rebels. He immediately started on his return, and proceeded under a heavy fire from the rebels.

STAMENES WRECKED.
When some miles below Shubulka a steamer, Colonel Wilson's steamer, was wrecked, but the whole party managed to reach an island in safety, where they are secure. A steamer has gone to bring them back to the British camp at Metamneh. General Wolseley has no information regarding the fate of General Gordon.

HOW THE REPORT WAS RECEIVED.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The report that Khartoum had been taken reached Korti by messengers from Gubat, but it is said no official despatch from Colonel Wilson confirming the report has been received by Lord Wolseley. It is possible Colonel Wilson was unable to reach Khartoum owing to the enemy's heavy fire, and that his return gave rise to a report that Khartoum had been captured.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The news of the fall of Khartoum creates intense excitement. The streets are filled with excited people, and some thoroughfares are almost impassable. The bulletin boards in front of the newspaper offices are thronged with dense masses of people, and every scrap of news is eagerly waited for and as eagerly read by the population of the metropolis. The first report was received with expressions of incredulity, so many false rumors regarding Khartoum having been recently circulated; but when it was ascertained that the news was confirmed by Gen. Wolseley, the excitement was intense, every additional item but adding to it. The dynamic plots and the shooting of Rome are completely dwarfed by the great calamity that has befallen Gen. Gordon. Army officers are loud in their expression of disapproval against the Government for allowing so long a time to elapse before the setting out of the expedition for Gordon's relief, and urge the immediate despatch of an expedition to rescue Wolseley, who, they claim, is in danger of sharing a like fate of General Gordon's.

COL. WILSON'S RETREAT.
A despatch from Col. Wilson reports that all along his retreat from the ill-fated city he was constantly harassed and subjected to a heavy fire from the enemy's guns. Many of the shots struck his steamer, but without doing serious damage. Everything went comparatively well until within a short distance of Metamneh, when his vessel ran ashore on one of the many islands and was totally wrecked. Col. Wilson, with his little force, at last accounts, was still on the island on which he was wrecked, awaiting a steamer to take them to Metamneh.

GLOOM IN STUART'S CAMP.
Correspondents report that the fall of Khartoum has caused a general feeling of gloom throughout Gen. Stewart's camp and that fears were freely expressed that unless reinforcements soon arrived their fate would, in all probability, be soon sealed.

NO LONGER ANY DOUBT.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—There is no longer any doubt that the Mahdi holds Khartoum. Some hopes are entertained that Gen. Gordon may still be holding out at the citadel. The excitement in England is great. The clubs and public resorts are thronged with people, eager to learn the news. Most of the people seem to take a gloomy view of the position of the British in the Sudan.

THE WAR OFFICE REBUILED.
The war office is besieged with army officers tendering their services for active duty in the Sudan. Numerous telegrams are being received from officers throughout the country asking for assignment in the rescue expedition, should the Government conclude to take such an action.

FEARS FOR THE OTHER COMMANDS.
The capture of Khartoum has created grave fears, especially in army circles, for the safety of General Stewart and his army. A number of prominent military officers even express the opinion that unless reinforcements are hurried forward to Korti the fall of Khartoum may lead to disasters to the forces under General Wolseley and Korti.

TREACHERY OF THE NATIVES.
A native reports that the Mahdi had 60,000 men in the vicinity of Khartoum, and that he introduced a number of his emissaries into the city. The emissaries mingled freely with the native troops under General Gordon, and by bribes, threats and working on their religious feelings, induced them to mutiny. Seven thousand of the garrison deserted to the rebels, leaving General Gordon with only 2,500 faithful soldiers. With this small force he attempted to hold the city against the Mahdi's army, but after severe fighting in which a large number of rebels were killed, he was compelled to surrender.

TOWN AND CITADEL OCCUPIED.
When Colonel Wilson reached Khartoum he found that the Mahdi's forces occupied both the town and citadel. He tried to land and ascertain the fate of Gordon, but the enemy's guns were turned upon him in full force, and he was compelled to retire.

STEWART DOING WELL.
General Wolseley reports that General Stewart is doing well. All the British wounded have been brought back to Gakdul Wells.

THE CABINET.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The news of the downfall of Khartoum has created grave apprehensions regarding the whole of the Egyptian problem among the members of the Cabinet. Mr. Gladstone and Lord Granville started for London as soon as the news reached them. A Cabinet council will be held this evening.

A MILITARY OPINION.
Military authorities think General Gordon sent the greater part of his troops down the Nile to meet General Stewart's force, and so depleted his garrison that an attack by the enemy from Omdurman was rendered much easier. The greatest activity prevails at the War Department. Many officials remained on duty all night.

ALL SAFE AT GUBAT.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—General Wolseley telegraphs that he does not consider the British position at Gubat in any immediate danger.

STORES FOR EGYPT.
LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Government has given orders for a further large shipment of stores to Egypt.

A TRAGEDY AT THORNHILL.
John Arnold shot in the head—Death After Twenty-Four Hours.

The Thornhill shooting case, briefly noticed in yesterday's paper, has as was anticipated resulted fatally. John Arnold, the victim, died at 5.20 p.m. yesterday, twenty-four hours after the wound was inflicted. James Stewart, who did the shooting, and his companion, J. G. Wesley, are in the Toronto jail. High Constable Jones went up to Thornhill yesterday and gathered the particulars of affair as related below.

James Stewart and J. G. Wesley drove into Thornhill Tuesday forenoon, putting up at Symons' hotel, where they had dinner. They were strangers in the village and no one knew their mission, but from the manner in which they "sized up" the stores, the knowing ones suspected that they were bent on burglary. But however that may be, the pair had not been at the hotel long before they struck up an acquaintance with Arnold, and the two indulged in a round of drinks. Arnold was about 23 years of age and of a social disposition. Born and brought up at Thornhill, he had only been down from the Northwest three weeks and was stopping with some of his family relatives who are old residents there.

From the Symons' the strangers and Arnold proceeded to the Collins' hotel, where they sat down to a game of cards, being joined by Hugh Reid, hostler. In the course of the play Arnold accused Stewart of cheating, which accusation the latter answered by striking his companion in the face. After a while the parties were pacified and Stewart and Wesley went back to Symons' hotel. Arnold and Francis Hoff went to the latter place a few minutes later when Wesley hailed the former and asked him to go to drink. "I will, if it is in friendship," was Arnold's reply as he and his companion entered. Walking towards the bar they were confronted by Wesley, who struck Arnold in the breast with his left hand, and immediately afterwards Hoff and Stewart engaged in a tussle. "Go for him," shouted Hoff to his companion by way of encouragement, and Arnold was in the act of taking off his coat, apparently to tackle Wesley, when Stewart stepped up within two or three feet of Arnold, and drawing a revolver, deliberately fired at him. The ball struck Arnold above the left temple, and he fell forward unconscious into the arms of the man who shot him.

Intense excitement immediately prevailed. Some one summoned Dr. Nalla, who pronounced the wound of a fatal nature. With all possible speed Dr. W. T. Atkins was brought up from the city only to confirm this opinion. Dr. Langstaff also participated in the consultation. The bullet was probed for without success. All the while the wounded man lay unconscious and the doctors said he could not live.

In the meantime what about the men responsible for the deed? They during the excitement ordered the hostler to bring forth their rig, but he refused to do so, and the two proceeded on foot up the road. When things had somewhat quieted down, the strangers were thought of and James Wesley, Michael Horn, Albert Lyons, and—Hilton, armed with shot guns, started in pursuit. Half a mile up the road the fugitives were overtaken and surrounded. They had seized a pair of horses and sleigh in charge of a boy and would have had a long lead for their pursuers had not the sleigh capsized and left them in the lurch. A dark lantern and a face were subsequently found at this spot, having no doubt been thrown away by Stewart and Wesley as the pursuing party approached. Brought back to the village, the prisoners were searched. Burglar's tools, powder and two revolvers were found on them, disclosing the object of their presence at Thornhill to a certainty. Isaac Chapman, J. P., held a court, heard some evidence, and forthwith committed Wesley and Stewart for trial on a charge of shooting. Constables guarded them all night, and yesterday they were jailed in this city. Very little is known concerning them. Wesley is a middle-aged man and Stewart about ten years younger. They gave their occupation as cooper. The police do not know them.

Arnold remained unconscious at Symons' all night. At noon yesterday he was removed to his folk's house. The doctors were in constant attendance but the sufferer never rallied and died at 5.20 in the afternoon, twenty-four hours after he was shot down. High Constable Jones has made arrangements for Coroner Johnson to hold an inquest at Thornhill. The prisoners will be taken there.—Toronto World, Feb. 5.

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true Murray & Lamm's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Lamm & Kemp, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of bother rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeiter. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words printed in great bold letters, and can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no Florida water is genuine that does not have this test mark.

A Prophecy Fulfilled.
William Garlick, of Galveston, Tex., late cashier of the suspended Island Savings Bank, died on Sunday afternoon of paralysis. Mr. Garlick returned in November from a sojourn in the north, his health being greatly impaired. Last December he discovered from the books that the bank had been wrecked during his absence. Mr. Garlick told his friends that his health was so restored that he could be lived for years, "but this discovery will kill me. I will be dead in two months." The prophecy was fulfilled to the very day.

The Belleville Banker's Betrayal.
BELLEVILLE, Feb. 4.—J. B. Farwood, late teller of the Merchants bank, has arrived in the custody of a detective, who arrested him in Baltimore. Farwood left Belleville a defaulter to the extent of $4,000. He went to Central America, where he remained for some time, ago, when he arrived in Baltimore. The authorities having heard of his arrival in Baltimore put a detective upon his track, who captured him and succeeded in persuading him to come back without going through the formality of extradition.

Brought Them to Time.
On Thursday last week, during a debate in the Austrian Reichsrath, a reporter of one of the Vienna papers was insulted, and it was resolved to boycott the Assembly by not reporting its proceedings. This was carried out, and in despatch says the Reichsrath yielded in a week and made a public apology. The reports will be resumed.

Cheap Fare.
The newest phase in the trunk railroad cut in passenger rates is the announcement that emigrants will be brought from Hamburg to Chicago (some 4,000 miles) for six dollars each. This is the next to carrying them for nothing—a sort of business of which steamship and railroads alike will soon get tired.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fair, continued very cold weather.

To-night's Lecture.
Those who have heard Dr. Saxton's lectures during the week will doubtless attend his final lecture to-night in the George street Methodist Church on "The Testimony of History to Christ," and those who have not heard him should not miss this opportunity—the last one that will be offered in this town—of hearing this remarkable lecturer. No charge of admittance will be made and all are invited to attend.

The Romanay Style.
This celebrated play, which has had such an unexampled run in New York and other large American cities, will be put on the stage in Bradburn's Opera House, accompanied by all the fullest and most sensational theatrical effects. Mr. W. H. Lytell's famous company will, no doubt, do the play proper justice. Mr. Mortimer, the manager, has spared no expense to make this the hit of the season, and our citizens will likely attend in large numbers on Saturday night.

Wedding Bells.
At St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Thursday afternoon, a happy event transpired. Shortly before four o'clock the church was well filled with expectant people, and presently at four o'clock Miss Emily Orde, accompanied by two bridesmaids, and leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Ernest Orde, walked up the aisle and met her future husband, Mr. J. Lawrence Hubbell, at the altar. Mr. Hubbell is one of the officials at the head office of the Bank of Commerce, and his bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. C. B. Orde. The bride was attended by Miss McNab and Miss J. Orde, as bridesmaids and the groom found assistance during the ceremony in Messrs. C. H. Gale, of the Bank of Toronto here, and his brother, Mr. Edward Hubbell. The nuptial ceremony was performed by the Rev. Vincent Clement, assisted by the rector of the parish, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw. After the ceremony the bride and bridegroom, bridesmaids and groomsmen, and a number of friends of the contracting parties adjourned to the residence of the mother of the bride, where luncheon was partaken. The 645 Canadian Pacific express whirled the happy couple away on their wedding tour. The presents were of a handsome and costly character, and the number (a large one) was in accordance with the popularity of the bride.

NATIONAL EDUCATION.

A Lecture Delivered by Dr. McLellan at the Court House.

On Thursday evening a lecture on National Education was given by J. A. McLellan, M.A., LL.D., and Director of Normal Schools and Teachers' Institutes for the Province of Ontario.

At shortly after eight o'clock Mr. J. C. Brown, Inspector of County Schools, arose and said that he regretted to announce that Mr. Roland C. Strickland, Warden of the County, who had intended to occupy the chair, was unavoidably absent. He regretted both his absence and the cause of it, viz., sickness in his family. After a few general remarks he introduced Dr. McLellan, the lecturer, who commenced his discourse by stating that the system of education which Canada was now enjoying was the product of an entirely modern idea. The ancient Greeks with all their academies and institutions of learning, had not the slightest thought of enlightenment of the masses. But here in Canada education was not confined to a favored few, but it was, to a great extent, free to all. It was the business of the state, in this country, to provide education for the people.

In some countries the people were jealous of the interference of the state in educational interests. This jealousy was allowable where the state was not thoroughly representative of the voice of the people—where a chosen few had power and laid down certain cast iron doctrines in which to believe or certain rules to follow. The relation of the state and the people (Edmund Burke had said it and he was a tolerably deep thinker and a good philosopher) was that, not of guardianship or protection, but of partnership. Here in Canada the state was but the echo of the opinion of the people and such jealousy as spoken of might be carried a little too far.

The business of the state in this country was to provide means for elementary education, but every argument which might be used in favor of the state providing means of elementary education could be applied with equal force in behalf of the state providing higher education. Our system was a combination of the great principles of Christianity, self-sacrifice, and of the leading idea of the Deontological philosophy, equality of opportunity; inasmuch as every man was taxed to help his fellow man to climb up the ladder out of the mire of ignorance; and each school was placed on equality at our educational institutions. In this age of enlightenment every man had a right to say to his brother, "Thou art my keeper," and everyone had a claim on each other for help to climb up the arduous ladder to human goodness, greatness and power.

The Canadians, in his opinion, had realized the true idea of national education; all men were equal in this respect, and no particular class had the monopoly of brain power; the leaders of men were taken from all grades of society.

In speaking of universities the lecturer was of opinion that they were as necessary as primary schools. All classes were benefited by them; from the highest to the lowest. In fact, no thorough system of education could exist without them. The teachers in the high schools were trained in the university, and the teachers in the public schools were trained in the high schools; and thus it was that the learning of the universities found its way into all grades and classes.

The Canadian system of education was a good one, but it was not perfect. Criticism, fair, wholesome criticism, was desirable, but the teachers themselves were the most hypocritical of all critics. They even assail the whole principle where only the detail was defective. The lecturer urged the teachers to be more careful in this regard, as they were but playing into the hands of the opponents of education, (happily that class was not numerous in this country.)

While the members of the British Association for the advancement of science were visiting Canada last summer, he had spoken to some of them and had, he thought, changed their impression in regard to the Canadian system. Since their return to the Old Country some of them had given a favourable expression in regard to Canada in its physical aspects and in its social system, and he would give equal praise to her educational system.

Theoretically, Canada had the best system in the world, but he hoped to live to see the Canadian system without a rival on the face of the earth.

The lecturer then gave some very amusing sketches of the different phases of the American systems of education.

He eulogized the good ideas of model schools in preparing teachers for their work, and stated that their influence would tell with uncalculable effect on the rising generation.

The experience related by the lecturer of his early schoolboy days were really amusing and laughable. The idea of the old school teacher, that the brain could be only reached, as the doctor neatly put it, through the cellular integument, was expressed in a vivid manner.

Finally the lecturer clearly showed what grave responsibilities were laid upon teachers. Children were placed in their hands to be moulded and fashioned and that moulding and fashioning would whatever kind it was, in most cases, influence the child through manhood to old age.

The picture he drew of his old school master was vivid indeed, and in feeling the words of praise and encouragement that had influenced his destiny. He urged the teachers to encourage their pupils and to exercise care in the teaching of those words that would vivify through all eternity.

Dr. Tamm, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, moved, seconded by Mr. James Strattor, Inspector of Public Schools of the Town, that the thanks of this meeting be tendered to Dr. McLellan for his instructive and amusing address. The motion was carried unanimously, and the meeting was closed by all joining heartily in singing the National Anthem.

The Talk of the Town.
Just now the general topic for conversation among the young ladies and gentlemen is the coming grand carnival to be held in the skating rink on Tuesday evening, Feb. 17th. Although the last carnival proved a success in every respect, it is the intention of the Committee who have the matter in hand to make this carnival a much greater success and a grander feat in every respect. Fanciful costumes are being prepared by many, and there is sure to be an unusually large number of masquers. Perhaps it is owing to the handsome and costly presents offered for competition that so many are having new and unique "get-ups" made, some of which will be costly. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance, and discourse sweet vocal and instrumental music. The tickets have been placed at the small cost of twenty-five cents for both the afternoon and evening. Children, it will be seen by the poster, are admitted for half price.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The School Teachers of the Town and County Meet in Session.

The teachers' convention, convened by Mr. Jas. Coyle Brown, Inspector of County schools, was opened in the Central School building on Thursday, at 10 a.m.

Teachers from all parts of the county, and from the town, were present, numbering in all about fifty persons.

After the meeting had been called to order, a motion was passed electing Mr. Brown to act as chairman. Mr. Brown took the chair.

Mr. Strattor moved, seconded by Mr. Earle, that a Committee be appointed to consider whether the funds on hand should be applied to the purchase of a library or in part payment of some educational journal.—Carried.

The committee appointed were as follows:—Messrs. Coleman, Burgess, Hutchinson, Monk and McMillan.

The representatives of the Canada School Journal and the Educational Monthly addressed the convention on the merits of the respective journals they represented.

An adjournment was then made until 2 o'clock.

SECOND SESSION.
The teachers again met in session at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. J. A. McLellan, M.A., LL.D., Director of Normal Schools and Teachers' Institutes for the Province of Ontario, was introduced to the convention by the chairman.

Mr. Hutchinson, of Norwood, treated the subject of elementary arithmetic in a simple and natural style, suited to the capacity of beginners.

Dr. McLellan spoke on the same subject, and gave an interesting illustration of the German method, showing that the natural and easier way to grasp numbers was by means of grouping or by symmetrical arrangement.

Mr. Coleman read the report of the Committee on Expenditure of Funds recommending:—(1) That a public library, though very desirable, would be accessible to so few county teachers, the money had better not be expended on it. (2) That it is desirable that every teacher take some educational paper. (3) That your Committee suggest that each teacher who subscribes for one of the educational papers, which one to be selected by himself, shall have half the price of subscription paid out of convention funds.

All of which was respectfully submitted. H. KAY COLEMAN, Chairman.

The report was adopted. Mr. Long, of the Collegiate Institute staff, read a paper on spelling reform.

The representative of the Educational Monthly addressed the Convention, and the Convention adjourned until nine o'clock the next morning.

THIRD SESSION.
The Convention opened at nine o'clock in pursuance of adjournment.

The minutes were read and confirmed. Mr. J. McMillan addressed the Convention on writing at half past nine o'clock, and the subject was discussed until ten minutes past ten.

Mr. Coleman spoke on entrance literature, and his address, together with discussion on the subject, occupied thirty minutes.

Dr. McLellan lectured on the art of questioning from five minutes to eleven until twelve o'clock noon. The Convention then adjourned.

By His Dress.
When a man does a mean act, for instance, he embodies a sum of money from his employer, or perhaps, falling in love with some rich heiress, seeks seclusion under the cover of darkness, and, like the Arab, "folds his tent and steals silently away" with his fair prize, the first thing that the too-confiding employer or the irate and unforgiving parent will do is to rush to the telegraph office and have messages flashed across the wire to all parts, in the hope of getting the culprit and runaway in custody.

He commences by giving a description of the clothes worn by said runaway, describing with minutest accuracy every detail—going as far as stating the color and style of the necktie. Thus it often happens that justice overtakes the young man of flying propensities, and he is manacled and dealt with. So it is with almost everyone, they are "sized up" by their dress. A well dressed man is sure to cause more than ordinary notice—in a measure his outfit will invariably denote the character of the man inside the clothes. A good, substantial, well-made suit will add considerably to a man's social standing, and the place to get the suit thus described is at Habillment Hall. A. McNEIL.

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following place again:—
LINDSAY—Benson House, Feb. 18th, 14th and 15th.

PETERBOROUGH—Daly's Grand Central
Hotel, Feb. 16th, 17th and 18th.

Prof. Hotchkiss' treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having healed inguinal and Umbilical as well as Varicose, at the advanced ages respectively of from 65 to 85 years, most and will 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and declares the Hernia he cannot hold in his place.
Prof. Hotchkiss has invented an apparatus to hold the piles in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourself.

Prof. Hotchkiss' post-office address is Albion, Ontario, N. Y.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1886.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Mr. G. W. Ross has introduced a bill to consolidate and largely amend the Public School Law.
His proposed measure seems to have some good points, but we must defer discussion of them till we have the bill before us and can consider the details. There is one amendment, however, which we may at once take to be a decided improvement, as far as it goes. Like most of the good things of the Nova Scotia Administration it is an adoption of the Conservative policy, which was formerly opposed by the Ministry till, finding that public opinion was with their opponents, they abandoned their antagonistic attitude in pursuance of their constant policy of clinging to power. The idea that has thus been forced upon them by Mr. Meredith and his friends is to make the election of school trustees simultaneous with those for municipal councillors, and to adopt vote by ballot. They, however, only make this change permissive, at the option of the school boards, when it should have been made compulsory. The choice of school trustees is almost, if not quite, as important as that of municipal councillors, and anything in reason should be done to increase the interest taken in the election. This change is not to extend to the Separate School Boards.
We do not feel called upon to form an opinion of the propriety of this exception. It is for the supporters of the separate schools to say whether they wish the election of their school trustees to be less popular than those of the public schools.
Unless there is good reason for the difference it would seem advisable not to make a distinction as to the amount of control to be exercised by those who have to find the funds for the two sets of schools. Those more especially interested will, no doubt, express their opinions on the point.

Mr. C. F. FRASER has a strange version of our constitution. He gravely disclaims any responsibility for himself and his colleagues as to new Parliament buildings, because they do not feel sure that they would have the support of the Opposition. We thought that it was he and his colleagues, not Mr. Meredith and his friends, who are charged with the duty of administering the affairs of this Province. They can usurp the powers of the judiciary, but they are content to allocate their own function when they dare not move at the risk of losing power.

We think the London Advertiser does Sir Richard Cartwright an injustice when it speaks of his ribald speech on the address as being carefully considered. We would prefer to think that Sir Richard was carried away by his bad temper, irritated as it is by his rejection by the people of Canada, rather than to suppose that he degraded himself by such an exhibition of victive coarseness in cold blood. Fancy a lady of Billingsgate carefully considering the usual oratory with which she assails everyone distasteful to her by being less degraded.

An analysis of the vote in South Renfrew shows that Dr. Dowling polled less votes than in the two preceding elections. His increased majority was owing to the abstention of Conservative electors who did not care to go through the farce of voting against a man disqualified by our judges for personal corruption, but whom Mr. Mowat has announced his intention of forcing upon the constituency by legislation.

The Reform journals are commenting upon the increase of the Dominion debt, which most of them grossly exaggerate. We have not observed any of them call attention to the fact that over seven million of the increase is no addition to the public burden, being a mere transfer in favour of the Province.

WHERE TO PUT THE WOOLLEN.

The comfort of even well dressed people who have to face the north wind does not depend upon the quantity of their clothes or the weight of heavy woollens they wear. It is largely a matter of how they wear the wool-lens. A person with much less weight or costliness of clothes—provided he or she was dressed correctly for the cold—could face the still, frigid air without either red face or blemished hands, and yet neither be dressed in fur, carry a muff, nor wear a veil. It is so important to know where to put the warmth of clothes that a suggestion just here may save some suffering, especially among children. There are three or four parts of the body that need to be guarded from the cold. These are the knees, the wrists, and the neck, up well to the ears. If these are thickly and warmly covered the rest of the clothing that is put on the body will be of little use. The most important of all to be protected are the knees, and especially for the young and the elderly. It is astonishing what comfort is given these by the knitted knee caps that fit into the stockings. These can be drawn up over them, if preferred. There are some fastidious persons who wear little thread or silk stockings through the bitterest winter, because they have learned to protect the knees in this way. It is a most foolish and unnecessary habit. It is finished with marino webbing that fits snugly over the top of the stockings is a good improvement in this direction, and if anyone would try that makes comfort of a cold day, let them cut the feet of long marino ribbed socks from thick ribbed cotton ones, and draw the tops over the knees. Little girls who now go shivering to school in a short jacket and the shortest of skirts, should be protected in this way from a cold step, for it is very much more than their chances of taking cold, especially as the knee caps need not be removed in the house.
The soft knitted wool known as Angora makes the most comfortable of ribbed stockings, easily made, and if the wrists be well protected the fingers will not suffer so much from cold, even in kid gloves. All old folks should pride themselves on their "pale-warmer", and carry them in the overcoat pockets ready for use when the thermometer falls as many degrees as it did between the new year and the old. The Snakelers have a specialty of a knitted silk into which has been woven the finest down of a goose. This makes the most flexible and manageable of warm gloves, and its softness is indescribable. They are quite expensive, costing six dollars a pair at Lebanon, but they will last a lifetime. It is said, and can be proved, that being made of silk and fur they are unshrinkable.

It does not depend nearly so much upon a fur-lined cloak or heavy ulster over the shoulders to keep you warm provided you have the woollen thickness laid on in three or four spots. The back of the neck is the third of the body. The throat, that is the front of the throat, is not the place to guard in the crumpled child. A hood that covers the back of the head and ears and reaches to the shoulders, or even the turned up hood of a little coat, is the proper place to guard for a child in the coldest weather, because then the cold does not strike in the back of the neck, where it is so deadly. A little attention to these vulnerable spots and sufficient covering for warmth there will enable one to go about in much lighter clothes than are usually thought needed for winter. It will at once occur to every woman what comfortable improvements have been made in their own season garments underwear in later years. It is not quantity, but the closeness of the wrappings that secures comfort. A little girl with the shortest and fullest of flannel skirts and a heavy cloth dress will be better off than a woman in a long sleeved gown, which is the proper place to guard for a child in the coldest weather, because then the cold does not strike in the back of the neck, where it is so deadly. A little attention to these

A Brilliant Spectacle.
The coming carnival promises to be a great success in every way. The scene that will be presented to the eye of the spectators on Tuesday evening, September 17th, will be one long to be remembered. The committee will have the risk beautifully and artistically decorated with evergreens, festoons, Chinese lanterns, flags, suitable notices, etc., and the whole building will look like some scene in Fairyland. Handsome costumes from Toronto and other places will be worn by many of the maskers, and there is sure to be strong competition as to who will carry off the prize. The Fire Brigade Band will furnish vocal and instrumental music during the evening, and a well selected programme of music will be rendered. The carriages are going to have their hands full both on the afternoon and evening of the carnival, and intend to make it a gala day for the visiting clubs. More anon.

DR. SEXTON

Delivers his Final Lecture of the Series in the George Street Methodist Church.

On Friday evening Dr. Sexton delivered his valedictory lecture in the George Street Methodist Church. The subject was "The Testimony of History to Christ."

Mr. James Stratton took the chair and several clergymen were also present. After the opening exercises the chairman in a few words of eulogy introduced the lecturer.

Dr. SEXTON said that the lectures delivered by him during the week were largely scientific or critical, but the lecture he purposed delivering to-night was of a wholly different character. The lecture to-night would be, in the main, historical.

Christianity, he said, had produced a great effect upon the world; it extended a wider influence upon mankind than any other system; it had civilized the brightest intellects, and it had stooped down to rescue the lowest from degradation and misery.

There was a wide difference between Christianity and other great philosophical systems—in their own the teacher might be separated from the system. For instance, Sir Isaac Newton discovered the law of gravitation and Lord Bacon had given birth to the induction theory, but who cared for the author of these systems so long as the system itself was preserved. The works of Shakespeare or of Plato would be equally valuable whether written by Shakespeare or Plato or by some one else altogether. But Christianity could not be taken from Christ; neither could Christ be taken from Christianity for Christ was Christianity and Christianity was Christ. In this case it was impossible to separate the teacher from the system. The teachings of Christianity were also entirely different. Plato would have said, "I will show you the way, I will reveal the truth, I will give you the means of seeing light," but Christ said "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Light."

There were different suppositions as to who Christ was, but the only one that could be accepted was that He was all that He claimed to be—that if raising men from death, Himself, from death, forgiving sins and mediating between God and man, He was the incarnation of God upon earth. Some have said that He was a great Jewish prophet, and that the line of Jewish prophets had culminated in Him; but He did not speak in the spirit of a Jewish prophet—they said "Thou saidst the Lord," and He said, "I say unto you."

The lecturer here quoted the opinions of several sceptics in regard to the sublimity of the Christian system, and stated that they had conceded point by point, until nearly the whole system had been conceded.

Viewing Christianity in its historical phase, he asked what influence this marvelous teacher had exerted upon the world at large. To judge of the effects produced it would be necessary to take a glance at the condition of the world at the time in which Christ appeared. In Judea there was no religion but strict observance of form and ceremony; the Pharisees were steeped in hypocrisy, and the Sadducees in the extreme, no restraint was placed upon the evil passions in any degree and the profanity of the time was dreadful. Crimes were committed in open daylight that would be shuddered at by wicked men of to-day. Stoicism was the one bright spot in the darkness; the oasis in the weary desert. That system had reached the highest state of morality of any that existed before the advent of Christianity, but that system had failed. The world went up one long, slow, sinking spiral—it was an age of infamy which would disappear. This was the condition of the world when Christ appeared.

What was the effect produced by Christianity? The new religion came into contact with the old and the old fell with its long, measured steps of history and great institutions. The new religion came into contact with it and Judaism ceased to be. Apparently, how much a dead weight Christianity was placed in opposition to the old religion. There was no grandeur about the new religion. It taught the crucifixion and resurrection. Crucifixion! What did it mean? It was abhorrent to the Romans—only slaves were put to death in this way. It was abhorrent to the Jews; it was emblematic of all that was disgusting and abominable. It was now emblematic of the highest civilization. Ask the sceptic to explain this change! He will declare that this brightening light, and the Jews were scattered over the face of the earth, and after 1800 years they occupy about the same position as they did before. They are as distinct as they were and they neither had increased or decreased, and in that state they would remain until the prophecy concerning them had been fulfilled.

When the new religion had been proclaimed it was rejected on all hands. But in the Roman world great efforts were put forth to stamp it out. Spurious books were introduced concerning the faith; new idols were brought to win over the Christians; persecution was resorted to; but Christianity went on gaining power and strength under all adversity. Why this determined persecution of the early Christians? If the early Christians were so good as they were, why were they persecuted? It was because the Romans were a conquered people, the products of the soil and the gods of the nation and they would gladly have placed Jesus Christ in the Pantheon with the rest of the gods. But the Christians would not allow it. They shuddered at the thought of it. The battle was between Christianity and all the false religions.

And why was it that the Jewish people no longer expected the coming of the Messiah. They had long ago died out. No Jew of to-day entertained the thought for a moment. It was because the Messiah had been. In the Roman Empire what occurred? She that held the world in awe, crumbled to pieces before the force of Christ's rule. The empire was torn down and the cross took its place. What was the cause of this marvelous effect? Gibbon, the historian, had given several reasons, all of which, when analysed, proved to be absurd. Christianity brought to the front and made conspicuous, virtues that had never been heard of before. Humility, which was thought by the ancients to be a very good characteristic for slaves was placed by Christ as one of the foremost virtues. Max Muller had said that the world humanity owed its first meaning to Christianity. In domestic life it produced marvelous changes. Before the advent of Christianity women were the slaves of men. Men could be her accuser and executioner on any trivial offence, and there were no laws to protect her. It was Christianity that gave her position in the world to-day. The domestic circle was unknown before Christ's coming. Families meant the congregation of a number of slaves under the rule of one dogmatic man. Whatever is lovely or charming in the domestic circle—all owing to Christianity, and for Christianity its joys would never have been known.

It was Christ who made infantile life sacred. In Greece and Rome, the people of which were intellectually the scene of perfection, this horrid practice of throwing their children out to die was resorted to by everyone. This terrible crime was practiced to-day in lands where Christ was not known. In China, where the laws laid down by Confucius (that man whom sceptics chatter so much about, but the works of whom none have seen, and even if they had seen could not read) were followed this accursed custom is as prevalent as it was in ancient Greece and Rome. To illustrate this assertion the lecturer stated that a society had been formed for the saving of the lives of these ill-fated infants, and in one year it had saved the lives of four thousand children that had been thrown out by their inhuman parents to die.

From the time when Christ said, "Let the little children come unto me," infantile life was made sacred. It was the teachings of Christ that made the duties reciprocal between man and wife and child and parent. It was a common occurrence, he said, to hear skilful labourers talk of the dignity of labor. Ask him who it was that made labor dignified. In Greece and Rome it was a disgrace to be a laborer, nay even to be related to a laborer. But it was in the carpenter shop at Nazareth where labor was made dignified.

Christianity permeates every part of society. What would civilization have been were it not for Christianity? The ancients were as high in intellectual culture perhaps as the people of the present time are, but they lack this attribute which made darkness into light.

Mr. Geo. Rogers, in moving a vote of thanks, said that the warmest thanks of the audience were due to Dr. Sexton. The people of Peterborough had never been treated to such a series of lectures as the series that had been given this week. He spoke for both himself and a large number of others when he said that Dr. Sexton had confirmed and strengthened their belief in Christianity.

The motion was seconded by Dr. Fife and passed unanimously. After the closing hymn the Rev. Mr. Bennett pronounced the benediction and the meeting dispersed.

Arrival of a New Stock of Goods.
In returning thanks to the public for the most liberal patronage received, it is gratifying, indeed, to find that in spite of the almost unprecedented mild season for the winter, business has turned out equal to, if not better than last year, which had a good record, indeed. The reason of this is not to be sought in the fact that goods sold are made up to the present of the best quality. In taking leave, shortly, for a trip to Europe to personally select furs for next winter season, the public can depend that the reputation we have will be upheld. New stock of Hats, English and American, have arrived. W. LORR.

New Kid Gloves from a reliable maker whose goods have been tested for years, now opened out at Turnbull's.

The Market.
The attendance at the market to-day was fairly large. The butter and eggs market was not so well attended as is usually the case. Butter sold for 20 cents per pound, and eggs at 20 cents per dozen. Poultry of all kinds were scarce, and what was offered for sale commanded prices considerably above the average. On the square a large quantity of beef was offered for sale at from 50 to 60 per cent. The distribution of the movement in pork has become quite noticeable during the past two or three weeks, and to-day the number of porkers brought to market was not very large. Apples sold at 75 cents to 61 per bag, and potatoes at 40 cents per bag. The prices of other commodities were unchanged.

A Problem Solved.
Two young men in conversation the other evening undertook to discuss the respective merits of two of their acquaintances. Each held up his man as superior to the other, and during the discussion the gentlemen who were the subjects of so much talk happened to drop in at the very moment when they were least expected. "By the-by," said one of the first mentioned young men, "Will, we have just been breaking the rules of etiquette in a measure by talking of you and Fred behind your backs." "Is that any reason why you two young gentlemen should look so alarmed at our appearance on this scene?" asked Will. "Well," replied the other, "the reason your arrival has caused me to look so completely discomfited is that the friendly debate my friend and I were engaged in was of such an odd character that I felt a little ashamed when you made your welcome appearance so suddenly." "Oh, indeed, and pray what is there about me that causes two of my acquaintances to make me the subject of so much conversation?" "Well, we were trying to solve the problem of where you got that beautiful suit of clothes you wore last evening." "Oh, I got that suit where I purchase all my furnishings, at ANDREW McNEIL's, Haberdashery Hall."

Keep it Dark.

A small knot of hackmen and cabs might have been observed standing on the Ontario & Quebec Railway depot platform this forenoon. There was evidently something in the wind of a serious nature, judging from the deep concern that was manifested as the spokesman of the party seemingly narrated news of deep moment. Our reporter, who was standing near, noticed the little circumstance, but thought to himself, "It's likely they're talking about Gordon and Klartoum." But, becoming a little curious, he drew near and heard, to his astonishment, these words, which fell from the lips of one of the cabs: "I tell you it's a case of small pox and they've got him packed in ice and the casket is in the freight shed." "Yes," said one of the hackmen, "I heard that the station agent had received orders to delay the shipment of the body until the matter was looked into." "Oh! horrible," shuddered the reporter, "that such a thing should be." On interviewing the general station agent on the matter the true state of affairs was ascertained. When our reporter had related the above mentioned rumors the popular agent, after laughing heartily, said, "It's only a case of burial caskets for D. Bellegue, the undertaker."

To-Night! To-Night!
The great melodrama "Romany Rye" will be presented at Bradbury's Opera House for the first time this evening. Comment on the play is needless on our part, the following notice from the Ottawa Free Press speaks as to the excellence of both play and players:—

"There is in the piece every element which contributed to the popularity of the melodrama. Ingenious in construction, powerful in plot and dealing with phases of life from which the greatest students of humanity have drawn their most impressive pictures, 'Romany Rye' is far from being dependent on ingenious stage mechanism for thrilling effect. Yet there is no lack of this either, the scenery being fully up to the requirements of the modern melodrama. Of the performance it is sufficient to say that from the rise to the fall of the curtain on the last act, the interest of the audience was not for a moment allowed to flag, while the applause was frequent and heartily bestowed. Mr. Gilmour, as 'Romany Rye' has certainly added to his laurels as an emotional actor, and is surrounded with a capable support."

Those who wish to enjoy a pleasant evening, a scenic and intellectual treat, should not fail to attend "Romany Rye" this evening. The management have adopted popular prices.

Springless Truss and Supporters
PROF. G. W. HOTCHKISS

Will visit the following places again:—
LINDSAY—Benson House, Feb. 13th, 14th and 15th.

PETERBOROUGH—Daily's Grand Central Hotel, Feb. 16th, 17th and 18th.

Prof. Hotchkiss' treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having heated internal and unobtrusive as well as Varicose, at the advanced age respectively of from 65 to 95 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses for children as well as adults. Prof. Hotchkiss having had thirty 50 years' experience has become master of his profession, and defies the Hernia he cannot hold in his place. Prof. Hotchkiss has invented an apparatus to hold the piles in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for your selves.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1885.

MR. HOWAT'S FRIEND.

SOME of the more unscrupulous of the Reform journals are asserting that Dr. Dowling has not been declared disqualified by the judges. Three judges have declared that he is disqualified, the case being his personal corruption. A fourth judge also found him guilty of personal corruption and sentenced him, but giving him the benefit of the relieving clauses would spare him from disqualification. If other judges do not pronounce him disqualified it will be only because Mr. Howat has interfered to snatch his friend and tool from the operation of the law and the hands of the judiciary by partisan legislation in reward for base services. It may be observed that all four judges, in coming to their decision, must have considered Dr. Dowling to have committed perjury, for he swore that he did not practice the corruption of which they found him guilty. And this is the man in whose favour Mr. Howat has threatened to legislate still further if necessary to overrule and veto the decisions of our law courts.

NOT THE PEOPLE.

The leading Reform journal has an article abusing and misrepresenting our efficient High Commissioner, Sir Charles Tupper. It has the impertinence to remark that "the people wish that the costly scheme should be abolished at once." The people have shown repeatedly by their votes, and they continue to show as by elections give them the opportunity, that the Globe and its friends are not authorized to speak for the people, and that Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues are chosen by the popular voice to act for Canada. The people disclaim and repudiate the Globe's ideas.

The notion of Sir Charles Tupper making any office "a sinecure" or indulging in "luxurious idleness" is as absurd as to say simply laughable. It is not because he is idle, but because he has worked so actively and manfully for his country and for his party, that Sir Charles Tupper is honoured with the mantle of the Globe. Canada is well aware that she has received invaluable services from the High Commissioner.

A VISIONARY.

MR. GLADSTONE has been going to the public vision of a grand Pan-Anglican union, a thousand million strong, in another country.
The idea is not original, and it is clothed in vague language, however beautiful. We would suggest that Mr. Gladstone is Premier, not of Pan Anglia, but of Great Britain and Ireland.
It would have been better, therefore, if, instead of indulging in beautiful, but not immediately practical visions, he had attended to his own duties, and had not neglected them till through his neglect and procrastination, Egypt has been reddened with the blood of British heroes, left to their fate, or sent too late to the rescue.
An insufficient force was not despatched till popular indignation drove him into action, and now, when, alas, it is "too late," a fresh outburst of popular feeling is spurring Mr.
Gladstone on to action which should have been adopted long ago. It is reminded that by similar vacillation, procrastination and weakness, Mr. Gladstone and Lord Aberdeen unconsciously involved the British Empire in the Crimean war, with its outpouring of blood and treasure.
Such visionaries, with their beautiful dreams and their culpable neglect of the practical duties of the hour, are very costly luxuries for a country.

The fact that the Reformers are determined not to be satisfied with anything that is done by the Dominion Government is shown by the appointment of Mr. Kilham, M.P., a Reformer, to a judgeship in Manitoba. A Reform paper, having no reason for objecting to Mr. Kilham's elevation to the bench, and yet determined to find fault, says the selection was not a disinterested one, as "his constituency will be thrown upon and they (the Conservatives) are hopeful of capturing it." And they have good reason, it might be added, for being hopeful of "capturing" almost every constituency in the Dominion, were they opened. The anxiety to find fault, and the desire to say something unpleasant, are so strong among Reform journals that even an appointment of a Reformer to an office does not kill 'em.

Of the $23,000,000 voted last session to be paid to the C.P.R. as work progressed, no less than $18,501,000 has already been paid over.— Brookville Recorder.

Which shows that the work has progressed very rapidly, and that the company will lose no time in completing this great national highway.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

North-West Council—Imperial Commission—Globe Blanders Exposed—The Boundary Question—Imperial Federation.

FRIDAY, Feb. 6.—A number of bills were read a first time.

NORTH-WEST COUNCIL.
Mr. POTT introduced a bill for taking the consent of Manitoba and the Territories.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD moved a special committee to report as to the necessity for a system of Imperial Federation, giving adequate protection against undue preferences. Boards of Trade in Canada and Chambers of Commerce in England had been pressing for such a measure, but further information was desirable.

Mr. BLAKE, Mr. MILLS and Mr. CARR all insisted upon treating this step as a confusion of authority on the part of the Ministry.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD said that they required further information on the subject and they took the proper means to obtain it, instead of legislating with undue haste. They would not introduce a bill, as Mr. Mills has proposed to do, merely to test the views of the House.

Mr. MACLENNAN agreed that they should obtain full information before introducing a measure.

GLOBE BLANDERS.
Mr. BARNES exposed the falsehood of a statement of the Globe that he owed the Government large sums for waterpower whom he did not owe a cent.

Mr. GORDON did the same on behalf of his brother whose rent was paid up without photograph, though he had no use for the power for some time through his mill being burned. On the other hand the Manitoba Administration had given a similar privilege for a dollar a year for ever.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.
SIR JOHN MACDONALD in reply to Mr. Mills said it was not intended to introduce any measure to alter the Ontario boundary, and the question whether it was necessary to ask for Imperial legislation was under consideration.

He also said that the Government had not considered the rights of Ontario north of the Height of Land and south of Highway Day and Albany River. The reason why the whole subject of the western and northern boundary was not referred to the Privy Council at the same time was that the counsel employed advised the settlement of the question first.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.
Mr. CHAPMAN, in reply to Mr. Edgar, said an correspondence had taken place between the High Commissioner and the Government on the subject of Imperial Confederation, and it was not intended to submit any proposal to the House this week.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.
Mr. MILLS moved for further papers on the Boundary Question. He said that the Privy Council decision had not entirely settled the question, and a speedy settlement was desirable.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD agreed that it was desirable to have an early and final settlement.

THE LARD RECEIPTS.
Mr. BLAKE moved for returns of receipts from land in the North-West.

THE FISHERIES.
Mr. MULOCK moved for papers as to the Fishery Question.

A STRANGE STORY.
Statements by a Chatterbox that might have been useful if made known earlier.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A prominent London clergyman believes that Arabi has something to do with the bringing about of Gen. Gordon's downfall. The clergyman publishes a letter in the London Globe about meeting an Egyptian in London last November who had been prefect of police under Arabi. The prefect and preacher became well acquainted. On Christmas Day they had a long conversation concerning the Egyptian situation. The clergyman expressed a hope that Lord Wolsey would soon enter Khartoum. At this the prefect laughed and said that Gen. Gordon was seriously ill where he was, and that Lord Wolsey would not enter Khartoum. With this the prefect continued, was the only living man able to effect for England a peaceful solution of the Sudan question. He said that he had confidence in him and would accept him as mediator. The clergyman said that he would be merely for the fact that Wolsey's expedition was concerned the prefect said the Mahdi had arranged to allow it to approach Khartoum without any regular opposition. The prophet might fight at or near Soudy, but if he did it would be merely for the purpose of tempting him on into further and greater risks. On no account, whatever, would the Mahdi fight a decisive battle until the British force were massed in the vicinity of Khartoum. Gen. Gordon, the prefect implied, was already, at the time of the conversation, virtually a prisoner. His so-called defence of Khartoum was a mere form, as the Mahdi was not engaged in any attack upon the town, because it was partially in his power, and he could take it whenever he pleased. The prophet's plan was to allow Lord Wolsey's army to approach Khartoum, then to enter the city and take possession of it. Lord Wolsey from that great point of vantage, the prefect always insisted that Gen. Gordon would not be killed by the Mahdi. The clergyman says that he recalls this almost prophetic statement by Arabi, prefect of police with the air of an oracle, now, especially that it has been accomplished that the prefect, whom in London, was there as an emissary of the Mahdi. The last thing the prefect said to the clergyman was,
"Gordon will not be killed."

A CONFIDENT HUSBAND.
A Montreal Authentic Case—A Marriage Confession.

The inquiry in the infantile case was continued on Saturday, when High Constable Blanchette was examined and testified that Celine Huard, the mother of the child, had admitted to him that after the child was born she took a pair of scissors, and, unmoved by the innocent creature's pain, struck it several times on the head, inflicting terrible wounds which have caused its death. She then threw it on the rubbish of the out-house, where it immediately died from the effect of the blows and the fall. The evidence was produced and filed with the coroner. This was the only witness attending and the inquiry was adjourned for the reception of the report of the medical men.—Star.

A POLICEMAN SHOT.

A Toronto Constable Badly Wounded by a Maddened Criminal.

A colored man ran into No. 2 Police Station on Thursday night shortly before eleven o'clock and made the startling announcement to the men on duty that a member of the force had been shot by a prisoner whom he had arrested, and that he was then lying on the edge of the corner of Ternally and Albert streets. Sergeants Stark and Meane were soon on the spot with a few constable and P. C. Armstrong, No. 102, was found on the sidewalk at the corner indicated bleeding profusely from a wound in his left arm.
No time was lost in carrying Armstrong into Mr. Crompton's store on the corner. While the wounded policeman was being attended to under the made into the "shotshop," where it was found that Thomas Little fired the shot at Armstrong. For some time past enquiries from the authorities in several Provincial towns have been made at police headquarters here for Little, and the city police have been watching for him. One of the charges for which he was wanted to answer was for horse-stealing at Berlin. It was ascertained by the police on Thursday that Little had arrived in the city. About eight past eleven P. C. Armstrong, having heard that he was in the house of a friend named Armstrong who lives at south-west corner of Ternally and Albert streets, entered and arrested him. The constable was about to handcuff Little when the latter expressed his willingness to accompany the constable to the police station.
Armstrong had walked across the street to the north-west corner of Albert and Ternally streets when Little stopped and asked on what work the arrest had been made. This action on the part of the prisoner led to some conversation between the two, during which Little managed to break loose from the constable and started to run across the street. Armstrong followed him man, and had only gone a few steps when Little turned around and fired a shot at him, probably from a revolver. Armstrong immediately fell, and Little, it is supposed, ran west along Albert street. No trace of Little has been found by the police, but as he is well known in the city, his arrest in a short time is looked upon as a certainty. Detective Heburn and Brown have the case in hand, and the police in the different precincts have been instructed to arrest the man if possible. Little's relatives are living in this city. His father, James Little, is serving a term in the Kingston Penitentiary for horse-stealing, having been arrested while on work on the Exhibition Grounds about the 1st of September last. Both father and son bear unenviable reputations.

The ball struck P. C. Armstrong's left arm, lodging in the fleshy part just outside the muscle, making a wound about an inch deep.
Dr. Pollard was called to attend the man, and he was removed to his home on St. Patrick street in a coupe. Armstrong was a little weak from loss of blood, but he is a fine-looking fellow, of splendid physique, and the wound is not looked upon as a very dangerous one.—Globe.

Petroleum in the North-West.

Two cars of machinery for the Winnipeg and North-West Petroleum Company arrived yesterday from Bradford, Penn., and are now at the C.P.R. freight sheds. Two cars more are expected in a few days, when the whole plant including supplies to be purchased here, will be shipped west to Glendon and transported thence to the grounds of the company, about 40 miles from that point. This is the first practical step towards the development of the petroleum region along the Red Deer river and its branches, the waters of which have for years been known to flow large quantities of oil. In the immediate vicinity of the tract of 640 acres which the company owns there are said to be springs of the crude oil appearing on the surface, and there is every indication of rich petroleum deposits at no great depth. The plant consists of a boiler and 15 horse power engine, pump, derrick, drill, piping, and pump, and other tools, necessary to a complete drilling outfit capable of boring to a depth of 2,000 feet. A blacksmith's shop, house, pump, etc., will be sent out at a depth of 300 feet. It is their intention to push the work with all speed, and the result of the in-terprise will be known by the end of March. If favorable, arrangements will then be made for shipping and refining the product of the wells.
The progress of the work will be watched with interest. The company is composed of Minneapolis capitalists.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1886.

Correction.

An inadvertent mistake occurred in the item under the heading, "A Brilliant Spectacle," published in Saturday's DAILY REVIEW. Instead of the date reading Tuesday evening, September 17th, it should have read, Tuesday evening, February 17th.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and gales from the east and north; cloudy and cold weather with snow; fair and very cold to-morrow.

The River.

Great inconvenience has been caused by the sudden lowering of the waters in the river, owing, it is said, to churning of the flow at some of the dams above Lakefield. This has caused a failure of the power, thus affecting the mills, waterworks, &c. We have not been able to ascertain the exact particulars, or who is responsible for this inconvenience, which is serious, as it has involved the stoppage for the time of important industries. We believe that the engineer in charge has taken prompt steps to remedy the evil.

A Pleasant Event.

At the last meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 30, C.O.F., held on Friday, Feb. 6th, after the usual business of the Court had been finished, Mr. H. W. Watson, D. D. M. C. R., called on Mr. F. R. Perry to come forward, when he was presented with a beautiful silver cup, which had been awarded at the last carnival, held on Friday, January 23rd, for the best dressed Volunteer of the Order. He was congratulated on his costume as being the best on the lot. Mr. Perry replied with a few well chosen remarks, thanking Mr. Watson for the cup, which he valued very much.

And Burial.

On Sunday another child of Mr. John Doherty, market clerk, was called away by death. About one week before Mr. Doherty lost a little daughter, aged six years, and the one which died on Sunday was four years of age, both, we understand, dying from epasmodic convulsions. Mr. and Mrs. Doherty will receive deep sympathy from their many friends, and as far as sympathy can alleviate the painfulness of sorrow, their grief will be alleviated. Mr. Doherty has been called upon to see six of his children pass away, never to return, and a small band of children are awaiting him in that happy land, where parting and sorrow are unknown.

St. John's Church.

In St. John's Church, on Sunday, morning and evening, the Rev. A. J. Broughal, M.A., of St. Stephen's Church, Toronto, preached wholesome and instructive sermons. In the evening he took his text from Hebrews 17, "By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by which he condemned the world, and became heir to the righteousness which is by faith."
"We are pleased to see that the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rector and Rural Dean, has so far recovered from his recent illness as to take upon himself a part of the church duties. The prayers were read, at both services, by the Rector.

Farmers, if you want Cheap Tweeds, go to Turnbull's. He is selling his New Tweeds at cheap prices in proportion as you need your wool suit soon.

A Brilliant Spectacle.

The coming carnival promises to be a great success in every way. The scene that will be presented to the eye of the spectators on Tuesday evening, February 17th, will be one long to be remembered. The committee will have the rink beautifully and artistically decorated with evergreens, festoons, Chinese lanterns, flags, suitable notices, &c., and the whole building will look like some scene in Fairyland. Handsome costumes from Toronto and other places will be worn by many of the maskers, and there is sure to be strong competition as to who will carry off the prize. The Five Brigade Band will furnish vocal and instrumental music during the evening, and a well selected programme of music will be rendered. The cariers are going to have their hands full both on the afternoon and evening of the carnival, and intend to make it a gala day for the visiting clubs. More anon.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

The School Teachers of the Town and County Meet in Session.

The Teachers' Convention met in the fifth session on Friday afternoon.

The following officers of the Teachers' Institute were elected for the ensuing year:—President, Mr. H. Kay Coleman; Vice-President, Mr. Barton Kelle; Secretary, Mr. W. Beattie; Committee of Management, Messrs. McMillan, Mack, August, and Misses Fair and Wright.

Dr. McLELLAN, in continuation of his forenoon discourse, explained and illustrated the Socratic mode of questioning, giving a great many hints and explanations calculated to benefit every member of the Convention.

Subsequently Dr. McLELLAN stated that the Minister of Education had in contemplation a scheme to encourage teachers to take a course of post-graduate reading, mentioning Jardine's Psychology, Huxley's Outlines of Man, and Huxley's Lectures on Teaching, as the probable books to be included in the course.

Mr. MARK moved, seconded by Mr. BEATTIE, that this Convention highly approve of the intention of the Minister of Education in regard to the post-graduate course, and hope that the matter will soon be definitely settled.

Mr. STRATTON moved, seconded by Mr. COLEMAN, that the thanks of the Convention are due to Dr. McLELLAN for the ability and zeal which he has displayed for the benefit of the teachers of this Convention.

The motion was unanimously carried, and the thanks of the meeting presented to the doctor by the Chairman of the Convention, Mr. J. C. Brown.

Dr. McLELLAN in acknowledgement stated that he had never, in any connection, been given a more sympathetic hearing. He encouraged the teachers to go on in their arduous duties for the benefit of the rising generation.

The convention then adjourned to meet at the call of the Executive.

This convention, it is acknowledged by all, was the most enthusiastic meeting of teachers that has ever been held in this county. No doubt the hints thrown out by Dr. McLELLAN, on different subjects, will be productive of much good to the teachers. It must be highly gratifying to the convener of the meeting, Mr. James O'Leary Brown, to have seen the convention begin and end so successfully, and in more ways than one during the session the teachers of the schools under his supervision showed that friendly relations and good feeling existed between them and their Inspector. This relationship is as it should be, for it will work with one accord the schools of the county will be raised to even a higher standard than they now occupy.

A Splendid Chance.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of W. Fairweather & Co., Auctioneers, in another column, announcing a sale by auction of 30 valuable Oil Paintings, and Old Albums at the Auction Mart, opposite the Court, on Wednesday, February 11th, at 2.30 p.m. This will be a rare chance to secure any of the above at bargain.

"Romany" Bye.

There was a large attendance at Bradburn's Opera House on Saturday night, when "Romany" Bye was presented. The scenes were good and the company is a strong one. Mr. Gilmour is certainly a good actor, and the part of the "Romany" rover suited him well. Owing to programme not having been provided we cannot particularize further, but all the parts were well sustained.

Attractive Windows.

Mr. A. Clegg displays this week a line of curtains and drapery such as is seldom seen outside of the large cities. These samples will remain here this week and your inspection is invited. The prices will be found much lower than those of city furnishing houses. These samples comprise an assortment of Romanes, Raw Silks, Spun Silks, Turcoman Cloth, Woals, Imitation Turcoman's and a few very choice Laces in white and cream.

Not too Late Yet.

To join Messrs. grand excursion to the World's Fair at New Orleans. Thirty-two different routes. Lowest rates ever quoted to the Sunny South. Only about 1 cent per mile each way. Call and see me before making arrangements elsewhere. A special Agent will accompany the party to see that all arrangements will be carried out. The above excursion tickets will be good to any time up to let of June. TUES. MESSRS. CITY Passenger Agent, G.T.R.

The Rector's Risk.

The internal sitting of the roller skating rink, in being vigorously prosecuted, and we are informed that the risk will be opened to the public in about three weeks. An efficient staff of carpenters are at work putting down the floor and a corps of painters, under the management of Mr. T. McGrath, are doing good work. This place, when completed, will form an interesting place of resort and no doubt it will be proportionately patronized.

The Curious Feet.

Those who are to compare the risks that will play in the emblematical cutting baseball on the 17th Feb. have been selected and placed under the following ships: Englishmen, Mr. George Dandford; Frenchmen, Mr. G. A. Strickland (Lakefield); Scotchmen, Mr. F. Huxtain; Irishmen, Mr. Mylen Hamilton; Dutchmen, Mr. Wm. Van Ervey; Italians, Mr. W. G. Ferguson. This event will be somewhat novel. Englishmen and Italians will compete with each other in a friendly spirit and no doubt will exchange congratulations on the probable defeat of the Mahdi by the united forces. Some of the Emerald Isle and the lady from the head of the Heather will engage in a trial of strength and dexterity, while the sprightly Frenchman will let themselves against these more pliable nations and the stone (or stone) will doubtless be discharged with as much vigor and determination as the shot and shell were in the deadly struggle of a few years ago. The match will be an interesting one and those interested in the "rears" game should not miss the sight.

RETURN OF THE CANADIANS.

Two Hundred and Eighty on their Way Home—See More Loss his Life.

Mr. L. Sherlock this morning received the following letter from Col. J. T. Lambert, of Ottawa:—

"OTTAWA, Feb. 7, 1886.

"DEAR SIR,—In answer to yours, I would say that I have received word to the effect that 200 of the voyageurs will leave Quebec, Ireland, on the 20th of February. They will arrive in Halifax on or about Feb. 25th. I have also received a despatch stating that Wm. O'Rourke, voyageur, fell off the train and was killed. I have not received a list of the names as yet, but will communicate with you as soon as I receive it.

Yours respectfully,

J. THOS. LAMBERT."

Opened out last week at Turnbull's, New Black Brown Goods, pronounced by those who have seen them (and perfection).

Big Sale Of Winter Overcoats now going on at Fairweather & Co's.

Shooting Rink. Skating tickets will now be issued at half rate. Band will be at the rink every Friday evening.

Arrival of a New Stock of Hats. In returning thanks to the public for the most liberal patronage received, it is gratifying to find that in spite of the most unprecedented mild season before the holidays, business has turned out equal and handsomely better than last year, which has been good record, indeed. The reason of this is not far to seek, and lies in the fact that goods sold are made up on the premises of the best quality. In taking leave, shortly, for a trip to Europe to personally select furs for next winter season, the public can depend that the reputation won will be upheld.

New stock of Hats, English and American, have arrived. W. LUCAS.

New Kid Gloves from a reliable maker whose goods have been tested for years, now opened out at Turnbull's.

Chit-Chat. Stormy. Clean sheet at the Police Court this morning.

Our "Ice King," Mr. E. J. Hartley, will go to Warkworth on Feb. 20th, to take part in a skating competition.

He regrets that owing to unforeseen circumstances he was unable to be present at the competition held recently at Bowmanville.

The ice harvest is being reaped. Every day loads of the cubic crystal may be seen moving from the lake towards town.

Mary of Scots, that accomplished but ill-fated Queen, met with her death just 200 years ago yesterday.

A Problem solved. Two young men in conversation the other evening undertook to discuss the respective merits of two of their acquaintances. Each held up his man as superior to the other, and during the discussion the gentleman who was the subject of so much talk happened to drop in at the very moment when they were least expected.

"By-the-by," said one of the first mentioned young men, "Will, we have just been breaking the rules of etiquette in a measure by talking of you and Fred behind your backs."

"Is that any reason why you two young gentlemen should look so alarmed at my appearance on this scene?" asked Will. "Will," replied the other, "the reason your arrival has caused me to look so completely discomfited is that the friendly debate my friend and I were engaged in was of such an odd character that I felt a little ashamed when you made your welcome appearance so suddenly."

"Oh, indeed, and pray what is there about me that causes two of my acquaintances to make me the subject of so much conversation?" "Well, we were trying to solve the problem of where you got that beautiful suit of clothes you wore last evening."

"Oh, I got that suit where I purchase all my furnishings, at Andrew McNeil's, Habillment Hall."

An Infatuated Woman. HOBOKEN, Feb. 7.—Late last night a policeman passing the residence of John E. Behrens, a wealthy New York druggist, heard a disturbance in his house. Immediately afterwards a man, who proved to be Behrens, tumbled from a second story window to the pavement below. The policeman knocked at door and was met by Mrs. Behrens, who was greatly intoxicated. She said she hoped her husband would die. The unconscious man was brought into the house, when Mrs. Behrens several times attempted to kill her husband as he lay on the floor. She raved violently, declaring she did not throw him from the window, then rushed into the room and swallowed a large quantity of amments, which, however, had no effect on her.

Mrs. Dudley Becoming Serious. New York, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Dudley to-day manifested the first symptoms of seriousness concerning her situation. It is believed the doctors will attempt to prove she only attempted to induce a shock round on Rosa, thinking it would strike terror into the hearts of the dynamiters. She is at the idea of having attempted to shoot Rosa after the first shot. "It is not likely," she says, "I should miss him at a distance of ten feet when I can hit an orange at eight yards."

A Bethlehem Female's Crime. VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 7.—While Henry Scottman, a religious fanatic, was paying last evening for the recovery of his four children, who were ill with scarlet fever, his wife remarked that if he would build a fire he would do more service than by praying. Scottman became enraged and beat his wife fatally and clubbed his aged father-in-law to death. The murderer was arrested after badly bruising the city marshal.

Spot Act Elections. Elections under the Canada Temperance Act will be held in the counties of Elgin, Lambton and Middlesex, and the city of St. Thomas, all on March 19th.

OTONABKE.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—On Tuesday afternoon of last week, while Messrs. Alexander Macbeth, Henry Stewart and George Stewart, the two latter being the sons of Mr. Richard Stewart, of Otonabke, were engaged in the occupation of drawing wood to town, had a narrow escape from drowning. When about two miles from the locks the ice broke, and the whole party were precipitated headforemost into the cold waters of the river Otonabke. The situation now became desperate, and it was a fight for life. Fortunately each of the three men understood how to swim, and they immediately set about extricating themselves from their perilous position. Each of the three struggled without a thought for his companions, and when all three got safely out they congratulated each other, and confessed that none of them knew that the other had got safely out until all three stood together. The horses, too, scrambled out and what might have proved a sad accident happily terminated in a very cold bath for both men and horses.

"Why! What's the matter?" "Lady!—With this country in a roll of hot clothes!" "Oh! I'm crazy with Neuraigia that continually troubles me."

"Well, how foolish! Why don't you go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a bottle of Field Lightning? It cured me in less than one minute. I always keep a bottle in the house. It only costs 50 cents."

Answer this Question. Why do so many people are so around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 7c. we will sell them Child's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Will visit the following places again:—LINDSAY—Benson House, Feb. 18th, 14th and 16th.

PETERBOROUGH—Daly's Grand Central Hotel, Feb. 16th, 17th and 18th.

Prof. Hotchkiss's treatment is practical, rational and economical. His object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substances, having no steel inguinal and Umbilical as well as Ventral, at the advanced age respectively of from 65 to 75 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses for children as well as adults. Prof. Hotchkiss having had thirty 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and defies the Herald he cannot hold in its place.

Prof. Hotchkiss has invented an apparatus to hold the piles in their proper place, which has been so successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourself.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

REBELLION IN ARABIA.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The rebellion in Yemen, Arabia, has been revived, because the Porte suspended the payment of subsidies to the tribes between Jeddah and Mecca. A number of caravans have been pillaged. The military commander has asked for four thousand reinforcements.

RUSSIAN DESIGNS ON COREA.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—It is rumored that Russia will soon make another effort to annex Corea.

DYNAMITERS DENOUNCED.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 9.—A statement was read in the various Catholic Churches here to-day denouncing the dynamiters as violators of the laws of God and the Church, and as neither true Catholics.

THE CONDEMNED ANARCHISTS.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Krober, the anarchist, who was beheaded on Saturday, broke down completely and was dragged to the block in a fainting condition and set up a piteous howl. Reinhardt maintained his composure and smoked a cigar as he walked to his doom.

MUTINY DENIED.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The Temps denies that there has been a mutiny among the Algerian troops at Keloug.

THE CAMEROONS.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Baptist Missionary Society has requested Lord Granville to protect British subjects in the Cameroons and demand an indemnity from Germany for the destruction of the Baptist mission. It is alleged that the annexation of the Cameroons territory by the Germans was obtained from a chief who had no power to grant it. It is reported that the Germans have annexed the whole Cameroons range as far as the English possession at Ambos Bay. Further severe fighting is expected.

HIGH TREASON.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The examination of Cunningham and Burton, the alleged dynamiters, began to-day at Bow Street Police Court. The Court was crowded. Mr. Quilman, counsel for Cunningham, was permitted to have an interview with his client before the latter was brought into court. Burton declined the services of a counsel, saying he would defend himself.

Mr. Polard opened the case for the crown. He created a sensation by immediately announcing that he would withdraw the charge of conspiracy and substitute that of high treason. He then asked both of the prisoners jointly. Under the new indictment the Solicitor proceeded to state in detail the testimony the Crown would produce to sustain the charge. In doing this he repeated the history of the case from the beginning to the end. He stated that Cunningham had arrived from New York on December 20th and came to London after staying at Liverpool a short time. Mr. Polard said as yet the case against Cunningham was in its infancy. The police were hard and successfully at work, and daily securing more information about the conspiracy, in the carrying out of which Cunningham and his colleagues were instruments. The Crown would prove that the headquarters of the conspiracy was in America. The prisoners had come from America, bringing dynamite of the Atlas brand.

TORY LINE OF POLICY.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Marquis of Salisbury has called a meeting of the leading Tories to consider the line of action to be adopted during the coming session of Parliament. The Tories will support the large measures of the Government to retrieve England's position in the Sudan, but will move the appointment of a Committee of Inquiry into the responsibility for the despatch of the Nile expedition. The Tories' friends state that he undertook the Nile route against his own opinion, which was in favour of the Suakin and Berber route, and that the Government, for the purpose of economy, broke its promise to supply the number of troops for which he asked.

THE FRENCH IN CHINA.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—Gen. de L'Isle telegraphs that he has destroyed five forts which the Chinese had deserted. Immense quantities of provisions and ammunition were found. The Chinese are retreating towards Langson. The French lost 21 killed and 162 wounded on Friday and Saturday.

THE REINFORCEMENTS.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The number of reinforcements already ordered to Egypt is 8,000. Preparations have been completed for the transport of the commissariat and ordnance. Vessels are already loading at Woolwich. The Grenadier Guards have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for foreign service.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Gladstone, in answer to a deputation from the International Arbitration and Peace Association, says the Cabinet respects the sympathies and anxiety of the association for a peaceful settlement of the Sudan difficulty. General Wolseley has taken every means to make known to the Sudanese his friendly aims, to prove which Mr. Gladstone refers the association to Gen. Wolseley's recent proclamation.

THE BERBER ROUTE TO BE OPENED.

Three hundred reinforcements, at the urgent demand of Gen. Wolseley, have been ordered to proceed rapidly to Egypt by open the Suakin and Berber route.

ADVANCE ON KHARTOUM DELAYED.

No immediate advance upon Khartoum is considered possible, or will be attempted, unless it is found that there is good reason for believing that Gen. Gordon is still holding out with a handful of followers in the mission house in Khartoum, where it was reported he had taken refuge. In the absence of this, Gen. Wolseley, it is said, will probably continue to advance by river until he reaches Berber, where he will spend the summer with his army, and wait for the September rise of the Nile before advancing. Two months must, according to the plan, elapse, before there can be any advance in force from Suakin.

ITALY'S OFFER OF AID.

ROME, Feb. 9.—It is reported that the Italian Minister of War is preparing to send 15,000 men to the Sudan. The King strongly supports the movement to aid England. He presided at a Cabinet council to-day which decided that should England ask Italy's assistance in Egypt it would be given with feelings of loyal friendship, without any question of territorial or other compensation.

COL. WILLIAMS' OFFER ACCEPTED.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—It is reported that Colonel Williams has been accepted for the post of volunteer for Imperial service has been accepted and that he will proceed to enlist men at once. The regiment will be 600 strong and will do garrison duty in England.

SUPPRESSING THE PRESS.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Col. Buller's force will reach Gubat to-morrow. Before leaving Gubat Buller was instructed by Lord Wolseley not to attack the Arabs at Metamneh. Later orders sent to-day leave Col. Buller at liberty to act as he thinks fit. The force at Gubat now consists of 2,600 men, of whom it is estimated 2,300 are effective. All the newspaper correspondents are returning from Gubat to Korti. Lord Wolseley declines to permit non-combatants to remain at the front. It is believed the correspondents will also be stopped from communicating with their papers. The troops at Gubat are in good health.

Branch of Promise Sati.

An interesting branch of promise case will likely occupy the attention of the Toronto courts shortly. A writ has been issued at Osgoode Hall at the instance of Mrs. Orr, a widow lady, against John Elliott, of the Elliott house, claiming $4,900 damages. Elliott recently married his third wife, a young girl of 18.

Gravenhurst and Callander Railway.

The Gravenhurst and Callander railway is expected to be finished to Callander by next August, distance to build 112 miles. About the first of next month it is intended to have 1,000 men at work along various portions of the route. It is said to be an easy road to construct. The rocky work has been given out at fifty cents a yard.

A Clergyman's Will.

The will of the late Rev. R. J. McGeorge, late Episcopal minister at Streetsville, but more lately dean of Argyle and the Isles of Scotland, was filed in the surrogate court at Toronto on Friday. He leaves personal property over $18,000 invested in Canada and the United Kingdom to his two daughters. Deceased used to own and edit the Streetsville Review.

Elopement of an Heiress.

BOSTON, O., Feb. 9.—Rebecca Kearley, the only child of the wealthiest resident of Bucyrus, O., eloped with and was married to Sylvester Osborne, skating rink professor, on Tuesday evening last. The girl's family refuses to recognize Osborne. The latter claims to be respectable, and has given his address as both as Detroit and Syracuse. Miss Kearley was worth a quarter of a million in her own right.

A Visit to Gananoque.

Hon. Mr. Bowell, accompanied by Mr. Thos. White and Mr. George Taylor, M. P.'s, visited Gananoque on Saturday and inspected twenty-three of the flourishing factories in full operation there. In the evening an enthusiastic meeting of Conservatives was held, at which addresses of welcome to the Minister and Mr. White were read, and responded to by those gentlemen in able speech, dealing with the live political issues of the day.

The American Congress.

Business in the United States Congress is in such a condition that a minority in either House can easily force an extra session, but the leaders of both Houses express the opinion that the appropriation bills will all be passed before the fourth of March. This will require the abandonment of many important measures which have been perfected in one House or the other, and it is thought that not much general legislation, other than that attached to appropriation bills, can be enacted.

LATEST WAR NEWS!

COL. WILSON IS RESCUED BY LORD O. BERESFORD.

ATTACKED BY THE ARABS WHILE RETURNING TO GUBAT.

Col. Wilson Faces the Enemy on the Shore—The Steamer Attacked—British Troops to Proceed at Once to the Sudan.

(By Telegraph to the Review.)

KORTI, Feb. 10.—Lord Charles Beresford has returned to Gubat, bringing Gen. Wilson and his party. The rebels on the river banks kept up a constant fire. Shortly after the party had embarked a bullet pierced the boiler of the steamer. It was necessary to anchor under fire and make repairs. The British fire, however, took effect and the rebels were repulsed.

WILSON'S RESEMBLING WITH THE ARABS.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Gen. Wolseley telegraphs that when Lord Charles Beresford's steamer had gone down the river three miles a battery of the enemy on the left bank opened fire. The steamer returned the fire and Col. Wilson, with a small party, took four guns and landed on the right bank. The party marched down the river till they were directly opposite the battery and put guns in position and opened fire. Much assistance was thus rendered to Lord Beresford in keeping the fire of the enemy down. At sunset, Wilson and party marched on three miles further, and halted for the night. They were joined by Beresford on the following morning. The steamer, meanwhile, had another engagement with the rebel battery, but passed it without serious harm. Col. Wilson and party were again taken aboard, and the steamer proceeded to Gubat without difficulty.

THE KILLED AND INJURED.

During the passage from the island to Gubat one man was killed and seven injured. Of the injured four were natives who were scalded in the engine room.

THE OFFICERS FRAMED.

Gen. Wolseley concludes the despatch as follows:—"I cannot speak too highly of the pluck of Lord Charles Beresford and all his party. Col. Wilson's men likewise behaved admirably and with the usual determination of Englishmen."

ARRIVANCE FROM ITALY.

VIENNA, Feb. 10.—It is understood that Italy has consented to occupy Cairo, Alexandria, Suakin, Suez, Port Said and Ismailia. This will enable the British troops in Egypt to proceed forthwith to the Sudan.

SHOWED-UP STATES.

Farious Blizzards and Snowstorms—The Worst in a Quarter of a Century.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—A snowstorm which set in yesterday shows no signs of abatement. Street locomotion is almost impossible. Freight trains on the Rock Island and Lake Shore roads have been abandoned until the snow stops drifting. Reports from all directions of the great snow say that business is practically suspended and roads are impassable. No trains, passenger or freight, go out to-day or to-night on the Grand Trunk, Kankakee line, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Baltimore and Ohio, Louisville, New Albany, and Chicago, Peoria, St. Louis, Chicago and Atlantic, The Western and Iowa Divisions of the Illinois Central Roads have been hiring every available man to go out on the lines to shovel snow. Under favorable circumstances the managers say they cannot expect to get back to schedule time for two or three days, and possibly a week. The loss to the roads will be enormous.

The storm rages generally throughout Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin, caught at once with a furious blizzard. Many passenger trains are snow bound, and all freight traffic is suspended. In many places the snow is four feet deep in the streets, on the level, and has drifted from ten to twelve feet deep. The storm is the most violent that has been known for a quarter of a century. In some places the storm was accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning.

BARNES, Feb. 9.—On Saturday the two and a half year old son of Mr. B. Martini, legation master at Allendale, accidentally fell into a pot of boiling water, scalding him so seriously that the little sufferer died to-day. Mr. Martini has the heartfelt sympathy of his numerous friends.

THE SUDAN.

History of the Events which Led to the Present Trouble.

Events have moved with such rapidity in the Sudan that the average reader finds it difficult to recall the circumstances which led to the present trouble. In answer to requests for information upon this point, we may say in brief that when England undertook, on behalf of holders of Egyptian bonds, to wind up the banking estate of that country, she found it menaced by a rebellion in the Sudan, the Mahdi having asserted that he had been divinely commissioned to protest by force of arms against the Egyptian Government of that day, and also against that foreign interference which, in the agencies of its hopelessness, it had countenanced. This view was also held by a large portion of the Egyptian population proper, whose resistance to British orders led to the bombardment of Alexandria. When these malcontents under Arabi had been brought into subjection, the task of dealing with the Mahdi's rebellion to the south still remained. Egyptian troops under Hicks Pasha and Col. Stewart, both of whom perished, had been carrying on operations against the Prophet, but the British Government determined to withdraw them from Khartoum, where they had massed, leaving the rebellion to smoulder until it could be more effectively handled. In January, 1884, Gordon was sent from England to Khartoum, to force him, but a few days later he was found with them in Khartoum, the Mahdi dominating all the surrounding country. Gordon sent out messages asking for help, and Mr. Gladstone having at last been aroused to fulfill the obligation of saving him, Wolsey's expedition was despatched for that purpose.

The affair has now assumed graver proportions. Under the most favorable circumstances the relief of Khartoum would have been a perilous achievement. But now that the place, together with Gordon, if he be alive, has fallen into the hands of the Arabs, the danger is infinitely greater. It is no longer a friendly garrison waiting for help, but a hostile force, with 40,000 fanatics, drawing their food from the fertile territory immediately to the south, and their water from the Nile that guards the town itself. This is a last ditch, from which the Mahdi cannot be driven out by an army supplied with all the appliances for a siege. Meanwhile it is being used as a base of operations against the slender garrisons at Wadai, Suva, and Wadai, which are set out to reach it, believing they were to find its gates open. The position of these detachments is now almost as critical as Gordon's was at the outset. If it is asked why England should not withdraw her troops and yield the country to the Mahdi, the answer is that she could not do so and maintain her prestige either in Egypt or India. The Mahdi's career as a prophet has riveted the attention of the Mohammedan world, and to learn that the master of the field in the Sudan would be a confession of weakness on the part of England which would hardly fail to incite another Indian mutiny. Just now, we are quarrel on hand with Russia respecting the delimitation of the Afghan frontier. Mr. Gladstone cannot afford, much as he may love peace, to run any risks in India. The cost of the war in the Sudan will be enormous. It has been estimated that the cost of the expedition would involve an outlay of $80,000,000; but if they can dispose of the Mahdi for twice that sum, the British taxpayers will probably not complain now. Blood and money come for little in a war of this kind, the preservation of England's empire in the East.—Med.

SUSPECTED MURDER.

A Death Near St. Thomas and its Atmosphere of Suspended Feet Play.

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 7.—The residents of Dunwich Township are excited over the mysterious death of a farmer named James Duncanson, residing near Iona. Deceased has been separated from his wife for some time past, but on Tuesday last he was visited by his wife and the couple visited St. Thomas together. Returning late in the evening Duncanson retired to rest, and next morning was found dead in bed in a sitting posture. There were marks of violence on his body, leading to the supposition that death was caused by foul play.

An examination of the premises resulted in tracks being discovered leading to and from the house. The wife stated that she accompanied her husband as far as his own door, the previous evening and left him there, parting from him on good terms. As deceased was in his usual good health when he retired at night and in consequence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the case an inquest was deemed necessary by Dr. McGreechey, of Iona, the Coroner. Deceased was arrested upon a capias a few weeks ago and lodged in jail at St. Thomas, from which he had only been released a day or two before his death. At the inquest the body was given showing that a bottle containing strychnine was found in deceased's room, and medical testimony went to show that if he had died from that cause the poison was administered by others than his own hands. His death might have been caused by apoplexy brought on by whiskey. Nancy Duncanson, wife of deceased, said that she left him at his own door at 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening, and on returning next morning found all the doors and windows shut. Upon entering the house she found deceased sitting in bed with his legs out and his head on the pillow, his hands were clenched, and the body cold. The body contained strychnine found in the house had been there a long time. The poison was used for killing rats. The jury returned the following verdict:—"That the said James Duncanson did die in his own house, the poison between seven in the evening on the 3rd day of February inst. and ten in the forenoon of the day following, and that, from the medical and other evidence adduced, we further believe that he died in and from convulsion or fit, but whether said convulsion or fit occurred from the excessive use of alcoholic liquor or from operation of a certain poison or poisons, we do not feel able to determine." Seven out of the fifteen persons were in favor of adjourning the inquest until a Post mortem examination had been held.

A Boarder Robbed.

BELLEVIEW, Feb. 7.—On Thursday evening the trunk of Carl Strom, a boarder in the Anglo-American hotel, was broken into and articles to the value of $65 were stolen. The thief could be far up, which he stole, to a merchant in town, and showed the other articles, freely offering them for sale. He went yesterday morning to Coburg, and the facts were made known to the police, who telephoned the thief and found that he had been arrested there while attempting a job of snail thieving in an hotel.

Boiler Explosion.

PROBIA, Ill., Feb. 9.—The boilers in the starch works of the Fumonia Manufacturing Company exploded last evening. The building was badly damaged. The boilers were thrown a quarter of a mile. The firemen and watchmen were in the building, but no trace of them can be found.

PROFITABLE MIND-READING.

Stuart Cumberland Has an Opportunity to Get Rich.

Stuart Cumberland was recently the hero of a strange scene enacted in the State prison at Warsaw, where two Russian workmen lay charged with having first discovered and afterward disposed of treasure hidden on the estate of M. Bartholdi, supposed, according to the family tradition, to have been buried during the troublesome times of 1831. Failing to elicit any information from the prisoners, the authorities came to Cumberland, who happened to be in Warsaw, for assistance in the matter. He declared that he was not a clairvoyant, and could not read what a man did not wish to tell, but that he was perfectly willing to try his hand at reading the prisoners' thoughts. Accordingly, in company with the judge who had tried the prisoners, and the English consul, he visited the prison. The prisoners were brought into the governor's private room. Cumberland took out of his pocket some coins, saying that they represented a portion of the money deposited by the thieves in their haste when moving the box containing the treasure, adding that no matter where the prisoners hid the money he could find it. The two men received this with great defiance, suddenly entering into the experiment. Cumberland wrapped up the coins in a piece of paper, asking that one of the convicts should, with the knowledge of his companion, hide the same during his absence from the room. This was done, and Cumberland, returning blindfolded, took the confederate by the hand, and in a moment went to an old fashioned Russian stove which stood in a corner of the room, and, according to the family tradition, he was worth 150,000 rubles, out of which Cumberland is to receive a quarter if it is discovered through his agency.

Doctors' Prescription.

By reason of the suffering and death which has resulted from mistakes made by druggists in compounding physicians' prescriptions it has been argued that such prescriptions, which are now written in Latin, should be written in English, so that errors in translation might be avoided.

There are objections to this change. One interested person has made the peculiar but forcible argument that human nature should be humbugged to some extent. In other words, the writer claims that if the patient could read the physician's prescription, and come to have a knowledge of the medicine prescribed, he would often refuse to take it, and when taken the drug would not have its intended effect because of the patient's lack of faith in its efficacy. Thus ignorance is bliss and it fully to be wise.

It is doubtful whether all or many of our intelligent physicians would defend the present practice of writing prescriptions in Latin upon the ground just stated.

But were these interesting documents written in the plaintext English, not many patients would possess the knowledge of the names and properties of drugs necessary to an understanding of the probable effect of the prescription when taken. For the general public, then, nothing worth while would be gained by the change. And the druggist would be as likely as ever to read castor oil for croton oil, and vice versa.

The only apparent way to remedy the trouble is to pass a law requiring physicians to learn to write before practicing upon their fellow creatures, and declaring that each druggist must take a dose of each prescription before delivering it to a customer, as a guarantee that he understands the nature of what he has compounded. But it is possible physicians sometimes make mistakes. If so, under such a law, what would become of our druggists?—Hamil-ton Spectator.

Manlaughter by Misadventure.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—Peter Skard, the owner of a toboggan slide at Nepean Point, at which Baptiste Poulin, aged 17, was killed, was committed for trial on the jury's verdict at the inquest of "manslaughter by misadventure." Skard placed a three-inch plank across the bottom of the slide in order to prevent any one from using the hill in his absence, a number of boys being in the habit of jumping over the fence which surrounded the top of the slide and amusing themselves on the hill free of charge. On the night of the accident the young Poulin was a few companions scaled the fence. Poulin started down the steep hill sitting upon a few barrel staves. His head struck the plank at the foot and he was instantly killed.

Strained by a Boy.

CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 8.—Frank Abner, 15 years old, has been gaoled, charged with murdering his grandmother, Mrs. Roe, near Rock Creek. On Monday evening he went to the woods to play with an older boy, to whom he expressed apprehension that his grandmother would whip him for neglecting his work. "If he says anything to you knock her on the head," said his companion. Mrs. Roe administered a reprimand, but did not whip the trunk, who went to bed early and with muttered threats. At midnight he got up and buried an axe in his grandmother's brain, killing her instantly.

Railway Accident.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 9.—As a west bound train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad approached a bridge across a small stream ten miles from here, yesterday, it struck a rail and tilted along on the ties until it ran upon the bridge, which went down, carrying with it two coaches and a sleeper, containing 20 to 25 passengers. The following were killed:—Robert Brown, of Mount Pleasant, Ill.; Mrs. W. C. Carroll, of Sangamon, Col.

The New Orleans Exposition Bankrupt.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—The financial statement of the New Orleans exposition submitted to President Arthur shows a deficiency of $319,000. Congress is asked for further assistance to carry the exposition through. Work has been suspended on unfinished buildings, and it is understood the awards in some departments remain unpaid, owing to financial embarrassment. The demand for space for exhibits continues. All available room is now occupied.

Her Part.

"Did you enjoy the party, Emma?"
"Ever so much, mamma."
"I hope you were a good little girl and listened to what was said to you!"
"I did, mamma, I listened all the evening to one person talk."
"Who was talking?"

The Clery of Niagara.
Edith—"How nice it would be if we could both go to the same resort next summer. I rather expect to go to Saratoga again. It is such a delightful place, lots of gentlemen there, you know."

Eulalia—"Oh, I couldn't think of it. I am going to Niagara Falls as usual. The gentlemen are not so numerous there as at Saratoga, but it is ever so much nicer."

"Well, I never was there, but I am sure I would not prefer it to Saratoga."
"Oh, indeed you would not. If you spent one day at Niagara you would never go anywhere else, especially with your ma and pa guarding you like hawks."

"But what advantage can Niagara have?"
"The noise of the falls, the sound of the falling water—Philadelphia Call."

Held for Extortion.
LONDON, Ont., Feb. 9.—Francis Baun, a Jew, one of the Dallas, Texas, cotton swindlers, who defrauded the Gould system of Railways out of $100,000 by means of forged bills of lading, was tracked here and arrested by Detective Purdon, of Philadelphia, on Saturday. He has been held by Judge Bell, of Chatham, for extortion. On the charge that Baun and his confederates perpetrated being discovered he fled, but was followed, captured and brought back. Pending his trial he was released on $25,000 bail, which he forfeited, and fled here.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.
"Calvert, Texas, May 3, 1883."

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as a cough remedy."

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL."

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1886.

RECAPITULATION OF TELEGRAMS.

It is a question of public expediency whether the officers of a telegraph company should be compelled to disclose the messages that pass through their hands. It they are so compelled it is obvious that people will not telegraph important business secrets, or that they will only do so on conditions that the writing is immediately destroyed.

The Globe makes the startling statement that Mr. Wright destroyed the telegrams of those charged with conspiracy to bribe members, in order that he might hide their guilt. Mr. Wright swears that the telegrams in question did not refer to the charges under investigation, and that they were destroyed to protect the legitimate business secrets of the customers of the company.

There is, however, a case upon which the Globe may well comment if it wishes to be critical. The members of the Morris Administration telegraphed to some of their tools who were carrying on or discharging the clerical duties of the official despatches, but only to give the names of the persons to whom they were sent, and by whom they were received. Even this they declined to do, though the country has to pay for these clandestine messages. The nature of these telegrams between the members of the Ministry and their tools may be guessed from the questions that have already been published, which were so derogatory that the only possible defense was the false cry that these messages had been stolen.

The Reformers would do well to avoid any mention of the suppression of telegrams.

ALGONA, TASTIC.

Mr. CHURCHILL has unfortunately accepted the offer by not quoting enough to place it from an official report of Mr. Aubrey White, when he was employed in Algona by the Morris Administration to corrupt and corrupt that constituency. In the portion that was not quoted, Mr. Aubrey White, according to the Globe, "Simply intended to convey to the Minister of Crown Lands that if action was taken calculated to alienate those of the residents who were the friends of Ontario, it might result in trouble, and might possibly in having the Ontario authorities driven out of that portion of the district."

Thus, according to their leading organ, one of the disquieting tools of the Morris Administration neglected to enforce the claims of the Province for fear that the Ontario authorities, that is, Messrs. Murray & Co., should incur disfavor. The next step was to ask for votes for the party because it thus raised the claims of the Province in favor of elections whose votes were then in demand.

Now that the depression is passing away, and business is reviving, would it not be well for the Globe, in the interest of its party, to send out "special correspondents" to write down the inducements of the country, in order to cause further enhancements and endeavour to make the depression deeper? This would be in keeping with the course pursued by it not long since, and the Reformers will soon have little to talk about.

The evidence known as the "practical joker" appears to be plentiful. Kingston and Saratoga have both had dynamite scares, caused by the joker, and this week Toronto was agitated by a similar fright. A suspicious looking box, containing black work and a black substance, was found near the Government buildings, but the black substance turned out to be lamp black. Evidently the usefulness of the fool joker is not yet gone.

Mr. BLAKE's first division of the House of Commons for this session cannot have afforded him much encouragement, as the attendance he moved was negatived by 121 to 59, or a majority of more than two to one in a large House. Many by-questions have taken place since, but none, and thus the country, by maintaining his large majority, shows its continued confidence in Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues.

The Liberals of South Oxford have passed a resolution, declaring that they would prefer independence to the proposed scheme of Imperial Federation. Of course they are very loyal, and it is their great love for England that makes them prefer a complete separation from that country to a closer union.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

Changes in the High School Law - The Boundary Case and Timber Limits - Returns Asked For.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 11.-Mr. G. W. Ross introduced his Bill to consolidate the High School Act, and briefly explained its provisions. Among the amendments proposed are the following:—An average attendance of 100 pupils for the first half year and of 80 for the second half year will qualify the High School for erection into a Collegiate Institute. The chairman of High School Boards shall have only one vote. High School trustees shall have power to suspend a pupil for insubordination. The Municipal Treasurer shall be the treasurer of High School Boards. High School Masters shall be remunerated for services rendered as examiners. The High Schools shall close for the holidays simultaneously with the Public Schools. Teachers resigning their charge of schools during the summer holidays shall be paid according to the proportion their time of service bears to the total of teaching days in the year. The Legislative grant shall be paid directly to the Trustees of High School Boards, and it shall be based upon the amount of salaries paid to teachers, the character and equipment of High School buildings, and the average attendance. He had, he said, been unable to assist High Schools in towns separate from counties.

FIRST READING.
A number of bills were introduced and read the first time.

NO TEMPERANCE TEST BOOKS.

Mr. G. W. Ross, in reply to Mr. French, said the Government did not intend to introduce a test book on temperance into the Public Schools.

THE DUNKIN ACT.

Mr. KERR moved for returns regarding the expenses of enforcing the Temperance Act of 1884 in the Township of Roxborough.

Mr. MORRIS moved a resolution proposing a number of additional rules for the House, which was referred to a Special Committee.

REPARATED BONDS.

Mr. REMINGTON moved for a return of papers relating to estimated rail bonds of one Lyons, committed for trial on a charge of burglary or larceny in St. Thomas.

THE COMMITTEE.

Additions were, on motion of Mr. Morris, made to several of the Committees.

TEACHERS' PERMITS.

Mr. MERRITT moved for a return of the names of all persons who have made application to the Public School Inspectors in each county for permits to teach; names of persons to whom such permits have been granted; dates of cancellation and dates of renewal, if renewed. After some discussion, the motion was passed, the having been amended by being limited to the last two years at the suggestion of Hon. G. W. Ross.

TIMBER LIMITS.

Mr. YOUNG moved for a return of copies of all correspondence, Orders in Council, or other documents touching any action taken by the Government since the decisions of the Privy Council on the Boundary question, to protect our timber and minerals in the so-called disputed territory, and, if in possession of the Government, the names and residences of the persons to whom the Dominion Government has granted lands, licenses, or permits to cut timber or take minerals in that part of Ontario, with the area of territory involved in each case and the price and terms stipulated therefor.

Mr. MORRIS said that part of the information had been brought down, and the remainder they had had during the summer of the previous year, and if in possession of the Government, the names and residences of the persons to whom the Dominion Government has granted lands, licenses, or permits to cut timber or take minerals in that part of Ontario, with the area of territory involved in each case and the price and terms stipulated therefor.

Mr. MERRITT moved that the credit for the settlement of the boundary dispute did not belong to the Government. They would have the assistance of the Opposition in supporting Ontario's claim to the lands.

Mr. FRANK said that Mr. Meredith appeared to be holding a brief for the Dominion Government.

Mr. CANNING argued that it was through the efforts of the Opposition that the decision in the boundary case had been obtained for Ontario. He condemned the charges that had been made without positive information, and remarked that he was afraid to examine Mr. John Shields when he appeared before the commission.

He blamed the Attorney General for abandoning before the Privy Council Ontario's claim for more territory.

After comments by Mr. Arvey and Mr. O'Leigh, the debate was adjourned.

OUTSTANDING ACCOUNTS.

Mr. YOUNG moved for return of papers relating to the final settlement of the financial affairs of the late Province of Canada.

THE BUDGET.

Mr. MERRITT suggested that the Treasurer's statement be not made until the Public Accounts and the estimates were in the hands of the members.

The House adjourned at 5.45.

A MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

A Murder and Would-be Bigamist, Reported from Kingston, Ont. at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 11.—The mystery connected with Harry Roberts, who died in the Hotel Dieu on January 19th, was cleared up today. Dr. Chas. Clarke, of Toronto, was driven by a Whip representative to Oshawa cemetery, where the remains were exhumed and the body identified as one Bernard, who had been in the doctor's employ. Bernard was employed in a felt factory at Berlin, and a rival suitor for a girl's love learned that he had a wife in Chicago. He was decoyed into visiting Chicago, where he was arrested. He was wanted for murdering a negro in New Orleans and shooting at a hotel proprietor. While being taken to New Orleans he jumped from the train and escaped. He came to Kingston a year ago, and was killed in a hotel here about November. He was stricken with illness and finally died in the hospital, of consumption. He was supported by a young man here, one of his first acts was to will him all his possessions. He had nothing, however, and nothing of his antecedents could be learned until Dr. Clarke cleared up the mystery. At the grave Clarke fully identified Roberts. Bernard is said to have raised a family in Toronto.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Bureau of Agriculture—Extending our Trade—The Liquor Act—Banking Offices—Report on Our Forestry.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 11.—Much routine business was transacted.

BUREAU OF AGRICULTURE.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD in reply to Mr. G. Gault said the Government was considering the establishment of a Bureau of Agriculture and hoped to introduce a measure.

FORESTRY.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said an officer had been instructed to report on the subject of our Forests and had done so, his report being embodied in that of the Minister of the Interior.

THE MORTGAGE ACT.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said the question of maintaining Boards of Commissioners in Scotch Act counties was under consideration.

DIVORCE COURT.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said it was not intended to create a Divorce Court.

EXTENDING OUR TRADE.

SIR L. TILLY said that steps were being taken for the extension of our trade relations.

BANKING.

MR. CANNING moved in favour of legislation to secure a better supervision and inspection of banks. Sir L. TILLY said that such inspections might be injurious to banks when an inspection was ordered. It would also be considered that a favourable report was tantamount to a guarantee by the government and claims would be made by depositors. It was impossible to pronounce definitely on the standing of a bank's customers.

Mr. HERRIN would withdraw from the banks the privilege of circulating their own bills. Mr. TILLY suggested that banks should be required to deposit a certain amount in the Bank of Canada as a guarantee of their solvency.

MR. CANNING moved in favour of the benefits of inspection.

Mr. BLAKE admitted the difficulties. He advocated an enforcement of the criminal law so as to prevent fraud and false returns.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said Mr. Blake's remarks referred more to a change in the criminal law than to the proposed supervision of banks. The matter should meet with that full consideration which it deserved.

SIR R. CANNING also advocated strengthening the criminal law, and he especially desired an amendment of the extradition law to cover bank offences.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said an extradition treaty was being negotiated between Great Britain and the United States which would cover such cases.

The motion was lost.

CAMPELLFORD.

LOSS OF FREIGHT.—Miss Dalton is at present in Kingston under the treatment of the skilled physicians of that city. We are informed that as a result of the young lady's exposure and injuries on Christmas night, her eyesight failed, and now she is almost totally blind.

For some time the attending physicians were in a quandary as to the cause of her present condition, but we believe they have a better understanding of the case, and there is hope of a restoration of sight.—Herald.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Counting.
Look out for the date and date on which Baird's Monumental Minstrel will appear in Peterborough.

Tuesday Evening Skits.
Tuesday evening next is the date fixed on for the grand carnival under the auspices of Court Peterborough, No. 23, Canadian Order of Foresters, in the Skating Rink. Without doubt this will be the attraction of the season. The energetic committee are pushing matters in a way that does them credit. If these who have the pleasure of attending the last carnival were pleased with the princely manner in which all the details were carried out, they will have doubly the reason to feel even more grateful when they visit the rink on Tuesday evening next. There will be attractions presented to the public that have never been witnessed in Peterborough before, and it will be an evening of mirth and amusement for all. As previously announced the rink will be beautifully decorated with mottoes, lanterns, festoons, evergreens, pictures, etc., and there will be six electric lamps to illuminate the scene. The Fire Brigade band will be in attendance and perform a programme of entirely new and select music.

On a Fatal and Fatalistic Place.
On Wednesday evening Mr. Frank White met with a queer accident, which might have ended in a serious, if not fatal one. The clown pump at his father's residence had become frozen, and in order to provide means for a supply of water water he descended into the cellar, lantern and axe in hand, to cut a hole in the ice, through which to draw up the water in pails. He placed the lantern on the ice, which was solid enough to bear his weight, and commenced to chop. But the water, strange to say, had fallen away from the ice to the distance of two feet. After chopping for some time, unconscious of his danger, the ice at the edge began to crack, and he fell into the water. The situation now became dangerous, but by dint of much exertion Mr. White managed to keep himself afloat until assistance arrived, when by means of ropes, etc., he was drawn up from his icy bath, having sustained but very trifling injury.

We are clearing out the balance of our Stock of Valentine's Day Cards. Goods all new. L. D. & Co.

St. Valentine's Day.
To-morrow, the 14th of February, will be St. Valentine's day. It is difficult to say, with any degree of accuracy, whence this festival originated. Some authorities suppose it to have arisen from the ancient roman religion of Northwestern Europe. Others think it has sprung from a recognition of the proclivity of the human mind to the birds choose their mates. Mr. Deane, however, in his "Illustrations of Shakespeare," suggests that it descended to us from the Romans, who, during the month of February, held a peculiar festival, at which they put the names of young women into a box from which they were drawn by bachelors as names directed, and that the Christian Church, finding it impossible to extirpate this pagan practice, gave it a religious aspect by substituting the names of saints instead of women. In the good old times of yore the maidens and bachelors were wont to assemble on St. Valentine's Eve to celebrate this festival, and the names of all were placed into a receptacle and promiscuously drawn, care being taken to select the name of a person of the opposite sex, and for the year ensuing the person whose name was drawn would be his or her "valentine," or special loving friend. In the 16th century the celebration of this festival was popular among the upper classes, when it was the custom to give or receive presents, but at the present day the privilege of giving presents seems to be restricted, to a great extent, to the bachelors, and the presents given usually take the form of those pretty, ornamented and fantastically arranged cards which appear in such profusion in the fancy stores and bookstalls at this time of the year. Mr. C. B. Rostley has an unusually well selected stock of these emblematic cards and bachelors (and young ladies if they feel so inclined) may find precisely what they want. The cards may vary their epics on the subjects of their malle by evading barter, of which Mr. Rostley has also a varied display.

ST. VALENTINE'S FESTIVAL.

A Large and Select Assembly Spent a Pleasant Evening at St. Valentine's.

On Thursday evening a numerous company assembled at Hazel Bros, in response to invitations, for the purpose of celebrating that agreeable festival which has been handed down for so many generations—St. Valentine's.

At eight o'clock the spacious hall and reception apartments of the home were well filled and the evening's programme was proceeded with.

The concert-entertainment was held in the commodious school room. A neat stage with draw curtains tastefully arranged had been built at the end of the room. The first number on the programme was an instrumental selection by Messrs. Hartley, Tate, Gault, Everett and Thomas. The place was well received. A vocal solo entitled, "At the Ferry," by William, sung by Mrs. Chambers, came next. It is needless to comment upon the style in which the solo was sung, suffice it to say that it was well chosen and effectively rendered as is characteristic of Mrs. Chambers. Mr. F. Cooper recited with considerable ability a selection from Sir Walter Scott's "Lady of the Lake," entitled, "The Conflict." Number four on the programme was a vocal solo by Miss Annie Hadden, of Millbrook, "It was a Dream," by Owen. Miss Hadden has appeared several times before Peterborough audiences and has evidently found a place in their hearts. But not only in Peterborough is she a favorite, for her sweet, well-cultivated soprano, suave of manner, and attractive stage appearance creates a favorable impression wherever she goes. Mr. Gault sang a baritone solo, "Thou Wilt Return no More," by Watts. "The Three Old Maids of Lew," sung by Miss Stephenson, of Guelph, was greeted with liberal applause. The first part of the programme was brought to a close by a tableau, "Our National Game" given in three scenes, the face, the skirmish and the game. It was effectively put on and those who took part in it, Messrs. N. Brown, D. Montgomery, E. Ritchie, E. Mason and G. Stevenson, (referee) posed in a very natural manner.

Then came the most interesting event, perhaps, of the evening. The good things provided by the ladies, placed in tasteful and fantastic baskets were auctioned off and those who were lucky enough to secure one had the pleasure of lunching with the lady whose name he found on a card enclosed in some corner place in the basket. Mr. J. C. T. Leary acted as auctioneer in a very happy manner, and when all the baskets had been disposed of each bidder or bidder caught out the donor and lunch was the next in order.

After lunch was partaken the second part of the programme was proceeded with. It was opened by a pianoforte duet by Mrs. Duff and her little daughter. Miss Hadden, Miss Stephenson and Mr. Gault again contributed songs and a tableau, "A Glimpse at the Celestial" in which Messrs. D. Montgomery, N. Brown, and E. Ritchie took part, was happily rendered. The sight when the curtains were drawn was somewhat of a surprise. Instead of angels bright, the sober John Chambers, gravely engaged in laundry work, met the view. The second part of the programme was closed by a solo by Mrs. Chambers, "The Children's Home" by T. H. Owen. "God Save the Queen" was sung by all in a particularly hearty manner after which the assembly slowly dispersed.

The management have every reason to feel satisfied as to the result of the festival. No doubt a great amount of labor was involved in completing all the arrangements and looking to every little detail, but their efforts were crowned with complete success, and we may safely say that everyone present spent a most enjoyable evening.

We are requested, on behalf of the management, to make the following explanation:—Owing to the sickness of his brother, Mr. W. A. Dickson was unable to be present. His absence was felt but his place on the Committee of Management was capably taken by Mr. Geo. Stevenson, while the members allotted to him on the programme were filled in a correct and attractive manner by Miss Stephenson, of Guelph. The management wish also to apologize for the non-appearance of Mr. Hutchinson, who telegraphed the impossibility of fulfilling his engagement on account of a similar case—sickness in his family.

The Prohibition.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fair weather, not much change in temperature.

At the Rink.
No doubt the rink will be well patronized this evening. The excellent band of the Fire Brigade will be present in full force, which, no doubt, will prove a strong attraction. Two friendly curling matches will be played between clubs of local celebrity.

Immediate Notice.
Tenders will be received up to Tuesday, the 17th inst., at noon, for the purchase on site of the stock in trade and book debts of John Pope, by Mr. John O'Meara, solicitor for the trustee of said John Pope's estate. Stock and inventory with list of book debts can be seen on application to Mr. O'Meara. This is an excellent chance for a man with moderate capital to acquire a good stock at a small figure.

Personal.
Mr. W. C. Whyte, General Superintendent of the Ontario & Quebec branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was in town to-day.

Mr. Theo. Blatterly, of Fitch, Assistant Inspector of Weights and Measures for the Belleville district, is registered at the Morgan House.

We take much pleasure in announcing that Mr. Alex. Elliott has recovered from his recent illness and is now able to assume his duties.

POLICE COURT.

DRESS.

FRIDAY, Feb. 13.—Wm. Harmon was charged by Chief of Police Johnson with having been drunk in a public place. He pleaded guilty, urged the first offence plea, and was allowed to go.

SHOOTING RINK.

Shooting tickets will now be issued at half rate. Band will be at the rink every Friday evening.

HOTEL TRANSFER.

Mr. E. Brown, late of the Little Windsor Hotel, has sold the furniture, fixtures and good-will of the hotel to Mr. Timothy Gault, late of the Albion Hotel, Ashburham. The hotel will be conducted under the same name, and no doubt the new proprietor will meet with as much favor and patronage as the retiring one.

IMPORTANT.

The Surgeons of the Ontario Sanitarium, Toronto, the largest Medical Association in Canada, will be at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 13th and 14th, where they may be consulted FREE OF CHARGE, in reference to any diseases of a lingering character. These surgeons have no connection with any Yankee institution.

SMITH'S MARKET.

Fresh Trout, Whitefish, Smelt, Irish Herring, Oatmeal, Beans, Haddock and Cod. Finnan Haddis, Kippered, Macaroni, Bloaters, Dried Cod, Salt Mackerel &c. Potatoes, Cabbages, Onions, Carrots, Parsnips, Beets, Turnips and Celery. Oranges, Lemons, Grapes, Apples. Oysters as usual, prime and select.

THE WHIRLWIND OF TIME.

It has been said by some that the greatest enemy of man is Time. Seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks, months and years fly so quickly that they are gone forever before one has sufficiently realized that they were here. Thus it is that the world keeps moving on, and man, the human machine that takes so conspicuous a part in the working of it, becomes worn out, many of them before the allotted time given on this earth is half run. Many work from morning till night, from childhood to old age, and in the end have nothing left but an aged and decrepit frame for their toil; they are worn out with overwork and mental toil; the human axle has had no oiling, and in consequence is now useless. There are many who cannot help this, but there are also very many who might have done better if they had so wished. Men are often times averse to many good rules in this life, letting things take their course as they may. One of the various and objectionable faults in the life of man is that he lets his clothing get old and shabby—lets them look "the worse of the wear," so to speak—when it is always essential that clothing should be looked after and cared for, and the stock replenished as often as is necessary, as well as other things. If your suit is old and worn out, why don't you go to Hinchliff Hall and leave your measure for another? A. McNeil.

FIREIGHT HOLOGRAV.

FIRE IN THE PHILADELPHIA ALMSHOUSE—Eighteen Men Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—A fire broke out in the insane department of the county almshouse, West Philadelphia, at 9 o'clock to-night. The flames spread rapidly, and before the 200 inmates could be released 19 were burned to death. Others were left to roam about the grounds at will, and many were packed up by the police throughout the city. The buildings at 11 o'clock were still burning. The other department were in great danger.

Another account says eighteen raving maniacs were burned to death in the insane department at the Blockley Almshouse, on the west side of the old building of the insane department, which was destroyed by fire. The fire broke out in the building which runs north 400 feet to a similar wing. In addition to this there were large rooms on each side of the three floors on which cells for twelve men were placed, all of which were occupied when the fire broke out. On the second floor opposite the central cell of a row of separate cells on the north side of the corridor, which runs from east to west was the dry room heated by steam. This room which was about two feet square was directly alongside the middle staircase leading to the floors above and below. Here the flames originated, but from what cause is not known. At the time there were inmate patients in each of the 30 cells on these three floors.

MILLBROOK.

INCENDIARY FIRE.—About 5 o'clock on Thursday morning the stables of the Victoria Hotel were destroyed by fire, and with their contents of hay and grain, were totally destroyed. The horses and vehicles were saved. The loss will be a couple of thousand dollars. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

A SEVERE CURS.

A Boston inventor has perfected a more sure, it is a piece of wire bent in the shape of a double hair pin. On one end is a small wheel, something like a child's pin-wheel, made of silk. The wire is fastened over the upper teeth when retiring, bringing the pin-wheel in close proximity to the nose and mouth. When the sleeper awakes it starts the wheel revolving, and the points of the wheel's rays, which have fine sharp, steel needle ends, whirling around rapidly, tick the sleeper's nose and cause him to doze. The inventor has large orders from the numerous sleeping-car companies, and has been made a Past Grand Master in the East of the Society for the Suppression of Profanity.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people knew that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. We old shop-worn good for nothing stuff is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

MORE BARGAINS!

As announced, we will continue this Sale during the month of February, and will give BARGAINS until the close of the month. Call and see for yourselves.

MR. BLAKE'S INTRIGUE.

In the House of Commons Mr. Blake also repudiated the idea that he had intruded last session to obtain the support of the Quebec

Conservative members. In so protesting the leader of the Opposition was indulging in a quibble as unworthy of him as his conduct was on that occasion. People have not forgotten that when an important division was expected last session, the Toronto Globe, the chief journal of the party which Mr. Blake leads, endeavored to corrupt wholesale the Quebec Conservative members. In Mr. Blake's name, and on Mr.

Blake's behalf, it offered to the Quebec members to give them more for their Province than the Conservative Administration of Canada had given, and had been blamed for giving, if they would only vote for Mr. Blake. This offer stood with Mr. Blake's tacit assent as long as it could possibly answer its purpose of corrupting the Quebec members in Mr. Blake's favour. It was not till Mr. Blake found that the offer made in his name had failed in its disgraceful object, from the loyalty and honesty of the Quebec Conservatives, leaving them unimpressed by such corrupt inducements, that Mr. Blake protested that he did not intend any corruption.

Even then he did not specifically repudiate the Globe or condemn it for using his name in such a way as to dishonor him, if he were innocent of all complicity. The most favorable view that could be taken of Mr. Blake's conduct, is that, if not as accomplice before the fact, he was quite willing to avail himself of a corrupt offer in his behalf if it would conduce to his advantage; that he carefully abstained, though his own honor was involved, from thwarting the disgraceful intrigue as long as there was a chance that it would be successful; and that to this day he has not dared to repudiate his agent and ally, or to condemn its action.

It is not surprising that many believe that a party leader who could so connive at the corruption of members and his own dishonor, most probably went a step farther and was a more or less active party to their attempt at wholesale corruption.

A Suggestion.

The Lindsay Post is never tired of giving advice, especially to Peterborough, and although all its suggestions may not be adopted, no doubt some day it will receive its reward. Its latest suggestion is—

"Shaw's mill, afterwards Peterborough, was named after Peter Robinson. The illustrious

Peter conferred a name on the rising village, but did not come west to locate and grow up with the country. Peterborough may yet be known as Cough-borough. Some large transactions in real estate have taken place lately at Peterborough, by which Mr. Geo. A. Cox has become the owner of about $200,000 more real estate in

The Probation.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds; clear shifting from the west and north-west; cloudy and mild, with snow and sleet, followed by decidedly cold weather to-morrow and the day after to-morrow.

Manufacturers' Remembrance in Steam-Boats. By the pond, at TURNBULL'S. Try them.

An Old Settler's Case.
We regret to chronicle the death of the late E. D. Rogers. He was one of our oldest and most respected citizens and in his younger days took an active part in public affairs. He died at his residence on Lake street, Ashburnham, on Sunday afternoon in his seventy-sixth year. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. We will refer to Mr. Rogers' life in another issue.

A Sad Event.
It is with deep sorrow that we announce the death of Ormiston Dixon, son of the late J. M. Dixon, Principal of the College Institute. Only about four weeks ago Mr. Dixon was in the United States he took a severe cold which settled on his lungs. For three weeks he continued to grow worse. He then decided on coming to his home and arrived here only a week previous to his death. When medical assistance was summoned it was at once seen that the signs of that fatal disease commonly known as pulmonary consumption were only too visible. This terrible disease was not long in completing its work; on Sunday morning the deceased breathed his last. The deceased was pronounced to be one of the cleverest ventriloquists of the day. Only some five years ago he gained his profession. Suddenly he was overtaken by death and he was rapidly slipping a high reputation. He was popular both at home and abroad. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their sad and sudden bereavement.

A GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MEETING.

Addressed by the Rev. E. B. Kiefer in the Baptist Church.

On Sunday morning the Rev. E. B. Kiefer, Agent for the Dominion Temperance Alliance, preached an eloquent sermon in St. Paul's Church.

In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, he addressed a gospel temperance meeting in the Baptist Church, Murray street. The church was well filled. Seats were taken on the platform by several volantes of the temperance work, among whom were the Rev. A. H. Munro and the Rev. T. Manning.

The Rev. Mr. Kiefer was then introduced. After a few remarks as to the cause of his appearing before the people whom he was addressing, he said that he came to discuss the state which the liquor traffic was now in and to ask the people what was to be done concerning it? There were those who said "license it," there were others who were disinclined to take upon themselves the moral responsibility of licensing it; but in his opinion an evil could not be regulated into righteousness any more than could an argument frequently urged against the temperance movement; the public be made moral by an Act of Parliament. Neither could temperance be checked by licensing, for the inland Revenue returns show that the quantity of intoxicating liquor consumed in Canada is continually an increase, not only as a nation, but per head. Criminal statistics also showed that each successive year there was a steady advance in the number of those arrested for drunkenness.

He asked why this traffic should exist when it was against the policy of the people? In traffic in other goods every subject was allowed, say invited, to invest his capital, but in this traffic the trade was restricted to one in five hundred. He contended that if every man were allowed to enter into this business and to sell to whom he pleased we could not exist as a nation. The Government made a law which forbade the sale of intoxicating drinks to minors and every one said "Ames." It was the duty of the Government, and every one conceded the right, to interfere and regulate the traffic so as to protect the people, but these regulations were too ineffective and became an eyesore of the Dominion Alliance to say that other methods than those already adapted must be brought into use. The people must have prohibitory legislation and in advocating it he felt as strong as the rock of Gibraltar, for he had the Church of God at his back. The various church courts and conferences had decided in favor of prohibition and eminent divines had also expressed a similar opinion. Cardinal Manning considered it a vain thing to attempt the abolition of this traffic while the Government legalized it by license.

He gave numerous illustrations of the harmful effect of immoderate drinking of potent spirits and asked if the traffic in an agent that had caused so much misery had any right to justification, any existence?

He then made an eloquent appeal to the people for help and sympathy in carrying forward the great movement and urged each and every one to be present at the meeting on Monday evening, when the proposed methods by which the traffic was to be arrested would be fully discussed.

If the evening be preached to a large congregation is the George Street Methodist Church.

Shooting Risk.
There will be no skating to-day or to-morrow forenoon or afternoon, as the ice is being prepared for bonspiel and carnival.

Pearls of English Songs. A collection of the most popular songs and songs, selected by the best English authors, for 75 cents. Bell Organ Office.

Arrangements for To-morrow.
Arrangements for the success of the curling match between the Toronto Granite Club and the home players, six risks each, are completed. They arrive on Tuesday in a special car at 11.50 a.m. They will be driven to the rink where dinner will be served, at 12 p.m. The tables have been set for fifty, a temporary kitchen and a bar have been put up, a stove erected (supplied with fuel) and a large hot bed of hot water laid out to provide the hot dinner and provide over the refreshment tables at the carnival in the evening. For present appearance the management of both the curling match and carnival have evidently made a good choice in selecting Mr. Roddy, as he is hard to see his own words says "Should I not make a single cent, I am bound to give the curlers a splendid dinner and to give perfect satisfaction to all who patronize the refreshment stands in the evening." The curling room has been divided by a partition making the dining room 19x16 ft., which has been carpeted with Brussels. Some elegant furniture comprising sideboard, comfortable, easy chairs, lounge, etc., will transform it to a perfect bower. The other room 20x16 will be utilized as a dining room and along with the sitting room will be beautifully decorated with flags, festoons, &c. Mr. Wm. Roberts has charge of the carpenter work, and Mr. H. W. Watson the painting. Everything promises to make to-morrow a gala day at the rink. Arrangements for the carnival are also completed or rather will be to-night. Decorations on a far more elaborate scale have been made, a stage for the musical troupe erected, drop and side curtains placed in position, programmes printed, in fact, words can scarcely convey the extensive preparations made fully assuming a pleasing entertainment, the like of which for quality and quantity has never been offered to a Peterborough audience. Don't miss it. If you do you will regret it. Tickets for afternoon and evening, 25 cents.

Look out for the small black pattern, on a plain ground, in Hattie's Cloths, Silks, Satins, Cashmeres, Belts, Ribbons and Ribbons. All who wish to see the Latest Spring Styles will find them at TURNBULL'S.

DAILY EVENING REVIEW.

VOL. XIII.—No. 41.

PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1886.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

BIRTH.
OBERA.—On Tuesday, the 17th inst, the wife of Dr. OBERA of a daughter.

Giroux & Sullivan.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn good for nothing is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

Scott Act Meeting.
A meeting was held in the Methodist church in Ashburham on Tuesday evening. Mr. D. W. Dumble occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks dwelt on the evils of the liquor traffic. The Rev. B. B. Keeler then delivered an address on the Scott Act, pointing out how it differed from, and was better than, the Dundee Act. At the conclusion of the address, a vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Keeler, on motion of the Rev. F. McAdam, seconded by Dr. Pitt, and a vote of thanks was also tendered to the Chairman.

Closing Entertainment.
The closing entertainment of the series held under the auspices of St. Luke's branch of the Church of England Temperance Society was held on Monday evening at the school house in connection with the church. The Rector of the parish, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, took the chair. The entertainment was opened by a pianoforte solo by Mrs. Orde. During the evening vocal solos were given by Mrs. Bowman, Miss Emma Minor, and Messrs. J. G. French and O. H. Gale. Mr. Gale and Mrs. Bowman rendered a duet that was loudly applauded. Readings by Miss B. B. Keeler, W. Hooper, and Miss Campbell, were well received. The entertainment was closed by a dialogue in which parts were taken by five boys. The school room was well filled on this occasion of the closing entertainment, and each performer was greeted with well merited applause. During the evening Mrs. Orde accompanied the singers on the pianoforte with much taste.

LATEST FROM THE WAR

A CONVOY OF WOUNDED FIGHT THE ARABS FOR AN HOUR AND A HALF.

Gen. Stewart Everleigh—Departure of the Guards for Egypt—Address of the Commander in Chief—Gen. Gordon's Last Message.

(By Telegraph to the Review.)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—It is reported that General Gordon's last message to Gen. W. W. W. was held out at Khartoum for years, "I am held out at Khartoum for years," was preceded by the question,—"What are you coming to? I have not asked for you."

MARSHAL BERT'S APPOINTMENT.
The News positively denies the statement that Hassan Bey, brother of the Khedive, has been appointed Governor-General of the Sudan, and says that he simply represents the Mohammedan Government in Egypt.

DEPARTURE OF THE GUARDS.
The Guards left for Suakin to-day. The Duke of Cambridge, in his address, reminded them that their discipline was of a high order and that England would expect a good report of their arrival. He hoped that, notwithstanding the severe trials attendant on the campaign in Egypt, the Guards would remember their duty to their country and do it nobly. The Princess of Wales and her daughters were at the review and a large crowd collected to give the Guards a parting cheer.

AN HOUR AND A HALF OF FIGHTING.
Khartoum, Feb. 18.—Later information shows that the fight between Talbot's convoy of sick and wounded and the Arabs lasted an hour and a half. Five British soldiers were wounded. The wounded are doing well, but Gen. Stewart is feverish.

TOKENS OF REGARD.
Mr. J. Coughlin received some handsome presents on the Eve of his Marriage.

The following address was presented to Mr. J. Coughlin on the eve of his marriage by a number of his lifelong friends:—

DEAR FRIEND,—In offering you our congratulations and best wishes on this happy occasion, we do so with mingled feelings of pleasure. Most of us have been boys with you from your infancy, have grown up with you, and have been pleased to hear of your path through life being one of pleasure.

The past events have been an nothing compared with the important step you are about to take, and which will influence (more or less) the rest of your days.

We wish you to accept the accompanying present as a small token of our good will, with the assurance that you will always dwell in our memories as the same good-hearted friend and social companion you have proved to be on so many occasions in the past, and at the same time it will recall the happy memory of bygone days which we can enjoy no more, but we all hope your future will be as happy as our fondest hopes can imagine, and if so, you will never drop a tear of sorrow.

W. W. Radford, Frank Fairlie, John Doan, J. H. Leitch, J. D. McMillan, W. H. Hickey, R. H. Kirtley, J. H. Hickey, C. Rutherford, Peterborough, Feb. 18, 1886.

The present referred to is an elegant silver water pitcher, suitably engraved, and it substantially shows in what esteem Mr. Coughlin is held by those with whom he has associated from childhood. Mr. Coughlin was also made the recipient of a very handsome silver card-receiver, this present being made by the members of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral, an organization in which he has taken an active part for the past ten years. On Sunday evening, after supper, in the Convent de Notre Dame, the presentation was made and a suitable address read. This gives an additional proof of Mr. Coughlin's popularity.

For Fancy Goods such as Gloves, Collars, Lace, Ties, Fichus, Handkerchiefs, Cotton Trimmings, Oriental Laces, etc., all new go to TURNBULL'S.

A BRIDGE QUESTION.

South Monaghan and O'Connell's Wish to retain the Wallace Point Bridge.

A meeting of the ratepayers of South Monaghan and O'Connell was held at Fauscher's Hotel, Wallace's Point, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 17, to express their views in opposition to the removal of Wallace's Point bridge. Mr. John Hunter was on motion appointed Chairman, and Mr. W. Smithson was elected Secretary.

The Chairman called the meeting to order, and explained in a few words its object, after which a number present expressed their views on the subject, speaking in favor of maintaining the old bridge.

It was moved by Mr. Wm. Green, seconded by Mr. F. A. Kinkaid,—"That this meeting views with alarm the communications in the local papers regarding the doing away with the Wallace Point bridge, as recommended by the County Council of the County of Peterborough, and take this opportunity of protesting against such proceedings, on the ground that it would be detrimental to a large portion of the two townships."—Carried unanimously.

Storm Signals.

As the coming of a great storm is heralded by the display of cautionary signals, so is the approach of that dread and fatal disease, Consumption, heralded by a display of cautionary signals, viz:—cough, chest pain, hæmoptoe, etc., and a general weakness, and a kind of outward manifestation of the internal blood poison, which, if not promptly expelled from the system, attacks the delicate tissue of the lungs, causing them to ulcerate and break down. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the great remedy for this, as for all diseases having their origin in bad blood. It improves the appetite and digestion, increases vitality and builds up the wasted system.

FALL OF KHARTOUM.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT OF HOW THE MARCH CAPTURED THE TOWN.

Further Particulars of General Gordon's Death—The Massacre of Women Sold—Strength of the Mahdi's Forces.

SERVICES DECLINED.

The officials of the War Office and other members of the Government have decided that Australian and Canadian troops would be unable to reach Suakin in time to share in the operations.

CONVOY OF WOUNDED ATTACKED.

A convoy of wounded and invalid British soldiers, on its way from Gubat to Kert, encountered a party of Arabs. A hot fight ensued between the Arabs and the men, which lasted fifteen minutes. The Arabs were repulsed. The casualties on the British side were few.

THE POSITION AT GUBAT.

Small outpost affairs occur daily near Gubat. The enemy are receiving arms and reinforcements from Khartoum. The Mahdi has ordered all the tribes in the vicinity to assemble immediately and attack the British.

FALL OF KHARTOUM DESCRIBED.

The person who has given the most intelligent and apparently the most reliable account of the fall of Khartoum is named Abdul Karim. He was one of Gen. Gordon's servants and escaped from Khartoum by means of bribery. Abdul Karim says that, when Gen. Gordon's last message to Gen. W. W. W. was held out at Khartoum for years, "I am held out at Khartoum for years," was preceded by the question,—"What are you coming to? I have not asked for you."

When Gen. Gordon would ask him about the correspondence, Farah would say the letters were unimportant and Gen. Gordon apparently believed him. Gen. Gordon's clerk and chief clerk of the arsenal were killed. The Mahdi did not enter Khartoum until the third day after the capitulation. He inspected the city and returned to Omdurman, where he remained. After Gen. Gordon fell, the Arabs killed his clerk and also others with spears. The others who were at the time with Gen. Gordon escaped. Abdul Karim declares that excepting the attack in which two soldiers were committed, there was no fighting in Khartoum. During the attack all the Europeans and most of the Nubians were killed. The men's inhabitants joined the insurgents. No women or children were killed, and all who submitted to the invaders and surrendered their valuables were permitted to depart unmolested. It was reported the Mahdi ordered Farah to be hanged, and that the prophet's soldiers plundered Khartoum, killing all the Greeks in the arsenal and liberating all the prisoners except the Greek consul, Nicola, and the doctor.

THE MARCH'S POWER.

Abdul says the Mahdi has 40,000 good fighting men, who, however, he thinks have been somewhat scared at the results of the battles of Abu Kim and Gubat.

No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn good for nothing stuff is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. A BRITISH RETREAT.

FORCED TO EVACUATE THEIR POSITION AT GUBAT.

WHICH GEN. BULLER ACCOMPLISHED BY A CLEVER MOVEMENT.

The Mahdi Following Close With an Overwhelming Force—The Security of Water—The Canadian Voyageurs.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Great anxiety is felt at the War Office regarding the position of Gen.

Buller's force at Gubat. The Mahdi's reinforcements sent to Metamneh will increase the force there to 7,500. The rebels have ten long-range guns. Gen. Buller has no heavy guns.

THE RETREAT FROM GUBAT.

Abu Klea's advice, dated the 15th, state that after rendering Gen. Gordon's steamers useless by removing the machinery, Gen. Buller's whole force evacuated the position near Gubat, and started on the morning of the 14th across the desert, and arrived at Abu

Klea the next day without firing a shot.

The men are cheerful. They prefer walking to camel riding. Abu Klea is considered a more strategic position. The Arabs massed in and around Metamneh did not notice this movement for several hours after Gubat had been deserted.

The British will retire to Gakdul Wells and may possibly continue their retreat to Korti, in order to concentrate the force there under the command of Gen. Wolsley for a fresh advance.

The steamers can be easily repaired when the British return. The total force at Abu Klea, including the Egyptians and Sudanese, now amounts to 19,000 men, with 1,500 camels. The water supply is not sufficient.

BULLER AWAITING ORDERS.

It is believed General Buller is awaiting orders either to retire to Gakdul or advance to Barber and join General Brackenbury.

THE MAHDI ADVANCING ON GUBAT.

It is said that the Mahdi is travelling in state with 40,000 to 60,000 followers, towards Metamenah. The force that Col. Talbot encountered was an advanced detachment. On the 14th inst. the Mahdi with his army was twenty miles from Gubat, and marching slowly. It is estimated the rebels lost 80 men killed during Col.

Talbot's skirmish.

GORDON'S TREASURES SEIZED.

Upon the capture of Khartoum the Mahdi seized all of Gen. Gordon's treasures, including a large amount of bank notes, which the Mahdi is now trying to discount.

GEN. GORDON'S MEDAL.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1886.

MR. EDGAR'S DOG.

THOUGH Mr. Blake cannot be justified in making arrangements with Mr. Mowat to purchase, with the public funds of Ontario, a vacancy for Mr. Edgar, yet the Opposition leader has been proved by events to have made a shrewd choice of his lieutenant. Ingenious as the Reform enemies of the Canada Pacific Railway have shown themselves to be in devising means to injure that great national work, perhaps Mr. Edgar has surpassed them all in the ingenuity of his attack. He moved to obtain details of all the temporary work to facilitate the construction of a portion of C. P. R. He knew that even before the return could be completed much of this temporary work would be replaced by substantial permanent construction, and that all would be made solid as rapidly as possible. But by getting on record that these were temporary structures, he and his honest friends opposed to the C. P. R. would have had some sort of foundation for misrepresenting the road as being throughout of an inferior character. His little plot was defeated by the House refusing to give a return of the scaffolding, that it might be represented as to the edifice itself. The idea was ingenious, though dishonest. Happily its accomplishment was frustrated.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

THE importance of the opening of the Trent Valley navigation, though formerly opposed by those insufficiently informed, is now generally acknowledged. The fact that Mr. Blake has referred to it in the House as an important work, and has asked for information as to what is being done, is another sign of the general desire for its completion. The leader of the Opposition has had opportunities of learning that public opinion favored this improvement, and therefore he has taken up the matter to make himself popular.

The memorial which we publish in another column from our County Council, urging the continuance of the work, will no doubt find an echo from many other municipalities of the extensive and important district more immediately interested in the opening of navigation through this chain of waters.

We hope that the Government will place in estimates a liberal sum for the completion of another section of this great work. Such an expenditure would meet with very general approval, and there would be hardly an objection to it, so great would be the advantage to be derived from a comparatively small outlay.

Mr. Mowat's leading organ says that all but "Mr. Meredith and his followers" agree that new Parliamentary buildings are necessary. Well, two at least of Mr. Meredith's followers are of the same opinion, or, why the Premier, having presumably a majority at his back, should decline to stir till the leader of the Opposition takes the initiative, we fail to see. Is it because Mr. Mowat is distrustful of his own followers that he thus abdicates the leadership in this matter?

The Globe says that new Parliament buildings "can be put up without adding a cent to the taxes," because the Premier has a surplus of nearly $7,000,000. Then why did Mr. Mowat incur a debt for the Province last year of a quarter of a million to meet our grants to railways, if a surplus of twenty-eight times the amount was available? And why does he not dare to propose new buildings until he obtains the leave of Mr. Meredith?

The London Advertiser argues that Senator Gowan is a political partisan because he was appointed a member of the Royal Commission to enquire into the Pacific Railway charges. We would be sorry to suppose that the judges appointed on the Royal Commission to enquire into the conspiracy charges were therefore political partisans, but if we adopted the Advertiser's logic that would be the only conclusion.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD does not believe, like the Reformers, in the Krieger usurping the powers of Parliament. In answer to enquiries by Mr. Mills, he expressed the acceptance by the Administration of the legal decision of the Privy Council, but declined on the part of the Executive to withdraw from Parliament its constitutional right to deal with the boundary beyond the part thus settled.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Sessional Session—Maritime Law—Section B—A Money Bill—Floor Importers—Grand Trunk Double Track—Trent Valley Canal.

TUESDAY, Feb. 17.—A number of measures were advanced a stage.

BENEFIT ASSOCIATIONS.
SIR L. TILLY moved the second reading of his bill respecting benefit associations. A number of these associations, such as the Foresters, Ancient Order of Workmen, etc., had been insuring their members, but it was not considered desirable to make these benefit societies deposit $50,000 with the Government like the insurance companies. They would have to agree to certain restrictions, and to be registered.

MR. BLAKE objected to the Government having such large discretion as to registering these societies.
After some further discussion the bill was read a second time, and was referred to the Committee on Banking and Commerce.

MARITIME COURT.
MR. ALLEN moved the second reading of the Bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Maritime Court of Ontario, so as to make repairs or supplies furnished a first lien on a vessel.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD would not oppose the second reading, but as the measure required careful consideration or it might do injury, he thought that no further steps should be passed without giving ample time for the expression of the views of those interested.

MR. BLAKE agreed as to the propriety of allowing time for full consideration.
After some discussion the bill was read a second time.

SECTION B.
MR. CANNY moved for a copy of papers as to the deliberation on Section B, and especially required the report of Judge Clarke, who had refused to sign the award.
MR. FORN said there was no separate report by Judge Clarke.
Some discussion followed from which it appeared that Mr. Chas. Tupper had quoted from a private letter of Judge Clarke.

A MONEY REPORT.
MR. MCULLIVAN moved for papers as to a money dispute between Staff Commander Bolton and Mr. Tilton, of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, who had since been appointed Deputy Minister.

MR. MCULLIVAN said that Mr. Tilton having, at Mr. Bolton's request, forwarded his salary to his wife in England, a dispute had arisen as to whether $100 had been paid or not. Mr. Tilton had been promoted before the dispute had arisen.

MR. BLAKE condemned the irregularity of charges being made payable to "bearer" had not "order," and of a civil servant acting as agent.
MR. MITCHELL spoke in high terms of Mr. Tilton, who had been his Private Secretary when he held the portfolio.

GENERAL.
MR. PATTERSON (Brent) moved for returns as to imports of breadstuffs.
An amusing little tilt occurred between Mr. Peter Mitchell and Mr. Blake, and the motion was carried.

THE GRAND TRUNK.
MR. MITCHELL asked as to the million sterling that was to be appropriated for double tracking the Grand Trunk between Toronto and Montreal. He condemned Sir H. Tyler for abandoning the country and his credit.
MR. FORN said no million had been set apart for double tracking, because no bonds had been sold. He sympathized with Mr. Mitchell's indignation at the attacks upon Canada and its Parliament.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.
MR. BLAKE moved for papers concerning the Trent Valley Canal. He spoke of the great importance of the work and wished to know what was being done.

RAILWAYS.
MR. BLAKE moved for a number of papers in regard to the C.P.R., the Intercolonial and the short line.

THE BON MARCHE is the spot for Bargains in Grey and White Cottons, Prints, Shirtings, &c. All Choice New Patterns arriving daily.

FENELON FALLS

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last week Mr. Thomas Lane, of Fenelon Falls, met with a very serious accident while chopping for James Butler, of Somerville. It appears that a tree that had been felled lodged in another, and while attempts were being made to liberate it, the butt slipped from the stump and caught Mr. Lane's foot, which was so terribly crushed that it will probably have to be amputated.

ATTACKED BY A BAK.—On Friday as the wife of Mr. Thomas Moynan, of Fenelon, was stooping in the barn-yard, she was attacked by a vicious ram, which struck her on the head and knocked her down, and then assailed her so furiously that her shoulders and breast were much bruised and one arm was broken. Though badly hurt she is likely to recover, unless the blow on her head should prove more serious than Dr. Wilson, who is attending her, at present thinks it is.

BADLY SCORCHED.—Zebedee Smith, aged about 15, one of the multitudinous sons of the widow Smith, of this village, appears to have an insufficiently developed organ of sensibleness. Summer before last, while allowing some other boys to draw him up with a rope and pulley behind Jordan's block, he fell and broke one of his legs, and for several months had to go upon crutches. But by degrees he got all right again and ready for another mishap, which befell him on Tuesday. On the evening of that day it occurred to him that tobacco and gunpowder would make a good smoking mixture, so he tried the experiment. It was remarkably satisfactory; but one of the ingredients burned so much faster than the other that it was necessary to add more. So he rubbed the bottle which did duty as a powder flask, and carefully poured some of its contents into the bowl of his pipe, while he sucked away at the stem. There was a flash and a loud report, the house was filled with smoke and Zeb's mind was filled with astonishment. Fortunately he was not injured by the broken glass, but his hands and face were badly scorched and blackened, his eyelashes and eyebrows burned off, and he had a good deal of singed hair. In the bottle he might have been killed, as there was less than an ounce he was not badly hurt, though he will probably look for some time as if he had been scalded.—Gazette.

MILLBROOK

FIRE.—On Sunday morning at 3 o'clock a fire was discovered in the third story of the building owned and occupied by Mr. Leach as a drug store and telegraph office. The fire originated in the work room of Hamill's photograph gallery, which occupied the whole of the third story. The damage by fire was confined chiefly to the second and third stories, but damage by water was very considerable. The insurance companies principally interested are the Phoenix, of England; the Western, and the Citizens'.

The Mahdi's Birth-place.
The Town of Dongola on the Upper Nile, lately made memorable by the long and still unexplained delay of Gen. Wolsey's army in its advance upon Khartoum, has another and a stronger claim in renown as the birthplace of the Mahdi himself. Situated on a low, flat peninsula jutting out into the river, it is decidedly picturesque at a distance, with its tall, white, spear-pointed minarets standing up against the clear blue sky, and its fan-like palms overshadowing the flat-roofed, narrow-windowed, fortress-like houses, which overlook the swift, smooth, coffee-brown stream of the Nile. But approaching the city the fifth and disorderly character of all Arab towns, becomes glaringly apparent, while the high blank walls that surround the numerous gardens give to the whole place a sombre, prison-like aspect. Many of the clumsy Arab boats and rafts used on the Nile are built here and among the native carpenters thus employed the self-styled Mahommedan Messiah formerly worked under his own name of Mahmood Ahmed. Immediately to the north of Dongola lies the long, narrow wedge-shaped island of Argo, several miles in length, venerated by the natives as the scene of one of those prophetic ecstasies which the Mahdi has copied from his namesake and prototype, Mohammed.

WALLACE POINT BRIDGE vs. ROSA'S BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR.—The suggestions made to the County Council to do away with the Wallace Point Bridge and build up the Rosa's Bridge instead has caused a good deal of uneasiness to be felt amongst those interested in the Wallace Point Bridge.

A deputation called upon me last week to enquire upon what terms the County Council assumed the Wallace Point Bridge from the original Company, or if the county have the power to cancel the Bridge. As I was Secretary and Treasurer of the original company while in existence, and also having been employed by the company to make arrangements with the County Council to assume the Bridge, I feel it a duty I owe the original stock holders and also to the public generally to give a full report of the whole transaction. In the year 1866, although the Rosa Bridge was then in full operation, it was thought that a bridge was so much required at the Wallace Point, and because the County would not build one, a joint stock company was formed to build a bridge across the river, called the Wallace Point road and Bridge Company (limited), the capital stock to be $4,000 in 200 shares of twenty dollars each. The first meeting of the stockholders was held at Morton's Hotel on the thirty first day of October, 1866, the stock being all taken. The company was legally formed and the first call made on the stockholders. On the third day of January, 1867, at a meeting of the directors, there was paid into me as treasurer $143, the amount required by law to enable the company to register the stock list, which I did in the Peterborough Registry Office.

The Government board of public works was notified and furnished with a specification and estimate of the plan. The Board sent the inspector of public works to make a personal examination of the river and approaches, who reported favourably. The municipalities interested having received the thirty days notice required by law, the company was then allowed to go on and build the bridge and approaches. Having found that the original stock would not be sufficient, it was decided to increase the stock by fifty new shares, of which only twenty were sold.

It will be seen that the company spent $4,400 besides the amount collected by tolls, during the time the bridge was in the company's hands, and it also built a house for the tollkeeper. The road was so well travelled at that time that at a meeting of the directors of January 26th, 1870, the toll was let for that year at $2500 rent, but unfortunately in April a flood took away the swing and injured the bridge so much that it was decided to let the County Council to assume the bridge. Consequently on the 30th day of May, at a meeting of the directors, Mr. Rich. Stewart and myself were appointed to attend the County Council at Peterborough, then about to assemble, and we were given authority by the directors to make any arrangement that we could with the County Council of Peterborough, subject to a vote of the stockholders. The County Council agreed to assume one half, if the united counties of Durham and Northumberland assumed the other half. I was then sent alone to the County Council at Coburg, and the arrangements with both counties was that by the company transferring their rights over to the counties they (the said counties) would repair the bridge, make it a free road and keep it in repair.

This I reported to the directors at a meeting held on the 15th of June, which was accepted by the directors. I was then transferred to a meeting of the stockholders on the 27th to transfer their right over to the counties. There was a large number of the stockholders present to meet the committee from the County Council, and on that day the company transferred their right to the counties.

I have been careful to give the dates in order to show that the counties assumed one mile of road on each side of the river, as well as the bridge, and that the County of Ontario gave no right to close that portion of the road leading to Peterborough, which belonged to the original Road and Bridge Company.

If South Monaghan waste closer connection with Peterborough, why not insist that the counties keep that road open and in good repair? Or if they want another bridge, let it be an inter-county bridge, and not attempt to do away with the Wallace Point Bridge, because there is no other place between Peterborough and Rice Lake where a bridge could be built that would accommodate so many people. Then why should anyone try to do away with a bridge which has been such a boon to this part of the country?

Look at it in another light. If the company had decided to repair the bridge the toll would have kept it in repair. If the travel over the bridge in 1870 warranted the giving of $5000 rent per year, what would the toll have been worth since, when there is three or four times more travel over it now?

It is well known that the Reeves of South Monaghan said in a public meeting that if he could do away with the Wallace Point bridge, or that if it would help to build the Rosa bridge, he would do away with it to-morrow if he could.

I see by your report of the deputation from South Monaghan and Durham, at the meeting (conspicuous by the absence of three members of the South Monaghan Council, information, or details) that our worthy Reeves promised $3,000 from South Monaghan towards a new bridge at Rosa, on what authority I know not, but I always thought that the Council had no authority to grant money outside of their own corporation without submitting it to a vote of the ratepayers.

Has our Reeves' sentiments been infused into the County Council to cause the delay of the necessary repairs now required on the Wallace Point bridge? If such be the case, then it is time for the people to waken up and demand their just rights.

To show that the counties are obliged to keep the road and bridge in repair, also that the Company had the right to transfer the said road and bridge, I submit the following preamble to the stock list:—"Be it remembered that on the thirty-first day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six we the undersigned stockholders met at Morton's Hotel, Wallace's Point, in the township of Otonabee, in the County of Peterborough, in the Province of Canada, and resolved to form ourselves into a company to be called 'The Wallace Point Bridge and Road Company' according to the provisions of a certain Act of the Parliament of this Province entitled 'An Act respecting Joint Stock Companies for the construction of Roads and other works in Upper Canada', for the purpose of constructing a road from a certain point on the concession line between the third and fourth concessions of the Township of South Monaghan, in the County of Northumberland, and Durham, at the south-east corner of lot No. 4 in the said 4th concession, thence along the present travelled road to the River Otonabee at its western boundary, thence across the said River Otonabee by means of a swing or other properly constructed bridge to the eastern boundary or bank of said river, thence along said eastern boundary or bank of said river in a northerly direction through the lands of one William Morton, to the present travelled road leading to said river, thence along said travelled road to a point at or near the northern boundary of lot No. 12 in the 12th

con. of the Township of Otonabee, in the County of Peterborough, in all a distance of two miles and one quarter of a mile. And we do hereby declare the capital stock of said Company shall be four thousand dollars, to be divided into two hundred shares at the price or sum of twenty dollars each.

"And we, the undersigned stockholders, do hereby agree to take and accept the number of shares set by us opposite to our respective signatures, and we do hereby agree to pay the calls thereon according to the provisions of the said Act in part rected Act, and of the rules, regulations and by-laws of the said Company, to be made or passed in that behalf, and we do hereby nominate John Lightfoot, of the Township of South Monaghan, aforesaid, farmer, Robert Waddell, of the same place, merchant, George Elliott, of the Township of Cavan, farmer, Wm. Morton, of the Township of Otonabee, farmer, and Richard Stewart, of the said Township of Otonabee, to be the first Directors of the said Company."

Knowing that this communication is already too long, I do not wish to trespass any more on your valuable space at present. Thanking you in the name of those interested for giving this insertion.

I remain, yours, &c.,
THOMAS WILLIAM,
South Monaghan, Feb. 17, 1886.

PORTRAIT OF THE MAHDI.

Part of a Visionary Description—Fame of a Mahdi Man has spread.

Imagine a man about 40 years of age, of medium height, as lean as a shotten berring, with mahogany complexion, coal black eyes, and three vertical fashas on his cheeks, add to this a long cotton shirt as a garment, narrow turban as a head-dress, a pair of wooden sandals, and in the hands—dry as those of a mummy—a string of alms beads, corresponding to an equal number of divine attributes, and you have the Mahdi. Those who have seen him say that Mohamed Ahmed plays to perfection the part of a visionary dervish, waving his head when walk and murmuring constant prayers, his eyes fixed on heaven. His father was a carpenter on Naft Island, in the Nubian province of Dongola, and about 1833 came, with his four children, to Chindi, a small city on the banks of the Nile south of Berber. When very young he was placed as an apprentice under the care of one of his uncles, a ship-builder of Chindak opposite Senhar.

It seems that the future prophet was not without his failings, for one day his uncle thought well of flogging him in a regular French style. The proceeding was not appreciated and the child ran away until he arrived at Khartoum, where he entered a sort of convent of begging dervishes, who were in charge of the monument erected over the vanquished remains of Cheikh Hognah, patron of the city. There his life was remarkable for piety; but as to education, he never learned how to write or even how to read fluently. Later he went to a similar institution in Berber, then to one in Aradip, on the south of Kena. In the latter city he became in 1870 the favorite disciple of an eminent fakir, Cheikh Nur-el-Din, and finally was ordained by him and went to Abba Island, White Nile. His fame as a saintly man was every year on the increase. He lived in a kind of pit or subterranean repository for grain, called silo, which he had dug up with his own hands, and there he passed his life, fasting and praying, burning incense day and night, and repeating the name of Allah for hours at a time until he would fall to the ground prostrate and exhausted. If anybody spoke to him he gave back no answer, except sentences from the sacred book of Islam. Rarely things seemed to inspire him only with disgust and pity. He had made a vow to absorb himself in the contemplation of divine perfections, and to weep all his life for the sins of mankind. But his tears did not dry up, his powers of vision, and he kept his best eye wide open to business, and the faithful coming by thousands and depositing rich offerings at the mouth of his silo, he never failed to see the gifts nor to stow them away carefully for every day. In 1878 he had become so wealthy that he felt the necessity to declare that Allah had ordered him to leave his silo and to take unto himself a large collection of wives, whom, as a practical man he chose among the most influential families of the country, especially that of the Bagaras, the most opulent slave traders on the White Nile. Every one has still fresh in his memory the appalling extermination of Hicks' Pasha's eleven thousand men, massacred on the 5th November, 1883—the first day of the fourteenth century of Hegira—at Hamgah while marching on ElObeid. This horrible butchery, happening on the threshold of the millennium, announced as the one of the last prophet, gave a bloody consecration to Mohamed-Ahmed, who, after three days' battle, went all over the battlefield, piercing with his spear the ghastly corpses of his enemies and exclaiming: "It is I, the prophet, who destroyed the heathen!" Compared to him Mohamed was no more, in his mind, than a small prophet. He alone was the only great and powerful Messiah announced by Mohamed himself. The Sultan of Constantinople was no more the supreme caliph, the chief of Islamism; it was he, Mohamed-Ahmed, and he ordered his own name to be invoked in public worship in the place of Mohamed's right after the name of Allah. I have said enough to show what kind of a man is the Nubian Mahdi.—Alfred M. Cotte, L.D.D., in Catholic World.

Murderer Merrill's Cave.
NASHVILLE, Feb. 17.—A genuine sensation has been created here by the discovery in Carroll County of the supposed cave of John A. Merrill, the celebrated robber, murderer, forger, counterfeit and bandit, who was the terror of this western country about fifty years ago. The cave is situated on the farm of W. C. Blais, and was discovered by a party of hunters. When the hunters first entered the cave a large number of bats and owls flew out, many falling to the ground when the air struck them. Lanterns were procured, and on examining the room it was found to be celled with rough boards and in one corner the hunters were horrified to find the skeleton of a man chained to the floor. Several wooden chairs, a large table on which lay a deck of playing cards, and beneath the table the skeleton of a woman also chained to the floor. On the wall was written, yet plain enough to be read: "John A. Merrill, 1828." Several pairs of handcuffs, two large knives, and two dried-up frames of large blood-hounds were also discovered. Numbers of people have visited the cave, but few have had the courage to enter it.

A Wonderful Piece of Workmanship.
A piece of work of unparalleled patience and ingenuity is reported from Karlsruhe, in Bohemia, the wonderful workman being a youth in duration for five years for theft. He has turned his enforced leisure to use, and manufactured a straw watch five centimeters in diameter by two in thickness. The work comprises a few bits of straw, some cotton, two needles and a pin, a small piece of paper forming the dial. It is said to go for six hours, and could be made to go twelve hours with a few improvements.

Thin People.
"Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotency, Neuralgia, Biliousity. $1.

FROM ALL OVER.

NATIONAL PILLS are sugar coated, mild but thorough, and are the best stomach and liver pill in use.

FEVER, colic, unnatural appetite, fretfulness, weakness and convulsions, are some of the effects of worms in children; destroy the worms with Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

USE Prof. Low's Sulphur Soap for prickly heat, nettle rash, scaly eruption, itch, and all diseased condition of the skin.

A PRINCIPAL FORTUNE.—A man may possess the fortune of a prince but can never possess happiness without good health; to secure which the blood must be kept pure and every organ in proper action. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and regulate all the organs.

A FOURFOLD WORK.—Burdock Blood Bitters act at the same time upon the liver, the bowels, the kidneys and the skin, relieving or curing in every case. Warranted satisfactory or money refunded.

DEPEND UPON IT.—You can depend upon Haysard's Yellow Oil as a pain reliever in rheumatism, neuralgia, and all painful and inflammatory complaints. It not only relieves but cures.

If your hair is turning gray, don't use the poisonous dyes which burn out its life and produce many diseases of the scalp. Ayer's Hair is positively harmless, and will restore the natural color of the hair, stimulate its growth, and bring back its youthful gloss and beauty.

A GOOD GUARANTY.—H. B. Cochran, druggist, Lancaster, Pa., writes that he has guaranteed over 300 bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters for dyspepsia, bilious attacks and liver and kidney troubles. In no case has it disappointed those who used it. In Canada it gives the same general satisfaction.

A GOOD MOTTO.—Waste not your substance in riotous living, which feeds impure blood and clogs the system with disease. Open the channels of the blood, relieve, and regulate all the organs with Burdock Blood Bitters.

DAWN IN THE AIR.—In the chilling winds, the damp atmosphere, and suddenly checked perspiration, colds are lurking. Haysard's Federal Balsam cures colds, coughs, asthma and bronchitis, and all complaints tending towards consumption.

THE MOST REV. Dr. McCarthy, Bishop of Cloyne, has issued a pastoral letter, in which he denounces the recent dynamite outrages in London and elsewhere.

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet wrapped around the bottle of the new Murray & Lamm's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Lamm & Kemp, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of bother rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which though pale and faint, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no Florida water is genuine that does not have this test mark.

A Deadly Encounter.

HAMILTON, Feb. 17.—Robert Richardson, who is employed as heater at the Ontario rolling mill, and Thomas Brick, who fill the duties of night watchman at the same establishment, had a quarrel this morning about two o'clock. Richardson was badly beaten and out about the head that it is feared he will die. Brick is also considerably hurt about the face, but his injuries are not serious. Each man says the other was the aggressor. Brick has been arrested and jailed. Mr. Whitehead, superintendent of the mill, offers to go bail for the prisoner, but the magistrate thought it wise to refuse bail until it is known certainly whether Richardson's injuries will prove fatal. He was in such a low condition this morning that the police magistrate and chief constable visited him at his residence and took his and morose dependant. Brick stated that he is a special constable as well as a night watchman, and says that he was trying to quell a disturbance between Richardson and some of the other mill hands when the latter attacked him.

A HOME DRUGGIST

Popularity at home is not always the best test of merit, but we point proudly to the fact that no other medicine has won for itself such universal approbation in its own city, state, and country, and among all people, as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The following letter from one of our best-known Massachusetts Druggists should be of interest to every sufferer:—

RHEUMATISM. "Eight years ago I had an attack of rheumatism, and was confined to the bed, or, without help, I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities to my friends, and still retain its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in the vicinity of my residence is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."
R. F. HARRIS.
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

SALT RHEUM. GEORGE ANDREWS, owner in the Lowell Carpet Corporation, was for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell afflicted with Salt Rheum in its worst form. Its ulcerations actually covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs. He was entirely cured by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catching!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn good for nothing stuff is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

MORE BARGAINS!

As announced, we will continue this Sale during the month of February, and will give BARGAINS until the close of the month. Call and see for yourselves.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1886.

A MAD CAPTAIN.

Terrible Scene on Board a Nova Scotia Barque.

The London Daily News gives the following particulars of the tragedy on the barque Wellington, of Windsor, N.S., reported some days ago by cable. Several members of the crew were arrested on suspicion of having murdered and mutilated Captain Armstrong, but it will be remembered, the Coroner's jury acquitted them, and on Monday morning sent for Jones to come and sit with him. The man went off and met the captain on the poop. He was staring wildly, and told Jones that he must come into the cabin and sit with him. The man then replied, looking towards the deck the captain following him closely and looking to see Jones, expression, "as if the devil was in him. When Jones reached the hatch the captain turned round and passing under the poop entered the room where the boatwain and carpenter slept together. The carpenter was sleeping in the lower berth, and the captain drawing his revolver shot the sleeping man in the head, the bullet entering itself between the windpipe and the large vessel. The other men were aroused by the report of the pistol, and from this time in the darkness of the night

THE SCENE WAS A TERRIBLE ONE.

Captain Armstrong, rushing from the room where he had wounded the carpenter, met the steward running along the passage way, and discharged one of the barrels of his revolver at him, and lodging itself in the pantry door. Armstrong then came from under the poop, and meeting the steward outside, fired at him, but again missed his aim. He then rushed forward and literally hunted his officers and crew about the deck with his loaded revolver, firing at the men whenever he got a chance. Some of the foreigners hid themselves, and others of the crew seeing that the captain was mad grasped knives, hatchets, and other weapons, and waiting behind the deck house, captain, and other obstacles, tried to disable him as he rushed wildly about discharging bullets whenever he saw a man without any shelter. Having emptied the seven chambers of his weapon, Armstrong returned to his cabin and reloading, and then again came on deck, firing at the officers and crew whenever an opportunity presented itself. At length a seaman named Martin Nest happened to be standing on the quarter-deck as the captain, pistol in hand, rushed round the gateway. Nest at once sprang into the main rigging and climbed the third railing. The Captain walking beneath the unfortunate sailor exclaimed, "Now I have got you," and while the other members of the crew looked on unable to render assistance.

THE CAPTAIN TOOK DELIBERATE AIM

at Nest and shot him in the eye, and though the bullet lodged in the man's head, strangely enough he was not killed, and is living still. Armstrong again emptied the barrels of his revolver, again loaded them, and again discharged them with the exception of one barrel. He then went into his cabin and on to the poop, and as he once more descended to the deck, several of the crew made a rush, and in the melee the captain was a big powerful man, received a blow on the head from a marlin spike which smashed in his skull. As he fell he was secured and placed in irons, and then laid in a bunk. Here it required two men to hold him, and he was continually cursing and swearing, and saying that if they would only let him get up he would shoot the whole crew. After lingering for several hours in this condition, Captain Armstrong died on Monday night. As soon as the captain was secured on the Monday morning the chief mate, who is named Chas. L. Patterson, decided to go about and make for Plymouth, the ship being within about 400 miles to the westward of Sicily.

TO RETIRE TO DEBBEH.

GEN. WOLSELEY TO RETIRE FURTHER DOWN THE NILE.

The Moral Effect of the Retreat on the Native—Sultan's Retreat a Fortunate Escape—The Canadians Reported to Have Caused Trouble.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Queen inspected the third battalion of Grenadier Guards to-day prior to their departure for the Sudan.

WOLSELEY TO RETIRE TO DEBBEH.

It is probable that Gen. Wolseley may evacuate Korti and retire to Debbah, where the desert routes from Omdurman, El Obeid, and Darfour converge on the Nile. Gen. Wolseley will then await help from England. At Korti he could be surrounded. In the retirement all available supplies will be swept up, and the whole army entrenched at Debbah could hold its own if necessary until the rising of the Nile. Dongola, Hannek, and various other points on the river between Debbah and Halfa are held by weak detachments of British troops. There is a line of telegraph, which possibly might be maintained, while steam launches on clear reaches could keep up some sort of communication with the second cataract. The moral effect of the retirement will be rather serious, though it would be to a certain extent neutralized by action in unmistakable strength from Suakin. Gen. Wolseley will probably return to Cairo to consult with Gen. Stephenson and others regarding the situation.

WAR OFFICE OFFICE.

The War Office considers Gen. Buller's retreat from Ghalul as a most fortunate escape. He will reach Ghalul to-day and return with his entire force to Korti.

THE SITUATION.

General Wolseley has applied for reinforcements on the Nile. It is reported he wants two thousand English troops to attempt to march from Korti across the desert upon Abu Hamed, where Gen. Brackenbury has been ordered to remain until a simultaneous advance with Gen. Graham's forces from Suakin may be made upon Berber. Should the Mahdi threaten Dongola, Gen. Wolseley will retire to Debbah. It is feared the appearance of the Mahdi near Dongola will lead to a general rising in Nubia and Upper Egypt in his favor. The Egyptian troops are collected between Assuan and Wady Halfa. Disaffected tribes are ready at any moment to declare for the Mahdi.

GENERAL BRACKENBURY'S ADVANCE.

General Brackenbury telegraphs from Uad island that the cavalry corps entered Salamat on the 15th inst., finding it deserted. The cavalry were about five miles in advance of the infantry. They got safely through the Suakin pass, which had been prepared for defence, but was also abandoned by the enemy. General Brackenbury hopes to reach Abu Hamed on the 20th inst.

CANADIAN VOYAGEURS.

QUEBEC, Feb. 18.—It is reported a meeting has occurred among the Canadian voyageurs on the steamer Pookah. A gunboat with a strong force has gone to her assistance. The officials are reluctant as to the nature of the disturbance. It is stated that during the disturbance three soldiers under arrest made their escape. A later report says the trouble was not serious.

THE POPE'S ILLNESS.

ROME, Feb. 19.—The Pope is ill. His illness results from a recurrence of his intestinal complaint.

THE IRISH RENT QUESTION.

DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—The United Ireland to-day proposes a novel scheme for settling the rent question in Ireland. It recommends the tenants on each estate to combine for the purpose of protecting their individual interests by united action. Let the tenants of each estate, it says, determine for themselves what would be a fair yearly rent for the individual holding. When they have done this, let them pay over the whole amount of the year's rent to trustees, whom they are to choose from the clergy and members of the Central League. Then when the landlords demand a settlement from the tenants, the latter should simply refer them to the trustees.

IMITATING MME. HUGUES.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Mlle. Theres Granger, of Marcelline a cousin of M. Clovis Hugues, whose wife recently shot Martin, to-day attempted to murder her paramour, M. Souvain, with a revolver. The bullet lodged in the man's lung. It is believed he is dying. Souvain refused to marry the woman. She expressed no regret for the deed. She was imprisoned in 1879 for a similar attempt upon a former lover.

CONVENTION IN PARIS.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The Irish National convention to-day decided to establish a press for the purpose of printing manifestos. It is stated a manifesto has been sent to the members of the English Cabinet threatening them with death in the event of the removal of the Crimen Act.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Finner Tai Wan Foo correspondent says the Chinese are exasperated over the treatment by the French of prisoners at Kelang. When the prisoners were unable to work for want of food the French attacked them with bayonets. If that failed they were shot. Three large French men-of-war were recently seen pursuing and firing at small Chinese junk.

The ill-feeling of the Chinese is extending to the English for allowing the port of Hong Kong to be used as a base of such operations. The situation is dangerous.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1885.

THE C. P. R. IN ONTARIO.

There seems to be a general agreement among Reformers to misrepresent the Dominion Administration as having neglected the interests of this Province in regard to the C. P. R., and the representatives of Ontario in the House of Commons go having failed to secure justice for us. The plan is to ensure the Ottawa authorities and the Parliament of Canada for having granted a sum of money in aid of the construction through the Province of Quebec of what is in fact a portion of the C. P. R. They allege on the other hand that a similar grant has not been made from the Dominion Treasury towards aiding our Province in providing such railway accommodation.

These statements are not honest. It is true that no grant has been made from the Dominion Treasury to aid this Province in constructing a portion of the main line of the C. P. R. But it should have been added that Ontario had not expended money upon such work, she could not be repaid what she had not spent. It should also have been stated that the Dominion Parliament, with the hearty consent of the representatives of Ontario, has undertaken the construction of the C. P. R. throughout the length of Ontario.

We would hardly care to expose this dishonest pretence of the Reformers if it were only one of their usual attacks upon the Conservative Administration and the Conservative representatives of the people of Canada. But these cautious critics, who we are sorry to say, are chiefly from Ontario, are for factious motives spreading a false idea to the injury of their own Province. For from the Ontario representatives in the Canadian Parliament having failed to secure justice for their Province, the truth is that there is a greater length of the C. P. R. within the boundaries of Ontario than any other Province can boast of. Our great national road is in fact the greatest possible service to Ontario, opening up hundreds of miles of our territory and facilitating its utilization. No Ontario man should belittle this Province by concealing from them who may wish to settle in it this great advantage that our Province possesses.

The Reformers are greatly grieved because under the influence of the National Policy workings are able to save money when they were not able to do so under the Macdonald-Ontario-Blaikie policy of favoring foreign manufacturers. To punish the workingmen for thus showing the superiority of Conservative over so-called Reform Administration the Reformers are now proposing to fine prevalent workmen by reducing their interest from 4 to 3 per cent. The Reformers expect to receive a vote of thanks for thus showing them the wickedness of hoarding up money.

The Globe says that "the gross impropriety of an Ontario representative serving as a Dominion official is too palpable to require comment," yet it fails to use any impropriety at all in a Dominion representative being employed by the Ontario Government, and has not a word to say against the Hon. D. Mills, M.P., receiving thousands of dollars from the Ontario Treasury.

England is often quoted as a purely free trade country. But Lord Dufferin, in discussing the subject of Imperial Federation, mentioned the fact that Great Britain levies more revenue in import duties than any other country in Europe.

AVALANCHES IN UTAH.

Return of the Escaping Party with Bodies of Victims—Further Fatal Slides.

SALT LAKE, Feb. 18.—The rescuing party returned this morning from the scene of the recent avalanche at Alta, bringing the bodies of 13 victims. Andrew White and Fred Culism, who had been 13 and 16 hours, respectively, under the snow, were rescued only slightly injured. Two others who had been buried shorter periods, were also rescued alive. The body of one of the Chinese could not be found. Four women, one man and eight children are still in Alta in constant danger. The rescuing party will go for them to-morrow.

How slides are of daily occurrence in that vicinity. One occurred on Saturday in Superior Gulch, which the survivors at Alta feel sure resulted in the death of three men working there. Two men going there to see if they were safe got within sight of their cabin, when it was obliterated in a sea of snow. The occurrence of the slide threw the two men violently to the ground, and they hurried away, fearing another slide. It is reported that a man named MacDonald, living south of Alta, was killed by a slide on Friday night. Nothing has been heard of him since. In the three slides in Alta, which occurred on Friday, thirty persons have been killed.

THE INDIAN ARMY.

Lord Dufferin Said to Have Asked for Re-inforcements for India.

A special to the Mail from London, dated Feb. 18th, says:—The Whitehall Review states that Lord Dufferin, formerly Governor-General of Canada, who recently succeeded Lord Ripon as Viceroy of India, has demanded that 20,000 British soldiers shall be sent to India as reinforcements. He makes the demand on the ground that the British garrisons and field troops are abnormally weak, in view of the prospect of a Russian advance upon India by way of Afghanistan. This is not the first time that Lord Dufferin has sounded the note of alarm regarding the insufficiency of the British army in India. Some months ago he called attention to the great and growing size of the army, maintained by some of the native princes. He pointed out the loss of British prestige and the danger to the British possession which resulted from the fact that Great Britain did not have in all India a force sufficient to defeat a combination of two or three of the native armies. At the same time he expressed his determination to equalize matters either by curbing the growth of the forces in the principalities or by increasing the strength of the British army. The present report in the Whitehall Review is quite in line with Lord Dufferin's previous declarations, and with his well known energy and decision of character. On the other hand the military experts doubt that he would embarrass the Government by such a demand at such a moment, when he must know that the war establishment is being dangerously drained to supply the Sudan requirements.

SQUARE UP THE ACCOUNTS.

The system of bookkeeping in vogue with the Provincial Government does not possess the merit of simplicity, whatever else may be said in its favor. In fact there seems to be a labor of attempt at obscurity. We defy anybody to pick up the public accounts and without laborious research tell what the financial standing of the province is. It is even doubtful if any reasonable amount of examination will permit of a correct result being arrived at unless aided by reference to the treasury department.

Take, for instance, the statement of the assets of the province. First comes Dominion 6 per cent bonds to the amount of $500,000. The amount of these securities held in 1883 was the same, but in that year the market value over par value was set down as being $30,000, while for 1884 it is alleged to be $50,000. Are we to understand from this that despite the hard times, despite increase in the public debt, despite the prospect of a deficit at Ottawa, and in the face of most notorious recklessness in expenditure, the market value of Dominion 6 per cent bonds over par value has nearly doubled in twelve months? That is what is stated, and this increase is almost the sum total of the increase in direct investment between the two years.

The debts due by the Dominion to Ontario, of course, show no change except in the matter of the $2,800,000, claimed by Mr. Ross to be due Ontario by the Dominion as a new debt. The other debts remain much the same, but there is a woeful falling off in the bank balances as the following table will show.

BANK BALANCES.	1883.	1884.
Current accounts,	$490,621 54	$106,507 22
Special deposits,	253,655 71	10,000 00

The total of the assets of the province, as shown by the treasurer's statement, is $7,222,045 80, but from this, for the purposes of comparison with 1883, must be deducted the $2,848,229 52 of the new debt due Ontario, leaving the sum of $4,373,816 28, to be compared with $4,740,654 given as the assets in the year 1883; a falling off of $366,837 72.

Turning to the reverse side of the ledger account we find that the liabilities of the province were $356,413 03 in 1884 against $79,21, or an increase of $6,556 18. Now, if our assets are $366,298 less than the previous financial year, and our liabilities $6,556 greater, the natural inference is that the province lost or over expended $372,854 last year.

That this result is correct is proven by a comparison of the surplus of the year 1884 with that of the year 1883. The surplus for the past year is stated to be $6,859,666, but from this there is to be deducted the new debt $2,848,229 before referred to, which, though properly an asset, did not enter into the calculations in 1883. This would leave $4,011,437 to be compared with $4,384,231, the surplus of 1883, showing a deficit of $372,794—the amount before arrived at as the loss of the Province last year.

But on the other hand the statements of receipts and expenditure shows an altogether different result. The total receipts for 1884 are given as $2,330,555 45, and the total expenditure as $3,207,889 67. This shows a deficit of $877,334 22 as compared with $372,854 03, the deduction of the surplus leaving $14,489 17 to be accounted for. In other words

The statement of assets and liabilities show a loss of $372,854 03.

The statement of surplus show a loss of $373,865 06.

While the statement of receipts and expenditure show a loss of $877,334 22.

Leaving $14,489 17 unaccounted for in the two former statements.

The provincial system of bookkeeping seems not only obscure but incorrect.—Toronto News (Indep.)

Robert McCracken was granted the original allowance of road on the 13th concession line opposite lot 29, in lieu of the present road through lot 29 in 13 concession until the same is required by the Council for a road. A statute labour tax and interest of $1.10 was refunded to F. Ferguson on N.W. 1/4 con. 6 for 1883. John Clements was granted the original allowance for sidewalks between lots 10 and 11, in 1st concession, commencing on west end of present clearing and thence westward to Indian River, and the same to be required by the Council for a road. The following orders were granted:—

THE SKATING AND CURLING RINK.

The Opinion of the Toronto Papers on the Building and the Carnival.

The Toronto papers, in their notices of the curling match on Tuesday night of this week, refer to the new curling and skating rink. The Mail calls it "a very commodious and well appointed building," and the Globe speaks of the "admirable carnival" and the "handsome structure." The World devotes more space to it and says:—

"One of the prettiest sights ever seen at a skating carnival in Canada, we do not bar even the cities, was that witnessed at the new Peterborough skating and curling rink on Tuesday evening last. Over 2,000 people thronged the building. The electric light, a military band, hundreds of skaters in fancy costumes, visitors from as far east as Ottawa and as far west as Toronto, were features of the event. The building is one of the largest of its kind in the Dominion, being probably 90 feet by 150. There are elevated galleries all round, and it is provided with committee rooms, refreshment rooms, retiring rooms for both sexes. The decorations were most tasteful and the opening night proved that the enterprising efforts of the projectors of the building found enthusiastic response in the interest of the crowds that thronged the rink. One item in the huge posters announcing the opening was 'the presence of six rings of curlers from the celebrated Toronto Curling Club,' opposed by six rings of the redoubtable Peterborough Curling Club. And the way in which these visitors were entertained leaves no room to doubt the lavish hospitality of the Peterboroughs. Had the festivities come before instead of after match the city fellows would have been nowhere in the game, but as it was the game a good account of themselves, for the result was a victory for the Granite by a score of 108 to 104."

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Amateur Sale.
Remember the auction sale of the bankrupt stock of general groceries (Mr. J. Pope's stock) to-night and to-morrow night.

St. Paul's Church.
The Rev. R. B. Keefe, the General Agent of the Dominion Alliance, will preach for the Rev. Mr. Torrance in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, both morning and evening next Sunday.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—West and northwest winds; fair weather; with a few local snow flurries; not much change in temperature.

Still Another Old Settler Gone.
Another of the old residents in the County of Peterborough has been called by death.
Mr. Jas. B. Crowley, an. having died on Thursday. He came to Canada from Ireland in 1835 and settled in this County, and was one of the most respected, as well as one of the oldest, residents in it.

Male Concert.
The Male Concert under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association has been postponed until Monday, 22nd March, on account of the Charlotte Street Church Anniversary meeting to be held next Monday night. A leading feature of the concert will be the male chorus and jubilee songs. Friends of the Association should bear the date in mind and keep it free from other engagements.

Worthy of Imitation.
We understand from information received through Bandmaster F. W. Miller that it is the intention of the Fire Brigade Band to turn out in full numbers and give the Peterborough contingent of the Nile expedition a right royal reception on their arrival. This act on the part of the Band is worthy of being imitated, and we hope to see others in town take hold of the matter, and, acting in conjunction with the band, give the boys such a reception on their return that the hearts of all will overflow with gratitude, and cause them to think more dearly than ever of their Canadian homes.

The Roller Rink.
The roller skating rink is now almost completed. The work is being done in a first-class and lasting manner, and when completed the rink will be a cheerful place of amusement. It is situated in almost the centre of the town, and is easy of access, being opposite the Ontario Bank, on the Water street side, and two doors north of Mr. Jas. Stevenson's coal office.
Roller skating is acknowledged to be one of the most healthful and agreeable of all exercises, and is highly recommended by eminent men in the land. The celebrated Bishop McIntyre, in writing to the Christian Advocate, says:—
"Allow me to commend to you and your readers the roller skating; it can, it should, substitute dancing as an exercise and amusement for the young people of both sexes. It furnishes indoor, graceful and lively exercise, muscular entertainment, and leaves no room for dancing.
I wish there were a skating rink in every village and boarding school."

The Second Performance.
On Thursday evening the Robt. H. Baird Comedy company gave their second performance at Bradburn's Opera House, producing the four act tragic farce entitled "Nip and Tuck." This play is well known and has been produced here on other occasions, but the richness of quaint humour with which the play abounds and the fame with which the plot is developed and worked out renders it a piece well worthy of repetition. The two detectives, "Nicholas Nip" and "Tram Tuck" were impersonated by Messrs. Baird and Milligan respectively to the satisfaction of the audience. Among the support Miss Addie Flint, as "Lady Beaufort," outshone her part creditably, and Miss Lizzie Baird as "Sarah Truogold," the nurse, also made a very good impression. The play for to-night is "Kathleen Mavourneen," and a family Melrose will be given at 8 o'clock tomorrow, when "Uncle Josh" will be presented.
This company should draw a large house considering the low prices that they have adopted.

Get to the Ben Marche for Tobaccoes and Cigars at Lowest Cash Bottom Prices.

Curling Notes.

On Thursday afternoon another curling match was played between Mr. A. Hall's rink and a rink from the Lakeside Club for a hundred weight of flour to be given away as charity.
The following is a list of the names of the players together with the score:—

LAKESIDE. T. LePlant, W. Croft, Hicks Beach, A. Strickland,
G. Pouchet, skip—14. A. Hall, skip—20.

Majority for Mr. Hall's rink 15 shots. The score will be given to the Protestant Home management.

Two rinks of the home club went over to Lindsay this forenoon to swing the stakes against two rinks from the Lindsay club. The names of those who went are as follows:— J. McCulland, J. H. Burnham,
G. McGill, W. H. Clouston,
A. McGill, Geo. Brown,
Geo. Dunford, skip. T. P. Atzil, skip.

Evening Social.

A very pleasant party gathered at the residence of Mr. John McKee, on London street, on Thursday evening, the occasion being the first of a series of evening socials, under the auspices of the ladies members of the Murray Street Baptist Church. The party to the number of about one hundred comprised our best citizens.
The host and hostess were untiring in their efforts in making all feel "at home" and they succeeded in doing so in a marked degree. The Misses Edmonson, Gilmour, and Miss Totten, of Lindsay, Mrs. Duff, of the Bernardo Home, together with Mr. H. Sears, of Bradford, and Miss Rontley, of Kingston, took charge of the instrumental part of the programme, while the singing of Misses Wells and Huxton and the singing of Miss Minors were much admired, as also was the singing of Mr. Geale. The Rev.
A. H. Munro added much to the evening's enjoyment by his excellent readings. We understand that the next of these socials will be held at the residence of Mr. J. C. Lacey, when a treat certainly may be expected.

"Music Hath Charms."

This quoted caption is undoubtedly an interesting one. To the dulcet ear and most hardened and opaque intellect it has a sweet, soothing influence. But to obtain such music it is absolutely necessary to have a good instrument. Good music cannot be brought out of a bad instrument any more than a lawyer always rely on getting a first class instrument? Most of our readers will at once answer, "A first class Ball Organ Office, and they, in answer, so, stating the ball on the ball. Since the ball Organ Office was opened in this town by Mr. D. Smith, about two years ago, its business has been constantly on the increase. Two new organs are stocked a few doors south of the telegraph office have correspondingly improved with the increase of trade and to-day they present a cheering and stocky appearance. These organs and other musical instruments, are placed to good advantage and so greatly varied that the purchaser may obtain just what he wants. Verily, if you want every satisfaction and good terms go to the Ball Organ Office for your musical instruments.
Mr. Smith's organ expresses welcome are constantly on the road and travel, this and the adjoining counties and without trouble you may have your instrument delivered and set up in good order. A special feature of the Ball Organ Office is that a sewing machine, a stock of the newest and most improved sewing machines is kept on hand and those intending to make a purchase in this line would do well to compare the merits of this machine with those of others.

The Great Reformer.

On Thursday evening the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of St. Luke's parish, delivered a lecture in the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms on "The Life and Times of Wick-liffe." Dr. Fife occupied the chair, and after the opening singing and prayer, briefly introduced the lecturer. After a few introductory remarks of an apologetic character, the lecturer said there were few names in English history more distinguished than that of John Wickliffe, the morning star of the Reformation. He contrasted a few of the events of his life with those of the life of Luther, and while Luther's almost every act was chronicled, he regretted that such was not the case with Wickliffe, his work was wrapped in comparative oblivion. He set forth the character of the people of the time of Wickliffe—highly endowed with moral sentiment and inventive genius, which found vent in the grandeur of the church architecture, of which we have to this day such noble specimens. He then referred to the church itself, whose spiritual condition he said was appalling.
The lecturer then traced clearly the career of the great reformer from his childhood, through his college life until the time came when he took an active part in the affairs of the nation. Each position which he held he discharged it offces in such a manner that he gradually rose to command the confidence of the nation. Three times was he brought before the Bishops charged with propagating heretical doctrines, but such was the love of the people toward him, and such demonstrations were there made as to his welfare, that the Bishops were obliged time after time to release him. He then referred to Wickliffe's translation of the Bible, the first that had been placed within the reach of the people.
The whole Bible was translated and this prodigious work was solely due to John Wickliffe. After he had finished he commended a revision of the work, but did not live to see it accomplished. In 1384 this great man breathed his last. Four years more the revision was completed by John Purvey. He referred to the efforts of Wickliffe Societies to publish the works of the man whose name they bear and commended it as a thing that should be done. In Bavaria, the work of the great reformer, who lived 100 years before the invention of printing, had been multiplied by the power of the pen and in Prague numerous copies of his works were presented, but he doubted if there was a single complete set of his works in England. This work of publishing should be done, for the author had left his impression on the English paper to be retained for all time to come, and they and other kindred natives, would not, but for him, be what they are to-day.

"It Might Have Been."

Time and again individuals give thought and expression to the words "It might have been."
Perchance the true cause of it in many cases is the loss of both time and money in reckless and extravagant undertaking—an enterprise that perhaps proved too much for them in more ways than one. After the folly of their doings presents itself to their gaze, with all the facts laid bare, then, and then only, are they convinced of how vastly different "it might have been" if they had not persistently pursued the evil tenor of their way as they did. Then comes a time of reflections. It is at once resolved to endeavor to do better in the future and steer clear of all delusions and mazes that had been set for them in the past and into which traps they had so readily and unconditionally fallen. If the new leaf thus turned over is kept clean and its contents always fresh in the memory, the result cannot be otherwise than satisfactory at the end of a twelvemonth. If the male inhabitants of Peterborough who have hitherto been extravagant and careless in the past in the expenditure necessary at all times for clothing and gen's furnishings, and have seen the folly of their way, will only turn over a new leaf and leave their street at Habington Hall, they will find it the proper place for everything that gentlemen are in need of. A. McNEIL.

Fatalities at a Fire.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—At a fire on Chestnut street this morning J. G. Blyer and John McKay were killed by a falling wall. A horse attached to a horse cart was killed, and John McKay, driver of the horse cart, dangerously injured. Nine large business houses between Second and Locust streets, were almost completely burned out, six were much damaged, and four other secured houses which many thousands of dollars will not repair. The origin of the fire is a mystery; it is supposed to have been caused by spen-aceous combustion. Later—McCourt, the freeman, has since died from his injuries. A body taken from the ruins, supposed to be Joe B. Lyler, has been identified as Thos. Marshall, a drayman. The loss will aggregate $250,000 divided among twenty firms.

Positive Proof.
Jones—"I see that Rome denounces Mrs.
Dudley as a paid assassin—sent out by the British Government to kill him."

Smith—"Rome is a pretty big goose if he expects anybody to believe that. The proof that she was not in the pay of anyone was furnished in the attack."

"Why, in what way?"
"Nobody would hire Mrs. Dudley. She can't shoot."—Philadelphia Call.

Storm signals.
As the coming of a great storm is heralded by the display of extraordinary signs, so the approach of that dread and fatal disease, Consumption of the Lungs, usually announced in advance by pimples, blotches, eruptions, clogs, granular swellings, and kindred outward manifestations of the international blood poison, which, if not promptly expelled from the system, attacks the delicate tissues of the lungs, causing them to clog and break down. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is the great remedy for this, as for all diseases having their origin in bad blood. It improves the appetite and digestion, increases nutrition and builds up the wasted system.

If you should be so unfortunate as to Burn yourself, or Wound yourself in any way, the proper thing to keep clean and heal it is McGREGOR & FARRIS' Carbolic Ointment. It is the best and sure you get McGREGOR & FARRIS' Carbolic Ointment. Price, 25 cents. John McKee, Druggist has the genuine.

"Why! What's the matter?"
Lady—"With faces enveloped in roll of bar-cloths."—Oh! I'm crazy with Neuritis that continually troubles me!
Well, how foolish! Why don't you go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a bottle of Fluid Lightning? It cured me in less than one minute. I always keep a bottle in the house.
It only costs 25 cents."

Curious Ending to a Murder Case.

A despatch from Jansville, Mich., says the famous Mack murder case has been brought to a peculiar termination. Mrs. Mack, charged with murdering her husband in 1878, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. She required a new trial, in which the jury disagreed.
She has since married the principal witness against her, rendering his testimony worthless, and has been released on her own bond.

The Deputation to Ottawa.
Sir John Macdonald accompanied by his colleagues met the Anti-Scott Act deputation on Thursday afternoon at the capital, and after hearing the memorials expressing their grievances and listening to the views of the deputation on the subject of compensation, promised that the matter should have the earliest and most anxious consideration of the Government.

Vaccination of Cows.
WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 18.—State Veterinarian Rowland reports that the inoculation of cattle as a safeguard against contagious pleuro-pneumonia has thus far proved enormously successful. The fifty cows which were inoculated two weeks ago after exposure to infection passed in a few days, and with safety, through a mild type of the disease, and are now regarded as in excellent condition.

Two Essentials.
"The man that I marry," said Clara, "must be handsome, rich, brave, clever and good tempered."
"But how will you discover that he possesses all those qualities?"
"I can see for myself if he is handsome, and can easily ascertain if he is rich. I don't mind so much about the others."

A Lost Hair.
MONTREAL, Feb. 19.—Detective Foley is inquiring for Fullerton Crawford, who came here a decade since from Stirling, Scotland, and has now fallen heir to a fortune. He was in the dry goods business here, and left for St. Lawrence, Que., where he went into farming subsequently.
He removed about four years ago to Detroit, and nothing more is known of him.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn good for nothing stuff is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the cheapness and value of these goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present sale "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

MORE BARGAINS!

As announced, we will continue this Sale during the month of February, and will give BARGAINS until the close of the month. Call and see for yourselves.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

BILL WAITING TIME—The Budget Debate

—Muddled Public Accounts—Hiding

Algebra Election Expenditure—How

Looking Towards Ottawa.

THURSDAY, Feb. 19.—A number of bills were read a first time, and some further reports were presented.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Mr. A. M. Ross again suggested that Mr.

Carnegie should postpone the discussion on his motion for a committee to enquire into the working of the Agricultural College. The report on the college would not be printed before next week.

THE BUDGET.

Mr. CARMICHAEL continued the debate on the Budget. He pointed out the want of the comparison that had been made between the expenditure on public institutions in Ontario and the United States, as the figures were incorrect, two of the Government authorities differing widely. As to the expenditure on Colonization Roads in non-election years, which

Mr. McLaughlin had pretended had not been exceptionally great, there really had been a large over expenditure, but a part of it had been systematically carried over till the following year.

For instance in 1883 there was a large over expenditure in Algoma, which was carried over to 1884, and so in other cases which he gave, showing that they had largely increased the expenditure from this fund in election years. He condemned the Treasurer for his neglect of our interests in not securing our share of the increase of subsidy granted last year to Ontario and Quebec. By this neglect he had given a great amount, the particular dollars might have come from the subsidy. He refused to give any weight to comparisons with the expenses in Quebec, in the old Province of Canada under both parties before Confederation, and in the Dominion. He asked to have it pointed out where the unnecessary outlay had occurred.

He then returned to his abuse of Sir John Macdonald.

Mr. CLARKE said the enormous increase of their expenditure was admitted. It was pretended that the money was returned to the people, but in too many cases "the people" went "the party." The Commissioner of Crown Lands called for the formation of charges but admitted that the public accounts could not be relied upon, which seemed true enough from his own showing. The friends of the administration were fond of threatening to send the Dominion and of attacking the Dominion Government, but they might remember that the Dominion Government was supported by an Ontario majority. Any differences between the two governments could easily be settled amicably by the courts. If their disputes were because the Dominion Government had the trouble of collecting a great part of his revenue for him. Yet the Treasurer threatened to take Ontario out of the Confederation unless better terms were granted. He doubted the wisdom of these demands for increased subsidies. As to the estimates we had no guarantee that they would not be exceeded as before. In reckoning liabilities payable on demand, they should also only count assets receivable on demand. There was an annual deficit of over $700,000 from current revenues. To avert direct taxation to meet this deficit the Government was looking to Ottawa for aid, but the best course would be to remove a mischievous Ministry.

Mr. WATER claimed that our financial position was good, and that we had a large surplus. Much money had been handed back to the people, especially for education. He devoted much of his speech to an attack upon the Dominion.

Mr. CLARKE pointed out the extraordinary way in which so-called colonization road expenditure went up and down according as there was an election or not. Mr. Farlee had boasted of giving back money to the people. That is,

he had bribed them with their own money. If there was the pretended surplus of $7,000,000 it should be earning a large sum for interest, not a salary $57,500. If they had such a surplus why not pay off the railway scrip instead of borrowing money. No business man would conduct

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Gen. Buller, who began compelled to halt at Abu Klea wells and entrench his troops, in order safely to defend himself against the Mahdi's men, who are gathering in large numbers along the line of retreat

A despatch from Gen. Buller at Abu Klea says:—"The enemy's cavalry scouted us all day

Monday. They were reinforced before sunset by four hundred infantry, armed with rifles.

The infantry crossed the hills to the north-east of us, and have kept up a well aimed and destructive long range fire, which thus far has caused sixteen casualties. I am perfectly safe here against the attack of even a larger force, but this long range firing is annoying." General

Buller reports that the firing of the rebels continued all Monday night. Two men were killed and four officers wounded.

A FEDERAL COUNCIL.

The question of Imperial Federation seems to be attracting more and more attention, and it is evident that there is a very general feeling in favor of a closer union, rather than a disruption of the different members of the British Empire. The discussion is doing good, even if it is only by clearing up the difficulties and misunderstandings put forth by those who are deficient in a loyal regard for our great country and its interests. The expressions of opinion in England by Sir John Macdonald and Sir Charles Tupper have definitely settled the question in all minds that the self-governing colonies will not abandon their right to regulate their fiscal policy. So, too, it seems generally admitted that it would not answer for the outlying portions of the Empire to send representatives to the Parliament of the Three Kingdoms.

The suggestion has been made in several quarters that there should be an Advisory Council, in which the outlying portions of the Empire would be represented. Of course those who prefer independence or annexation to the United States, in short anything rather than remaining under the old flag, scotch such an arrangement. We cannot see that they are justified in this uncompromising hostility. Of course such an arrangement could not be permanent or final, but that is no reason why it should not be useful as a step in advance. The constitutions of the Three Kingdoms and of the self-governing colonies of the British Empire have been gradually built up, as circumstances called for improvements. Their legislatures were not born fully developed, but grew up by degrees. In the same manner a Federal Advisory Council may be the forerunner of a great British legislation fitted to the requirements and the circumstances of the Empire in future ages.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

In our last issue we published the memorial of the County Council of Peterborough to the Department of Railways and Canals, asking for a grant for the furtherance of construction on the Trent Valley Canal. Other municipalities along these waters are also taking action in the same direction.

We believe that our town Council has the matter under consideration. There should be no delay, for the matter is pressing if we are to secure an appropriation this season. There can be no doubt as to the feeling of the people of Peterborough in favor of the rapid progress of this very important public work, and therefore it is only a question of the means to be adopted to carry out their wish. We would suggest that the Town Council should draw up an urgent memorial in its favour, and that they send a small deputation (a large one is no longer necessary) even if it only consists of one or two representatives of the town, to show that we are in full accord with the other advocates of the work. No time should be lost.

The Highlands of Haliburton.

The salubrity of the Haliburton district has long been known, but the cause of its healthiness has been frequently discussed without any positive conclusion being arrived at. A scientific discovery of the name of Hartley has just made a discovery which probably reveals the true cause of the Haliburton salubrity. By a new optical method he has established the fact that ozone is a large and constant constituent of the upper atmosphere, that it is present in larger amount in the upper than in the lower part of the earth's atmosphere, and that it is the cause of the blue color in the sky. This, then, accounts for the healthiness of the Haliburton district, for the elevation of the village of Haliburton is higher than that of any village in Ontario. It is about a thousand feet higher level than Toronto, and is consequently more ozone in the atmosphere than in that city. The Haliburton district is becoming known as the Highlands of Canada, and health seekers will in the time to come flock to the Highlands of Haliburton.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

DEBT ON FLOUR.—Post Office Savings Banks. The Budget Next Friday.—Attack on the Supreme Court.—Mr. Blake's Theory and Mr. Blake's Practice.

THURSDAY, Feb. 19.—Several measures were advanced a stage.

DUIT ON FLOUR, ETC.

SIR L. TILLEY, in reply to Mr. Forbes, said the intention of the Government as to the duties on flour, wheat and coal would be made known in the budget.

IMMIGRATION.

MR. CARON, in reply to Mr. Gillmor, said the number of immigrants, who settled permanently in the Maritime Provinces last year amounted to 1673.

SAVINGS BANKS.

SIR L. TILLEY, in reply to Mr. Stairs, said that arrangements were being made to open post office savings banks in the Maritime Provinces.

THE ONDERDONK CONTRACT.

MR. CARON, in reply to Mr. Homer, said no extension of time had been asked for or granted to Mr. Onderdonk on his contract for the C.P.R. between Port Moody and Savona's Ferry.

THE BUDGET.

SIR L. TILLEY, in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said he hoped to lay the estimates on the table next day, and to make his financial statement on Friday, Feb. 24th.

THE SUPREME COURT.

MR. LANDRY moved the second reading of the bill to limit the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. His object was to secure the abolition of the appellate jurisdiction in all cases where the matter in dispute related to property and civil rights in any of the Provinces, or to matters of a local nature coming within the exclusive jurisdiction of the local legislatures. The amendment should not, he proposed, apply to cases decided by the Exchequer Court, nor to a case where the matter in dispute affected the constitutionality or validity of a local statute.

MR. TUPPER objected to this attack upon a Court which was held in high estimation in Nova Scotia and other provinces, thereby impairing the usefulness of the Court.

MR. GIBBARD said he would vote for the second reading, though he admitted that the majority of the Montreal bar was in favour of the present constitution of the Supreme Court.

MR. BLAKE thought no good reason had been shown for the change proposed.

MR. BLAKE wanted to know what the Government was going to do. In theory he believed that it was the proper view that the authority making the law should appoint those who were to interpret it. Therefore the Provinces should appoint Provincial judges, though our constitution provided differently. He had, however, supported the creation of the Supreme Court by the Mackenzie Administration. He would continue to support it as long as there was an appeal from it to the Privy Council.

MR. MACDONALD thought that the amendment against the Supreme Court, that it had only two Quebec judges, was not important. The decision of the Court had given general satisfaction. As to the suggestion in favor of Provincial appointments of the judiciary, he quoted the late Hon. Geo. Brown as saying that by placing the appointments of judges in the hands of the Governor-General we had secured uniformity of justice over the whole land.

MR. CURRIE was also unable to see that a case had been made out against the Supreme Court that would justify the proposed bill.

MR. DAVIS also supported the Court, which had gained general respect and confidence in Prince Edward Island.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said it was originally proposed that the Supreme Court should be a Dominion Court. It was afterwards considered advisable to make it a court of appeal for the Provinces. The leader of the Opposition, Mr. Geo. Brown, was theoretically opposed to the creation of the Court, but he had supported its establishment. Quebec having a different system of laws was differently situated to the other Provinces, but this was met by the provision that there should be two judges from Quebec in the Court. To add another Quebec judge would disatisfy the other Provinces, and at present there was nearly general satisfaction with the Court. He hoped to find some means of meeting the views of the people of Quebec.

MR. OUBERT thought there were too many Courts of Appeal. He would like to have Courts of Appeal for the several Provinces, and they might sit together as one Court for Dominion questions. He moved an amendment to that effect.

MR. FOSTER supported the Supreme Court, and said no good reason had been given for a change. The Court had given satisfaction in his own Province and elsewhere. The liability to have their judgments reviewed was beneficial to the Courts. The Supreme Court was also a valuable bond of union for Canada.

MR. AMORY objected to the constitution of the Supreme Court as being unfair to Quebec. The Court was abolished there would still be an appeal to the Privy Council, so appeals would not be diminished. If, as was said, it was nonsense to appeal from Quebec to the Supreme Court because it had only two Quebec judges, how would it be less nonsensical to appeal to the Privy Council, which had no Quebec judges.

The amendment was lost.

MR. BELLAU spoke in support of the bill.

MR. LANDRY supported his bill against its critics.

The second reading was negatived by 125 to 34.

A Fight About a Dam.

KINGSTON, Feb. 19.—A resident of Sydenham writes that on Monday forenoon Messrs. J. K. Booth and Joe. Woodruff, with five or six of their mill hands, went to tear down an old dam situated on part of their property lately purchased from Mr. James Woods, when members of the Foxton family, armed with clubs and iron bars, turned out to prevent them doing so. Mr. Woodruff and one of his men, Thomas Holland, were chopping at the lower part of the dam, when James Foxton, Jr., with an iron bar appeared on the roadway above them and ordered them to desist, commencing at the same time to attack them. Mr. Woodruff received several blows on his body, and a severe scalp wound, which partially stunned him. T. Holland was badly beaten about the neck and shoulders, and a laid up from the effects of the blows. Mr. Woodruff, who is ex-reeve, was taken home and the doctor reports his injuries as severe, but not necessarily dangerous. The other men were beaten off by the rest of the Foxtons. They claim that the dam is their, so that there will be a big law suit. The affair has created great excitement in the country.

LINDSAY.

FIRE.—The dwelling house on St. Lawrence st., owned by Mrs. C. Clancey and occupied by Mr. J. Smith and family took fire on Tuesday morning and was destroyed. The fire is believed to have had the same old commencement—a defective stovepipe. The place had been so long on fire that just as the occupants were leaving their bedrooms the ceiling above fell in. It was a narrow escape. A few pieces of furniture were taken out, but the most of it was burned. There was an insurance on the furniture. It was a bitterly cold morning and the brigade were on the spot promptly.

OBITUARY.—On Saturday afternoon of last week a telegram to Mr. J. R. Dundas told briefly of the death—at Denver Colorado—of his brother, Rev. B. B. Dundas. The deceased gentleman was very well known in Lindsay, having been for some time engaged in the dry-goods business with his brother and later on having—upon entering the ministry—preached on a circuit in the neighborhood of Balsore. About eight years ago he went to the western states, hoping that the climate would there prove beneficial, and resided for some time at Denver. Here he engaged in ministerial work, but as it was to some extent among the mining districts it was not congenial. From Denver he went to a point in Kansas, and while there his health was good. He returned to Denver, where he resided until the date of his death. He was married during his first residence at Denver and leaves a wife and three children. The funeral took place on Tuesday the remains being interred in the cemetery at Denver.—Post.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Saved Army.

It has been decided that the Saved Army will hold their meetings in future in the Old Music or Gospel Hall, commencing this evening.

Personal.

Mr. C. W. Ewing, organist of St. John's Church, has left for England to attend to some pressing family matters. He expects to return in a few weeks.

Smithtown Officials.

The collector of the Township of Smith is Mr. Richard Warran, and the Board of Health consisted of Messrs. McKibbin, Tindell, and Rish. Warran.

The Pulpit.

The pulpit of the George St. Methodist church will be occupied to-morrow, both morning and evening by the pastor, Rev. I. Tovall.
The evening service will be evangelistic in its character.

An Explanation.

On account of sickness and death in the family of the bandmaster, Mr. Finch Miller, the Fire Brigade Band was not at the rink on Friday evening. We sympathize with Mr. Miller, who has lost that dearest of all friends—his mother.

The Prohibition.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South-west and west winds, continued fair weather; stationary or slightly higher temperatures.

Presentations.

Mr. Fred H. Elvidge, who has been employed in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's establishment, being about to leave Peterborough and go to California, was on Friday night visited at his boarding house by a number of friends and presented with a handsome memento, pipe, cigar holder, tobacco pouch and match case. An address was also presented to him, to which he made a suitable reply. The company remained for some time and passed an enjoyable evening.

The Market.

To-day's market was fairly attended. In the butter and egg market there was not abundance of products offered, and what was offered went with ready sale at good prices. Turkeys sold from 90 cents to $1.25; chickens, from 50 cents to 60 cents per pair; eggs at 19 cents and 20 cents per dozen; and butter at 20 cents and 22 cents per pound. On the square a large amount of beef was offered for sale ranging in price at from $6.00 to $7.00 per hundred pounds. Apples sold at 75 cents per bag and potatoes at 40 cents per bag. Scarcely any pork or mutton was on sale.

Commodions and Well Appointed.

On Friday evening the new hardware store belonging to Mr. R. Kings, situated on the corner of Hunter and Chambers streets, on the same site as the old store, was opened out with a well selected stock of hardware. The building is a substantial one, with solid brick walls and saw the front fitted with iron framework for the windows. The building is three and a half stories high, and an elevator of the latest design does the "carrying trade" between the different floors. The store proper is particularly well appointed and neat in appearance. The front is of plate glass, which transmits abundance of light for the showing of goods in the most remote corner; the counters are open and made of clear high finished iron; the shelving is of the adjustable kind, ornamented by slender colonial columns finished with gold leaf; the floor is made of narrow strips of elm, and the ceiling, in harmony with the rest of the surroundings, is of polished ash. At the rear of the store is a cosy office, fitted with everything requisite, including a burglar proof vault. The upper flats are used chiefly for storage purposes, as is also the cellar—a long, deep and roomy place rendered perfectly effective for storage purposes by its being thoroughly lined with Portland cement. The store is fitted with both electric light and gas, and altogether the establishment is one that is a credit to the town and is equalled by few outlets of the city.

A Huge Hog.

Mr. Harry C. Winch purchased to-day the biggest porker sold in Peterborough this season.
This porker was raised by Mr. Nicholls Dodge, Reeve of the Township of Alnwick, and weighed 681 pounds, thus overlapping in weight the one sold by Mr. Bulmer, of the Township of Smith, to the same buyer, six pounds. His huge hogship, stark and stiff, may be seen at Mr. Winch's stall.

Anniversary Services.

The anniversary services of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church will be preached tomorrow morning and evening by the Rev. Dr.
Williams, one of the General Superintendents of the Methodist Church. The anniversary meeting will be held on Monday evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, when the report of the trustees will be read, and addresses will be given by the Rev.
Mr. Munro and the Rev. Dr. Williams, and music will be furnished by the choir. A silver collection is requested at each of these services.

Carters Playing Ball.

This morning at an early hour three carters, whose names we may mention later on (it is thought they intend to organize a base ball club) might have been seen enjoying a practice game of catching at their stand on Hunter street. They seemed to enter into the spirit of the game with considerable zeal. This little pastime was indulged in to keep them warm, and if they continue it until spring, no doubt there will be vigorous competition among the local clubs as to which of them shall have choice of securing the "crack" curve pitcher of the three.

Curling.

The following are the names of those who took part in the curling match, between two rinks from the Lindsay and Peterborough Curling Clubs, which took place at Lindsay on

The Baird Comedy Co.

On Friday evening the Robert H. Baird Comedy Company presented the taking Irish tragic-comedy, "Kathleen Mavourneen," in Bradburn's Opera House. The hall was fairly well filled, and the audience was considerably larger than that of the preceding evening.
Miss Addie Flint made a charming impersonation of "Kathleen Mavourneen," the light-hearted Irish maiden. Mr. Baird in the double role of Terence O'More and Billy Buttonnap, it is needless to say, acquitted himself well. He evoked from the audience the heartiest laughter and drew out, at times, their sympathetic feeling toward him. The supporting characters were fairly well taken, especially those which were assumed by Mr. R. L. Milligan—Kathleen's father and Black Rod. The happy termination of the play convulsed the audience, and all went away well pleased with the performance. During the evening between the second and third acts, Mr. Levi Barnes appeared and gave an exhibition of Indian club swinging that brought forth loud applause. Tonight, by special request, "Uncle Josh," the mirthful and popular domestic drama, will be presented.

"It Might Have Been."

Time and again individuals give thought and expression to the words "It might have been."
Perchance the true cause of it in many cases is
the loss of both time and money in reckless and extravagant undertaking—an enterprise that perhaps proved too much for them in money that one. After the folly of their deluge presents itself to their gaze, with all the facts laid bare, then and only, are they convinced of how vastly different "it might have been" if they had not persistently pursued the evil tenor of their way as they did. Then comes a time of regret. It is at once resolved to endeavor to do better in the future and steer clear of all delusions and mazes that had been set for them
in the past and into which traps they had so readily and unemotionally fallen. If the new leaf thus turned over is kept clean and its contents always fresh in the memory, the result
cannot be otherwise than satisfactory at the end of a twelvemonth. If the male inhabitants of Peterborough who have hitherto been extravagant and careless in the past in the expenditure necessary at all times for clothing and gent's furnishings, and have seen the folly of their way,
will only turn over a new leaf and leave their orders at Habillment Hall, they will find it the proper place for everything that gentlemen are
in need of. A. McNEIL.

WALLACE POINT BRIDGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I would like to ask the Road and Bridges Committee of the County of Peterborough if it is their intention to do away with the Wallace Point Bridge, that is built at the only place that a bridge can be of any service to the people of Otonabee, and to build another at a heavy expense to accommodate the east end of South Monaghan to get to Peterborough? If it had not been for the people of Otonabee, and to large extent their money, it would not have been built at the time it was, nor perhaps since.
If the east end of South Monaghan is so anxious for a bridge, why is it they are not willing to join the County of Peterborough? The people of Otonabee wish it to be distinctly understood that they will not submit to the doing away with the Wallace Point Bridge.
Yours truly,
OTONABEE.

Otonabee, Feb. 20, 1885.

The Third Carnival.

The committee in charge of the management of the series of carnivals which Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, have been and are conducting, met on Friday evening. It was decided to hold a grand carnival for children on the evening of Friday, the 6th of March. This promises to be the most interesting and novel event of the season.
No such carnival has ever been attempted in this town, but we see no reason why the children's carnival should not be as great a success as those recently held. The large possibility will appear in a few days when all the particulars will be plainly set forth.

Three Nights More.

We understand that Mr. Robt. H. Baird has been induced to continue the engagement of his comedy company at Bradburn's Opera House for an additional three nights, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week. With each succeeding night the attendance increases and with the exceedingly moderate charges (15 and 25 cents) for admittance, it is probable that the house will be filled to its utmost capacity during the continuation of the engagement. To-night "Uncle Josh" will be re-presented. The character of Joshua Whitcomb, the New England farmer, in this play, is Mr. Baird's favorite role.
All should go to-night and enjoy a treat.
At the matinee this afternoon a fairly good attendance was present.

Outside Paupers.

Peterborough is now made the dumping ground for paupers hailing from other places.
Within a few months the indigents from Gananoque, Trenton and Lindsay have been sent here by interested persons and at the present time an old man, who lived in Lindsay for many years, is being kept by our Charity Committee. [This kind of thing has at last reached a focus, and paupers sent from other places will be immediately sent back on the next train. The latest one of the character referred to occurred on Friday last. A boy named Davy, aged 7 years, whose story is that his father is now confined in goal at either Orlilla or Lindsay, on a charge of murder, was provided with a ticket at the latter place and sent here, the boy being told not to tell where he came from. P. C. Fidgeon picked the little fellow up on the street, and after providing him with food and lodging persuaded him to give the particulars regarding himself, which he did after much coaxing. He was sent back on the early train this morning. This town has enough to do to provide for its own poor and outdoors for the future will immediately be sent back to the places where they belong. This practice of getting rid of troublesome charges is a reprehensible one and legislation is needed to put a stop to it, and Peterborough should help Toronto in her efforts to do away with the evil.

Look out for the small black pattern, on a plain ground, in Hattie's Clothing, Silks, Satins, Cashmeres, Beltonnes, Fringes and Ribbons. All who wish to see the Latest Spring Styles will find them at TURNBULL'S.

Skating Rink.

Skating tickets will now be issued at half rate. Band will be at the rink every Friday evening.

Cardinal Costumes.

Participating to get their carnival costumes photographed would do well to give Mrs.
Esterbrook a call, as they will get first class work at a special reduction.

Smith's Market.

Beets, Turnips, and Celery.
Oranges, Lemons, Grapes, Apples.
Oysters as usual, prime and nice.

TURNBULL'S Dress-makers have been looking for a clock time to take holidays, but the Choice Stock of Material and the way they get them up has brought a steady flow of custom all the slack season.

Prices are down. That is the great point the buyer of to-day must consider. Everything that enters into general use, Woolens, Cottons, Clothing and Furnishings are down.

Our Clearing Out Sale is a success so far. We have given solid, tangible reasons for our presumptuous sweeping out. The public take our word for it and stand to profit by our decisive sweep.

Prices are down—but not values, values with us are up. The public can and have discovered this. They will look to deal with this house that is continually paring down prices and gives the buyer the advantage.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn goods for nothing is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

MORE BARGAINS!

As announced, we will continue this Sale during the month of February, and will give BARGAINS until the close of the month. Call and see for yourselves.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1885.

A TERRIBLE TIME.

Master to a Cable Steamer off the Nova Scotia Coast.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 20.—The steamer Newcastle City, Captain Valder, which sailed hence for London on the 12th inst., with a general cargo, and one hundred and fifty-six head of cattle, returned to port this morning, having on Good Friday, when two hundred miles south east of Sable Island, encountered a hurricane from the south-east, during which she was struck on the port side by a tremendous sea, carrying overboard one hundred of the cattle. Her hatchways were stove in and her boats smashed. She also received other slight damages. The remainder of her cattle are all more or less injured, and several have died since she reached port. One of the cattlemen was struck by the same sea which washed away the cattle and had a very narrow escape, being washed from the fore part of the ship and considerably bruised. The deck of the steamer presented a sickening sight on reaching the dock, some of the animals being in a fearful condition from being knocked and washed around the ship, and several will have to be killed. The steamer has a general cargo from Boston.

UNCOVERING THE HEAP.

The debate on the budget was resumed on Thursday by Mr. Carnegie, who made one of the best and most effective speeches he has yet made on the floor of the House. The member for West Peterborough has a special aptitude for uncovering the hidden details of expenditure and showing up the way in which things are manipulated, and the public accounts lately laid on the table gave him abundance of material, which he used to great advantage, making the members of the Government feel particularly uncomfortable whilst the exposure was going on. When he got to the Public Works Department and pointed out that expenditure had been undertaken for which the House had not been asked to vote an appropriation, the irrepressible Mr. Fraser could no longer contain himself, and in his usual bullying manner gave the statement a square deal. It would have been better for him had he turned his wrath in silence, for the member for West Peterborough produced the estimates and made good his contention, the bumptious Commissioner being forced to fall back on something which he had in his mind when the House was making the appropriation, but which never found its way from the romantic locality to the pages of the estimates.

Mr. Carnegie dealt effectively with the loan floated by the Treasurer last summer, showing that if he had negotiated a straight loan, instead of selling annuities, he could have done so at a much better rate, and has lost a large annual sum to the province by the transaction. But if we have such a large surplus, it is naturally acquired, why we should need to raise a loan at all to meet our railway payments; and Mr. Carnegie hit the mark on this subject when he pointed out that in this, as in other transactions, the object was to cover up the rapid diminution of our patrimony, and have a present surplus on paper to point to, with a reckless disregard of the liabilities they are piling up for the future—after the deluge. The speech of the member for West Peterborough was evidently irritating to the Government side because the facts were by no means flattering to them.—Toronto Mail.

Secret Service Circuit.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 21.—Captain Phelan was accompanied from New York by two detectives, acting as a body guard. The detectives will remain in the city until Phelan's safety is assured. One of them says that it is positively known that Kansas City has been selected by the English Government as the outpost of a secret service circuit extending from New York to New Orleans and San Francisco. There are five well known British agents in Kansas City now, and a resident agent chief of the circuit will be located here to watch the movements of all suspicious class or individuals.

A SEVERE SKIRMISH!

THE ENEMY DRIVEN BACK BY CLEVER AND SUCCESSFUL TACTICS.

Gen. Buller still at Abu Klea—Sensational Rumours Disbelieved—The Secret Message Sent by Gordon.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Rumours were current yesterday of a serious disaster to Gen. Buller's force, which is entrenched at Abu Klea Wells, but neither the War Office nor any of the news agencies have anything to confirm the reports. It is thought the rumours were stock-jobbing canards.

GORDON'S SECRET DESPATCH.

The Daily News says:—On December 14, when General Gordon declared Khartoum was all right, he sent a confidential despatch saying his troops were suffering from the lack of provisions, and that Gen. Wolseley should come quickly.

CALLING OUT THE RESERVES. The Queen's message does not call out the reserves, but orders the soldiers at present serving, who would otherwise be entitled to retire as reserves, to remain in active service until further notice.

THE SUAKIM-BERBER RAILWAY.

It is estimated a broad gauge railroad from Suakim to Berber will cost three million pounds, and require nine months for its construction.

GEN. BULLER'S PENAL.

It is expected Gen. Buller's relief transports from Gakdul will reach Abu Klea to-day. It is feared the retreat upon Gakdul will be attended with heavy losses. Water is scarce, the camels are dying from exhaustion, and the ammunition is limited. If the Mebdi's advance should be accelerated, the fate of Gen. Buller's entire force would be imperilled.

SHELLING THE ENEMY.

ABU KLEA, Feb. 22.—Gen. Buller commanded the systematic shelling of the Arab lines on the 17th inst. Two well directed shots did the enemy great damage, one exploding amidst the ranks of the Arabs, and another hitting the summit of a hill, another round of the British guns carrying. Lord Beresford also seriously injured the enemy with his Gardner guns.

SUCCESSFUL TACTICS.

Major Wardrop with 18 men stole cautiously round the enemy's right and found they had only a few hundred riflemen on the hills and the reserve spearmen. Major Wardrop and men, keeping out of sight, sent volleys of eight hundred yards on the enemy's flank. Leaving one man at the point to continue the fire, he took the twelve others and pursued the Arabs the distance of three successive hills, giving the Arabs the impression that fresh bodies of British were arriving. The Mebdi's force became panic-stricken and ceased firing, and decamped toward Metameh, taking their guns and dead and wounded with them. A few Arab scouts only were left three miles on to defend Gen. Buller's movements. There has been no sign of the enemy since. Gen. Buller will advance to Gakdul as soon as the reinforcements arrive from Khartoum. The British loss during the day was one killed and several wounded. The British were being attacked by Major Wardrop's party in the rear, was four killed and twenty-five wounded.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS.

Mr. Pearce, correspondent of the London Daily News with General Buller, is missing. General Wolseley, at the request of several newspapers, has appointed officers as correspondents.

OSMAN DIGMA ALARMED.

SUAKIM, Feb. 22.—The arrival of British troops has alarmed Osman Digma, who is trying to gather a large force at Tamasit. Osman recently killed a messenger from Toka, bearing the news that the Mudir of Dongola, assisted by the Shukria tribe, fought the Hadendawa, who attacked the friendly tribes supplying the English with grain. Two thousand Hadendawa were reported killed by the Mudir and his allies.

NEW SOUTH WALES VOLUNTEERS.

SYDNEY, Feb. 22.—The patriotic fund for the equipment of the New South Wales contingent of the Sudan amounts to £75,000. Preparations for the departure of the contingent are nearly completed. The popular enthusiasm is unabated.

REFUGEES FROM KHARTOUM.

KORT, Feb. 21.—Two hundred and twenty-five of Gordon's black troops, accompanied by their wives and families, who had reached Gubat before Khartoum fell, have arrived at Amakol, and gone in the camp there.

THE CANADIAN OFFER.

The Imperial Government declines the Proffered Assistance for the Present.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.—Lord Derby has cabled to Lord Lansdowne, saying that although Her Majesty's Government highly appreciate the patriotism which prompted the offer, it does not think it advisable to accept the assistance of the Canadians at present, owing to the great length of time it would take to prepare the contingent for active service. The force already under orders in Her Majesty's Government believes, sufficient, but should military operations be prolonged, and the offers which have been made by the Canadian officers be renewed, Her Majesty's Government would gladly take them into consideration, subject to detailed information as to the character of the force which might be sent out, and the conditions under which it would be engaged.

A Hardcore's Dog.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 20.—William Adams, who killed his sweet heart and committed suicide near Shelbyville on Sunday, was buried near that city yesterday. Adams owned a pet dog, which was an inseparable companion in his moody wanderings. After his remains had been taken to his home his dog stationed himself close beside the body of his dead master, and refused to be driven away. Just before the funeral the dog was locked up in a barn. After the interment a brother of Adams went to the barn to release the dog, but found that it had burrowed a hole under the walls of the building and escaped. As the animal could not be found anywhere about the place, a visit was made to the new-made grave. There it was found stone dead in a shallow hole it had dug beside the grave.

Found Frozen to Death.

WINDSOR, Feb. 20.—The remains of a middle aged man dressed like a tramp were found frozen to stiff on the Great Western Road, about 18 miles from Windsor, yesterday. There was nothing in the pockets by which the body could be identified, and as it was evident that the man had frozen to death, the body was buried without an inquest.

GORDON'S DESPATCHES.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT CAUSED IN LONDON BY THEIR PUBLICATION.

His Appeals for Reinforcements and Bitter Complaints—Refused to Forgo the Khartoum Garrison—The People Indignant.

(By Telegram to the Review.)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—A decided sensation was created here to-day by the publication of several despatches sent from Khartoum by the late Gen. Gordon. In one dated November 4th he declines to agree to the sitting out of an expeditionary force.

FOR HIS RESCUE ALONE.

asserting that he intended to reserve the garrison and that he would not allow himself to be rescued and leave them to their fate.

A BITTER COMPLAINT.

On September 7th he writes complaining bitterly of the apathy of the Government. He says:—"How many times have I asked for reinforcements without receiving any answer? The hearts of the few loyal men that cling to me with the faint hope of being ultimately delivered from their long imprisonment here, are growing weary, and they almost despair of ever being delivered from their present hardships and sufferings, unless by the bullets of the Arabs. While you eat and drink the best and rest in good beds, we are always fighting."

IT APPEARS BY ANOTHER DESPATCH, DATED DEC. 14TH, THAT THE LATE GEN. GORDON NEVER SAID HE COULD HOLD OUT INDEFINITELY. ON THE CONTRARY IN THIS DESPATCH HE SAYS:—"OUR CIRCUMSTANCES ARE RAPIDLY BECOMING VERY STRAIGHTENED. ALL OUR SUPPLIES FOR THE PRESENT ARE OUT AND FOOD IS GROWING SCARCE."

THESE DESPATCHES HAVE GREATLY INTENSIFIED THE FEELINGS OF THE PEOPLE AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT, AND THE MEMBERS OF THE CABINET ARE CHARGED WITH DUPLICITY AND DECEPTION, AS WELL AS BEING DIRECT TO THEIR DUTY.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Two Youths Trying to Kill an Old Man Near Ottawa.

Information has been received of a diabolical attempt on Friday night to murder an old man named St. Pierre, who belongs to Galtville Point. The old man was found on the ice, bleeding from several severe wounds on the head and body, and almost on the point of death. He had sufficient life left in him, however, to give the names of his assailants, who were the two young men, sons of Trixie Oulmer, and whose characters as hard cases are well known. It seems that they attacked St. Pierre with a blunt instrument, and left him for dead, the cause of the crime being some dispute between the parties about cutting down trees. The victim was carried to the Point, and was attended by a doctor who pronounced the wounds serious.

The old man and his son have made depositions as to the facts of the case, and it is to be hoped that the cowardly would-be assassins will not be allowed to slip into Uncle Sam's domain. The assault was one of the most atrocious committed in

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Railway Bonus Set.
The sale of the Grand Junction Railway vs.
the County of Peterborough, was commenced yesterday in Toronto before Mr. Justice Galt.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Wind shifting to the eastward; increasing cloudiness; followed by snow to-night; higher temperatures.

Ottawa Mills.
Mr. H. A. Mulhern, late of Warkworth, the new lessee of the Ottawa Mills, Ashburnham, has now taken possession and is engaged in changing the mill to the full roller system, so that by the adoption of the latest improved processes he will be able to produce a grade of flour unsurpassed by any in the market. He expects to have the mill in full operation in the course of two weeks.

A FINE assortment of Easter and Birthday Cards and Books. Also a lot of the Small Publications of the Tract Society.—J. ERSKINE.

Personal.
The Festival Falls Gaiety, in its account of the Roman Catholic Church choir concert held in that village, compliments Miss Begley, of Peterborough, on possessing a well cultivated voice, and refers to another feature of the programme as follows:—

"The great event of the evening was the club swing by Mr. McNaughton, of Peterborough, who kept the audience spell bound for twenty minutes at each time he appeared, by his marvellous performance with the club. Mr.
McNaughton is now considered the acknowledged champion club swinger of Canada, and those who viewed him will not dispute his right to it."

At the Opera House.
On Monday evening the Robt. H. Baird Comedy Company appeared in the five act play entitled "Col. Sellers; or, There's Millions in It." The play is a good one, and this company acquainted themselves well. Mr. Baird as Col. Sellers, the man of speculating pretensions, was really good, and he succeeded in keeping the audience in continuous roars of laughter. Mr. R. A. Hammond, as Clay Harrington, Mr. R. L. Milligan, as St. Hawkins, did fairly well. Miss Addie Flint, as Laura Harrington, the unfortunate victim of a marriage with a villain, acted the part allotted to the character with considerable versatility, the scene with her father, after his despicable act was found out, and when she, while telling him how deeply he wronged her, sends a bullet crashing through his brain, being a brilliant feature. The club swinging of Lewis Barnes was appreciated. To-night "Nip & Tuck" will be presented by request. On Wednesday evening Mr. Baird, the popular comedian, will be given a benefit.

The Double Carnival.
Arrangements for the successful carrying out of this grand double fête are being pushed forward with all possible haste. During the progress of the juvenile carnival in the afternoon, the club will be darkened and the seven electric lights will be lighted, thus making the afternoon the same as it will be in the evening. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance in the afternoon, as well as in the evening, and discuss sweet music to the merry little maekers.
The decorations on this occasion will be entirely changed, giving the whole a new appearance. Fire will be lighted in the spacious waiting room, and hot refreshments will be served out as the dining parlor during the day by a careful and obliging caterer. In the evening, the scene will be one long to be remembered.
This is positively the last carnival of the season and it is almost certain to meet with success. The admission for children (in costume) in the afternoon will be ten cents, and adults (spectators) fifteen cents. In the evening the price of admission will be adults twenty-five cents and children half price. The children from Dr. Bernard's Home will be admitted free in the afternoon. They were treated in a dainty manner at the last carnival.

Overhauling will find at the "Golden Lion" tail from Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, Furnishings, Dress Shirts and Underwear. Tailoring a specialty, and a first class Cutter at your command.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

THEIR SUCCESS IN INTRODUCING THE ELECTRIC LUMINANT IN THIS TOWN.

The Citizens of Peterborough Hall the introduction of this advancement in Civilization and Largely Adopt the New Light.

How few of our citizens, as they gaze up at these brilliant lights which illumine at night our principal thoroughfares and shoot downwards and outwards their dazzling shafts of light, awakening myriads of living diamonds in the pure snow beneath, how few are there that think of the source of all this splendour? The electric light, the generally say, is "generated" down at the dynamo station. True, the electricity is "generated" by the dynamo, in which the "armatures" revolve at right angles with the "fields," thus cutting the lines of force and sending them out in the shape of the subtle fluid, as it has often been called, along the circuits, as if it were so much water being pumped through a long line of piping. But to take a broad view of the production of the light, it is to the sun we should look for the source.
This brilliant light, so much admired, is neither more nor less than bottled sunshine. For, in the first place, where could power be got to drive the dynamo were it not for the sun. Old Sol pulls up from the ocean, sea and lake, by his power of evaporation, enough water to feed our many rivers, and thus gives us a means of driving almost any kind of machinery. But, some will say, drive the machinery by steam power! Where will the fuel come from to drive it with? The same agent is absolutely necessary to vegetable life (or any other kind of life), and neither tree, plant or shrub could exist or have being without its influence. In tropical climates, where there is such abundance of light and warmth the vegetation is rank and luxuriant, but as we approach the frozen north, where there is little light and warmth is scarcely felt, the trees become scrubby, and in the extreme north only moss and lichenous plants subsist. The carbon, too, that is used, are manufactured out of certain kinds of coal, or minerals of a kindred nature, which are but the remains of forests laid away under the earth for centuries. So, also, is every article that is used in generating or conducting the electric fluid, either directly or indirectly derived from the sun's influence, and it is no misnomer to term the electric light
"bottled sunshine."

On the 12th day of May, 1884, the Peterborough Electric Light Company received its charter and at that time it was thought by those who composed the company that the charter was obtained merely for protective purposes and that it would be some years before the light would be introduced. They little thought that within two weeks numerous globes would shower down their brilliance in Peterborough. A day or two afterwards an agent of the Royal Electric Company, of Montreal, arrived in town and after some negotiations prevailed on the Peterborough Electric Light Company to introduce the light forthwith. A dynamo was set at once ordered and vigorous steps taken to run the lines, etc., and such was the astonishing rapidity with which the work was done that only ten days elapsed from the time it was commenced until all arrangements were completed. On the 23rd of May a satisfactory trial was made, and on the 24th of May the inauguration of the Peterborough Electric Light system took place. Numerous places were lighted, among them was the drill shed. From the inauguration until to-day it has continued to progress, and now the number of lights in use, together with those ordered, amount to about seventy-five in all.

But the cost of electric lighting is much more than the external appearance would lead one to suppose. Each 25 light dynamo costs $3,000 at the factory, and together with its requisite appliances foot up to fully $3,000 when ready for use. Each 15 light dynamo costs $1,500 and when ready for use costs the company between $1,900 and $2,000. The ordinary lamp, which hangs with such an insignificant appearance, costs $65 at the factory, and the globe, coming down to minutiae, are $1.25 each. When the lamp is hung complete it costs about $75. The well regulators, which are attached to each dynamo, costing $100 each, the street poles, costing $25 each, and the wire at $11c per mile, and numerous other equally costly articles, foot up to more than $20,000 for the entire electric light plant.

For the first three months of its existence, the electric light system was operated by the Royal Electric Company, as a test, when the proprietaryship of it was assumed by the Peterborough Company. Under the management of the Royal Electric Company the price per lamp was 50 cents per night, with carbons furnished, but on assuming the management of it the Peterborough Electric Light Company reduced the price to 40 cents per night, with carbons furnished. The number of lights in use had largely increased, and the company now had two 25 light dynamos running in the old dynamo station, which was situated under the Diron estate saw mill. On the 3rd of November these dynamos were moved across the river to the new dynamo station, which was built contiguous to the pulp factory. Two more dynamos were purchased, one having the capacity of 12 lights, and the other of 15 lights, and the necessary gearing was adjusted. This gave the system a capacity of 77 lights. A successful movement was made to have the principal part of George and Charlotte streets illuminated by electricity. This necessitated the construction of a new circuit. The "double track," to use a railway phrase, was built, and now the street lamps are lighted by an altogether independent current of electricity from the house lamps.
Soon after George street was lighted a petition was signed by a large number of the Hunter street ratepayers, asking the permission of the Town Council to have Hunter street lighted by electric light, and requesting a local tax for the expense to be imposed. The petition was granted, and the lights soon loomed forth on Hunter as well as on George and Charlotte streets.

One of the latest improvements at the dynamo station is the new switch board. By means of this ingenious machine the current from the whole four machines may be turned on one circuit, or the production of only one machine may be used for the lighting of the lamps on any one circuit. This switch board has the capacity of dealing with currents of eight dynamos, or twice the number now in use. Another very convenient appliance at dynamo station is telephonic communication.
By this means any subscriber may telephone to the station if the lamp gets out of order (which is seldom the case) and have it speedily put in order.

On New Year's Day the system had a capacity of 90 lights by means of the exchange of the twelve light dynamo for a twenty-five light dynamo.

Of late another reduction has been made in the price of electric light. The present charge is now 25 cents per lamp per night with carbons supplied. This is considered to be the bottom price for electric light, and when compared with the price of electric light in other cities and towns of Canada and the United States our merchants and citizens have every reason to be satisfied with the amount charged, as in most places it is about double the price.

While our light is very low in price it is also of a first class quality. When Prof. Wm.
Laut Carpenter, B.A., B.Sc., F.C.S., came to this country as a member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, was in town last fall he said to a Review reporter,
"The Peterborough electric light is better in quality than that of either New York or Boston.
I have had a great deal of experience in electric light, and indeed this light reflects credit on those who have charge of its manufacture." On such authority as this we may consider that our electric light is equal or superior in quality to that of most cities and towns on the continent, while the price is such as places it within the reach of all who need it.

Mr. Theo. Geo. Hazlett, the obliging business manager, and in fact every member of the company, have just reason to consider the introduction of the light into this town a success in every respect. The superintending electrician is Mr. Albert Brown, a gentleman of long experience in the profession, and one well fitted to take charge of a system of much larger dimensions. He is ably assisted by his brother, Mr. David Brown.

A Sad Occurrence.
On Friday afternoon some soft soap was being made at the house of Mr. Daniel Mahony, road master on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, at the south part of George street. His son Willie, a boy about four years old, together with his little sister, went out into the yard to play, and by some means the poor little fellow fell into the tub in which the newly-made soap, steaming hot, had been poured. His hands, arms and face were badly scalded before he could get out, and intense pain was the consequence. The boy bore the pain manfully through Saturday and Sunday, and scarcely a complaint was made although suffering from such severe scalding. On Sunday afternoon he expired. Willie was Mr.
Mahony's only boy, and every parent will feel, as only parents can feel, that the cheerful little face will long be missed. We extend our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Mahony in their bereavement.

Spring Importations.
As the season advances the different business establishments in Peterborough are almost daily in receipt of Spring importations. It is always well that this should be the case, as it enables those who are contemplating the purchase of spring and summer goods to have ample time in which to choose from among the different houses what best suits them. One important point the tailoring establishments should always consider in good time is the purchasing of a good stock of Spring suitings and overcoatings. Such a purchase has been made by Andrew McNeil, and the goods will be found at his Gentle's Furnishing Establishment, Marlborough Hall. The style, cut, trimmings and fashions, as well as the goods will be found on examination to be A. 1. Young men, try Marlborough Hall for your spring suits, and you will be taking a step in the right direction.

Dated Peterborough, Feb. 24, 1885. 8465-379

TIMOTHY GIROUX,

HAVING purchased the Hotel business in Peterborough known as the Little Windsor Hotel, so long carried on by Mr. Edward Brown, begs to solicit a continuance of the patronage of the public. The new proprietor hopes by strict attention to business and care in managing the Hotel to keep up the repu-

PRINTING AND PUBLISHING COMPANY
(Limited), Peterborough.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1885.

The Toronto News is an odd journal. It attacks the Ontario Government's system of book keeping, and yet objects to members of the Opposition expounding the wrong which it acknowledges to exist.

Mr. Mowat and his colleagues know that the seat for East Simcoe in the Ontario Legislature is vacant, and they are afraid that they cannot fill it with one of their own supporters to the satisfaction of the courts of law. They are therefore prolonging as much as possible the proceedings in the Committee on Elections so as to render impossible the election of an opponent till after the close of the session.

The Ottawa Free Press quotes a letter of the Hon. Mr. McLeod, in which he refers to "Sir John Macdonald's long and faithful service to party, country and Queen," and because party is mentioned first the Free Press says it must have been considered the most important. The most important is not always mentioned first.
There is a record of the virtues in which they are mentioned as "faith, hope and charity," but the greatest was charity, and that was mentioned last.

The Montreal Times after a little abuse of the Peterborough Review says in regard to the attack of Mr. Edgar upon the C.P.R.:—"If the road cannot bear inspection, if any enquiries about it are to be treated only as plots, then there is only too great reason to believe that all is not as it should be." Genuine inspection and honest enquiry are welcome enough, but not attempts to get reports of works in progress of construction with a view to describe them as incomplete permanent works. It was a clever dodge, but it did not succeed.

With his usual inconsistency, Mr. Blake, urged that Parliament should resume the power of choosing the route to connect Montreal with the Maritime Province ports. Only the other day he attacked the Government for referring the question to a committee of the House instead of introducing a bill themselves. If the Administration had taken direct action in the Insolvency question, and had referred the matter to a Parliamentary Committee, Mr. Blake would simply have reversed his objections, Carping criticism is his forte.

The Ottawa Free Press is a staunch Reform journal. It has, in common with other papers supporting that party, lauded Mr. Mowat as a bold champion, a conquering hero, etc., and it is evidently chagrined at his weakness in connection with the subject of new Parliament buildings for the Province. It therefore tries to goad him into taking a stand on the question.
It chides him with fearing the Opposition, and even acknowledges that the Provincial Government has been guilty of an unbecoming act.
With several of the party papers calling on
Mr. Blake for a policy, and this attack on Mr.
Mowat, there does not appear to be unbounded satisfaction with the leaders of the party in the rank.

FENELON FALLS.

THE CANAL.—A few men are still at work at the east end of the canal, trimming the walls of the cut above the level of the walls of the lower lock; but they will be through in about a week, and after that nothing more will be done until some time in the month of April.

A CHILD BURNED.—On Wednesday evening while Mrs. John Fogg, of Verdun, was out milking the cows, her youngest child, a little girl about 18 months old, pulled a burning stick from the stove, and by some means set the right sleeve of her dress on fire. Her brother instantly ran out and told his mother, who was fortunately not far distant; and she, rushing into the house, extinguished the flames, but not before the poor little thing was badly burned on the arm and side of her face.—Gazette.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

Provincial Railways.—The short line route—British Columbia Immigration —Squatters in the North-West.

MONDAY, Feb. 23.—Several measures were advanced a stage.

PROVINCIAL RAILWAYS.

Mr. SPROULE asked did the taking over of Provincial railways by the Dominion destroy the validity of agreements entered into by three railway companies and the municipalities relative to bonuses given in aid of such roads? Have railways, which by the Act of last session are declared to be in the interest of Canada, any additional powers given them by virtue of this change, whereby they are enabled to control local freight rates, different from what such companies had when under provincial control?

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said these were legal questions. As regards the first, he did not think they did. The second was a question of law he was not prepared to answer.

MANITOBA.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD, in reply to Mr.
Cameron (Huron), said a provisional agreement with Manitoba would be laid on the table next day.

BRITISH COLUMBIA IMMIGRATION.

Mr. FORB, replying to Mr. Baker (Victoria), stated that immigration into British Columbia last year was about nine thousand whites and three thousand Chinese.

NORTH SHORE RAILWAY.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said, in reply to Mr.
Laurier, that the Government had received no communication from the Quebec Administration as to its being prepared to purchase the North Shore railway for five million on the Dominion allowing them five per cent on that sum.

THE SHORT LINE.

Mr. LAURIER moved for making the route for the subdivided railway between Montreal and St. John and Halifax subject to the approval of Parliament.

Sir H. LANGEVIN moved that the motion stand as the plans would be brought down in a day or two.

Mr. LAURIER declined to consent. He attacked the location of the Intercolonial and the sufficiency of the surveys of the Short Line.
His plan was to run to Quebec, bridge the St.
Lawrence, and use the Intercolonial as the shorter and more suitable route.

Sir H. LANGEVIN declined discussion in the absence of the papers.

Mr. LAURIER advocated the suggested route and Parliamentary control.

Mr. DE ST. GEORGE spoke in favor of the route by Quebec.

Mr. CROSBY wanted to hear from the Quebec Conservative members.

Mr. BLAKE said it was not a question of the route, but of Parliamentary control, which he asserted to be the constitutional right of the House.

Sir J. MACDONALD said that under the presence of advocating Parliamentary control the Opposition was endeavoring to select a route in advance of the information on the eve of being afforded. It was a question of want of confidence in the Government, and he must oppose the motion for the adjournment.

Mr. MILLER said that public opinion was against the Government.

The amendment of Sir H. Langevin for the adjournment was carried by 104 to 49.

C. P. R.

Mr. BLAKE moved for various returns in connection with the C. P. R.

SQUATTERS.

Mr. LISTER moved for papers as to the squatters on the Bell Farm property.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said they would bring down the papers, which would show the exact state of the case. Two members of their house had acted as arbitrators, Mr. Taylor, M.P., for the Squatters, and Mr. Wood, M.P., for the Bell Company. Neither had acted for the Government. He believed their award was impartial.

Mr. WOOD explained how Major Bell and the Squatters had asked him and Mr. Taylor to arbitrate for them. Neither of them had acted for the Government. Only one of the squatters had the shadow of a legal claim. Their award had contained the suggestion that the Government might allow the squatters the time spent by them on the Bell farm land to count toward settlement debts on Government lands, but of course this could not bind the Government.
These facts had been explained to Mr. Lister, who knew them well enough.

Charged for Three Years.

BRASCHER, Feb. 23.—On the 10th of January, 1885, one of the fullest and most perpetrated was committed in the town of Anastasia, Columbia county, New York State.
Oscar F. Beckwith, alias Charles White, murdered his companion and partner, whom he cut up into pieces and buried him in a box, and then, and called down the other portion of his trunk with the object of concealing the inhuman crime, which were found in the shanty occupied by deceased and the prisoner. Detective Gildersleeve, of Kinderhook, New York, followed the criminal with the tenacity of a leath band to the shores of the Pacific, and thence through Canada along the line of the Canadian Pacific railway. He put himself in communication with Detective Rodgers, of Barrie, who with the assistance of D. F. Mc-Donald, Government wood ranger of the county, and Chief Constable Perkins, of Gravenhurst, accompanied by Detective Gildersleeve and Sheriff Hamor, of Columbia county, New York, succeeded in arresting the murderer Beckwith at South River, in the district of Perry Sound. They passed through here with their prisoner en route to Toronto this morning.

Sheriff Hamor and Detective Gildersleeve say that the assistance and the kindness received from the above named gentleman was beyond praise or thanks.

Making Tramps.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—"It is made the dumping ground for paupers hailing from other places, and announces that all such individuals will be returned to their starting place on the first train from the town. It seems a questionable policy to send paupers from one place to another for the mere purpose of getting rid of them, yet it is a practice that is generally indulged in by all municipalities. Some are at first lodged in the lockup as vagrants, but they soon learn to apply for protection as tramps.
Legislation is needed to stop it and the sooner it is brought about the better it will be for all concerned."

Correspondence of the Review.

TWO DAYS SOUTH OF SACRAMENTO,
January, 6th, 1885.

DEAR REVIEW.—My last epistle was dated on Tuesday at Ambigool Rapid [This letter has been carried, as it has not been received.—Ed.] So from there I will bring you with me down south, "up the river." (This sounds strange, don't it, to a dweller on the T. V. C.)

This rapid is now so shallow in places that the boats are taken up empty and all goods portaged to the head, where they are again loaded. We proceeded from Ambigool to the Tempore Rapids, the route which I have previously described, but it has changed so much by the fall of the water that the most minute description would not avail you to form any correct idea of it. But in a general way I can say that you meet rocks everywhere, sand banks anywhere, rapids continually, and work always with hard tack and "bull beef" to keep your courage up, and indeed the poor soldiers need this, or something better, to keep them in good form, for the work is very hard on them. They know nothing about a boat, a sail or a rope, and very often by their want of education in these little things, so essential in this navigation, they entail great labor on themselves.

The whole route to Dal is one continuous rapid. There are places where you can row for a mile or two, and if the wind is favorable, and there is enough of it, can cover a good stretch without towing; but every day—every hour, almost—you may see a boat either wrecked or beached and undergoing repairs. Many parts of the river have become easier by the fall of the water, but all the heavy pitches are decidedly more dangerous. This in some degree has been met by stationing Canadians at the worst places. They manage the ropes, give directions to the men at the helm, and bring whole companies through in a short time without accident.

Throughout the past month the loss of life has not been so great as previously, and this may honestly be attributed to the watchfulness, skill and intelligence of the portions of the Canadian military.

The company I am with has had no material accident since leaving Ambigool, unless you call knocking a hole in the bottom of a boat, getting her half full of water, and pulling for all you were worth to the bottom of the river, to pull out and repair, serious. If so we have such accidents every day, and many a one I have repaired by the light of a lantern, working into the "wee wee" hours of the night, to finish the job. (I do not know if you are aware of my great aptitude for learning foreign languages or not, but you will see that even my short compensation with the Black Watch has brought forth good fruit.) My men have constituted me chief engineer of the party, and if a boat is damaged the first thing to be done is to send for the "Duke," (for so they have christened me, why, I do not know, for I swear my nose has nothing Wellingtonian about it) to repair her.

We passed through the Tangore Rapids in safety, though it's navigation is far more difficult and dangerous than it was a month back. The next rapid south of Tangore is Okemeh, and a crossed, nasty place it is. On Dec. 31st, Private Macdonald of Co. C, 18th Royal Irish was drowned. The boat he was in was pulled to doom. The boat was in a strong heavy current, and he fell into the savage torrent and never rose again.

We passed the New Year on the banks of the muddy Nile and of course had the usual festival of bull beef, hard tack, tea and sharp apertures being the chief dishes on the occasion.

Don't you envy us, you favored ones of a better climate? On New Year's Day, coast off and 30° in the shade. The first snow we had seen of our unfortunate noses. You should see mine, it is a natural curiosity and if it continues prolonging may yet become a national one.
—I return. I have seen scenes in Peterborough that in my ignorance I used to imagine could not be best in civilized society. I think mine would match any of them now, but for one thing—alas! it lacks the blossoms.

Nothing of any moment occurred up to the 2nd January, when we reached the foot of the Dal Rapids, where nearly all the Canadiana's are stationed to act as pilots in rowing the boats up this hard place. All the boat load is taken out here (except 600 lbs) and portaged three miles on the backs of camels and Egyptian soldiers, and, indeed, that is about all the latter are good for.

The pull through the Dal is something awful.
Four miles of as hard work as it is possible for man to accomplish. The route is very tortuous and more than dangerous, crossing the river, partly, three or four times and altogether twice.
In many places every nerve and muscle is strained to the uttermost until the back water moment, our aching backs and limbs are used for a moment only. Then a dash into the wild whirl of the rapid again, for once the oars are started there is no stop until the trip is over, which is wild beyond description, full of excitement and fraught with danger.

The boats once over the Dal they are reloaded and proceed to Sacramento. About four miles south. Sacra is the last provision depot north of Despatch, and all boats that run short of stores or are deficient in any necessity of their outfit get their list filled up here.

The river Dal to Sacra and ten miles above is very swift and shallow. Rocks to the right of you, rocks to the left of you, cliffs right in front of you, treacherous ridge traps all around you. So one of our boats found out for she had a couple of planks [staved in on the evening of the 4th].

January 5th we leave Sacramento for Dongola with a fine wind and bow along in good style against the heavy current. But there is no ease for the helmsman, well and faithfully has he to keep watch and ward, and if careless salami will overtake him, and if careless or reckless, if he has a conscience neither scared nor dead, he entails on himself the curse of a never dying worm-eating at it while life remains. It is a hard sight to see a man buried away in a moment into eternity, but oh! how sad, how awful, must it be for the cause of it.

The country now is getting more open, the high banks have disappeared, and have given place to beautiful groves of date, palm and other trees. How delightfully green everything looks, the shores clad with verdure and arrayed in garments of fertility to the water's edge, but mark, this extends only a hundred yards or so from the river, and then the desert, and all that word implies.

great value for their fertility. They are composed of "the original mud," and wherever there is mud there is crop.

AKKESARAT, Jan. 9.—As I have an unexpected chance to post this I will write no more just now. We have had a splendid breeze yesterday and to-day. All our men are doing well, and will be on the return in a few days.
J. Gorman is well and hearty again. One of the Manitoba men named Armstrong died of fever on the 3rd and was buried at Sacramento.
The wind is now blowing a perfect gale, so that will account for crooked penmanship. I wrote all this letter, except the last few lines, while steering. I tied the rudder so that I could work it with my feet, and managed wonderfully well, but of course only when all was smooth and safe, and fair sailing.

Good-bye for the present. J. A. S.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn good for nothing stuff is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

MORE BARGAINS!

As announced, we will continue this Sale during the month of February, and will give BARGAINS until the close of the month. Call and see for yourselves.

SWIMMING FOR LIFE.

INCIDENTS DURING THE VOYAGE UP THE MIGHTY NILE.

The Maid of Erin on a Reach—Smallpox at Dongola—Faintness of the Captain—Dispirited Appearance of Officers.

(Correspondence of the Review.)
HARRIS CATERACT, Sudan, January 14th, 1885.

To the Review.—This is the third great cataraet of the Nile. Here are numerous islands of basaltic formation towering to a great height and crowned with ruins of fortresses, no doubt which even now, after perhaps a thousand years or more of existence, present, even in their decay, evidences of the strength they once possessed. I did not get close enough to them to give an accurate description, but the thought rose in my mind, while the buildings were erected as a means of defence. No mythical have been any historic that I have read of this country, chiefly written for the instruction, delight and admiration of a generation so utterly at variance with the material evidences offered to our senses as we gaze at them, that I am led to conclude the majority of writers on the Nile, its rise, its fall, its affluents, surroundings, inhabitants, navigation, the decisions of its deserts, its oasis, its water courses, are a sort of compound of two-thirds ignorance, one-third mendacity, and the balance just twaddle. Of course there are exceptions, such as Baker, Livingston, Speke and a few others, but I suppose you will say that this is twaddle enough for you, and you can get enough of that at home in any Sunday school library, so I'll return to my proper station—business in ordinary to the Imperial Government, etc. etc. It is said that the heaviest part of our work is over here. I have no doubt it is for the hour—and then, as I have found it all through, a heavier task to-morrow. My last scrawl was from Abassat, and this is the first chance I have had to throw a few notes into some sort of half readable shape since then.

After leaving Abassat we had a favorable wind as far as Kuyar Rapid, and made it the day following at 10 a.m. But before I touch Kuyar I must bring you up with me en route. On the afternoon of the 5th we left Abassat in quite a gale, both sail and steam, and took to the water, and "The Maid of Erin," as my men have christened our boat, made splendid sailing, passing every boat we overhauled, bringing us through many very difficult places that might well have seemed insuperable if we had to work up them with our sails without a favourable breeze. Three o'clock saw the Maid leading our regiment (there were others ahead) by a good mile, water very rough, river very rapid and wide, thickly studded with rocks and sand bars. These were thoroughly disguised by the heavy swell, and the usual signs of dangerous places were not to be seen anywhere. It was like groping in the dark.

The men in the boat not understanding the danger of our position were gaily chaffing all the boats we passed, blessing their lucky star that we had such a favorable gale to counter-balance the swift water. Not much fun for the helmsman, though. This is just such a piece of navigation that strains his experience, judgment, nerve and activity, to the extent of his capacity. He has to have eyes front, sides and rear every moment expecting to hear a vicious crash and see the bottom of his beloved craft cut out beneath his feet and find himself, crew and cargo more helpless walls amid the will rage of waters. You would hardly credit the feeling of affection a man has for his boat, the partner of his toil through many a danger, especially if he has been successful in occupying any serious disaster. By Jove! I know many a man at home who doesn't think half so much of his wife, and the greater the shame.

Things were going on thus gaily and smoothly when we saw some boats stuck fast in the middle of the stream. One of them was just getting clear and it sailed off to the west, or right hand, of their unfortunate comrades and we concluded to follow in its wake and take advantage of any scraps or mistakes they might be caught in, and while pursuing this course in great satisfaction at having a pilot in apparently deep water, the horrible grating sound of steel struck our ears and our charming Maid came to a dead stop. I knew in a moment by the sound of the crash that there was no harm done, but not so with the men; they thought they were done for. But to their credit, be it said, they obeyed my orders cheerfully, promptly and actively; they soon had the sails tried up and assisted with their best efforts to pole us off, but it was no go. There she was, fully ten feet of her on the rock and three feet of the keel showing clear out of the water. Then three of us jumped into the water and tried to pry her off, but failed. I then asked who could swim and all answered in the affirmative but one. Then they all stripped at the word and swam off to the shore, with the rope which I had hitched to the stern ring. Then standing on the rock with my shoulder under a lever, I gave the word and with a mighty heave and tug "the Maid of Erin" launched back into the keep water, all hands swam back, climbed in, and in less time than I can describe it were at the oars, and with no more clothes on them than Adam had before he ate of the forbidden fruit, rowed her into safety, and then each man relieved the other while he clothed himself.

The greatest part of the boats of two regiments and Col. H. Shaw, V.C. of the Royal Irish witnessed the affair and he (the Col.) spoke very highly of the men's prompt action and manliness and remarked that if all the crews would work in such a willing hearty manner, there would be better time made and less bustle lost.

We had a hearty laugh that night in camp when one of the men told us that when the boat struck his knees clinked together and he jumped for a life belt.

On the 10th at about one o'clock p.m. we reached Kuyar Rapid, and were towed through by niggers and soldiers. Made a few miles above and camped.

Kuyar is 34 miles from Hannah, the third cataraet which we reached last night. We start from here for Debbeh in half an hour. So I cannot give you much description of our route up, and I am just taking a glance at the surroundings, which are wild and to a great degree imposing. Our next place will be Debbeh. We are ordered there and are not to touch at Dongola, where the small pox is raging. We are to camp every night on the east bank until our destination is reached.

Report goes that a telegram came last night to the effect that Gen. Wolseley had reached Khartoum, had relieved General Gordon, captured 5,000 camels from the Mahdi, that the Osman Digna had lost 3,000 men at the same place by drowning. I don't believe a word of it. It is too big a pill for me to swallow, and moreover the very air is full of rumors of the very opposite nature, and the big bug's faces are lower, and their conversations are all in whispers, and the men that used to have a smile and a pleasant word for you now and then, looks at you just as he might if he saw you slipping down the throat of a crocodile, and no longer the best of your back sick on. So putting that and that together, as the saying is, I think that there is a screw loose somewhere. I think the screw it's not in "The Maid of Erin," I'll take good care of that. I must now tell you that nearly all of our voyagers are returning home in a few days. Seventy or eighty of them have volunteered to remain at $50 per month. The Imperial Government, I hear, wanted 100 to remain, but could not get them. The men are tired of the country, and do not wish to remain any longer than the term for which they signed articles.

I have elected to stay on so has Sidney Blade and am not sure that there are any more of the Peterborough party rowing in the same boat with me. The terms of re-engagement are from two to six months. Col. Kennedy wished and advised me to go on and his opinion is that couple of months more will wind up the affair one way or the other.

I must say that my inclinations until lately were hardly that way. But lately I have been covering moves as the saying is, and (though I have no sound reasons for it for you of course know well that the rank and file are not inclined in the Council of the mighty ones) I have been thinking that the expeditionary ship has sprung a leak somewhere, and is built of the same sort of stuff as the never to be forgotten spongy whaler, and as rats are said to desert a sinking ship, I would rather go down with flag flying and drums beating than have that stigma on me.

But not for one moment would I be understood to cast any slur on the boys who are going home. They have fulfilled their contract, and no one has a right to expect or exact anything more than that from them. As a whole they have done work that no more looker-on across the ocean can appreciate or understand, and though it seems like blowing my own horn with their, I will say that I don't if any equal numbers from any part of Her Majesty's Dominions other than Canada could have done the work they have done so efficiently and so faithfully. They have earned their rest and I hope that they will not be forgotten, but that they will gain a reward also. To my old comrades home-ward bound I say "bon voyage."

In conclusion I would mention (though perhaps you have heard of it long ago) that Major Brophy, of the 42nd Black Watch, C.Y.B., to which I was attached and piloted up the river to Lal in December, was drowned three days above this by his horse striking on a rock and being upset. Two Privates of his regiment joined him in the last long journey. "Requiescat in pace." I suppose there is no harm in saying that.

Good-bye for the present.

A Sad Death.
CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Alone, friendless, and unknown, a woman who is said to be Lady Ellen Fortescue, died in this city at No. 27 Emma-street on last Thursday, under the name Ellen C. Williams. Lady Ellen was the wife of Sir William Fortescue, of England, who thirty years ago was a popular club man in England. Having acquired most of his patrimony in riotous living, he finally emigrated to America. Here he died, leaving his wife in great straits. She struggled on, however, and managed to support herself, though sometimes in very deep poverty. She died suddenly of apoplexy. Her identity was accidentally discovered.

A Victory Over Unfriendly Tribes—Gen. Brackenbury at the scene of Col. Stewart's Murder—The Murderer Fly-ing With His Followers.

SUAKIN, Feb. 25.—The latest news from Agig and Tamsui confirms the report of a brilliant victory won by the Madir of Taka and Shukria, a tribe of friendly Arabs over the Hadendowas, during the attack made by the latter on the friendly tribes supplying the garrison at Kassala with grain. 8,000 Hadendowas Arabs were killed, including Shiekh Moosa. The Kassala garrison is short of food and ammunition, and hard pressed by the enemy. Surrender must soon result unless the garrison is relieved.

SULEIMAN'S FLIGHT.
Gen. Brackenbury destroyed the village of Hansen. Suleiman, with 5,000 men, women and children, passed through the village on the 17th, flying northward.

DESTINATION OF TROOPS.
Many of the troops en route to the Sudan will go direct to Trinkitat, a few miles South of Suakin, which place will be made a base for the advance to Berber. Natives in the vicinity of Korti are very friendly and freely furnish the British with supplies. They express no fear that the Mahdi will advance to the Nile.

SCENE OF COL. STEWART'S MURDER.
KORTI, Feb. 25.—Gen. Brackenbury reports from Hebbah, opposite Kamei Island, that on Saturday, 21st, his entire force crossed over to the right bank of the Nile ready to advance on Sunday to Abu Hamed, forty miles distant. Brackenbury visited the scene of Col. Stewart's murder and found some of Stewart's vesting cards, papers belonging to Hebbah and Power, and a shirt sleeve stained with blood. The houses and property belonging to the blind man Fakri Etem, the principal instigator of Stewart's murder, were destroyed. Brackenbury's wounds are doing well. No deaths have occurred since the 12th. The health and spirits of the troops are excellent.

THE DREADED WINDS.
The dreaded tempest winds have already begun to blow over the Sudan, and have assumed the intensity of sirocco. The wind is accompanied by blinding clouds of sand, which cuts like needle points. Troops can only find shelter by lying down with their faces to the earth until the storm blows over. The cavalry horses have suffered terribly. Many have been so badly injured they have to be shot. It is supposed the winds will prevail a month.

SCAKIN-BERBER RAILWAY.
CAIRO, Feb. 25.—Demands have been made upon the Egyptian Railway for spare material for the Suakin-Berber Railway.

GORDON'S PAPERS AND EFFECTS.
Sir Henry Gordon has requested Zobeir Pasha to exert his influence to recover General Gordon's papers and effects from the Mahdi.

STANLEY'S OPINION.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—Stanley said in an interview to night that Gordon could have escaped even after the capture of Khartoum if he had remained on board any of the steamers under his control.

BATTLE OF KASSALA.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE DEFEAT OF THE HADENDOWAS.

Kassala Attacked by Unfriendly Tribes—They are Completely Routed—The Mahdi's Movements.

By Telegram to the Review.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—The following particulars of the battle near Kassala have been received: The Hadendowas attacked the Kassala garrison, which, under the commandant, had called out to cover the entry of a convoy of grain. The garrison made a hasty defence of the works on the open plain west of the city and received the onslaught with such a terrible force that the Hadendowas fell back in confusion with heavy loss.

ATTACKING THEIR FLANK.
The Shukoorie tribe, who had brought grain for Kassala, then attacked the Hadendowas on their flank and rear, while the garrison advanced to attack the front.

A COMPLETE VICTORY.
The Hadendowas became panic stricken and fled in all directions. Their chief, Ismail Filasti, was killed. The Shukoorie occupied and destroyed Philik, the headquarters of Moosa, the second chief of the Hadendowas.

THE MAHDI'S MOVEMENTS.
KORTI, Feb. 25.—The Madir of Dongola has been informed that the Mahdi has gone on a steamer to Ebbah.

A Mother's Income Act.
ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Mrs. John J. Whiting, residing at Ithaca, while temporarily insane and in the absence of her husband, poisoned her two infant children and herself with Paris green. The amount taken by the three was over two ounces. After twenty-two hours of intense suffering they were discovered by a neighbor. A physician was called, and all are slowly recovering.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1886.

WHO WILL PAY THE BILL?

Let the new Parliament buildings be erected at once! The Ottawa Free Press has come to the rescue of the weak-kneed Ontario Government and smoothed over the difficulty that stood in the way of the erection of the buildings. It says that, if the structure is built, not a single elector will be taxed one cent in consequence thereof. Then why should Mr. Mowat hesitate? Why should he waver and tremble, fearful of an attack of the dreadful Opposition? How can they do any harm, when no one will be taxed to raise the money expended on the materials and on the construction?

But how will the expenditure be met if the people are not taxed for it? Does the Government possess Aladdin's lamp, by which they can in a moment create a magnificent structure? If so, let the buildings appear, and let them be as spacious in their dimensions, beautiful in their decorations and imposing in their grandeur. Only let them be a little less magnificent than Westminster Hall, lest dynasties might be tempted to experiment upon the structure with their favorite or some other powerful explosive. No other consideration need check them in ensuring the safety of the members by providing a healthy legislative hall, and in making Toronto happy by erecting magnificent buildings within her borders. Ontario should be happy in possessing rulers with such miraculous powers, if they will only use them to advantage.

And when the Government is at work erecting parliament buildings, for which the people will not be taxed, why should they stop there? Let this peculiar and wonderful power be exercised further. Buildings might be erected in Toronto for a grand federated university, and at Kingston and Ottawa for Agricultural Colleges. All the cities, towns and villages might be benefited, and if the power is not limited, county buildings, township halls, agricultural halls, registry offices, etc., might be created by it, and Mr. S. S. Peck might be provided in Dakota with such a handsome residence that he would forever remain there and trouble the long-suffering people of Haliburton no more.

But, hold! The charm is broken, and all the castles in the air which the Free Press' announcement had erected have fallen and crumbled into nothing. A delusive hope led us to think that when the people were not taxed, they would have to pay nothing, and although the "mysterious stranger" of Lennox might be called on to provide the funds, it did not seem possible that the electors, when not taxed, would have to foot the bill. But a careful reading discloses the fact. The people will not be taxed, the Free Press says, "not a single elector" will be taxed one cent, it states, but it sees these ominous words—

"Can the Province afford the cost? The answer in view of the existence of a large surplus, the enormous accession of new territory and the prospective revenue from crown lands, timber limits and mining rights, is undoubtedly in the affirmative."

That is the solution of the mystery. The people will not be taxed, but the taxes they have paid will be used, and their capital will be diminished. The disappearance of a portion of their capital (and it is all too rapidly vanishing through the extravagance and mismanagement of our present rulers in the Province) means that the day when they will be directly taxed is brought nearer. If they will not have to put their hands in their pockets at once, they will have to do so after a time, and sooner or later, if the buildings are erected, the electors will be taxed for them. This is the method the Mowat Government has been pursuing. While disposing of our patriotism, and modelling the accounts, they pretend to be economical and have a surplus. Yet they are hastening the time when direct taxation will have to be resorted to. The Free Press, in saying that the electors will not be taxed to pay for the new buildings, is revealing only half the truth, or, rather, hiding the whole truth.

The Free Press, however, is right on one point. The Government should decide whether the buildings should be erected, and take the responsibility, for, to quote the Ottawa organ's words, "it is unbefitting for a strong administration to fence with a question as this has been fenced with for several years past."

Meteor.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 23.—An enormous meteor passed over the city this morning. It appeared like a mass of molten iron. The noise caused by its passage was like crashing stones. Smoke and flames were thrown off. It was seen to descend into the sea. A cloud of spray and steam marked the spot where it struck.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

Mutual Fire Insurance Companies—The Franchise Measure—Law Reform—Bills Introduced and Advanced—The Consideration of the Estimates.

MONDAY, Feb. 23.—A number of bills were given their first reading and others were advanced a stage.

COURT COURT EXPENSES.

Mr. MOWAT, in reply to Mr. Meredith, said the subject of legislation to reduce the expense of County Court appeals was under consideration.

RIGHT OF APPEAL.

Mr. MOWAT, in reply to Mr. Meredith, stated that the decision of the court of appeal was taken away in certain cases and that it was intended to propose an amendment to restore the right of appeal in such cases.

THE FRANCHISE.

Mr. MOWAT, in reply to a question by Mr. Meredith, as to when the Franchise Bill would be introduced, said the details of the measure were under consideration.

EDUCATIONAL RETURNS.

Mr. GIBSON (Huron) moved for a return showing the amount spent on scholarships, bursaries, exhibitions and prizes in Toronto university, University college and Upper Canada college during the ten years ending 1885-4.

MR. MITCHELL'S ORIGINATOR.

Mr. MEREDITH moved for a return of all correspondence with reference to the application of Henry S. Mitchell to be appointed a notary public.

Mr. HARDY said that Mr. Mitchell's application had not been properly made and that a lawyer had resided where Mr. Mitchell was located.

Mr. MEREDITH said there was no notary public within eleven miles of where Mr. Mitchell resided. The non-compliance with the formalities was of minor importance, and the department had not communicated with him regarding it. He had a letter from the department to Mr. Mitchell refusing another application and expressing regret that he and Mr. McKim were not on friendly terms, and concluding by saying that it was a pity that two such good men should keep apart.

INSURANCE.

Mr. O'CONNOR's bill to amend the act respecting mutual fire insurance companies came up for a second reading and explained its provisions. The bill provided that mutual insurance companies should be incorporated as corporations, and that they should be subject to the same regulations as other corporations. It also provided that the directors of such companies should be liable for the debts of the company.

Mr. YOUNG opposed the bill in the interest of the company and moved the three months' notice.

Mr. GIBSON (Hamilton) said the bill would drive the mutual companies out of business.

Mr. WOOD said the bill would provide simple justice to the insured.

Mr. GRAHAM opposed the bill.

Mr. MOWAT said the bill did not seem an unreasonable one, but he would oppose it, as it would cripple the mutual companies.

After some discussion the bill was read a second time and referred to a special committee, on the understanding that its merits would be decided in the third reading.

BILLS READ.

TUESDAY, Feb. 24.—Several bills were introduced and others read a second time.

MUNICIPAL LOAN FUND.

Hon. Mr. Ross (Huron) moved the second reading of the bill respecting the accounts paid due by certain municipalities upon the settlement made by statute of their debts to the municipal loan fund. He explained that the bill extended the time for the payments by permitting the municipalities to issue debentures so as to spread the value over a number of years.

Mr. NELSON asked that St. Catharines be relieved of the debt altogether.

Mr. MULLENBAND made a similar request on behalf of Cobourg.

Mr. MEREDITH pointed out that the measure would have to be recommended by a message from the Lieutenant-Governor.

It was read a second time on the understanding that the message would be forthcoming.

THE ESTIMATES.

The House went into Committee of Supply on the estimates.

Mr. MEREDITH said the Government should stop the practice of over expenditure. He quoted figures to show that the Dominion expenditures had not exceeded the estimates, and therefore the reference to the acts of the Dominion Government did not justify them.

Mr. A. M. Ross said they could not always exactly know their expenditure, and at Ottawa the tendency was to take liberal estimates, owing to their revenue being so great.

Mr. MEREDITH pointed out that the expenditure in the Attorney-General's department had greatly increased, and the House should have the assurance that the increases would not continue.

Mr. MOWAT said that the business of the department had increased.

Mr. MEREDITH advocated the classification of the clerks and the introduction of a system throughout all the departments. Officers of the Education department had been given special services to perform, contrary to the principle which the members of the Government formerly advocated.

Mr. G. W. Ross said Dr. May was superintendent of the Mechanics' Institute, and the work was purely clerical. The inspection was performed by School Inspectors.

Mr. Ross, in reply to further criticism, asked if this was the Public Accounts Committee.

Mr. MORRIS contended that the whole House was entitled to information. The Public Accounts Committee had not yet been called together.

Mr. MEREDITH referred to an unauthorized expenditure of $12,197 on account of School Readers.

Mr. Ross said it would be better to defer the discussion on that until the return was brought down.

Mr. CARRUTHERS pointed out that the expenditure on seasonal clerks, pages and messengers charged to Legislation was extraordinary. Enquiry he had made showed that many of the persons substituted as seasonal clerks were permanently in the employ of the Government.

Mr. HARDY endeavored to show that the increase on account of asking for returns.

Mr. CARRUTHERS said the returns ordered by the House were not sufficient to warrant the employment of so many seasonal writers.

Mr. FRASER sneered at the member for West Peterborough for persistently investigating the accounts.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Budget—The North-west Census—Sir Richard Dwyer—Navigable Waters—West Indian Trade—Attaching the Railways—Our Liberal Land Laws.

TUESDAY, Feb. 24.—A number of petitions were presented, and some private bills were introduced.

THE BUDGET.

Sir L. TILLEY announced that he would make his Financial Statement next Tuesday.

NORTH-WEST CENSUS.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT moved that the Bill for the North-west Census be referred back to the Committee for an amendment to show the material of houses, the number of apartments and of families under each roof. He declared the last census was guesswork; for instance the farmers did not know the amount of butter and cheese they produced.

Mr. FORBES denied that the information was guesswork, and said if Sir Richard conceded to dine with a farmer occasionally he would find they knew the amount of their dairy products.

THE AMENDMENT WAS LOST.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT moved another amendment to add in a separate column the names of those who were not actually present in the district at the time of the taking of the census. He declared the late census was fraudulently falsified by the Minister and his officers.

MR. FORBES CALLED HIM TO ORDER.

The SPEAKER declared Sir Richard's language out of order.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT proceeded to argue that the census was worthless as by an obsolete plan it included the names of those who were not in the country, to the disadvantage of Ontario.

Sir J. MACDONALD denied that the de jure system was obsolete, as it was the rule not only in Canada, but also in the United States. Sir Richard was accusing the members of all the other Provinces of conspiracy to rob Ontario of its proper representation. It would be a mistake to take the census of the Northwest in a different way from that of the rest of Canada.

Mr. BLAKE supported Sir R. Cartwright's amendment.

The amendment was negatived by 120 to 63. Mr. MITCHELL moved an amendment to provide that the census be taken only in Manitoba, Assiniboia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, as there was not sufficient population elsewhere for a census to be necessary.

Sir J. MACDONALD said if it was found there were too few inhabitants in certain districts the census would not be taken. If there were red-tail white people or half-breeds they ought to be enumerated.

The amendment was lost and the bill was read a third time and passed.

WORKS ON NAVIGABLE WATERS.

Mr. TUPPER moved the second reading of a bill to regulate the construction of wharves, docks, and piers on navigable waters.

After considerable discussion the bill was read a second time and referred to a special committee.

OFFENCES AGAINST THE PERSON.

Mr. TUPPER moved the second reading of a bill to enable a Magistrate to order not more than $10 compensation to a person assaulted.

The debate was adjourned to enable the question of jurisdiction to be considered.

WEST INDIAN TRADE.

Mr. VAIL moved for papers as to trade with Cuba.

Sir L. TILLEY said the High Commissioner was instructed to take steps to secure Canada the same advantages as the United States enjoyed. He was authorized by the Imperial Government to act, but Spain deferred negotiations till the fall of her treaty with the United States was known.

Mr. BLAKE thought the Government had been remiss in this matter.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD showed that every possible action had been made, giving in detail the steps that had been taken.

Mr. WILSON said the treaty between Spain and the United States would give the latter country a great advantage over Canada.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said such remarks were not likely to strengthen our hands in the matter.

After further discussion the motion was withdrawn.

THE C. P. R.

Mr. BLAKE while moving for papers made some further attacks on the C. P. R.

THE GRAND TRUNK.

Mr. PETER MITCHELL while moving for papers returned the compliment on the Grand Trunk.

SETTLERS IN THE NORTHWEST.

Mr. CANNON (Huron) moved for returns as to certain squatters, whom he alleged had suffered hardships. The system should be changed.

Mr. OSBORN maintained that our land laws were more liberal than those of the United States, and that the petition of our settlers was more favorable. He censured these misrepresentations made by the Reformers to the injury of our country.

The motion was carried.

IRISH REVOLUTIONISTS.

An Important Meeting Held—A Good Time to Attack England.

BUFFALO, Feb. 24.—The Times says:—The Irish revolutionary army held an important meeting last night, pursuant to the following call issued by the Major-general in command of this division:—

IMPORTANT.

"Deeming that a crisis has arrived the Executive Committee of the I. R. A. is hereby notified to meet at the designated rendezvous on this evening at 7.30.

By order,

(Signed) A. C. H. M. G.

The place of holding the meeting could not be learned by the reporters who tried to find out, but the fact that the meeting was held was easily verified. From conversation with prominent Irishmen it was learned that Irishmen all over the country belong to the army, and that it was regularly organized with divisions, brigades, regiments, and companies. "This is a favourable time to attack England," said a prominent member of the army, "and we propose to do it. How we will do it I can't tell. Will you get up another raid on Canada." "That I decline to answer." "Positively nothing can be learned of the proceedings of meetings of the army, for the secrecy is as great as that observed around a Masonic lodge. Sensational accounts which may be printed of the proceedings will be made up by imaginative reporters, with no facts to work upon. Such unscrupulous writers may attempt to impose upon the public, but they are forewarned. Outside of the blue thunders of revolutionists everything is a matter of conjecture."

PETERBOROUGH PROTESTANT HOME.

The Annual Meeting of the Officers, Members and Friends is held.

The annual meeting of the officers, members and friends of the Peterborough Protestant Home was held at the Home on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock p.m.

There were present:—The President, Mrs. Gilmour; the Secretary, Mrs. J. G. Hall; the Treasurer, Mrs. Jeffers; and Messrs. Wallis, Smith, Beck, Clement (Rev. V.), Vernon, Dunlop, McWilliams (J. B.), Miller, Fairbairn, Iain, Hazlett, and Cox (G. A.).

The meeting was opened by the President with scripture reading and prayer.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The following report of the Committee was then read by the Secretary:—

To the President and Directors of the Peterborough Protestant Home:—

The Committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home in presenting their annual report, desire to thank the Most High God for His great goodness to the institution during the past year. In April, when our finances were in anything but a flourishing condition, Mrs. Nicholls very generously sent the handsome donation of $500, one amongst the other noble acts she is doing for our town. This enabled the Committee to get repairs and improvements made around the premises, as the sheds, &c. were fast falling into a state of disrepair, also a verandah was put up on the side facing the railway for the comfort of the inmates. In September we were very kindly helped by a donation of lumber from Mr. Hazlett and Mr. Melville Miller was so good as to furnish paint.

During the past year the Home has given shelter to 35 individuals, including adults and children; three have left for the United States to join relatives there, and several others were temporarily sheltered. Eleven families have been helped, four and sometimes five, weekly, during the whole year. Our funds at present are nearly exhausted and as the Home has no government and the large number of applicants we have had this year, requiring delicate and extra fuel, have made our expenses unusually large, we sincerely trust that those whom God has blessed with easy means will be willing to do something.

Grateful thanks are due to those who have so kindly interested themselves in the religious welfare of its inmates, one of whom has recently gone to the West; to the medical practitioners who so generously give their services free of charge, ready at all hours to attend when called upon. We have to record but one death during the year, that of an old man who entered the Home in failing health and who lived but a few weeks after being admitted. Also to the gentlemen of the town who present our donors' acknowledgments for the urbanity and courtesy which we receive from them at all times when requesting them to invest notices or lists of donations, likewise for their papers given gratuitously to the Home; to the Organists, through Mr. J. H. McWilliams, for their generous and timely donation and to the Carling Club who so kindly remembered the Home in their

Our Matron, Mrs. Dillon, deserves to be mentioned with kindness for the neatness, order and cleanliness in which she has kept the institution. She has studied music, was a pianist, and has gone bravely on in the path of duty. We feel sorry to hear that our excellent Matron is on account of failing health, lately resigning. For womanly good sense and consistent practical Christian conduct we feel she at all times tempered with wisdom.

Mrs. Jeffers, our able and efficient Treasurer, we deeply regret, is on the eve of leaving Peterborough. What she has been to the inmates of the Home few outsiders can realize. She has endeavored to do all in her power, winning, unassuming piety, but we believe Christian friendship will not end here. Will it bloom and blossom with parental benevolence in a more purified and congenial sphere? God grant, dear sister in Christ, that when earth's shadows shall have crept away, we shall again worship with you, amid the white-robed throng, around the feet of our Lord and one Master. Respectfully submitted,

J. G. HALL, Secretary P. P. H.

Mrs. WALLIS moved, seconded by Mr. FAIRBANKS.—That the report be adopted.—Carried.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The Treasurer's report was read as follows:—

To the President and Directors of the P. P. Home:—

Two Canadians Drowned.

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—Two lumbermen came in on the train yesterday. They visited a few of Springfield's saloons and got pretty thoroughly intoxicated. In the evening they started to cross the river on the bridge directly opposite Twenty-fifth street. When 75 rods from shore the ice broke, precipitating them into the water. A spectator ran to their assistance with a piece of scantling, but when he got near the spot where they had fallen no trace of them could be seen. One man's watch was found, but nothing to give a clue as to identity. From a casual conversation that the bartender of one of the saloons overheard between the men he concluded they came from a camp somewhere in Roumoucou county, and that they were on their way to Kent county, Ont. He heard one of them mention the fact of having friends near Sandwich, and say something about crossing the river and staying over night at his friends.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WAITLEY."

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Proboscis.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South-east to southwest winds, generally fair, higher weather, mild to-morrow.

Openings.

The opening of the new winter skating rink will take place on Monday evening next. The rink will be handsomely decorated and beautifully illuminated, and the boys will be present.
The admission will be ladies 20 cents and gentlemen 15 cents. Skates rented for 10 cents.

Temperance Meeting.

Miss Brown, of Malton County, will deliver a public address in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening, March 2d, at 7.30 p.m. The subject of temperance in all its bearing will be discussed, chiefly with the view of immediate action by well organized ladies in support of the cause. Free to all. Voluntary collection.

Reading Art Union.

Subscriptions to the London Art Union may now be given to Mr. J. H. Repor, agent, of the Bank of Toronto. During the past four years seven very valuable prizes have come to Peterborough. The catalogue shows some very interesting features in the coming distribution, which takes place at the end of next month.
Full information may be had on applying to Mr.
Repor.

This Evening.

The first entertainment under the auspices of United L.O.G.T., will be held this evening, in the hall opposite the Bradburn's last night. The programme is good one, and includes the names of Messrs. W. C. Bradburn, the Rev. F. M. H. B.A., and solo and duets by Messrs. A. D. Brown and J. G.
French, and others. Besides dialogues, recitations, &c. There should be a large attendance. Admission 15 cts., children 10 cts.

Horse and Harness.

On Tuesday a regular meeting of the Mount Horse and Harness Club, No. 45, E. O. F., was held at their hall. The attendance of members was large, and, no doubt, to the fact that several visitors from Lindsay were to be received. The Lindsay friends were received at the hall and after the business of the evening was over they were entertained to an elegant supper at Chamberlain's Hotel. An agreeable evening was spent and an adjournment was made.

Temperance Convention.

It would again call attention to the ladies to be present this evening in the Y. M. C. A.
Hall, by Messrs. E. H. Brown, B.A., and and Miss E. H. Brown. The programme is a good one, and the ladies are capable of handling it in an interesting manner. It is therefore expected that there will be a large attendance. Those attending the ladies will find it interesting if they bring their friends with them.

Bazaar Literary Club.

At the regular meeting of the Dundas Literary Club on Wednesday evening, the members debated the advisability of adopting the new money. Mr. J. H. Long opened the debate by advancing strong arguments in favor of the irredeemable currency, and the discussion was continued by Messrs. Cohen, Oleg, Stevenson and Armstrong, when it was adjourning for one week. The discussion was a very interesting one, and the members should try to hear the conclusion of it next week.

Temperance Union.

Meeting of the women connected with the temperance cause was held on Wednesday evening at three o'clock in the lecture room of the Young Men's Christian Association, with a view to the organization of a Women's Christian Temperance Union. Miss Brown, of Hinton regional, conducted the meeting, which was fellowly attended. It was decided to postpone the organization of the Union until Tuesday, March the 2nd, when a mass meeting will be held in Bradburn's Opera House.

MR. BAIRD'S REHEARSAL.

A Successful Performance During which a Handsome Present is Given.

On Wednesday evening the Robt. H. Baird Comedy Company appeared for the last time, during the present engagement at Bradburn's Opera House before a fairly numerous audience.
The play presented was "Uncle Josh." Mr.
Baird assuming the title role. Notwithstanding that three members of the company who had taken leading parts in the previous performance had withdrawn, their parts were capably filled by others. Considering that only one rehearsal was held the performance was exceedingly good.
Mr. Lewis Barnes assumed the double role of Frederick Doby and Cy. Frim in a satisfactory manner and rather astonished the Peterborough friends by the way in which he acquitted himself.
Mr. John Marvin impersonated John Martin in a creditable manner, and Mr. Birch as Billy Johnston also did well considering his almost entire absence from the part. "Uncle Josh" was as funny as ever provoking roars of laughter and loud applause. Mr. Baird in this character is a decided success. At the end of the second act a very pleasant event transpired. An elegant water pitcher beautifully etched and engraved was presented to Mr. Baird with the following address:—
Mr. R. H. Baird:

Availing ourselves of your professional visit to Peterborough, we wish to express in a slight manner our friendly feelings towards you, and of our full appreciation of your sterling qualities your unwavering friendship, strict integrity and universal good feeling you express to those in your employ, and also to every one whom you meet.

We wish you to accept the accompanying present as a memento of your visit here, with the assurance that you will always be remembered kindly by us, and that your journey through life will be as successful as we sincerely wish, and if our hopes are realized, you will include us in your large circle of friends.

Witnessed on behalf of your many friends here,
Robt. Brewster, Harry Brock,
A. D. Maccher,
W. H. Chamberlain,
Thos. H. Barry,
Levi Barnes,
and several others.

Mr. Baird was taken completely by surprise, but when he recovered he replied in a neatly made speech, heartily thanking the donors.

On Friday and Saturday afternoons the roller skating rink will be open for ladies, who will portunity for those who will be present on Monday evening to have a preliminary practice.

Entertainments.

The entertainment by members of the Young Men's Christian Association will take place on Monday evening next in their Rooms at the Post-office. The programme will consist of jubilant melodies, choruses, solos, &c., and readings. All those taking part are members of the Association, and the entertainment is quite a novelty. Members of the Association will be admitted free; others will be charged fifteen cents.

Narrowly Escaped.

On Wednesday afternoon as Johnny Van Every, son of Mr. W. VanEvery, of the "Golden Lion," was returning from school he narrowly escaped being run over by a runaway team of horses. The boy had just turned the corner of Water and Brock streets when the pair of equines came dashing down Brock street and by some means he was knocked down by one of the horses, but so quickly did the event transpire that even the bystanders did not know how it was done. Johnny jumped up and ran for a short distance when he fell down fainting.
He was picked up and he was thought that he had received serious injury, but it was ascertained that he had fainted from fright. He was conveyed to his home and we are pleased to learn that he received only very slight injury, and he escaped from what might have ended in a fatal accident.

Happy Childhood.

It is only once in the short lifetime of childhood that the little ones will have the opportunity of indulging in such a jolly pastime as the children's carnival will certainly prove to be on the afternoon of Friday, March 2d, at the Peterborough skating rink.
Parents of children should look away back on the days of long ago, when they too were children, and think, as their own offspring do, of the joy that would have been theirs if an opportunity for fun such as this had only been presented to them. Then, after due consideration, they will surely go to work and prepare fanciful and comical costumes for the little ones, and allow them to participate in the fairyland scene that will be visible at the carnival. Most will be astonished in different quarters or the risk to prevent large boys from running on the ice, thus securing the perfect safety of the small children. In the evening the little ones will have an entire change of scene, inasmuch as they will then have the pleasure of seeing "dear, dear mamma" and good, sweet papa, gliding along with the rest of the merry makers, and, no doubt, getting just as many tumbles as they themselves fall into in the afternoon. This carnival will be something for the children to talk about until they go courting.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

THURSDAY, Feb. 26.—Robert Ingram was charged by P. O. Pidgeon with having been drunk in a public place. He pleaded guilty, but urged the first offence plea. He was allowed to go.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.

P. O. Adams laid a charge against Levi Barnes for having committed a breach of the peace. It appeared from the evidence that some members who had withdrawn from the Baird Comedy Company had erected a bill board on the corner of Hunter and George streets which was detrimental to the Company's business.
The defendant as a member of the Company attempted the removal of the board—hence the arrest which led to the case. The defendant pleaded guilty, but urged, as an extenuating circumstance, the abuse which he had suffered from one of the retiring members of the Company.

The Magistrate did not doubt the provocation which the defendant had had, but the course which he had pursued was a wrong one.
A fine of $2 and costs was imposed.

Public Opinion.

Public opinion is often referred to in these days, when the opinions of the people shape the policies of Governments and rule the destinies of nations. Usually there are two or three important subjects that engage the attention of the people, so far as public matters are concerned. Just how these matters are, the Egyptian war, the South Sea, and some subjects connected with Canadian politics. On important subjects public opinion is almost always divided, and generally into two different sides, with, perhaps, a few scattered people who have independent or erratic opinions of their own and shared by no one else. This is shown in connection with the war referred to.
The Liberals, led by Mr. Gladstone, favor one policy, and the Conservatives are so strongly
of a different opinion that they bitterly attack
the Government, while a few believe that both the great parties are wrong in their opinions.
Yet both the parties, and the Independents, agree on some things, as in praising the bravery
of the troops. There are, again, some subjects that might be called simple subjects of discussion, such as fashions. On fashions tastes differ and people are not united, but the politicians, they agree on some points, and all gentlemen about "bear, hear," when it is stated that the place to procure clothing is at A. Mc-Neill's, Habillment Hall.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Correspondent.

DIED.—Mr. Thomas Keefe was thought to be out of danger on Friday evening last, but on Saturday he was taken worse in the forenoon and by noon had passed away.

COTTON DAN BROOK.—On Saturday night the central portion of Mr. Wynn's offer dam at the new dam at Lakefield broke in the centre flooding the works and doing much damage.

ORANGE.—The regular monthly meeting of L.O.L. No. 123, commonly called the old lodge, will be held in the Orange Hall, Lakefield, on Monday evening next, March 2nd, at seven o'clock.

MASSAGE.—The regular communication of Clement Lodge of A.F. & A.M. will be held in the Masonic Hall, Lakefield, on Tuesday evening next, March 2nd, at 8 o'clock.

TRUST VALLEY CANAL.—Mr. R. C. Strickland, Warden, will shortly head a deputation to Ontario when the Government will be requested to make a further grant to the Trust Valley Canal works.

CURLING.—The curling competition for the President's medal is not quite finished, particularly of the contest will be given next week.

THE ROADS.—The roads, though not so bad as they were some time last year, are by no means good from Mr. R. C. Strickland's to the northern boundary of the corporation, and a heavy storm of snow and wind would make them very rough and impossible.

NEW DAM.—Work at the new dam at Lakefield was resumed last week, and a large force of men are kept at the work. The excavation for the eastern portion of the dam is nearly completed and the men are laying timber at the base.
The prospects are brightening with regard to having the new dam completed before the spring freshets.

FOREIGN ENTERTAINMENT.—On Thursday evening, Feb. 19th, the members of Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., held in their hall a fruit festival in honor of the fifth anniversary of their court. The entertainment was a great success throughout, and the committee on who is fond of the thanks of every member of Court Lakefield for the evening's enjoyment. Court Lakefield has become thoroughly established and made rapid progress during the past few years.

FIRE ENTERTAINMENT.—Mr. Noble, travelling agent for the Ontario Fire Grande, gave an exhibition in the village on Friday morning last, and was successful in extinguishing a large mass made of wood, coal oil and tar, through some of our citizens' desire to think that the fire-brigade have been called out and they could have done as well with a few pails of water.

DOG TAX.—It seems to be a great pity the village council should not put a small tax upon dogs. Constantinople is said to possess large numbers of these friends of man, but I think that Lakefield, taking its size into consideration, is a little ahead. At the exhibition of the fire extinguisher on Friday I counted no less than seventeen dogs among the crowd, while nowhere could be seen a dog down the main street to accompany the exhibition. As the body of his dog would not object to paying a small sum yearly, and the total amount would put a nice little sum in the village treasury each year.

Singer Sullivan.

BORER, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Sullivan, wife of John L. Sullivan, has filed an application for divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment and gross and confirmed habits of intemperance. The bill alleges specific cases of beating, bruising and threatening to kill, and also that he has been guilty of adultery. Mrs.
Sullivan desires the custody of her child and asks that Sullivan's property to the extent of $20,000 be attached to secure support for herself and child. The court has granted an order compelling the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff while the case is pending.

Treason to Death.

PATON, Feb. 24.—Edward Paton from to death on the morning last while attempting to walk home from Deseronto. His body was found up this morning along the track on the ice, frozen stiff. He left Deseronto early in the evening and being an old man became fatigued after walking a few miles, when he sat down on the snow to rest for a while. He was found piled up by the snow and the severe weather and lay down to die. His body was brought here this morning.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1885.

PAYING HIS TOOL.

One of the evidences of the gross hypocrisy of the Reformers in reference to electoral corruption in their action in regard to the disqualification of Dr. Dowling, the false pretender to a seat in the Legislative Assembly, which he forfeited by his personally corrupt acts.

The Attorney-General, whose duty it should be to enforce the laws and sustain the decisions of the courts, has throughout acted the part of an Old Bailey advocate for his shamefully corrupt friend and follower. Even if it were true, which it is not, that Dr. Dowling was not disqualified by his misconduct in purchasing his way into the Legislature, it would at least remain the fact that every judge who has considered the case has found him guilty of corrupt acts, sufficient at all events, to prevent him from being a member of the Legislature. There is no disagreement among the judges as to his being unseated for personal corruption, in spite of his oath to the contrary. And this is the man whom Mr. Mowat by legislative interference shielded from the operation of the law, and the decision of the judiciary, and having failed by his bungling drafting of his infamous legislation to shield him effectively, it is this man whom Attorney-General Mowat intends again to create a legislator by special legislation.

It is a mere piece of mendacious impertinence of Mr. Mowat to pretend to find a parallel in the case of Sir Charles Tupper. In Sir Charles' case there was no corruption involved, and there was no legislation to give him a seat, for it was found by the proper authority after due investigation, that he was not even technically unseated.

The truth is that Dr. Dowling was a useful tool employed by Mr. Mowat in some dirty work, and his employer finds that a cheap way to reward him is to create him a legislator in defiance of the law and in spite of his personal corruption.

ALL MADE FROM SMOKE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—This is a solution of how to utilize our misdeeds in the back country, and particularly the lead of Galway, by the manufacture of acetate of lead and other commercial products. It will furnish the charcoal for smelting the iron ore at a trifling cost, making a superior article of iron.

ALL MADE FROM SMOKE.

The old saying that nothing is wasted or lost is true in regard to the smoke from the furnace of Elk Rapids, Mich. In this furnace is manufactured fifty tons of charcoal per day. There are twenty-five charcoal pits, constructed of brick. Each pit is filled with 100 cords of hardwood and then fired. The vast amount of smoke from these pits, which was formerly lost in the air, is now utilized. Works have been erected to convert the smoke into chemicals and acids.

These works are a curiosity. First, they have a circular tube, made of wood, with pine staves, sixteen feet in length, bound together with heavy iron hoops. This tube is placed directly over the pits in a horizontal position, with an opening from each pit into the tube. At the end nearest the burning there is a large drum containing a rotary fan, propelled by machinery, the power of which is gas. That acts as a suction or draft for the smoke, which is conveyed into five shafts filled with copper pipes two and one half inches in diameter. The boxes in which the pipes are situated are twenty feet square, eight feet deep, made of heavy pine and filled with cold water; they are all connected by copper pipes; they are connected with the main shaft, 100 feet in length, 10 feet wide and eight feet deep, filled with copper pipes two and one half inches in diameter, in horizontal position, surrounded by cold water; from this conveyed to a purifier, from which runs what is called pyrolysate acid, which is as clear as amber, with an unpleasant odor.

From the acid is produced, first, acetate of lime; second, alcohol; third, tar; fourth, gas, which is consumed under the boilers. Each cord of wood contains 25,000 cubic feet of smoke; 2,000,000 feet of smoke handled every 24 hours, producing 12,000 pounds of acetate of lime, 200 gallons of alcohol and twenty-five pounds of tar. These products have a commercial value in the manufacture of various articles. Ten cords of wood consumed per annum is thus made a source of much profit, as the works are automatic and require no workmen to run them.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

A Canadian Killed in Detroit.

Detroit, Feb. 25.—James Dibble, a Canadian about 22 years of age, was killed on the Wright & Kitcham logging railroad in Midland county yesterday by being caught between the logs on a train while coupling cars. His body was brought to East Sarnia, and will be shipped to his home at Belleville, Ont.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

Seed Grain.—The New Parliament Buildings.—Opening of the Nipissing District.—Police Magistrates.—Returns.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 25.—A bill to amend the municipal law and one regarding the administration of the law were introduced.

SEED GRAIN.
Mr. ROSS, in reply to Mr. Chisholm, said that correspondence had taken place regarding the procuring of seed wheat, but nothing had resulted from it.

THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

Mr. GIMON (Hamilton) moved a motion setting forth that the Parliament buildings were unfit for occupation, inadequate to the requirements of the public service, and not in keeping with the resources and position of Ontario. He argued that new buildings were necessary and that the present was an opportune time to build them. He felt that the Government had not dealt with the matter as they should. It could not now be urged that the people had not been consulted, as the elections of 1883 settled that.

Mr. MORRIS urged the necessity for the buildings, and twitted the Government with shirking the responsibility, although the House five years ago voted money for them.

Mr. FRASER denied that the Government had shirked the responsibility, said that the $500,000 voted was not sufficient, and supported the motion. He thought the new buildings would cost $750,000.

Mr. CLARKE also spoke of the necessity for new buildings, and said that it was a novel constitutional principle to say that the leader of the Opposition was responsible for the policy of the Government.

Mr. YOUNG defended the Government and supported the motion.

Mr. ROBILAND opposed the motion because it gave the Government carte blanche to go on and do as they pleased, while he thought they should submit a scheme.

Mr. GRAY supported the motion, and pointed out that it was a vote of want of confidence in the Government.

Mr. METCALFE also supported the motion.

Mr. MEREDITH said that the Government should proceed in the ordinary way and bring down a proposition upon their responsibility as advisers of the execution. The House had already said that new buildings were needed, and why did they want another similar declaration? He opposed the motion on the broad ground that it recognized a principle that enabled the Government to evade their responsibility. As soon as the Government would submit a scheme they would deal with it in its merits. He moved an amendment to the effect that the question was one that should be dealt with in the first instance on the responsibility of the Government.

Mr. MOWAT said the Government had not proceeded with the work because the constitution was not prepared for a larger expenditure than $500,000. It was ungrateful on the part of the Opposition to prevent Toronto, a Tory city, getting new Parliament buildings.

Mr. MORRIS said the Government had a majority, and therefore they must be afraid of their own men.

Mr. FRASER said Mr. Meredith's amendment did not commit him, and urged that if the motion was carried the Government would not be relieved of responsibility.

Mr. BROOKS moved the adjournment of the debate.

Several bills were advanced a stage.

NIPISSING DISTRICT.

Mr. MEREDITH moved for papers regarding the opening up for settlement of the Nipissing district. He said that settlers complained of the delay, and it was said that unless a remedy was provided some of them would go to the United States.

Mr. PARDEE explained what had been done to open the district. In the case of timber under license the Government was powerless to interfere.

Mr. MEREDITH charged the Government with discriminating against Conservatives in giving licenses for timber for local purposes.

Mr. PARDEE said the mills were too thick.

TIMBER DUES.

Mr. MEREDITH moved for a return in reference to the dues charged by timber limit holders to actual settlers upon lots upon which they had not been formally located.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY.

Mr. FRASER moved for a return of the receipts and expenditures of Toronto University, U. C. college, and the school of practical sciences for 1884.

Mr. BALFOUR moved for a return of the number of students attending lectures and in residence at University College for the last five years, with receipts and expenditures on account of residence.

COMPENSATION FOR EMPLOYEES.

Mr. MEREDITH moved the second reading of the bill respecting employer's liability to make compensation for personal injuries suffered by workmen in which he failed.

Mr. FRASER asked that the bill stand.

Mr. MEREDITH would not object, if allowed another opportunity of presenting it, and as Mr. Mowat promised ample opportunity, it was allowed to stand.

POLICE MAGISTRATES.

Mr. CLARKE's bill to amend the Act respecting police magistrates, which allows municipal councils to fix their salaries, received a second reading, and was referred to the Municipal Committee. Mr. Mowat opposing the principle of the bill, but stating that it would be considered on the third reading.

Other bills were read a second time, and the House adjourned at 10 o'clock.

A Man up a Tree.

Did you ever hear of a Washington man who lives in a tree? He works in one of the departments here, in the war office, I think, and has built him a little house up in a tree, out on Fourteenth street, high enough in the tree to be undisturbed by the curious. He enters it by a ladder, which he carries to one of the neighbors when he goes away in the morning, so that house breakers cannot readily get in. His house is built around the trunk of a tree, a platform or floor running clear round it, and this is enclosed with wooden walls. His roof is of canvas, and can be raised or lowered at pleasure. The ventilation is perfect, of course—almost too perfect when the mercury runs down to zero, as it does sometimes, even here in Washington. But pure air is what he's after, and he gets it, if it is to be found anywhere on this side of the Potomac. He sleeps in his primitive domicile summer and winter, and spends all the time in it that the Government will allow him.—Washington Letter.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It is stated that "A" and "B" Batteries will exchange places in the spring.

The death of ex-Lieut. Governor Cagahan at Whitewood, Manitoba, from paralysis, is announced.

NEGRO immigrants to Arkansas are being terrified by a gang known as "The Mountain Boonies."

The Empress of Austria intends accompanying Lord Alfred Paget to his yacht Santa Cecilia for a rough weather cruise.

The cattle authorities are confident that the effect of the visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales will have a very beneficial effect on Ireland.

A SERIOUS riot occurred at a Salvation Army meeting in Newark, Ohio, on Tuesday night, in which one man was fatally injured and another so severely clubbed by a police officer that his life is despaired of.

The friction between the Porte and Italy over the Red Sea expeditions of the latter country is being increased by Russia and Germany for the purpose of producing a collision, if possible, between Turkey and England.

Miscellaneous.

California Ostrich Farmer.—"My dear, did you feed the birds regularly when I was away?" Mrs. Ostrich Farmer—"Yes, as regularly as I could. I never saw such appetites. The provisions ran short, and I had to feed them on whatever I could find around the house. I gave them two kegs of nails."

"That's right."

"And all the gates and three pieces of old stove-pipe."

"Yes? Glad you were so thoughtful."

"Oh! Yes, I forgot. They didn't seem to be satisfied even then, so I gave them a piece of mine pie."

"Great Caesar, woman! Did you want to kill them?"—Philadelphia Call.

ing the first few weeks, and advantage should be taken of this opportunity. Admission, 15 cents for gentlemen; ladies, 10 cents. For skates, 10 cents extra.

On Roller Skates.

On Thursday afternoon a number of young men assembled at the roller rink to try on the skates and get a little "experience" before the formal opening. One young man who sat for a considerable length of time admiring the progress of those who engaged in the pastime determined upon experiencing that agreeable sensation himself. He put on a pair of skates and struck out.
But, alas! his body inclined too far from the centre of gravity. He'll be able to work in a few days—he reports the floor quite hard.

Returned.

Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, County Master of Orangetown for West Peterborough; Alex.
Smith, County Master for East Peterborough; Robt. Weir, P. C. M. for West Peterborough; Wm. King, District Master for Lakefield; and Richard Warham, District Master for Peterborough, who composed the delegation from this section to the Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario which was held at Kingston during the past three days, returned home on the evening train of the Canadian Pacific Railway on Thursday evening. They report the meeting to be a successful and enthusiastic one.

Personal.

Mr. John Lindsay, Peterborough, attended the annual meeting of the Provincial Grange in Toronto.

Lieut.-Col. R. Z. Rogers, of Grafton, at a meeting of the 40th Battalion held recently, was unanimously chosen to command the regiment.
Col. Rogers is a brother of Col. H. C. Rogers, of the post office.

The Post Hope Times says:—
"We are very much pleased to learn that Mr. A. E. Barber, son of the late James R.
Barber, Esq., for so many years superintendent of the P. & M. R. & M. Co., has been appointed to fill his late father's position. Mr.
Barber, who is quite familiar with the duties, will not only give the fullest satisfaction, but his appointment is the most popular one that could have been made."

CHESTERMAN will find at the "Golden Lion" fall line of Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, Furnishings, Dress Shirts and Underwear. Tailoring a Specialty, and a first class Cutter at your command.

Gainsborough's First Effort.

Art has often been strongly connected with forgery, and it was by means of an innocent experiment in forgery that the young Gains-borough first drew attention to his powers as an artist. His achievement in this direction was not so serious as that by which Michael Angelo deceived his patron at Rome, but it at least effected its purpose. He did not produce a false antique, but in order to obtain a holiday which his father had refused to grant, he forged an exact imitation of that respectable old gentleman's signature, and successfully imposed upon his master. He wrote in his father's handwriting the simple request, "Please give Tom a holiday," and the holiday was secured accordingly. At first, as it would seem, the father was sufficiently irate. "Tom will one day be hanged," was the old gentleman's laconic comment upon his son's perversity, but the mother, taking a kinder view of the matter, produced for inspection some of the most truant Tom's boyish sketches, and the father's furore was thereupon changed to a more hopeful prophecy, that Tom would "one day be a genius." It is to be hoped that none of the Scholars at our public Schools will resort to any such means of securing a holiday to attend the Children's Carnival, to be held in the Skating Rink, on Friday afternoon, March 6th, but will get legitimate permission from both parent and teacher to see the grandest Children's Carnival ever held in the Dominion.

A SUCCESSFUL HOUSE.

The Prosperous Growth of T. Dolan & Co's Dry Goods Establishment.

Ten years ago, the firm known to the general public under the name and style of "T. Dolan & Co." commenced business in Peterborough as dry goods merchants. The good business qualities of the management had the effect of laying the foundation of what has since grown to be one of the largest and most extensive dry goods stores in this section of the country.
On the completion of the handsome Cuthbert block, on the corner of George and Hunter streets, the firm immediately secured No. 1 and 2 stores in which to carry on business. Since opening up in this block, the business done has been very extensive. A large and obliging corps of clerks and assistants are kept busy waiting on and attending to the wants of the numerous customers, and the tailoring department, which is under the supervision of Mr.
Peter Simon, gives employment to a large number of hands.

A change has now been made in the management, by the admission to the firm of Mr. John Corkery, who has been the book-keeper for the firm for the last seven years. Mr. Corkery is a young man of sterling qualities, and is well known to almost every citizen of the town, as an honest, upright man, and one who is ever ready to perform any public duty in which the welfare and interests of his fellow citizens are concerned. The firm of T. Dolan & Co. will find in the new partner excellent traits as a first class business man, and with his numerous friends and acquaintances, Mr. Corkery is sure to be an acquisition to the firm in every respect.

Mr. Thos. Dolan has set an example that is worthy of his reputation as an employer who has the interests of his employees at heart, and in taking his chief book-keeper in as a member of the firm, he has performed an act that is characteristic of him, and one in which his numerous friends and the public will heartily endorse. It is an action which we would like to see carried out by others, and is worthy of imitation. The name and style of the firm will continue to be known as T. Dolan & Co. We wish the new firm success.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Southeast to southwest winds; generally fair mild weather, with light falls of snow or sleet in a few localities.

Bradburn's Opera House.

A joint complimentary benefit performance will be given at Bradburn's Opera House to night to Messrs. R. L. Milligan, E. A. Hammond and E. Houghton, late of the Baird Comedy Company. The programme presented promises to be interesting. It includes the comedy, "Home from Boarding School," or the Belle of George Street, and two farces, interspersed with club songs, recitations, humorous specialties and clog dancing. The admission is placed at 10 and 20 cents.

Temperance Entertainment.

An entertainment was held on Thursday evening in the hall at Unity Lodge, I.O.G.T.
This lodge was recently organized, and this was the first entertainment held under its auspices.
There was a very fair attendance and the lodge has reason to feel gratified at the success of this first effort, which promises well for the success of future entertainments. The programme was opened by a solo by Mr. J. G. French, "The Grave Digger." Later on Mr. French sang "Jennie's Dream," and displayed a bass voice of considerable power. Mr. R. J. Sallibury's recitations were greatly admired, and he certainly exhibited marked ability in that line.
Songs were also given by Miss Glass, Miss Hammer and Miss Dame, three young ladies who acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner. A dialogue, in which the Misses Glass, Miss Glass and Miss Crowley took part, was well received. Miss Annie King gave a recitation, and readings were furnished by Miss Grundy, Miss Chow and Mr. W. G. Phillips.
The entertainment, which was a very enjoyable one, was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

Tennyson.

On Thursday evening a lecture was delivered at the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms by Mr. L. E. Horning, B.A., his subject being "Tennyson and his 'In Memoriam.'"
The lecturer, in commencing, pointed out that poetry dealt more with the imagination than with the reason. He spoke of the Elizabethan period—a period so prolific of poetic genius, and gave as a cause for it the many new discoveries which had taken place at that period. The minds of the people had been educated by such circumstances to receive the most imaginative and utopian productions. The scientific age demanded a different kind of poetry. Everything that did not stand the severest scrutiny was not worthy of our moral support. The imaginative element was torn almost away from the poets of to-day. Tennyson, as the greatest poet of the age, was an embodiment of the spirit of the age. His works teemed with scientific references and every great movement of the age was reflected in his works, even to the women's rights question. After commenting on the greatness and unsuitability of Tennyson's mind, he turned to the "In Memoriam." He explained the principal characteristics of the various cantos, and commented on the circumstances which produced the changes of feeling expressed in them. The lecture lasted one hour and a half, during which the lecturer recited some of the most feeling passages in the poem, some of which were quite lengthy. At the close, Dr. Fife, the chairman, presented the lecturer the thanks of the Association, and the audience was then dismissed.

LADIES should inspect the elegant assortment of Dress Goods in every Material and Shade at the "Golden Lion." A complete line of Black and Colored Silks, Mervillour, Check Silk, Striped Silks, Cashmere Cloths, Zephyr Ginghams, Organzies, Reversible Plaids, Broadened Muslins, &c.

THE ROLLER RINK READY.

A Vent and Commodious Place for Engaging in this Pastime.

A new place of amusement has been opened, or will shortly open, in Peterborough in the shape of a roller skating rink. It is situated on the second flat of the building recently erected on Water street, opposite the Ontario Bank.
[A roomy staircase leads to the rink, which is 100 feet long by 40 feet wide. The ceiling is made of pine finished in oil and varnish and the roof is supported by seven slender stained birch columns, which are placed at regular distances up the centre of the rink. The floor is peculiarly and substantially laid. Sawdust is packed between the joist and three thicknesses of pine flooring, interlarded with felt, is placed on top of it. The surface floor is of clear maple of the best quality, laid in three inch strips. The joists are perfectly made and the floor is placed off so exactly that not a protuberance is felt as you glide over it on the skates. Great care was exercised in putting it down and it cost the sum of $600. At the west end of the rink there are two neat little dressing rooms, one in each corner, between which is the counter where skates are kept for hire. Along the south side a raised platform fitted with seats furnishes seating accommodation for spectators.

Although the rink is well appointed and no doubt it will, under the management of such a seal and accommodating official as Mr. P.
Henry, receive a good share of patronage.

CURLING NOTES.

THE LAWYERS AGREE.

That "doctors disagree" is well known, and that lawyers seldom coincide is a phrase equally (in spirit) familiar; but on Wednesday afternoon eight "limbs of the law" agreed to disagree as to their respective powers in putting the stones. The following are the names of those who composed the opposing rinks and the scores, which, when known, resulted in general agreement and adjournment:—

A novel curling match was played at the rink between eight Mo's and D. members of the ten shots. The following are the names of those who took part in the contest and also the scores annexed:—

Lost Her Way.

This morning a little girl about three years old named Annie McFarlane, left her grandmother's house on Dublin street to visit her aunt, who lives about two blocks distant. But instead of going to her aunt's house the little one wandered down George street and lost her way.
At the corner of George and Hunter streets she was taken in charge by Mr. Wm. Craft, a carter, who took her to his house on Chambers street.
The police were informed of the occurrence and P. C. Adams, speedily righted matters by inquiring in the locality in which the child's grandmother lived and informing her of the whereabouts of the child.

Public Opinion.

Public opinion is often referred to in these days, when the opinions of the people shape the
policies of Governments and rule the destinies of nations. Usually there are two or three important subjects that engage the attention of the people, so far as public matters are concerned. Just how these matters are, the Egyptian war, the Scott Act, and some subjects connected with Canadian politics. On important subjects public opinion is almost always divided, and generally into two different sides, with, perhaps, a few scattered
people who have independent or erratic opinions of their own and shared by no one else. This is shown in connection with the war referred to.
The Liberals, led by Mr. Gladstone, favor one policy, and the Conservatives are so strongly
of a different opinion that they bitterly attack
the Government, while a few believe that both
the great parties are wrong in their opinions,
agree on some things, as in praising the bravery
of the troops. There are, again, some subjects that might be called staple subjects of discussion, such as fashions. On fashions tastes differ and people are not a unit, but like politicians, they agree on some points, and all gentlemen about "hear, hear," when it is stated that the place to procure clothing is at A. Mc-Neill's, Habillment Hall.

DAILY EVENING REVIEW.

VOL. XIII.—No. 50.

PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1885.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

Giroux & Sullivan.

THE PEOPLE KNOW IT!

A Big Success!
No Humbug!
No Catchpenny!

At the commencement of February we advertised a Twenty-four day's Sale in order to make room for New Goods. The result has been a success beyond our most sanguine expectations. The people know that we carry out what we advertise, and accordingly favor us with their custom.

THE GOODS

Are, as previously announced, EXTRA VALUE. No old shop-worn good for nothing stuff is ever placed on our counters for sale, and, when the Cheapness and Value of these Goods are taken into consideration by the purchasing public, there is no trouble to sell to them.

THE PRICES

Are another feature in connection with this Sale. The present cold "dip" has had a tendency to remind the public that their fanciful dreams of "gentle spring" were, as yet, far away in the dim distance, and that good Winter Clothing bought at the prices we are selling was money well spent. The Goods have been going out fast for the last ten days, and it is a guarantee of the faith that is placed in our establishment by the inhabitants of Peterborough that such is the case.

MORE BARGAINS!

As announced, we will continue this Sale during the month of February, and will give BARGAINS until the close of the month. Call and see for yourselves.

FIRE AT WASHINGTON.

National Theatre Burned Along with other Buildings—Heavy Losses.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The National Theatre on E street, near Pennsylvania avenue, was destroyed by fire at half-past one this morning. It is now burning fiercely. On account of its proximity to the Harris House and other important buildings much anxiety is manifested. A general alarm has been sounded.

The fire gained considerable headway before being discovered. It evidently started in the rear of the stage. It was first observed by two police officers as it burst through the roof. They aroused the engineer of the theatre who was asleep in the second story. The flames spread so rapidly that they were compelled to put the ladder to the window and he only escaped in his night clothes. The Fire Department was soon on the scene, but within ten minutes from the time the fire was discovered, and before anything could be done to check it, the whole interior of the theatre was a body of flames. All the scenery and properties, the wardrobe of the Wallace company, books, etc., of the 1st and 2nd boxes had been destroyed. Only the four walls of the theatre building and the stage, and the flames have spread to the Harris House adjoining. The ruins of the hotel are heavily leaning for safer quarters.

At 5:30 a.m.—The fire is now under control and will be confined to the theatre building. A small building adjoining occupied as a restaurant, and several buildings in the rear of the theatre and between it and the Ebbitt House. The wall and roof of the Harris House was heavily damaged and only the most precious contents prevented the whole building from destruction. The theatre building is valued at $100,000, and the furniture $50,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. Last evening's performance closed at 10:30, and the fire was discovered at 1:30 p.m. The section and billiard room with the bar in the theatre building was burned; loss $30,000.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Canadiana Killed in Michigan—A Second Accident and a Singular Coincidence.

Thursday afternoon an accident occurred to at Wright & Ketchum's camp, about four miles from Ayrville, by which a young man named Francis Wick, in the employ of the firm, lost his life. About 4 o'clock he attempted to board a moving train, but slipped, falling in such a manner as to be dragged quite a distance before the train could be stopped, his body being brought in contact with the frozen snow on the side of the road. The train was stopped as quick as possible, when it was found that the young man's face and chest was quite severely bruised and that he had received internal injuries. He was taken to the nearest hospital where he died at 2:30 yesterday morning. Deceased was a single man, about twenty-three years of age and his mother resides at Concession, Prince Edward county, Ont. A cousin of the deceased, who was employed in the camp with him, brought the remains to this city yesterday, and they now lie at Coleman's undertaking rooms. A despatch was sent to his mother yesterday, informing her of the death of her son and enquiring that his burial should be made of the remains.—Saginaw Herald, Feb. 27.

Deceased was a brother of Mr. G. Wick, miller in the employ of Mr. Peter McCabe, Port Hope. Mr. Wick was an older brother went to Michigan and brought the body home. The funeral will take place on Monday morning and the large concourse of people who attended it showed conclusively the high respect in which he was held in the home of his childhood. A young man named James Dibble, a cousin, was working in the same camp and attended Wick until he died, but most singular to relate a telegram was received here on Wednesday that Dibble was killed on Tuesday, the day of poor Wick's funeral.—Port Hope Guide.

A Mystery.

It will be remembered that nearly two years ago Mrs. Rogers whose husband formerly an employee on the G. T. R. and who a short time before had by the advice of Mrs. R.'s other gone to Manitoba, had died in Brandon. The particulars of her death and burial were communicated by her brother who stated he was with him at the time of his death. On this reliable information the Odd Fellows society, of which Mr. Rogers was a member, paid the usual fees and asked aid in elevating the remains of the bereaved family, and since then have taken good care of the widow and fatherless children. But now comes the strangest part of the story. On Monday last Mrs. Rogers received a telegram from Los Angeles, California, purporting to have come from her husband, stating that he was coming home and would leave there on Sunday last. The general impression is that it is a cruel hoax perpetrated by some baseless accident to annoy the family. If such be the case, hanging up to such a punishment for such a villainous outrage. The poor woman is almost distracted over it, indeed her estate of mind can be much easier imagined than described.—Stratford Herald.

Sympathy for the Other Woman.

"If I was dead and gone, and you had another wife you'd find out how gentle and forgiving and patient I've been—you'd see then how I've endured and put up with things!" "You've no immediate intention of giving me this opportunity?" "No, sir! I hope I'm a Christian as well as a martyr, and I've too much sympathy with the other woman."—Harper's Bazar.

Was It Worth Play?

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 25.—The Deseronto correspondent of a local paper alleges that the body of Edward Fegan, who was found dead on the Bay eight miles from Deseronto yesterday morning, was discovered in such a manner as to give rise to suspicion of foul play. The hat of deceased was lying underneath his back, one mitten was off, and his arms extended from the body. The man was trampled considerably as if there had been a struggle.

THE PRINCE'S VISIT.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Prince of Wales will start on his tour through Ireland on April 2. He will reside first at Dublin Castle. Subsequently the Prince will be the guest of the Earl of Kenmare at Killybegs. The festivities which will be arranged in honor of the Prince will include a levee at the Castle, a grand draw-room reception and ball in St. Patrick's hall, besides a round of less formal balls at the Castle. There will be a military review in Phoenix park, and a gala performance at the theatre, several state dinners and receptions, and a series of visits to all the principal places of interest in Ireland.

A STREET-NAMING RIOT.

VIENNA, Feb. 27.—A body of troops has been sent to Castana, a town of Austria-Hungary, in the province of Italy, near the Gulf of Quarnero, to quell a riot which was created by the action of the Podesta in re-naming the streets in Slav instead of Italian.

THE EXPLOSION.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The explosion at Shrobury yesterday was caused in a singular manner. Col. Lyon had invented some new and rocket shots, and desired to make final experiments with them. Colonel Allen undertook to make the arrangements between the shells and fuses. He found the first attempt to insert the fuse into the shell very difficult, and he imprudently used too much force and so exploded the shell. The explosion killed 17 officers and men, who were unseated by the explosion, and he was killed. His arm was torn off and he died nearly a week later. The explosion happened to be the lives of Col. Allen, the surgeon-major, and the lives of Col. Allen, the surgeon-major, and the lives of Col. Allen, the surgeon-major.

EDINBURGH LIBERALS.

EDINBURGH, Feb. 27.—The Liberals have decided against accepting Right Hon. Mr. Goschen as their candidate for Parliament in the next general election, in consequence of his speech against the Government policy.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Lord Salisbury's motion of censure was adopted by the House of Lords by a vote of 189 to 68. In the Commons Sir St. John Northcott's motion of censure was rejected by 302 to 288. The Government's majority in the Commons of 14 has not been disappointed by the Conservatives. It is the low majority the Government has ever obtained upon any important question. The Conservative vote, normally a majority at 245, was increased to 288 by the votes of Goschen and other Whigs, and 34 Irish members. The Radical supporters of the Government. The exclamation became intense toward the end of the debate, when it transpired that a section of the Whigs and the Parliament had decided to vote against the Government, the report led a number of hesitating Radicals to vote against the Government motion, thus saving the Government. The House of Commons was crowded in every part early in the evening, but the audience thinned somewhat when it appeared the expected Irish vote would not occur. When Lord Northcott rose to speak the result of the division in the House of Lords was known, and the galleries of the House of Commons were crowded with Peers and visitors. Everybody was anxious. The Parliament gave no indication of their decision. The scene was an unparalleled in many years. When the motion was put the Parliament dragged unobtrusively but curiously by remaining seated until the House was cleared and then rose in a body and went with the Conservatives. The result was not known until the Clerk read the figures. The result was received with vociferous cheers and counter cheers. It was reported before the division on the censure motion was taken that the Ministers had decided to retire from office if their majority would be under 15.

READING FOR SUNDAY.

BY THE WAY.

In golden youth, when seems the earth
A summer land for sitting forth,
When souls are glad and hearts are light,
And not a shadow lurks in sight,
We do not know it, do not know it,
Somewhere, veiled under evening skies,
A garden all morn's something new,
Somewhere lies our Gethsemane!

With zealous steps we go our ways,
Love lends a halo to the days,
Light sorrows sail like clouds afar,
We laugh and say how strong we are,
We hurry on—and, hurrying, go
Close to the border-land of woe,
That waits for us and waits for me—
Forever waits our Gethsemane!

Down shady lanes, across broken streams
Bridged over by our stricken dreams,
Behind the misty canopy of years,
Close to the great fount of tears,
The garden lies; strive as you may,
You cannot raise it in your way.
All paths that have been or shall be Pass somewhere through Gethsemane!

All those who journey soon or late Must pass within the garden's gate;
Must kneel alone in darkness there,
And battle with some fierce despair,
God pity those who cannot say,
"Not mine, but thine," who only pray,
"Let this cup pass," and cannot see
The purpose in Gethsemane!

PROVE IT NOT YOUR CHILDREN.

This caution appears both in the Epistle to the Ephesians and in that to the Colossians. In the latter place the reason is added, "Lest they be discouraged." There is then such a thing as parental discouragement of right-doing.

An incident connected with a bright boy who does not live a thousand miles from New York, may serve as a practical commentary upon this text.

Charles E. was a high-spirited, fun-loving fellow, who did not often willfully disobey, but who was betrayed not unfrequently by his impulses into serious troubles. He drew quite largely upon the patience of his parents and particularly of his father. The latter was careful to study his boy's disposition, and not to force him unnecessarily into a corner where circumstances would bring out the pressure to bear upon his virtue.

Returning one day from a visit to his patients the father found a favorite walking cane of delicate brass lying broken near the door, where the boy had carelessly abandoned it in terror at the sight of the mishap and its consequences. He had often been warned not to ride this hobby, but, attracted by its beauty, and perhaps inheriting a fancy for blooded steeds, he had stolen it off for a little race around the front circle, with disastrous results. And now the consequence-stricken jockey sat demurely turning the pages of one of his story books in the library, nervously awaiting the hour of parental judgment.

The father was pained at the loss of his favorite stick and still more grieved at the want of self-control in his son. His first impulse was to confront the little criminal with his disobedience and hold him to strict accountability. But he paused to reason that this was yet but a child, and that love of truth was only a latent seed, not as a strong plant, in that little soul. He reflected that the boy's nature was stubbornly refusing itself to find escape from the impending catastrophe of his misdeed, that conscience was vigorously at work, and that shame and fear of the blow to the father's love, if not of punishment, were agonizing the young spirit. He fully realized the moral lesson that was being taught by the boy's conduct, and that the father's duty was to guide him to the right, and not to provoke him to rebellion. And he resolved not to provoke his child to sin, but rather to lead him to strict accountability to account, all the natural desire to escape from the dilemma, with all the surrounding difficulties under the excitement of the occasion, would move so heavily as possibly to stir in the boy's love of the truth and drive him to confession, if not into the actual denial of the deed. It was evidently better to find a way of escape for his beloved child out of the mental perplexities that oppressed him and that might lead him into sin.

Hence the wise father's plan of action was speedily formed. Leaving the broken stick upon the ground, he quietly passed through the house, until, without seeming to seek him, he came upon the little culprit in his place of refuge. Then approaching him with a cheerful face he took the stick and child upon his knee and kissed him, finding him in his arms. After a moment of silence he said to the troubled spirit, "Papa loves his darling boy, and he does not want him to say a single word just now. Papa knows that his little boy has broken the pretty cane, and that he is very sorry for having disobeyed his papa, who has often told him not to play with it. But papa is very glad that his son would not tell a story about it, and next time, when he has done a wrong thing, he must run to meet papa and tell him all about it."

At a moment the little arms were closely entwined about his father's neck and the tender heart was throbbing with sudden relief as he poured his confession of sorrow and plans for forgiveness into the paternal ear. There was no need of further punishment, for the awakened conscience had been administering enough of that. And a lesson in love of the truth had been given that was most effective, while it saved the weak young spirit from the heavy penalty upon it to utter an untruth in the denial of the sin under severe examination.

It is right for us to strengthen and help the little ones. But some parents seem to think it necessary to test the reality of their children's repentance upon every trying occasion. There is little of the parents and too much of the judge. It is not, however, wiser to first build up and fortify the adult rather than force it to a trial while childhood is morally feeble and virtue is only struggling for its foothold. Even the father of Washington was not infatigable, nor every lad as morally strong, nor even as old, as the virtuous George. May not fathers provide their children to falsehood under circumstances naturally unfavorable to a healthful issue of trial? It is far better to save the juvenile conscience the fear of a lie by patient, gentle treatment and encouragement to speaking the truth, while it is yet young and frail, than to put it to a fiery test and the issue of truth-telling is quite as impressive and enduring while the self-respect of the child is maintained and his courage for the future vastly invigorated. —J. W. C. Wicks.

Meeting Temptation.

As if temptation was not bad enough when it comes to us, we often go to it. In certain company we know we must be tempted in certain ways, and yet we go into it; in certain places we are sure to meet with temptation belonging to the place, yet there go. If we expect miracles to be wrought on our behalf, and that we are to be kept holy while we choose bad company, we make a great mistake. We cannot look to God to help us when we tempt Him, so far as He can be tempted and tried by us.

NORWOOD.

Volunteer.—Capt. Thos. Burke, of this village, has volunteered for service in the Sudan. Officers all over the Dominion are offering their services.

FATAL RAIL ULS.—Black, who was injured so severely in the boiler explosion in Dunbar last week, died on Thursday. He was interred in the Norwood cemetery on Friday.

ADDRESSES AND PRESENTATIONS.—On Friday evening Mrs. A. Scott was made the recipient of the following address, accompanied by a very handsome solid gold watch, recognition of her services in the Sabbath School and choir of the Norwood Presbyterian Church. The address was read by Miss E. R. Riddell and the presentation made by Miss A. Riddell.

DEAR FRIEND.—Permit me, your associate in the leading of the praise of the sanctuary, your fellow Sunday school teacher and the members of the Norwood Presbyterian congregation, united to express to you our congratulations on the happy event which has recently marked an era in your life's history, and at the same time to avail ourselves of the opportunity it gives us, to express our high appreciation of the many and varied services you have rendered to the church. As a faithful and diligent teacher in the Sabbath School, a zealous and untiring worker in your choir, and a devoted and helpful member of the choir, rarely absent from your place, and as one who from earliest childhood has loved to sing, and cheerfully lent a willing and helping hand in every department of the church's work, which the Master you in love sought to serve, and who overtook the cup of cold water given in his name, will in due time amply reward. Accept the accompanying small, but tangible tribute of our love and esteem, not because of any money value it possesses, but that it may be kept by you as a pleasant reminder of the love and appreciation of your friends, and of the happy intercourse we enjoyed together in our common work, and we trust, consecrated work, for Him who is our Lord and King. We wish you and your partner in life the enjoyment of all the happiness, comfort, and consoling felicity that your new relationship can give, and breathe the prayer that you may both be participants of that higher, and unending joy and peace which the world can neither give nor take away.

Mrs. Scott was completely taken by surprise. She replied as follows:—

MY DEAR FRIENDS.—I cannot find words to express my thanks for the very handsome token of your regard which you have presented to me, and I assure you I shall always prize it. I do not feel that I am worthy of the honor and of the many happy hours I have spent with you in the Sabbath School, and in the choir, and in the many other departments of the church's work, in which I have been able to do my little part. I do not feel that I am worthy of the honor and of the many happy hours I have spent with you in the Sabbath School, and in the choir, and in the many other departments of the church's work, in which I have been able to do my little part.

Yours in the work, MRS. SCOTT.

LINDSAY.

RAILWAY PROJECT.—On Monday a number of the members of the Town Council met Mr. P. J. P. of the Lindsay Iron Mines near Lindsay, relative to his railway project from Lindsay to Basford. He held before the assembled wisdom his plans and desires and the requirements necessary to enable him to build the road to his mines and beyond according to the bonus offered by the Dominion Government. With a bonus of 5,000 acres per mile from the Local Legislature that he wanted he would have no difficulty in fulfilling the condition. The committee after due consideration agreed to petition the Government to grant him the land under the conditions he had promised in the way of settlement, etc. Mr. P. J. P. also met the Council of the Township of Ops for the same purpose and obtained their promise to do the same.

FIRST PRIZE.—About four months ago the publishers of the School Supplement offered $500 in prizes for the best set of examples in arithmetic—the whole subject having been divided into convenient departments. This offer was made known to about a quarter of a million teachers. We note with pleasure that Mr. Michael O'Brien, Head Master of the Lindsay Separate School, has carried off a first prize in this competition. The number of competitors was 255. The number of first prize winners was 33, and included distinguished professors of universities, mathematicians and educators in all the civilized world and Great Britain. Mr. O'Brien submitted a list of questions which will be published in a new work on arithmetic to be issued by the publishers of the School Supplement.

CAMPBELLFORD.

CLOSED BY ICE.—The paper mills are to cease running again, as it is found impossible to continue operations as a consequence of the accumulation of ice in the rapids. This difficulty has been experienced the greater part of the winter, and repeated efforts to keep the way clear have been in vain. The mills may remain silent for several weeks unless milder weather follows, and an early break up of the ice takes place. Many employees are thrown out of work.

A SAD TELEGRAM.—On Tuesday morning Mr. W. H. Dibble, of Campbellford, received a telegram from Mrs. Dibble, stating that their son was killed in the woods in that locality. The news of the sad event came with a weight upon Mr. Dibble, who has been ill for some time, and he is naturally very much affected by grief. He sent a message ordering the shipment of the body to Campbellford. Deceased was about 25 years of age and unmarried.

WESTWOOD.

SAVING THEM.—We had the pleasure of examining last week two novel and useful inventions just patented and patented by Mr. J. W. Powell of Westwood. One is a burglar proof lock and a more genuine at the model is sufficient to prove that the burglar in Powell's lock is at last foiled in attempting an opening without breaking the safe all to pieces with sledge, as there is no possible way in which dynamite can be used. Besides the absolute prevention afforded, the lock is simplicity itself and the ease with which the combination is changed will tell where contained the lock to the public.

The other invention relates to a method of laying a railway track by which not only ballasting can be dispensed with, but the rails are bolted in such a way that "spreading" is impossible, a profuse source of danger on rail ways, and one which causes vast amount of damage to life and property. Another advantage gained and a saving effected by Mr. Powell's method, is the use being raised from the ground it will consequently last much longer than the old way where they are embedded in the ballast. The value of both these inventions is at once apparent, and they will no doubt speedily be brought into practical use. We congratulate Mr. Powell on his success, and hope that he will reap the reward which his ingenuity merits. —Hastings Star.

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true Murray & Lamm's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Lamm & Kemp, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of bother rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which though pale and faint, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no Florida water is genuine that does not have this test mark.

MISTAKES IN PRINCIPLE.

THE Western Freeman, a Reform journal, evidently feels constrained to admit that the Ontario Government is not as pure as it should be. The Freeman refers to the party feeling in the Legislature, and says that, "with such a Legislature it is unfair to expect that any executive can continue to be pure." We do not admit that the Freeman is correct in its estimate of the Ontario Government, but it does look strange to see a journal that professes such a high standard of political morality attempting to justify impurity on the part of the Government on any grounds. It is not unfair to expect any executive to be pure; the people should not only expect but demand and insist that it should. An executive that cannot maintain its position without resorting to wrong methods should be compelled to resign.

The Freeman would be right in urging that party allegiance should not be allowed to sway personal conviction of what is required, but it is equally badly informed or wilfully ignorant of political affairs in this province. It states that there is no difference of principle between the two parties. A consideration of the cry of "municipal rights" raised by the Reformers in this Province, as well as in other provinces, will show that the Freeman is in error. The Conservatives are opposed, and still contend, that in the matter in question, the Province of Ontario should have its full rights, but they also argue that the question should be decided in a legitimate manner, and that care should be taken to take no unnecessary action that would impair confederation and thereby injure the whole country. If Canada as a whole was injured, Ontario would suffer, and this, as well as a logical consideration for the other provinces, and a patriotic feeling and a desire for the interests of Canada, impelled them to take this course. They therefore urged a speedy, final, binding and just settlement of the question in a manner that would cause no undue irritation of the provinces against each other. The Reformers, perhaps more from a lack of principle than from a difference in principle, refused to take the proper course to have the question settled, threatened to resort to taking up arms, and, regardless of consequences, raised sectional cries, in order to gain a benefit for their party. There was shown a clear and distinct difference in the parties, as the Conservatives urged the adoption of a legal and proper course, and one that would secure Ontario her full rights, while it was in the interest of the whole country.

If the Freeman felt forced to warn its friends in Ontario of the danger of their course, it would have shown a better spirit if it had made a less bitter attack upon the whole Legislature of the Province.

A REFORM contemporary thinks that it would be to the advantage of Manitoba if it had a man of greater ability for Premier. Perhaps it would, for it matters not how able a man is, a still able man might be preferable. But Manitoba is in much the same position as the Dominion—either has an able man upon its Premier in public life to place in the position, and high as right in keeping Sir John and Mr. Kerens in their positions until that able man appears.

About an old man.

QUINCY, Feb. 27.—About a dozen pupils of St. Thomas' Montessori College, accompanied by the teacher, went on a snowshoeing expedition on the shore ice at this place a few days since. When some distance out a line of ice, measuring about five miles in length and one broad, broke away from the shore, carrying the children with it down the river. Lawrence and two others, their position becoming critical, they determined to explore the ice land, and much to their joy found a large canoe with oars which had also been carried out, and by this means they all reached the mainland in safety.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Compensating Hotel-keepers—Furnishing Burglars—Superintending Letter Carriers—Civil Service Examination.

FRIDAY, Feb. 27.—Several petitions were presented against changes of the South Act.

CONFERRING HOTEL KEYS.
Mr. SHAW introduced a bill to make provision for compensating hotel-keepers for the depreciation of their business by the South Act, by means of a court of arbitration.

The bill was read a first time.

SUPREMACY COURT.
Mr. LAUREY (Montreal) introduced a bill to limit Quebec appeals to the Supreme Court in cases of a purely local nature.

The SPEAKER held that the bill was sufficiently different from the former one to be introduced, and was in order.

It was read a first time.

FURNISHING BURGULARS.
Mr. ROBERTSON (Hastings) introduced a bill to make the sending of burglars to the Penitentiary compulsory instead of optional with the judge.

The bill was read a first time.

SUPERINTENDING OF LETTER CARRIERS.
Mr. BLAKE in committee on the resolution to appoint superintendents of letter carriers, objected to the appointment of new officers.

Mr. CHAPMAN said it was not intended to appoint new officers, but only to give a slight increase of salary to some senior officers for doing their duty.

Mr. MILLER said a job.

Mr. JOHN CARLISLE said there would be no new appointments, but they only wished to give $500 a year more to superintendents than to those they superintended.

After some further discussion the resolution was adopted.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.
Mr. CHAPMAN explained in committee that it was proposed to give two civil servants salaries of $500 each as Civil Service Examiners.

Mr. BLAKE and Sir EDWARD CARSWORTHY objected to these employing civil servants.

Mr. CHAPMAN showed that it was done for the sake of economy, and gave details of the much greater expense in the State of New York.

The resolution was adopted.

GARRIERS BY LAND.
Mr. MCCARTHY moved the second reading of his bill respecting carriers by land. It was to make carriers further responsible for the safety of the goods they conveyed. He might make a small additional charge on articles of value.

As it was later-provisional in its character it was within the jurisdiction of the Dominion.

Mr. BROWN argued that it affected civil rights and was without their jurisdiction.

Mr. IRVING held that Parliament had power in the case of railways, but he had doubts as to stages.

Mr. CURRIE moved the six months' delay.

After some further discussion the second reading was carried by 74 to 64.

THE BUDGET.
Mr. BOWEN brought down the estimates.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.

Gen. McDougall's Opinion of the Force—Almost Rivaling the Regulars.

The Mail's correspondent, writing from Ottawa on Feb. 27th, says:—Great satisfaction is expressed here with Gen. Sir Patrick McDougall's letter on Canadian troops for Egypt, which appears in the London Times of the 13th inst. Sir Patrick organized the present efficient intelligence office connected with the Imperial Government machinery, and stands high among the military authorities of the empire. He has had large experience in Canada, and speaks warmly of the knowledge of the Canadian soldier in 1885 and 1886, when the Farin battalions, after only a few days of camp training, almost rivaling in American, steadiness, and discipline the regular troops with whom they were brigaded. I was again connected with them during my five years tenure of the North American command, from 1879 to 1883, and my experience led me to form the opinion that the material of which the Canadian soldier is made, has never been surpassed.

The British from Col. Williams a good certificate of the qualities of the men. "I am well acquainted with Col. Williams. He is an excellent officer and I hope that no red tape objections will be allowed to prevent the acceptance of his offer." He further says: "After the service the Canadians have already done on the Nile, I trust that Col. Williams' battalions will not be relegated to garrison duty, but may be permitted to take part in the dangers and glories of their Egyptian comrades in the field, as would be their own wish and that of Canadian generally."

The "good words" of General McDougall will be duly appreciated by Canadians who have in him a warm and sincere friend. His many friends in Canada, will thank him for his expression of opinion of Canadians.

Foundation that requires no mending will find at Turnbull's Jet Cashmere and a good range of 18th Century, just received. Also Orange Mufflers made up on short notice, neatly trimmed.

Military Mark Targets.

When Stewart's column was crossing the desert some of the soldiers sang until their throats were too dry for the utterance of another musical note, but even then they had a hearty laugh over every humorous incident. One Gourdman, chaffing an Ethiopian fellow, said he had discovered at last why a negro's lips were so thick, for his own felt as if they were swollen to three times their natural size, and he was sure they would never get their honey back again if he had to make many desert marches.

Fatal Result of Carelessness.

A little girl named Trepanner and another child named Boyer of Montreal, were playing with a loaded pistol in the house unknown to their parents, when the former pulled the trigger and shot her companion dead. The revolver was left in an open drawer within reach of the child.

If everybody smoked Peterboro' Cigars, everybody would be more cheerful, happy and contented.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Experimental Farm Stock—The South Act—The Liability of Employers—School Law Amendments.

FRIDAY, Feb. 27.—The report of the Judge in the Algonia election case was presented. They agreed that "corrupt practices did extensively prevail in said election," but differed as to whether the respondent was personally guilty.

THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM.
Mr. FRANKLIN moved a resolution that inasmuch as the live stock sold by the experimental farm passed largely into the hands of non-residents, it is the opinion of the house that the surplus stock should be sold on such terms as would secure its retention within the province.

He stated that Americans had bought and removed from the country a large proportion of the fine stock of the Model farm. As this institution was intended for the benefit of the farmers of Ontario, this should not be permitted.

Mr. HATFIELD suggested a sale in the east every three years.

Mr. MURPHY charged that the motion was intended to embarrass the Government, but regarded the proposition as worthy of consideration.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Macdonald, Wilson, McColman, Carnegie, Haffner and Mackay.

Mr. A. M. ROSS said that very few cattle sold from the Model Farm went to the United States. He favored a plan by which fine stock would be sold to Agricultural Societies, and said that where they were sold at auction Americans could not be prevented from bidding. The motion was withdrawn.

THE SOUTH ACT.
Mr. KERR moved for a return showing the cost of enforcing the South Act in Halton County.

Mr. MOWAT, in reply to Mr. Meredith, said the Government was considering the question of appointing machinery for the carrying out of the South Act.

LIABILITY OF EMPLOYERS.
Mr. MURPHY moved the second reading of the bill respecting employers' liability for personal injuries suffered by workmen. He explained the measure, which gave to employees the same remedies in cases of injury arising from the negligence of their employers, or defects in the plant, machinery or ways, as though they were not in their service. He argued that his bill was in the line of English legislation, and looked upon the clause forbidding employers to contract themselves out of the act as one of the essence of the bill.

Mr. FRANKLIN opposed the clause making contracts against the effect of the Act void. The measure was more comprehensive than the English one, as it applied even to menials. He moved the six months' delay.

Mr. CLARK, as an employer, saw nothing in the bill to which he could object.

Mr. GIBSON (Hamilton) thought more consideration necessary.

Mr. CARSWORTHY thought that menials had as good a right to protection as any other class of employees, even if they had not votes.

Mr. HARDY said that the manufacturers' and workmen's organizations should be heard, and urged delay.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Phelps, Erasmussen, Ferris, Gibson, Wood, Meredith and Mowat, and Mr. Fraser's motion for the six months' delay was carried by 25 to 15.

THE SCHOOL LAW.
The House went into committee on the bill to amend the school law and passed a number of clauses.

James Braxley, Hamilton, says: "I read the testimonials for Mink's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana, or Texas to find living witnesses of its value; we have plenty of persons right here to give evidence, and I got a hold and helped me right away. I was as bad with Billions Fever and Indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well, and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MARCH 3, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Vital Statistics.

The number of births, marriages and deaths for the month of February, as taken from the record kept by the Town Clerk, is as follows:—

Births.....	15
Marriages.....	4
Deaths.....	15

Gen. Sir Rodger's Buller.

It may not be generally known, says the Campbelltown Herald, that this English officer who has been so much referred to in the press in connection with the campaign in Egypt, is a cousin of Mr. C. G. Buller, of Campbellford. We might add that Gen. Buller is also a relative, though a more distant one, of Mr. Joseph Buller, of Peterborough.

Contract Let.

The building committee of St. Andrew's Church met on Saturday evening. It was decided to let the contract for the building of the new church to Messrs. Harper & Son, Newwood, their tender ($17,000) being the lowest acceptable tender by $1,500. For this sum the contractors agree to erect and complete the church. The shade and other outbuildings will be let by separate contract.

The Ben Marche is the spot for Bargains in Grey and White Cottons, Prints, Shirtings, &c. All Choice New Patterns arriving daily

Personal.

Mr. James Little, who has spent the past eight months in the Canadian North-West, has returned to town. He speaks highly of the new country, and is sanguine of its ultimate greatness, judging from the marvellous growth of the towns and villages, and the steady development of the land. The bracing air of the North-West seems to have had a beneficial effect on Mr. Little's health. He looks hale and hearty, and the trip has been in this respect full of profit.

Able and Eloquent.

The Port Hope Guide, in giving an account of a lecture delivered in that town by the pastor of the Peterborough Baptist Church, says:—

"One of the ablest and most eloquent lecturers ever delivered before a Port Hope audience was given by the Rev. A. H. Munro on the above subject. ("Lessons from Life and for Life") is the Young Men's Christian Association Hall Friday evening, to an intelligent and appreciative audience. The reverend lecturer was frequently applauded during the delivery of his masterly address. It would be impossible for us to give anything like an outline of the lecture, so cramped is our space, but suffice it to say that the address was one of the finest we have ever had the pleasure of listening to."

A More Attraction.

Everything promises that the double grand carnival, which will be held under the auspices of Court Peterborough, No. 20, G.O.F., in the Peterborough Skating Rink, on the afternoon and evening of Friday next, March 6th, will be a rare attraction, and one of the like of which has never been witnessed in Peterborough. The parents of children did not assure that the committee will put forth every possible effort to make the afternoon carnival not only most enjoyable for the little ones, but very comfortable as well. Everything that can be brought forth to afford amusement and genuine solid fun for them will be done. An efficient corps of attendants will be stationed at different quarters of the spacious rink to keep a watchful eye on the little makers, and prevent any grown-up person from going on the ice until the evening. The little children will thus have the immense object of ice wholly to themselves, and cannot help but spend a pleasant time. In the evening, the scene will be completely changed. Instead of the "Lilliputian" makers that were to be seen during the afternoon, there will be presented to the eye one of the grandest and most dazzling sights that one could wish for. The costumes on this occasion (the last carnival of the season) will in many cases be superb, and the carnival cannot fail to be anything but interesting to those who may attend.

Garmentmaker will find at the "Golden Lion" full lines of Scotch Tweeds, Worsteads, Fur-trappings, Dress Shirts and Underwear. Tailoring a Specialty, and a first class Outfit at your command.

St. Peter's Cathedral.
On Sunday evening the Rev. Father Doherty, a member of the Jesuit Order, delivered an address in St. Peter's Cathedral. A mission which will continue for two weeks, each evening, will be commenced this evening.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Westerly winds, fair weather with snow flurries in a few localities; comparatively cold to-day, milder to-morrow.

Going Eastward.
Prof. Crove and his family, well known to this neighborhood as the "Indian vocalist," have completed a successful engagement consisting of a number of concerts given in different parts of the country. The company will shortly go eastward.

The Roller Skating this Evening.
All the arrangements for the formal opening of the roller skating rink have been completed and the opening this evening is confidently expected to be a brilliant affair. The Band will be present. Do not fail to attend. Admission 15 cts.; ladies, 10c.; skates 10c. extra. There will be the regular prices for afternoons or evenings.

Entertainment To-Night.
The musical and literary entertainment to be given by the members of the Young Men's Christian Association will take place this evening in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, at eight o'clock. A good programme has been prepared, including vocal and instrumental music and readings. A male choir will give some choruses and there will also be a male quartette. Admission to all but members of the Association will be only fifteen cents.

The Milligan Comedy Co.
On Saturday the R. L. Milligan Comedy Company gave their last performance at Bradburn's Opera House. The evening's entertainment was opened by a comedy entitled B. R., Mr. Milligan taking the character of Benjamin Bobbin, and Mr. Hammond that of Bob Bottles. The concluding farce, "Sixteen Thousand Years Ago," was highly amusing. The interval which elapsed between the presentation of the comedy and the concluding farce was filled in with a number of interesting specialties. Mr. James Hannah appeared and gave an exhibition of Indian club swinging which called forth expressions of favor. Masters Wallbrook and Simons again gave some evidences of their skill in clog dancing. Master E. Beach contributed bone sales. "Dead in a Horn," another laughable farce, was here presented. Mr. Z. Wintergreen was loudly applauded for his readings of comical selection. The "New Imprecations" by Mr. Milligan were well received and he was recalled several times. Mr. M. Barry brought forth tears of laughter by his humorous Dutch songs and dancing. The entertainment concluded with the closing farce. The City Band orchestra were present during the evening and rendered choice music.

Get Go to the Bon Marche for Tobacco and Cigars at Lowest Rock Bottom Prices.

Now It Works.
This morning the new billiard license by-law came into force. Heretofore the amount charged for billiard licenses has been low as compared with that charged this year. The amount fixed by the Council last year for license was $50 for the first and $30 for each additional one. This year, however, the Council resolved to place the license at a higher price and the amount fixed for license this year was $100 for each and every table. At the last Council meeting, when the license question was ventilated, several Councillors expressed themselves as averse to the existence of billiard rooms and voted for the high license with the understanding that it would tend to do away with billiard rooms and it has to a certain extent accomplished its work. Out of twenty tables which were licensed last year only three are licensed this year. The "Oriental Club," however, assumes the proprietorship of the Oriental Hotel billiard room and the "Opera House Club" assumes that of Fanebor's billiard room. Into the Club billiard rooms some are admitted except members. The tables in the billiard rooms of the Grand Central Hotel, Croft House and Little Windsor Hotel have been stripped of their rails and the proprietors express their intention to hold matters in abeyance.

A Miserable Man.
It is not at all difficult to distinguish from among thousands a man of a puerile or mischievous character. Such a man may be observed almost hourly in the daily walks of this life. And what a life that man must lead. At night when he goes to bed, when he is alone with his own mean self, what must his feelings be? Does he find his bed rough and rugged—to be uncomfortable for a night's rest? Does he discover that through the long hours of darkness he is always the most miserable and despised of his race? Does he not, while lying on his bed of (not new) straw, make an effort to roll away to the other side of it, so that he may get away from himself? Alas, how many wear a false mask in this world all through life, and who, at night, when the dongs of the day come back to memory with only too vivid and unmistakable circumstances, suffer tortures that, had they only shared otherwise, would not have been theirs. A misery man will not even wear the clothing that is necessary in order that he may appear as others do—respectable. He will buy cheap, useless stuff that is in keeping with his every other trait. If there are any such individuals in Peterborough (and it is to be hoped there are not) let them fall in line with all other right-thinking persons, and go to Hablument Hall and secure a neat fitting suit of clothes. A. McNEIL.

Trunkful in no time neglecting the Spring trade and missing the better stock of Hats, Collars, Ties, Handkerchiefs, Suits, Ready-Made Clothing, etc., he has purchased for the Spring Trade.

The Detrick Fire Escape.
At half-past two o'clock this afternoon quite a number of people lined George street opposite the Grand Central Hotel to see the test of the Detrick Fire Escape. Promptly at the appointed time Mr. Frank White appeared at a fourth story window with a wide leather strap around his chest. He threw himself out of the window and slowly descended to the sidewalk below. Mr. Detrick descended in a similar manner, and several other tests were also made to the satisfaction of the spectators. This fire escape is very simple in construction. The spool around which the cording is wound is fitted at the end with a cog wheel of about one foot in diameter. Into this wheel another one fits which is about three or four inches in diameter and to the shaft extending from the smaller one wheel a fan governor is attached. As the weight descends the speed is uniformly regulated by the fan governor and, strange to say, twenty-five pounds or fifty pounds descend with about the same speed. The Detrick Fire Escape is intended to be stowed away in the washstand of each bedroom covered over with a handsome cabinet and in case of fire the occupant of the room has simply to remove the cabinet, attach the cording to himself and launch himself out of the window. Mr. W. W. Owen has secured the exclusive right to sell these fire escapes in Canada and the United States and no doubt he will, with such an excellent article to offer to purchasers meet with success and receive large orders. Mr. John Detrick, of Ottawa, is the inventor. Another exhibition will be given at the same place this evening.

Parents that want Clothing for their Boys will save money, time and trouble by visiting and examining Turnbull's entirely New Stock of Ready-Made Clothing.

REVOLUTION IN COLOMBIA.
Government Forces Defeated -- British Vessels Fired On.
PANAMA, March 1.—The revolution in Colombia is acquiring formidable proportions. In a battle at Barranquilla the Government troops were defeated with a loss of sixty killed and 200 wounded. Three hundred were taken prisoners, including Gen. Arrieta, commander, and many officers. The expedition proved a complete failure, and Cartagena, the base of the Government operations, is now besieged by 800 men under the victorious Gen. Gaitan.

On February 23rd, in Cartagena, Captain Oculis, of the British man-of-war Canada, while going aboard his ship, was fired at by Government troops. The ship was riddled with bullets, and the captain and his crew wounded by flying splinters. The British steamer West India, which was in port at the time, received a shower of projectiles from Remington guns.

Gen. Ruiz, to day seized the canal tug Gamcock and took her to join the revolutionists at Barranquilla. It is believed he will return with men and material to capture Colon and turn the place over to the revolutionists. The battle of Honda, it is reported, was favorable to the Government. There was much loss of life. The list of prisoners includes the names of half a dozen leaders of the expedition. Few details have been received. Camargo, the famous General, is reported to have been killed in the revolution, which is a cry of protest against the dictatorial and illegal methods of President Nariño.

GEN. BUTLER IN TROUBLE.
The Independent Presidential Candidate a Huge Deficit.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Gen. Benjamin F. Butler is in serious trouble. There have for years been occasional rumors to the effect that there were irregularities in his accounts as President and Treasurer of the Board of Managers of the Soldiers' Home, an office which he held for a lone time previous to 1881. The House Military Committee has this winter been making a careful investigation of Gen. Butler's accounts. Their accounts have been examined and gone over repeatedly by expert accountants, and the result is the discovery of the startling fact that General Butler is short in his accounts with the Government to the amount of two hundred thousand dollars. It appears that of the money received by Gen. Butler in 1873, there are $21,000 unaccounted for. It also appears that for years preceding 1875 there is a deficit of $211,025 in the accounts of the sale and purchase of United States bonds. Some time ago Gen. Butler was asked by the committee for a statement of his disbursements as treasurer. He replied under date of February 11, giving a report of his financial action made at his request. This report, upon examination, disclosed an error in footing amounting to $10,000.

These having in view of the details of the investigation say that they do not see how it is possible for Gen. Butler to make a satisfactory explanation of his gross irregularities.

Teaching Diplomacy.
Lord Palmerston, who had been the ward of the first Lord Melbourne, and had always maintained the most constant friendship with my family, knowing that I was inexperienced in official life, and that I must have considerable difficulty in managing so high and important a charge as that in the Foreign Office, kindly offered to call on me and give me some advice on the main principles of our English policy with foreign countries. Of course I gratefully accepted his offer, and he came to my house in Whitehall Gardens, giving me a masterly sketch of the situation in Europe and some general hints as to my procedure. The pith of them was "to keep well with France," but adding, "that she was ambitious to have the principal influence in the East," and that in this respect we were "like two men in love with the same woman." He said: "You have no idea, till you know more of your office, what a power of prestige England possesses abroad, and it will be your first duty to see that it does not wane. All the foreign ministers will try at first to get objects which they have been refused by successive Governments; so take care you yield nothing until you have well looked into every side of the question."—Lord Melbourne's Memoirs.

"Why! What's the matter?"
Lady—(With face enveloped in roll of hot cloth).—"Oh! In my way with Neuralgia that continually troubles me."
—"Well, how foolish! Why don't you go to John McKee's Drug Store and get a bottle of Field Lightning? It cures me in less than one minute. I always keep a bottle in the house. It only costs 50 cents."

From Our Own Correspondent.

CARNIVAL.—The second grand carnival was held on Friday evening last and was a grand success. Some of the costumes were very elaborate, and, in fact, it was very hard to decide on the best one. However, the judges eventually decided on Miss Powell's as the most correct costume, viz., "Queen Elizabeth." Mr. McIntyre then presented the prize, consisting of a ladies toilet set in a nest case, valued at $4. "Below we give a list of those in costume, so far as we were able to obtain them. The crowd was very thick and we had hard work getting through."

NOT MUCH NOISE

Our London Advertiser comments on a project by Mr. Melville, Chief Engineer in the U. S. Navy, and a noted Arctic explorer, to reach the North Pole through Wrangell Land, creating a route with lead by the way. Our contemporary suggests that Mr. Melville, on reaching his destination, would have no longing for that every direction from him would be wrong, and that he could not know from what particular direction he had arrived. As the Advertiser puts it—

"It is not likely that Mr. Melville will be so far-sighted as to have presented to him a practical solution of the difficulty that would arise from his reaching the pole, but it is quite certain that he would have no means of knowing the direction from which he came by any scientific means."

Now it is quite certain that our contemporary is wrong. We presume that by the North Pole the northern extremity of the earth's axis is meant, and as that is not coincident with the magnetic pole, a pocket compass would give the direction of the compass, and therefore the course.
Even without a compass, the possession of a watch and of a little knowledge of astronomy, would enable similar information to be obtained from the heavenly bodies. There are two simple scientific methods, and there are still others that might be adopted. The scientific resources of the well-advised editor of our contemporary are certainly not extensive.

The Montreal Times, referring to the division in the Imperial House of Commons on the vote of censure, says—

"It might be inquired what do either the Parliament or Government expect to gain by giving their support to the Conservatives, who have presented no better programme than that of the other side? Indeed, they have no policy."

This is a contention on the part of the Times that criticism alone is not sufficient; that an Opposition should have a definite policy.
Whether disputing whether the English Conservatives have such a policy or not, we would like to ask the Times what is the policy of the Opposition in our Dominion Parliament? They try to criticize; they complain and abuse; they say the Government is doing wrong, but as the Times admits, that is not sufficient. Then, what is their policy? What is the programme they wish the country to adopt?

The Reformers claim to be friends of the workingman, but their actions show that they only want the workingman to befriend the Reformers, without having the compensation returned. They have contended that the interest paid on deposits in the Government savings bank should be reduced, although it would be workingman that the reduction would effect, and a bill which Mr. Meredith introduced into the Ontario Legislature, to make employers liable for injury done to employees, when the injury was caused through the fault of the employer in not having safe machinery and in other ways, was thrown out by the Reform majority. If they are the particular and special friends of workingmen, they have a curious way of showing it.

A CONSERVATIVE remarks that the attempt of the Conservatives to embrace the Gladstone Administration with "a string rebuke." The Liberal, at the beginning of the Parliament, had a large majority. Yet in an important question they were outvoted by a majority of only 14 in a house of 550, showing that they had lost the confidence of many members. Another such "string rebuke" would place the Conservatives in office.

Revenge for a Bopefman.

LYNDENBURG, Va., March 1.—Royal Matthews, head waiter at the Arlington Hotel, reimprisoned John Miller, an assistant, for being late last night. Miller buried a carving knife in the hip of Matthews' breast, killing him. The parties are released.

testimonial for Adinger's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Phil-nesses of its value. We have plenty of persons right here to prove its merit. I got a bottle and it helped me right away. I was as bad with Bileus Fever and Indigestion as I think any one could be. I have taken three bottles and am nearly well, and can eat any kind of food

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.

Two representatives of the Golden Lion are now visiting some of the leading markets, with a view of purchasing a large and select stock of Spring millinery.

Carnival Judges.

On account of illness in the families of two of the judges appointed to officiate at the children's carnival they are unable to act.
Their places will be taken by Miss Gilmour and Mrs. G. M. Stewart.

Temperance Meeting To-Night.

All lovers of the cause of temperance will do well to attend the meeting to-night in Bradburn's Opera House at 7.30 o'clock. Miss Bower, of Hallow County, will deliver an address, and a ladies' temperance working society will be organized. All are cordially invited to attend.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong north-east and south-west winds, generally cloudy, considerably milder weather, with snow and rain in most places, very mild to-morrow.

Church Social.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Murray St.
Baptist Church will hold a church social at Mrs. Leacy's residence on Downey St. on Thursday evening 5th inst. at 8 o'clock. The first part of the evening will be occupied by an excellent programme of instrumental and vocal music and recitations. Tea coffee and cake will be served free. Oysters will be served at 10 cents the plate.

Journalists.

The Educational Weekly is the name of a new paper which is published in Toronto in the interest of education educational institutions and instructors. The name of Mr. T. Arnold Hau-stain, M.A., appears as one of the editorial staff. The Weekly has been fortunate in securing Mr. Haustain's services, as his literary acquirements, as well as his journalistic experience in Peterborough and elsewhere, eminently fit him for such a position.

Laid Army Banquet and Jubilee.

The Laid Army will celebrate the anniversary of the attack upon Peterborough by holding a banquet and jubilee on Thursday next.
The banquet will be held at the hall adjoining the Opera House from 7.30 to 7.50 p.m., and the jubilee in the Opera House at 8 o'clock.
Tickets to both are 10c. to jubilee alone, 15c.; children 12c. to both. Anyone wishing to contribute anything to the banquet, by furnishing provisions or otherwise, will confer a favor on communicating with the officers.

Surgical Emergencies.

One of the most useful lectures in the Y. M.
C. A. course is to be given next Thursday evening by Dr. Clarke on "Medical and Surgical Emergencies." It is a known fact that similar lectures in other places have been the means of lives being saved. It often happens that in cases of accident, that the bystanders know what to do, that one cannot perform, if not familiarly with the waiting for doctor. There is much information of this kind that should be known by everybody, and the object of the above lecture will be to supply it.

An Important Case.

On Wednesday last, an motion being made by counsel for the Bell Telephone Company for a writ of certiorari to bring up into a superior Court the proceedings taken before the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa to void the Bell patent, Judge Galt directed that the motion should be enlarged until next term so that it might be heard by the full Court and stated that he did this in view of the magnitude of the interests involved and the general importance of the case, which he characterized as one of the most important that had come before the Courts.

GENTLEMEN will find at the "Golden Lion" full lines of Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, Furnishings, Dress Shirts and Underwear. Tailoring a Specialty, and a first class Cutter at your command.

Precautionary Measures.

Two or three cases of diphtheria in Ashburn-ham have been reported to the Medical Health Officer. Prompt precautionary measures have been adopted to prevent the spreading of the disease.

A New Era in the Dry Goods Trade at the
"Golden Lion."

This season's importation well worthy of your inspection. Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening their New Spring Goods for every Department. Their Grand Exhibit this season will surpass their former efforts and eclipse everything for Variety, Quality and Cheapness.

Entertainment.

The Auburn Temperance Society will give another of their series of entertainments in their hall, Auburn, next Thursday evening, March 5th. The programme will consist of several dialogues, singing, recitations and readings. All who have attended the previous entertainments of this Society have come away fully satisfied and the coming one will, if anything, eclipse the others. All are invited.

The Festival Opening.

A large number of people assembled at the roller skating rink on Monday to be present at the formal opening. The rink was beautifully decorated with interlacing festoons of different colored bunting, which were hung from the ceiling and reached the entire length of the rink, along the central supporting columns. The galleries were suitably ornamented, and numerous Chinese lanterns were also arranged in a tasteful manner. The walls were decorated with flags and other devices, and altogether the rink presented a lively and cheery appearance.
The City Band was present, and furnished the music, to which the skaters propelled themselves on the rollers. The opening was very successful.

To Cross the Atlantic.

We have had the pleasure of seeing the canoe exhibit which the Ontario Canoe Company intend sending to the Antwerp Exhibition, which will be open in May. It is not necessary to say that the quality of workmanship and material, as shown in the exhibit, is excellent, for the output of the Ontario Canoe Company is characterized by its excellence of both. The exhibit consists of eleven different kinds of canoes, namely, No. 7, cedar rib skiff; No. 8, cedar rib canoe; 1 canvas canoe; 1 canvas row boat; 1 painted basswood canoe; 1 basswood canoe finished in varnish; No. 1 cedar rib canoe; 1 painted longitudinal canoe; 1 longitudinal canoe finished in varnish; 1 Juniper canoe, fitted with one sail, and 1 Ontario canoe fitted with two sails. This collection of canoes makes an exhibit which is indeed a credit to Canada.
They are now being packed away in cases and will be shipped to-morrow.

A Young Man Lost.

A suitable reward will be given for information concerning a young man who is reported missing from Peterborough, having gone astray in a most peculiar and unusual manner. He is said to be about five feet six inches in height, twenty-five years of age; had on, at the time of his departure, a pair of tweed pants, and a swallow-tailed coat with six buttons before and two large ones behind; wore a waist-coat fashionably made and neatly trimmed; had on a pair of canvas-back boots, with flannel lining, and patent leather tops, laced up at the sides;
said to be a little deaf in one ear, and also to have a little impediment in his speech; whiskers short; had a small valise with him, supposed to contain papers of some value. It is feared that the young man has gone astray, or perhaps,
what would be worse still, set sail for "Uncle Sam's" domain. Be that as it may, however, when last seen he was loudly singing in a steeple, well-developed baritone voice, at the top of George street, "Good-bye, Sweetheart, Goodbye!" He made diligent enquiry from passers-by, between verses, where he could get a fashionable suit of clothes before taking his departure. He was directed to go to Habliment Hall. A. McNAIL.

A Positive Fact.

It may, perhaps, be thought by some that the double grand carnival on the afternoon and evening of Friday next, March 6th, in the Skating Rink, will not, because of its being the last of the season, prove such a big attraction as the last two held under the auspices of Court Peterborough No. 29, C. O. F., but if there are any who unthinkingly give place to such silly fancies in their mind, it will be well for them to dispel all such doubts at once. The Committee who have this matter in hand thoroughly understand their business, and what is advertised on the large poster will be carried out to the very letter, and more, too, if it can possibly be done.
This carnival is sure to be a success—in fact even more so than the last, and, although it is the last of the season, there is no reason why it should not prove the best. Tickets are selling fast, new costumes on an elaborate scale are being prepared, and it is a positive fact that the Committee intend to do all in their power to make it an immense winter attraction. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance at both the afternoon and evening carnival. The beautiful and costly prizes are on exhibition at Chas Hall, and a glance at them will convince the public that those who are successful in carrying them off will have secured a prize that is well worth getting.

Board of Education.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening at 7.45 o'clock.

The Roller Rink.

The rink for the roller rink are as follows:— Admission, gentlemen, 15 cents; ladies and children, 10 cents; skaters, 50 cents for the evening and 50 cents for the morning or afternoon. Arrangements have been made by which ladies learning to skate will receive instruction.
The rink will be open from 9.30 to 12 a.m., 2.30 to 5.30 p.m., and 7 to 10 p.m.

Scott Act Convention.

The convention to take steps towards bringing on a vote on the Scott Act in this town and county will open in the Opera House at 2 o'clock to-morrow. Mr. T. S. Spence, Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, and other officers, will be present, and Mr. Spence will address the mass meeting in the Opera House in the evening, which will assemble at 8 o'clock.

HOUSE KEEPERS and Hotel-keepers should inspect Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s large stock of Cottons, White and Grey, Plain and Twilled; Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, Cretonnes
in all conceivable patterns, Lace Curtains, Lambrequins, &c., &c. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All Wool, Tapestry, Brussels, and Oil
Cloths, Mats, &c. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attraction.

Go to the Bon Marche for Bargains in Groceries, Provisions, &c.

Fair Day.

There are probably some people who remember that a quarterly cattle fair was at one time held in Peterborough on the first Tuesday in March, June, September and December. The cattle has never been entirely abandoned, although the fair has of late years dwindled down to very small proportions. Now, however, the custom appears to be dead—entirely extinct—and this is a sort of obituary notice. For some time Mr. James Brown did not allow the fair to pass without being noticed, as he always appeared on the market with an animal for sale, but to-day there was not an animal exhibited on the square, even Mr. Brown being absent.

Direct Importation.

On Feb. 6th a large consignment of dry goods were shipped from the manufacturers at Glasgow to Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co., Peterborough. On March 2nd the goods arrived in good order, the packages were opened and the different fabrics are now on sale at the Golden Lion. This is another evidence of the enterprise of this dry goods firm. Instead of the goods passing through several wholesale houses they are bought from the manufacturers. Thus the goods may be sold at reasonable prices, and their customers may rely on getting a first class article. This consignment arrived per the steamship "Nortonia," of the Allen line. Another consignment will arrive at port in a few days per the "Dominion" of the Dominion line of steamers.

Male Concert.

A choral concert was given in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms on Monday evening. The evening's proceedings were opened by religious exercises. The programme commenced with a chorus, "Christ Receiveth Sinful Men," sung by several members of the Association. Mr. A. Clegg gave a reading, and a quartette, "Steal Away to Jesus," was sung by Messrs. Miller, Williams, S. F. Hill, and Stephens. No. 4 was a solo by Mr. E. L.
Hornung, which was followed with a reading by Mr. F. W. Scott. An instrumental quartette was given, and a reading was then contributed by Mr. A. W. Jones. Another quartette, "Christ Has Done It All," was effectively rendered; two readings were given by Messrs. F.
Werden and W. Beattie respectively, and the programme came to an end by a chorus, "The Gospel Train," being sung. The programme throughout was interesting, but it is to be regretted that the attendance was not larger.
Mr. J. D. Collins acted as chairman during the evening.

F. B. G.

A meeting of the committee was held on Friday last to consider two matters of importance.
The first was the invitation of the Ottawa Canoe Club to hold a three days camp of Canadian canoeists at Lake Deschamps near Ottawa, early in June. The decision arrived at was that while the Peterborough Club would like to participate in such a meet, yet the distance and expense are so great as to make it impossible for the club to take part. A counter proposition to hold a joint meet with the Lindsay Canoe Club at Sturgeon Point, on the Queens Birthday, was unanimously approved of, and the Lindsay Club has been written to on the subject. The second matter taken up was the proposition to have a performance here of the operetta of "Gaiety" by the Lindsay Amateur Dramatic Club, who have kindly offered to give the performance under the auspices of the Peterborough Boating Club and in aid of its funds. This was heartily agreed to and a strong working committee was appointed to carry out the details. It is proposed to decorate the Opera House for the occasion with paddles, oars and flags, and even canoes and sailing shells will be introduced. The date fixed is Wednesday in Easter week, the 8th of April. With such a strong organization as the Boating Club the affair will be well looked after on their part, while the performance is such a good one in itself that some of the Lindsay people who have attended it at home have expressed their intention of coming to Peterborough to see and hear it again.

POLICE COURT.

D. & D.

TUESDAY, March 3.—Kenneth Bishop was charged by P. C. Adams with having been drunk and disorderly in a public place. The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $2 or imprisonment for 10 days in gaol.

INFIRMITY OF LICENSE ACT.

Wm. Clancy was charged by P. C. Pidgeon with having infringed on the License Act by selling intoxicating liquor on Sunday, March 1st. The defendant pleaded not guilty. Mr.
J. O'Meara appeared for the defendant and Mr. C. A. Weller for the prosecution. Several witnesses, seven in all, were examined. The counsel for the defence submitted that no case had been made and that the defendant was not obliged to answer questions which might lead to committal.

The MAGISTRATE ruled that a prima facie case had been made and that the onus of proof was thrown on the defendant. He had refused to answer questions which would clear himself and he therefore found him guilty. A fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

A similar charge was laid against R. N.
Roddy by P. C. Adams. A plea of guilty was entered and a fine of $20 and costs imposed.
P. C. Pidgeon laid a similar charge against Sullivan & Clancy. A plea of guilty was also entered in this case, and a fine of $20 and costs imposed.

NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

The Belleville Ontario, in an article on the proposed new Parliament buildings, attacks and misrepresents the Review, refers to the financial affairs of other Provinces, has a drive at the Dominion Government and the Pacific Railway, and objects to Chinese immigration. All these subjects are introduced into the article, which close with another misrepresentation of what was said by us in regard to the Parliament buildings.
We did not "try to raise party issues on the question," but we did endeavour to show the absurdity of a statement that the buildings could be erected without the people being taxed for the expenditure. The closing paragraph of the Ontario's rambling article is as follows:—

If the Review can propose some plan by which the work can be done properly, without the expenditure of part of the surplus, or by taxation, it owes it to the country to "speak now" or else hush forever and hold its place."
We did not pretend to know of any such plan, and the Ontario, in thus endeavouring to lead its readers to believe that we did, stoops to a very creditable act of misrepresentation. A Reform paper had said that the buildings could be erected "without one cent being taxed in consequence thereof," and we believe the Globe said to effect the same thing, but we intended that the people would have to pay for them by taxation, either at the time they were built or afterwards. If the surplus (if there is a sufficient surplus) is used, or if crown lands or timber are disposed of, to defray the expense, it will only defer the time when the money will have to be made up by the people through taxation. What we object to is, the attempt to mislead the people by such statements as the one referred to.

The Ontario does not improve matters for the Government when it declares that the new buildings are necessary, and that the necessity for them is universally admitted, for if it believes that to be the case, it should turn its batteries upon the Government for delaying to commence the work. But, of course, it has not a word to say against the Government.

The Toronto News thinks that Mr. Mowat does not deserve the name of "the little tyrant," because he does not possess the decision, strength of will and determination necessary for that role, and because the Government has exhibited "excessive timidity." There is no considerable truth in that, yet the name was given to him because he deprived the municipalities of much of the power they possessed, and for that reason the name was properly applied.
The timidity now displayed is that of the tyrant who has gone too far and has begun to fear the people.

The Reformers do not appear to agree among themselves upon any one subject which they discuss. The Brockville Recorder boldly states that not only should Chinese immigration not be checked, but that it should be encouraged.

Bonds Brought Arden.

JEREMY CITT, March 2.—Thomas Jones six years ago secretly married a servant girl in England. A child was born, which Jones cared for and sent his wife to America. His parents died some time ago and he came into possession of their property. After searching for two years Jones found his wife here on Saturday night married to another man. The woman shows a disposition to remain with her second husband.
Jones threatens to invoke the law.

Bank Directors to be Presented.

St. ALBANS, Vt., March 2.—The property of the directors of the First National bank has been attached. A suit has been entered against them for $200,000 for violation of trust in the management of funds and for false representations concerning dividends.

erty in Philadelphia worth one million dollars.

THE BOARD DECIDES THAT A NEW IN-STITUTE BUILDING IS NEEDED.

More Requests for the Increase of Salaries —Reports of Committees—New Banks to be Placed in Rooms Where Required.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Tuesday evening. There were present:—Mr. James Stevenson, Chairman, and Messrs. Millar, Errett, Denne, Rutherford, Weir, Sawers, Stratton, Dumble.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. RUTHERFORD asked how far the Principal of the Collegiate Institute could go in regard to discipline. The Principal had, he thought, dealt too severely with some scholars. He asked to have the matter referred to a Committee.

Dr. TASSIE was heard and said that Mr.
Rutherford had been misinformed as to the severity of his dealing with pupils. No indecorous language had been used by him and he had merely enforced proper discipline.

Mr. STRATTON said that on account of the school having been conducted on such a slipshod manner for the past few years that any new discipline which was enforced fell with double weight on the pupils.

Mr. WEIR asked if any provision had been made for the supplying of the places of teachers when sick. In some cases those who were left in charge of positions temporarily vacated in this way, exercised too much authority.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read by the Secretary:—

From Mr. Johnston, Chairman of the Board of Education, Belleville, acknowledging the receipt of a circular and memorial in reference to the County Councils being compelled to aid the High Schools where separated from such counties in which the towns are situated and stating that he would lay the matter before the Board.—Received.

From the Chairman of the Port Hope and Cobourg Boards with similar acknowledgments.
—Received.

From Geo. Tiggs, asking an increase of salary.—Committee on Appointments.

From Beattie, laying before the Board the condition of the seats in No. 9 room of the Central School.—Property Committee.

From the Educational Department, acknowledging the request made by the Board to appoint the Public School Inspector as examiner at entrance examinations.—Received.

From R. F. Boucher and others, asking that Friday afternoon be proclaimed as a half holiday.—Received.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The report of the attendance at the schools during the past month was read as follows:—

On Roll. Abs. Att.

South Ward School..... 138 148

THE TREASURER.

The statement of the amount received as fees
during the past month was read as follows:—

From the Collegiate Institute..... $78 00
From the Public schools..... 14 00

Total..... $92 00

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The SECRETARY read the regular monthly report of Mr. Jas. Stratton, Inspector of Public Schools, in which attention was drawn to the dilapidated condition of the desks in Mr.
Beattie's room. The desks in Miss Jenkins' room were also in a bad state, but they could be readily improved. He recommended the teachers to make arrangements to have the ink wells properly covered every evening before dismissing the room, so that the dust might not gather in them while the rooms were being swept.

THE CHAIRMAN called attention to the fact that the teacher engaged to teach drawing was at present unable to attend his duties on account of sickness, but a young man had been temporarily engaged to fill the position, and was doing so satisfactorily. A teacher of book-keeping had also been engaged until something definite was done in reference to the teaching of that branch of study.

SCHOOL SUPERVISION.

Mr. STRATTON read the following report of the Committee of School Supervision:—

To the Board of Education:—

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee on School Supervision beg leave to report that according to instructions from your Hon. Board your Committee requested the three book stores of the town to put in tenders for the stationery supplies for our schools for the ensuing year, which they accordingly did. On comparing such tenders your committee found that on the average the tenders were about equal in price, and your Committee deemed it advisable to divide the supply of the stationery requisites as equitably as possible among the several vendors, which they accordingly did.

As per instructions, your Committee wrote to the Principal of the South Ward School, complaining of the unsuitableness of some of the children, to which attention was directed by the Inspector. He promised to give the matter his attention.

Your Committee also wrote to the Chairman of said Board with regard to the seeing that the janitors properly cleaned the ink wells once a week, viz. Saturdays.

As to that portion of the report relating to the buying of ink wells to this Committee, your Committee thinking that it more properly came under the duties of the Property Committee, referred the matter to them.

The tenders received for stationery, with the copies of the correspondence referred to, you will find attached.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. R. STRATTON, Chairman.

The report was on motion adopted.

FINANCE.

Mr. MILLAR read the following report of the Finance Committee:

To the Chairman and Board of Education.

GENTLEMEN,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report that they have examined the several accounts referred to them at the last regular meeting of the Board and have authorized your Treasurer to make payment of the following as found correct:—

Trustees of S. Section No 11 Donor..... 12 25 Review Printing and Publishing Company..... 4 10
Review Printing and Publishing
Company..... 8 24
Times Printing Company..... 8 25
J. R. Stratton..... 8 25

They have also had under their consideration the following claims left over by the Committee of last year, and after duly considering the circumstances in connection with them, would recommend the same to be paid, viz.,

J. Coyte Brown, fees as examiner..... 22 75
H. Hutchinson..... 17 10
J. Davidson..... 8 50

Your Committee would also report that they have made arrangements with the management of the Ontario Bank for the necessary advances required by the Board for the current year, in such sums as may be found necessary, for which the Bank will keep an open account at 6% interest. This arrangement your Committee thinks in every way an advantageous one for the Board.

In regard to the application of Mr. Coleman for an increased salary, your Committee would recommend that the matter be dealt with by the Committee on Appointments as the proper Committee to deal with all salaries.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
M. MILLAR,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

REPLACING THE DESKS.

Mr. ERRETT moved, seconded by Mr. MILLAR, —That the report of the Inspector and Mr. Beattie be referred to the Property Committee and that the committee be hereby directed to take immediate steps to make the suggested improvements by putting in new desks where necessary and making such necessary improvements as are required in the rooms.— Carried.

THE SCHOOL RULES.

Mr. STRATTON moved, seconded by Mr. WEIR, —That the secretary be requested to call the attention of all the teachers in the town to rule No. 60 of the rules of the Board, and ask their strictest compliance with the said rule, and also that a copy of the said rule be printed on a card and handed to them.—Carried.

SANITARY PLUMBING.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. ERRETT, —That the Property Committee be instructed to have built two earth closets for the use of the teachers of the Central School.—Carried.

A NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Mr. DUMBLE moved, seconded by Mr. ERRETT, —That in the opinion of this Board it is desirable to erect a new building for the exclusive use of the Collegiate Institute, and that such building should be in a central position, completely removed from the present central school or that the present large central school be used exclusively as a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the present Collegiate Institute building was entirely inadequate.
There should be a proper room for a library and a means whereby several rooms could be thrown into one to serve as an audience room. Another objection to the present building was the noise and confusion caused by so many children being so close to and about it.

Mr. SAWERS said he was willing to support the building of another school to be built in the North Ward, but he would not vote for the building of a new institute.

The motion was put and carried on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Dumble, Errett, Millar, Stratton, Weir, and Rutherford.

NAYS.—Messrs. Denne and Boucher.

Mr. DUMBLE gave notice that he would move at the next meeting a motion for the separation of the High and Public School Boards.

The Board then resolved itself into a Committee on Appointments.

Families that require Mourning will

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Manukoa and the Trent Valley Canal.
Rate of Postage—North-West Representation—Columbianism—C.R.R.

MONDAY, March 2.—A number of private bills were advanced a stage.

BRITISH COLUMBIA RAILWAY LANDS.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said the lands in the railway belt in British Columbia were being surveyed and would be placed in the market as soon as possible. Applications had been made for railway lands in Vancouver's Island, but none had been granted.

T. V. C. AND MUKOKA.

Mr. FORD said the Government was considering the question of connecting the Muskoka lakes by means of a canal with the Severn River and the Trent Valley Canal.

FRANKING.

Mr. CARLING said it was not intended to extend the franking privileges of members of the Provincial Legislatures.

ASSISTED IMMIGRATION.

Mr. FORD said instructions had been given not to assist or encourage the emigration of any more mechanics, artisans, navvies or general labourers to Canada. Instruction had also been given to use the utmost exertions to induce agriculturalists, agricultural labourers, and female domestic servants to come to Canada.

In consequence of representations of workmen that labourers competing with them were coming in, the Department was considering the best means to assist agricultural labourers and servants, and not such labourers as were not wanted.

DOMINION LAND REVENUE.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD stated, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, that the total amount received from all sources on account of Dominion lands to Feb. 27, 1886, was $4,949,878. For the seven months ended Feb. 1, 1884, the revenue from this source was $671,141. For the eleven months ended Feb. 1, 1885, the revenue was $242,819.

C. P. R. TO QUEBEC.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said they had under consideration the request of the Quebec Government asking for the $66,000 reserved last session for the extension of the C. P. R. to Quebec.

REDUCED LETTER POSTAGE.

Mr. CHARLTON moved for papers as to the reduction of postage to two cents, and quoted the example of Great Britain and the United States in favor of the reduction.

Mr. HANCOCK said the reduction at Confederation had not greatly diminished the revenue, and there was not much fear of the deficiency being increased. At all events he would like to see the permitted weight raised.

Mr. CARLING pointed out that the reduction in the United States had caused a deficiency of $5,000,000. While we had to give increased postal facilities in the Northwest, we could not also diminish the rate, though he hoped the time would soon come.

NORTH-WEST REPRESENTATION.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) moved for papers and advocated Parliamentary representation for the North-West Territory.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said the matter might be discussed when the papers were brought down.

THE WORM'S SHARP TOOTH.

Mr. BLAKE asked for papers as to a C. P. R. wharf at Port Moody, which was in decay from the attacks of sea worms, and blamed the Government for their ravages. He would not name his informant.

Mr. FORD said the information was not correct. The wharf had to be constructed temporarily for the reception of railway material. It was not in decay, and a few defective piles would be replaced with iron.

ATTACKING THE C.P.R.

Mr. EDGAR wanted to know about the estimates for a particular twenty miles of the C.P.R., which he said was estimated at $23,000 a mile, while it only cost about $18,000.

Mr. FORD said Mr. Edgar for political effect had selected an easy twenty miles out of a section of 109 miles, to which the estimate applied.

Mr. EDGAR then wanted to know about another picked section west of Caledonia, saying that it was badly constructed, and yet the Government had paid the subsidy for it.

Mr. FORD said Mr. Edgar erroneously assumed that the money was paid on the work as completed, whereas it was paid on work done according to the certificate of the Government engineer, Mr. Midout (Mr. Edgar's brother-in-law). He knew by personal experience that a train could travel over the road at 60 miles an hour.

Mr. EDGAR then wanted to know about some money reserved by Sir Charles Tupper for rolling stock, but which had been paid out by Mr. FORD.

Mr. FORD said no money had been paid out for rolling stock till it had been put on the road. Mr. BLAKE said that Mr. Edgar's statement was that money reserved for rolling stock was paid out for grading.

Mr. FORD said Mr. Edgar was inaccurate in so stating.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

Mr. SHAKESPEARE moved for papers as to Indian troubles in British Columbia. There was some discussion, from which it appeared that the trouble had been exaggerated and was abated.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES.

Mr. ANTOY moved for the correspondence between the Dominion and Quebec regarding the readjustment of the amount of subsidy.

ANTWERP EXHIBITION.

Mr. BERGERON moved for papers as to the Antwerp exhibition. He thought the representatives of Canada, if not Frenchmen, should be able to speak French. He thought Canada should have power to make her own commercial treaties, and that England would grant it.

Mr. FORD said some gentlemen were collecting goods for the Antwerp exhibition, but no committee had been appointed to go there. Sir C. Tupper had the matter in hand with the assistance of a gentleman who spoke English, French and German.

Mr. BLAKE referred to his own motion of three years ago in favour of Canada making her own commercial treaties.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Mr. BERGERON moved for correspondence between the Dominion and Quebec as to the McCarty Act. He thought there was an agreement that neither Government should prosecute those who held licenses from the other. A Montreal hotel-keeper had, however, since the Supreme Court decision, been fined for selling under a Dominion license.

Mr. BLAKE accused the majority of Parliament of frequently passing bad laws in spite of the Opposition. Notwithstanding the decision of the Supreme Court the Dominion was again issuing licenses. They should either repeal the Act, suspend it altogether, or at least suspend the penalties pending the final decision by the Privy Council.

Mr. WHITE (Hastings) said Mr. Blake's friends in Ontario had taken their local rights from the municipalities, and the McCarty Act had restored them. Mr. Blake seemed only anxious to maintain the hideous political jobbery by which the Mowat Administration licensed the shysters of political friends, and left respectable houses of political opponents unlicensed. He had no sympathy for municipal rights.

Mr. GIBBARD said if the Government did not appeal to the Privy Council any individual might. Messrs. paper he would suspend the Act. Mr. LUTER defended Mr. Mowat, maintaining that the municipalities had no right in the matter that need be respected, and threatened Mr. Mowat's vengeance on all who took out Dominion licenses.

Mr. WHITE (Cardwell) pointed out that it was the Reformers who were the enemies of local and municipal rights. They had disallowed more local acts than the Conservatives, and it was a Reform Minister of Justice who had disallowed the Ontario Excise Bill. The question of liquor to affect jurisdiction was in dispute by legal authorities. Mr. Blake has not ventured to deny Dominion jurisdiction and the late Mr. Bennett has upheld it.

Mr. PATRICK (Brent) repeated the old fallacy that because Quebec was allowed to retain an old municipal control which she had continued to enjoy, therefore a system deliberately abandoned by Ontario should be thrust upon her Province. He raised the old sectional cry.

Mr. MILLA joined in the attack upon Quebec. The motion was carried.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

PROSTITUTION PATRONAGE.

Seldom perhaps has patronage of every kind done to the very basest level office been more systematically used for the purpose of political support than it now is in this Province.—The Week (Index)

HERE AND THERE.

There are six applications for divorce before the Canadian Senate, representing a year's work, and one of the papers there "regarding" is "that the number is so large. Great Scott! The big Chicago mill very often takes that many in one day and the monthly grind has been known to run into the hundreds.—Minneapolis Canadian-American.

A PUBLIC SCANDAL.

A very objectionable item is that of $1,200 paid to Mr. S. S. Peck as stipendiary magistrate for Haliburton. Grave charges have been made against Mr. Peck connected with money which fell into his hands as county treasurer. We cannot go into the particulars of the affair: it is certain that a man receiving under such a serious charge is not a proper person to administer justice. But Mr. Peck is not properly a resident of Canada. He owns a farm in Dakota; his principal business is the management of that farm, and as we are informed, the care or supervision of land in Dakota owned by Reform politicians. He merely comes to Canada in winter in order to make an appearance of earning his salary as stipendiary magistrate! The matter is a public scandal, not because of the amount involved, but because Mr. Peck should not be a magistrate.—Hamilton Spectator.

ABSURD, BRUTAL AND VILLAINOUS.

As to the matter quoted from the Sun with reference to the Globe's infamous Black List, we simply gave expression to a conviction which we believe to be shared by the intelligence of the people of Canada. We gave our opinion not because of the politics or personality of those who were attacked in so vituperative and brutal manner, but because of the injustice and monstrous absurdity of the fabrications formulated by the Globe, against the reputations of honest and honorable men. Had such an infamous outrage been formulated against the gentlemen of the opposition, we should have only the same duty to perform in regard to it.—Ottawa Sun (Indep.)

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK.

The money deposited in the Government saving banks constitutes a veritable loan devoted to the public works. If Canada is to borrow money it is better she should do so at home rather than abroad, because then the interest due and paid on the loans remains in the country and benefits its people. At any rate, were these savings banks to do nothing more than insure our population with ideas of economy, they would soon have earned a right existence.—Le Canada.

It is a little trouble to examine the pamphlet wrapped around each bottle of the true Murray & Leaman's Florida Water, so as to find the words "Leaman & Krump, New York," which are watermarked or stamped in pale letters on every page, but it is better to take this small amount of bother rather than to be imposed by a worthless counterfeit. Every leaf of the pamphlet around the genuine has these words in it, which show pale and false, can be easily seen when held up to the light, and no Florida water is genuine that does not have this test mark.

THE ANSWERED PRAYER.

"AS ONE WHOM HIS MOTHER COMFORTETH."
In a far away hospital fever ward,
A white bed gleamed in the moonlight clear;
Fever stricken a boy there lay,
These words on his lips from day to day,
"Darling mother, I want you here."

Fever coursing through every vein,
Flushed and throbbing the scorching brow,
Still moaning on in unconscious pain,
Always and ever the same refrain,
"Mother, oh, why are you absent now?"

Far away in her distant home
Kneels his mother in tears and prayer;
Her boy lay dying—she could not go
To close his eyes, and her road of woe Seemed more than she well could bear.

But she carried her load to the Master's feet,
Where each burden sore was laid,
"Stand by him, Lord, in the hour of death,
As one whom his mother comforteth,
Oh comfort, my boy," she said.

Silent forever that sad refrain;
Lingers instead a smile of joy;
Gone forever the restless pain,
Hear the words of the dying boy.

Whispered words through the gathering gloom,
"Darling mother, you could not come
To watch by your dying son;
But Jesus himself is watching me—
His arms are holding me tenderly;
His wonderful love it comforts me,
Just as your own had done."

Hands that were tender, soft and white,
Draped that form for its last long sleep;
Eyes that were full of motherly light
Over that still face bitterly weep.

Surely in all that love was done—
Sweet flowers scattered fresh and rare, Speaks of the victory faith had won;
Hail we not call it "the answered prayer?"

A SWEETHEART'S SUGGESTION.

Pat Kelly was taking a ride
On an elegant summer's morning,
And Kathleen sat beside him,
Bright smiles her face adorning.

And she looked so tidy and neat,
He gazed so plump and trim,
No girl half so pretty and sweet
Had ever appeared to him.

Said Pat: "Your eyes are so blue,
And your lips so temptingly red,
They're the prettiest ever I met,
And belong to the dearest I'll wed."

"Ah! darling, if it weren't this haste
That pulls my poor arms apart,
They would tenderly press around your waist,
And yourself be pressed to my heart."

"For my love that's powerful indeed, Without need I cannot write;
Then Kathleen blushed and said:
"Mr. Kelly, perhaps I could drive?"

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Shortly Ago

A rink composed of B's challenged "The World," as they unostentatiously put it. The match came off on Monday night and the so-called World retired gracefully.

Came Valentine.

Mr. W. H. Watson, D.D.H.C.R. of the Canadian Order of Foresters for this district, was at Lindsay a few days ago to make arrangements for the organization of a new court in that town. He reports everything favorable, and the court, which is to be called Court Valentine, will probably be duly organized in the course of a few weeks.

Parents that want clothing for their boys will save money, time and trouble by calling and examining Turnbull's entirely new stock of Ready-Made Clothing.

From Lindsay Again.

Has the town of Lindsay commenced to carry out a plan to rid the town of all persons who might be a charge upon it? The Belleville Intelligencer of Monday says:—

"On Saturday afternoon a family of seven children, the oldest 18 and the youngest three years, arrived in this city from Lindsay and applied to the police for protection. The girl gave the name of Holland, and represented that they had been deserted by their father and mother. The case was presented to the Mayor, who had them provided for."

The Second Hearing.

KING vs. ALFORD.—This case, which was tried at the last Chancery sittings held in Peterborough, has been re-heard by the Chancery Division Court at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. The points involved in it as to whether the employees of a contractor erecting a building for a railway company have the right to file a mechanics' lien against such building for wages due them for work performed on such building.

It is contended on behalf of the Ontario & Quebec Railway Company, which owns the building referred to, that to allow such lien to be enforced would be against public policy and would seriously hamper them in the working of the railway. W. Cassels, Q.C., Toronto, and J. O'Meara, Peterborough, appeared for the plaintiff, who claimed that such lien should be enforced. C. Moss, Q.C., Toronto, and J. Burnham, Peterborough, appeared for the defendant, John Alford, who affirms that a sub-contractor, one Jas. McNamara, and not himself, is responsible for the amount due the workmen. G. T.
Blackstock appeared for the railway company.
Judgment was reserved.

Temperance Society Social.

A very successful social reunion of the members of St. Luke's C. E. T. S. and their friends was held on Tuesday evening. It is generally understood that when the members of any of the various societies in connection with St.
Luke's Church undertake anything it is sufficient guarantee of its ultimate success. "The promotion of Temperance," one of the objects of society, is not lost sight of at any of these entertainments. An evidence of this is found in the fact that its membership is steadily increasing, and on that evening six new names were added to the roll. The President of the Society, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, occupied the chair, and in a short speech he told them of the origin of the C. E. T. S. in Ontario and the preliminary steps taken to establish societies throughout Canada. Then followed a song by Miss Eva Tivey, a reading by Miss Smith, instrumental pieces by Miss Tivey, reading by Mr. Frank Adams, and a reading, prefaced by a few appropriate remarks, by Mr. W. A. Kelsey. Refreshments were then served, after which the meeting dispersed, having spent a very pleasant and profitable evening.

GENTLEMEN will find at the "Golden Lion" fall lines of Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, Furs, and Specialties, and a first class Cutter at your command.

A LADY ONATON

Miss Bowes, of Milton, discourses the Liquor Traffic and the Scott Act.

A meeting was held in the Opera House on Tuesday evening, the object of which was to organize in Peterborough a branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The attendance was large. Dr. Fife was, on motion of the Rev. I. Tovey, called to the chair. The Chairman, after a few remarks, invited those ladies who were to take part or to lead in the singing, to take seats on the platform, and the following ladies accepted the invitation and were applauded as they appeared on the platform:—Miss Bowes, Mrs. Heather, Mrs. Jas.
Kendry, Mrs. G. A. Mitchell, and Miss Fanning.
The Rev. I. Tovey conducted the opening exercise.

Miss Bowes, of Milton, who appeared in the interest of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, was then introduced. Her voice is not strong, but she spoke slowly and distinctly.
She appeared to be more at home in picturing the evils of the liquor traffic than in arguing, but she presented her arguments very clearly.
Her manner is quiet. At times she emphasized her words by raising her arm, or a wave of her hand, and as she approached the conclusion of her address these gesticulations, which gave more effect to her words, were more frequent.
She commenced by saying that she appeared before them as a British subject, and that the British constitution was founded, and the laws of the British nation were based, on the Bible.
She waged war on the liquor traffic, without any ill-feeling towards those engaged in it. A country's wealth depended upon honest labor, and whatever took away from that labor took away from the wealth of homes, communities and nations. She quoted passages from the Bible condemning drunkenness. She drew pictures of two homes, one where the man was a drunkard, and the other where the man was sober, honest and industrious, to illustrate the effect of drinking on society and on the nation, and gave other illustrations of the evil of drinking. A remedy had been placed in their hands and it was for the people to say whether they would use it. She referred to the contests in Haltoun, and said that Peterborough was in a better position than that county, for Northumberland and Durham had adopted the Act, and she hoped that Victoria, Hastings and Ontario would do so also. The Scott Act did away with the sale of liquor in a county. The Act was violated, but so was every law on the statute book. In Haltoun the Act had increased business, improved society, blessed homes, reformed inebriates, saved the young, and had done more good than the people who voted for it had expected it would. Merchants had done more than a third more business every year since the Act had been adopted. Every hotel-keeper in Northumberland and Durham had decided to close their bars and open temperance houses at once. She argued that the revenue the Government derived from the traffic came from the people, and that it would be cheaper for them to pay it direct. Referring to compensation, she said that no one would compensate the officials in the United States who would lose their offices the next day through a change of Government. No one compensated business men when a railway passed their town and built up a rival place. Keepers of private schools were not compensated when free schools were introduced, and those book sellers who had lost money and even failed through a new series of school books being introduced were not compensated. If the liquor dealers would compensate the homes, society and the country for the injury the traffic had done, and would restore the hearts it had broken and the souls it had destroyed, then they would compensate them for the loss of their business. She referred to the work of the W. C. T. U. and urged the women to be active. She referred to the results of the liquor traffic and the benefits of prohibition, and urged each one to do all they could to remove the traffic. On resuming her seat she was loudly applauded.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Miss Bowes for her address, on motion of the Rev. I.
Tovey, seconded by Mr. D. Gailley.
The hymn "Hold the Fort" was sung, and the audience was dismissed with the benediction.

A UNION ORGANIZED.

After the dismissal of the audience a number remained to organize a branch of the union.
Miss Bowes read the constitution of the union, and the pledge, explaining the objects of the union.

It was resolved to form a branch of the union, and the following officers were elected:— PRESIDENT.—Mrs. W. Fitzgerald.
1st VICE PRESIDENT.—Mrs. J. Johnston.
2nd VICE PRESIDENT.—Mrs. J. Stratton.
3rd VICE PRESIDENT.—Mrs. W. Ward.
RECORDING SECRETARY.—Miss Yelland.
TREASURER.—Mrs. J. Moore.
PRESS COMMITTEE.—Mrs. Kendry and Mrs.
J. Stratton.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again at three o'clock on the next afternoon.

The Prohibitionists.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—South-westerly rec-curing to north-westerly and northerly winds, cloudy and mild to-day with occasional rains, cooler to-night with local snow falls.

Acknowledgment.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home beg to acknowledge the following donations:—Mr. Smith, one pair chickens &c.; Mrs.
Tom, Rubidex, delicacies for the sick; Mr. Calcutt, cutt, 1 dozen bottles sweet ale for the sick.

Clothing, etc., he has purchased for the Spring Trade.

A Word of Advice.

To those who intend participating in the coming grand carnival on Friday afternoon and evening next—and who does not?—a note of warning in ample time will not be amiss, as some are in the habit of leaving all preparations until the last day, when, instead of appearing on the ice with a comfortable feeling, they are nervous and over-anxious about some little fixture in their "make-up." The proper thing to do is to have everything in readiness before the last day—the costume fitted on once or twice, etc.
A pleasing feature in the arrangements of the carnival will be the awarding of the prizes to the successful ones immediately after the announcement of the judges. The decorations on this occasion will be a decided improvement on the last two carnivals, and the risk on the whole will present a more picturesque appearance.
The tickets for the children's carnival in the afternoon are ten cents each, and for adults fifteen cents; in the evening the price of admission will be, for adults, twenty-five cents, and children will be admitted at half price. The Fire Brigade Band (in full numbers) will be present on both occasions, and discourses an entirely new programme of vocal and instrumental music. Do not miss attending the last and what promise to be the best carnival of the season.

A Young Man Lost.

A suitable reward will be given for information concerning a young man who is reported missing from Peterborough, having gone astray
in a most peculiar and unusual manner. He is said to be about five feet six inches in height, twenty-five years of age; had on, at the time of his departure, a pair of tweed pants, and a swallow-tailed coat with six buttons before and
two large ones behind; wore a waist-coat fashionably made and neatly trimmed; had on a pair of canvas boots, with flannel lining,
and patent leather tops, laced up at the sides;
said to be a little deaf in one ear, and also to
have a little impediment in his speech; whiskers
short; had a small valise with him, supposed to contain papers of some value. It is feared that the young man has gone astray, or perhaps,
what would be worse still, set sail for "Uncle Sam's" domain. Be that as it may, however, when last seen he was loudly singing in a strong,
well-developed baritone voice, at the top of George street, "Good-bye, Sweetheart, Goodbye!" He made diligent enquiry from passers by, between verses, where he could get a fashionable suit of clothes before taking his departure. He was directed to go to Habillment Hall. A. McNeil.

was the reply. And such is the fact.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

The Budget—A Satisfactory Statement by the Finance Minister—Continued Surpluses for the Current and Coming Years.

THURSDAY, March 3.—A number of private bills were read a first time.

THE BUDGET.

SIR L. TILLEY made his financial statement.
He believed he could show even to the conviction of the Opposition that the administration of public affairs had been economical and our trade policy successful. If there had been an increased expenditure, taxation had not increased more than the population. The expenditure of the present Administration had averaged seven and a half millions a year more than their predecessors. This, however, was not an increase of taxation. For instance, on railways the Government expenses were larger, but the receipts had grown more rapidly, so as to diminish not increase our taxation. So with the post office, increased cost had been caused by the extended service, but again the deficit, and therefore the taxation, was diminished. So too it was with Dominion lands, the larger expenditure was reproductive. There had been a larger expenditure on public works and improvements, but this was surely justified by our financial position and the benefits derived. The interests paid were greater in total, but less per head of the population. Immigration had cost more, but the settlement of the country had increased threefold. There had been a slight increase on militia, but with an improved service, and not even fully up to our engagements at Confederation. Our increased expenditure on lighthouses by cheapening insurance had been fully compensated. It had been said that the number of civil servants had been extravagantly increased, but in the six years the addition in our whole Dominion had been less than 30 a year. He gave further details to show that the increase in revenue and a half million dollars a year had not been extravagant and had not increased taxation. There had been surpluses amounting to twenty millions, but they had expended sixty-five millions chargeable to capital on the C. P. R., while the charge per head for interest was actually lessened. He next showed the success of our National Policy for the past five years. The increased export had amounted to over twelve millions. With Great Britain there had been an increase of trade of 15 millions, and with the United States a decrease of 19 millions. As to increased imports, one large item was for manufacturing machinery, showing the growth of our industries. The same was the case with the increased import of coal, which would thus be satisfactory. If we had to pay the duty, though he believed the seller did so. Even if we paid the tax it could be far less onerous than if we remitted it and re-imposed the duties on tea and coffee. As for sugar we had re-established and increased our relics, while sugar was cheaper and better than ever before in Canada, and nearly all of it was imported from the country of production instead of through the United States. Then it had been said that the cotton manufacturers would raise prices and make enormous fortunes, but in reality their goods were cheaper by competition and they were now diversifying their products to secure a fair return for their capital. So, too, with agricultural implements, they had been cheapened, and even in Manitoba they cost less than in Dakota. In these and other industries there had been an enormous increase in the capital invested and the employment afforded, of which he gave full details. We had every reason to be satisfied with the effect of the National Policy. He next touched upon its effect upon our credit, showing that it had never stood better, and that our last loan had obtained the highest rate of any ever placed upon the market by Canada. He met the criticisms against his manner of placing the loan, showing, for instance, that he had advertised in the same papers as his predecessor with one exception. He dwelt upon the formal able enemies that the credit of Canada had in hostile railways, political opponents and others. The Australian colonies had no such difficulties to contend with. He then turned to the comparisons that had been made between the amount of taxation in Canada and the United States. He showed from official documents of our neighbours that leaving out their repayments of the war debt, their rate of taxation per head was greater than ours. But $1.75 per head of ours goes to the relief of the Provincial treasuries in the shape of subsidies or interest on assumed debt, while the separate states of the Union had to raise their revenue by direct taxation. He read a table showing that our revenue and expenditure was less per head than almost all the civilized countries of Europe and America, and only a seventh part that of Australia. And our expenditure was for reproductive works, not for great standing armies.

Turning to the estimates for the current year, there had been some falling off from the original estimates, the reasons of which he gave, but there would be a surplus of $150,000. This should satisfy the grumblers at our past large surpluses, as showing that we are leaving a very close margin. Next he gave some particulars as to the temporary loans and the proposed manner of dealing with them. The next theme was the estimates for the coming year. The estimated revenue was $33,000,000, and the expenditure $31,700,000, leaving a surplus of $1,243,000, which might be reduced by the supplementary estimates to $700,000. The interest would be only $7,500,000, or $1.56¢, or only 12 cents per head more than in 1878-9, a very satisfactory result considering the expenditure on the C. P. R. and other public works, and the opening of the North-West. Next he described the tariff changes. They were in furtherance of the idea of the National Policy. A number of articles used in manufacturing are placed on the free list.
Some descriptions of dutiable articles are amended. A duty is placed upon fish from the United States similar to their duty upon ours and may be reduced and remitted when theirs are.
The importations of articles provided by privilege are prohibited. The excise and customs duties on cigars are increased. He next dwelt upon the increase of deposits in the chartered banks, the building and loan companies, and especially the savings banks, justifying the interest paid to depositors in the post office savings banks. He showed the hollowness of the assertions of the Opposition speakers that there was great distress prevalent, each one of them excepting his own particular locality. He uttered some kindly expressions of regret at the loss of Mr. Burpee. He thought that while subjected to less burdensome taxation than other people, we had made wonderful progress in developing the resources of the country and laying the foundations of a grand nation.

SIR E. CARTWRIGHT adopted a more laudatory tone. He complained of the falling off of the expenditure and the smallness of the surplus.
Then he grumbled at the public debt. He cited his old fallacious school statistic to show that the population of Canada had decreased. He was especially mournful over the fact that low prices were reigning. Altogether he thought Canada was in a very bad way. Sir L. Tilley's financial operations, and especially his last loan, were criticised. He was very angry with the Finance Minister for paying too much interest to the poor depositors in the Post Office Savings Banks. He criticised Sir L. Tilley's figures, arguments and policy, and warmly applauded his own financial management under Mr. Mackenzie. He had his usual fling at Confederation, and endeavored to foster inter-provincial jealousies. He denied that the speeches were mischievous, and concluded by asserting that the Macdonald Administration had cost more to Canada than the civil war had to the United States.

The House went into Committee of Supply.

THE FORTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

The Work that has been Accomplished in 234 Days.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The sessions of the Forty-eight congress, which close at noon tomorrow, have extended over a period of ten months and seven days, although the actual working time has been but 234 days. Practically the work of congress is now at an end, and there remains nothing but to finish up the appropriation bills and dispose of a few odds and ends of legislation, needing but little to complete them. During the two sessions there have been introduced in the house 8286 bills and 345 joint resolutions, and in the senate 2866 bills and 151 joint resolutions. Of the house bills 350 have become law with the approval of the executive, 5 became laws without his approval, 24 have been defeated by adverse reports from committees, one bill was defeated by veto of the president, and almost 600 passed by the house in addition to those already enumerated. He denied that action in the senate. The majority of the remaining bills were not acted upon by the committees. Forty-five house joint resolutions became laws with the approval of the president.
Sixteen others which passed the house failed of action in the senate. Of these 171 bills and 17 joint resolutions were acted on finally by the house and became law with the approval of the house, and two bills which passed both houses became law without the president's signature.
The senate acted adversely upon 521 bills and 18 joint resolutions introduced in that body.

A Wonderful Piece of Mechanism.

A Berlin school contains at present a scientific novelty of particular attention, namely a monster movable globe, made of copper, the work of a blind clock-maker, on the construction of which the energetic man spent seventeen years of his life. The globe, which represents the earth, turns on its own axis by means of mechanism. An artificial moon moves round it in a globe in twenty-eight days and six hours, while a movable metal band, on which the hours are marked, indicates the mean time in the different parts of the earth. Round the upper part of the innermost globe, which weighs a ton and a half and whose surface measures 136 feet in diameter, spines a railroad car (capable of holding six persons,) which serves to give a better view of the regions of the North Pole. The painting of the globe is done in oil, and necessitated the employment of two men during one entire year. The sun is represented by an apparatus lighted by an immense Drummond calcium light, which enables the spectator to catch the origin and change of the different portions of the day and early dawn, the twilight, eclipses of the sun and moon, etc.

Montreal Mayoralty.

MONTREAL, March 2.—There was great interest taken here to-day in the Mayoralty contest.
From an early hour Mr. Beauregard ran ahead of Mr. Beaudry, and at the close of polling the former won by four hundred and one of a majority.
The best of order prevailed throughout the day.
Ald. Monney was returned by a large majority over Mr. Laverie in St. Lawrence ward. Ald.
Monney was re-elected for St. Mary's ward by a small majority over Mr. Demers. In East ward Mr. Perrault and Mr. Mathieu, new men, were elected. It was expected that a closer contest for the civic chair would have occurred, as Mr.
Beauregard is a very young man, and has been only seven or eight years in the city.

Winnipeg Election.

WINNIPEG, March 3.—There was intense excitement over the election in South Winnipeg to-day, and a large vote was polled. Hon. Mr.
Hamilton, the new Attorney-General, was elected, defeating his opponent, Mr. Lorton, the Provincial Rights candidate, by a majority of 70. Great enthusiasm is manifested over the result.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND READING OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

The Fisheries Bill—Dominion Subsidies to the Provinces—Bills Introduced and Read a Third Time—Supply.

TUESDAY, March 3.—Several reports were presented, a number of bills were read a first time and several private bills a third time.

THE FISHERIES BILL.

Mr. C. F. FRASER moved the second reading of the bill to regulate the public fisheries of the Province. He said that the Supreme Court had decided that the property in fisheries belonged to the Province.

Mr. MEREDITH contended that the decision of the Supreme Court only concerned non-navigable and non-tidal waters. If Ontario assumed the fisheries it would be at a financial loss, for the expense would be greater than the revenue, and the Maritime Provinces would claim the far more valuable fisheries of the Atlantic coast.

Mr. FRASER argued that the duty of regulating the fisheries devolved upon the Government and could not be ignored.

Mr. CROFTON said that no one had contested the Provincial licenses to fish in the lakes, and this Act might raise that difficulty.

Mr. MERRICK said that maintenance of officers would cost more than would be derived from the revenue.

Mr. CARROLL said that while the Dominion Government was willing to assume the burden, the Province was reaping the advantage. The bill would impose a burden on the Province that it did not have to bear now.

Mr. MOWAT said that care would be taken that the operation of the Act would not be made a burden on the Province.

The second reading was carried on a division of 41 to 27.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES.

Mr. MEREDITH moved the following amendment to the resolution to go into Committee of Supply:—"That while this House maintains that no change in the financial basis of Confederation which does not give to the Province of Ontario the like benefits and advantages as are given to the other provinces will be satisfactory to the people of Ontario, it is of opinion that it is not in the interest of this province that any increase in the annual subsidies now payable to the provinces should be made by the Dominion parliament, and regrets that the government of Ontario has taken ground in favour of medical increases in the subsidies, and thereby render it more difficult for the Government and Parliament of Canada to resist any demand for increased subsidies coming from any of the provinces, but agreed that Ontario had not increased the subsidies, which led to their making the claim. As this Province contributed two-fifths of the revenue of the Dominion, the increase of subsidies would tell against Ontario.
The members opposite claimed that bankruptcy was staring the Dominion in the face, and yet they asked for increased subsidies. Their course was unpatriotic and unstatesmanlike.

Mr. A. M. ROSS defended the Government.
He contended that the grant to Quebec in return for a railway was a subsidy, and based the claim on that. He argued that the subsidy should be increased every ten years.

Mr. FRASER attacked the Opposition in the Boundary and License questions. He contended that Mr. Meredith was not sincere in wishing his motion adopted, because it was in the form of a vote of want of confidence. He was in favor of direct taxation and no subsidies to the provinces. He referred to the Opposition increases in the subsidies, and thereby render
it more difficult for the Government and Parliament of Canada to resist any demand for increased subsidies coming from any of the provinces, but agreed that Ontario had not increased the subsidies, which led to their
making the claim. As this Province contributed two-fifths of the revenue of the Dominion, the increase of subsidies would tell against Ontario.
The members opposite claimed that bankruptcy
was staring the Dominion in the face, and yet they asked for increased subsidies. Their course was unpatriotic and unstatesmanlike.

Mr. CARROLL pointed out that the Reform party was responsible for a grant of $150,000 to New Brunswick, and now, eleven years afterwards, they demanded an increase on that basis.
The discussion was continued by Messrs.
Young, Clarke, Ferris and A. M. Ross, and the amendment was lost on a vote of 28 to 41.

The House then went into Committee of Supply and passed a number of items.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

"GENTLE."

Name and Character.

Those who intend to appear in costume at the carnival to-night are requested to hand in their card, giving their name and character assumed at the door.

The Children's Carnival.

As was expected, the Carnival held this afternoon for children, has turned out to be a very successful one. The attendance of spectators was also good. About 2 o'clock the Fire Brigade Band marched down George street followed by an immense number of small boys and played to the rink. The rink is beautifully decorated with festoons, evergreens, mottoes, chimes lanterns, etc. The windows have all been darkened and even electric lamps shed a brilliance on the scene below that makes the light one of dazzling beauty. To-night the adult's carnival will be held, when it is expected there will be a large attendance than at any carnival ever held in Peterborough before.
This is the last carnival of the season, and the public should turn out en masse.

Entertainment at Auburn.

On Thursday evening an entertainment was held at the Mission church, Auburn, under the auspices of the Auburn Temperance Society.
The attendance was fairly large and a lengthy and interesting programme was presented. Mr.
Tully occupied the chair. Recitations were given by Miss Cunningham and Emma Gaskin, Mrs. Kendry, and Messrs. E. Blockwell, R. Cunningham and Mr. Hartley. Solos were rendered in good style by Miss Stevenson, Hammer, Jennie Morris, H. Hamacher and Mr. A. Davidson. Mr. B. Rutherford and Miss Rutherford sang a duet, and a duet was also given by Miss Kate Davidson and Maggie McCormick. A vocal quartette was effectively rendered by Miss E. Glen, M. Sminton, H.
Hammer, F. Rutherford and Mr. A. Davidson.
A reading was contributed by Miss Maggie Davidson, and the whole programme, interspersed with three dialogues, was one which gave satisfaction to the audience.

This is the Night.

The public are reminded (if such a thing is necessary) that this is the night of the grand carnival to be held in the Skating Rink. It will positively be the last of the season, and it is expected also to be the best. Many costumes will be noticeable, and the number of maskers will be very large. Visitors from various towns and villages will be present.
An energetic and obliging committee will be in attendance to look after the comfort of those who attend, and to take charge of nothing and give checks for the same. The Fire Brigade Band will render a choice programme of classical music, and during the evening will treat their hearers to some new local selections. Those who attend this carnival will have no cause for complaint, as the arrangements made for the comfort and enjoyment of all are excellent.
The beautiful prizes offered for competition in the various events are attracting much attention, and there is sure to be a keen rivalry for them.
The ice is in splendid condition for both curling and skating. The characteristic curling matches will prove to the least uninteresting feature in connection with the other numerous attractions of the carnival, and all the true lovers of this game should not fail to attend.
The last two carnivals held under the auspices of Ours Peterborough No. 29, proved that this society were well worthy of the reputation for carrying out anything of this nature in a successful manner, and the carnival to-night will be an additional proof of how thoroughly well aware they are to the necessity of doing nothing by halves. The price of admission this evening will be for ladies and gentlemen twenty-five cents, and children will be admitted for half price. Buy a ticket for yourself and boy, and don't miss the sight of dancing ladies and gorgeous array that will be presented to the public to-night.

BANQUET AND JUBILEE.

The Saved Army celebrated the Anniversary of the Attack on this Town.

On Thursday afternoon and evening the soldiers and officers of the Saved Army of this district celebrated the anniversary of the attack on Peterborough by holding a banquet and jubilee.

The banquet was held in the large hall adjoining the Opera House, and lasted from 5.30 until 7.30. It was well attended.

At 8 o'clock an adjournment was made to the Opera House where the jubilee was held. The place was well filled with soldiers, sympathizers and visitors.

Among those who took seats on the platform were General Lindsay, Capt. Must, Lindsay; Capt. Lothwell, Mitchell; Capt. Wyatt, Bobcayson; Capt. Pengelly, Delegate G. B.
Sproles, and the chairman, Delegate Robt.
Weir. There were in all on the platform about thirty-five.

The jubilee was opened by the General of the Army. Delegate Weir, the chairman, then gave a short and concise address, which was followed by a vocal duet by Miss Bolster, the saved nightingale, and Miss Stephens, both of Cobourg.

W. E. Mitchell, the blind boy, then recited a selection. A vocal solo was given by Sergeant Wilcox, of Lindsay, and Capt. Must, the officer in charge of the first assault on this town, addressed the meeting.

A vocal trio by the saved haberdasher and the two saved blacksmiths, Capt. Lothwell, Stubbs and Pengelly, was the next in order.

Capt. Wyatt delivered a short address and five Lindsay warriors stepped forward and sang a stirring chorus which was loudly applauded.

The "Saved Nightingale" then sang a solo.
She has a sweet, clear mezzo-soprano voice.
A vocal trio was next given by Lieut. Boyler, of Warsaw, and soldiers Airrie and Payton, after which there was an intermission of ten minutes.

The second part was opened by a solo and chorus by Capt. Maggie McGregor, a former Peterborough soldier, and four Lindsay warriors. Soldier Weir then recited "David's Le-mentation," and Capt. Lothwell sang a solo.
A quartette was sung by Capt. Clarke, Wilson, Lothwell and the "Saved Nightingale." Solidier Let, of Lindsay, sang a song, and the end of the programme was reached by an address by the General of the Army.

The programme for the day was closed and the audience was dismissed by the benediction being pronounced by the General.

The Prohibitionists.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Wind mostly North and east, fair to-day, light snow in some places to-night, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

An Attractive Sight.

The small boy of Peterborough had no end of solid fun to-day at the expense of an old lady and gentleman, who rode a white faced mare and a chestnut horse respectively. They had placards hanging from conspicuous parts of the animals announcing that they had arrived in town to attend the grand carnival to be held in the Skating Rink to-night. It was a good advertisement, and afforded the juvenile portion of the population lots of amusement.

Famous Social.

On Thursday evening a very successful social was held at the residence of Mrs. J. U. T.
Lacey, Downie Street. This was the second of the series of socials which are being held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist Church. The evening was pleasantly spent, and an exceptionally good programme was presented. It was commenced by an instrumental duet by Miss Stratton and Fairweather, "The British Lion," a solo was sung by Mr. George Moran, after which came a duet, "Maying," by Mrs. Chambers and Mr.
K. G. Leach. Mr. R. Salisbury recited "The Polish Boy" in his well known melodious voice and style. Vocal solos were afterwards given by Mr. J. F. Holden, Mr. Geo. Matthews and Miss Stevens. A vocal solo by Miss Mabel Chambers concluded the programme.
During the evening the company indulged in the delicious refreshments provided.

Dr. Clarke's Lecture.

A very instructive lecture was delivered last night in the Y. M. C. A. Hall by Dr. Clarke on "Medical and Surgical Emergencies." An introductory to his subject the doctor remarked on the ignorance of the great mass of people of the first principles of anatomy and physiology.
He drew an analogy between religion in the middle ages and these subjects, the priests then endeavoring to shroud religion in mystery, and many doctors at the present time doing the same thing with regard to the knowledge of the human frame. He thought that the principles of anatomy and physiology should be taught in the public schools. Under the heading of medical emergencies the lecturer dwelt on the philosophy of catching colds and of getting rid of them; and described the treatment to be resorted to in cases of fainting, apoplexy and epilepsy, &c. He stated that there were not many medical emergencies, as the great majority of ailments came on gradually and were preceded by symptoms. Generally it was quite useless to try to break up a disease on its approach, as it would have to run its course. Among the surgical emergencies he gave special prominence to lacerations of blood through wounds. He explained how easy it was to tell whether a vein or artery had been cut, and described the proper treatment in either case. When arteries were severed, a tourniquet should be used between the heart and the wound. Asphyxia by hanging, drowning or smothering by coal gas, were dwelt upon and instruction given as to the best methods to adopt in these cases. In speaking of poisons the doctor said that all poisons were either acid or alkaline. In case of an acid poison having been taken, the proper antidote was an alkali, and vice versa. Other emergencies considered were the bites of rabid animals or snakes, and foreign substances sticking in the throat or passing into the stomach. At the conclusion of the lecture Dr. Fife, who occupied the chair, tendered the thanks of the audience to Dr. Clarke for the instruction he had given.

A Fearfully Murdered.

CANADIAN, March 2.—There is much excitement in this country over the brutal murder of Prof. C. S. Smith, principal of the Fairfield Seminary, who was shot and killed by Dr. Richter, at Middlefield, on Saturday afternoon. Richter had quarrelled with his wife, and refused to give her any property. She went to his house, accompanied by Prof. Smith, who was the husband of her niece. While Smith was pointing out to her the contents of the good-chest, which Mrs. Richter the doctor shot him in the back. Smith was only able to reach the street and tell passengers how he had been shot, when he expired. The murderer was lodged in Richman county jail. The people have threatened to lynch him. Smith was very popular.

Fire at Belleville.

BELEVILLE, March 4.—At about midnight a fire broke out in the lower part of the butcher market building the upper story of which is used as an armory by No. 1 company of the 6th Battalion. The fire was confined to the lower floor, where the damage done was estimated at $1,500; insured in the Queen's for $800. The fire was incendiary.

A Victory for the Bell Telephone.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Commissioner Batterworth has rendered a decision in the great telephone interference case of Bell v. Gray, McDonough, Veikler and others. The case involved the question of priority of invention of the telephone. The commissioner affirms the superiority of the Bell system, and awards the priority of invention to Bell in all claims of importance.

Stabbing Affray at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 4.—A juvenile stabbing affray is reported to have taken place at Sealarton yesterday that is likely to be attended by fatal results. Two boys were quarrelling. One was getting the better of the other and a third boy interfered, the bigger brother of the boy who was getting the worst of the fight. The two boys fighting were named Demson and Blackwood. The elder Blackwood, who interfered, was aged 14, and Demson was about 9. When the third boy interfered Demson took to his heels. The elder Blackwood followed him, and when Demson fell exhausted in the snow Blackwood knelt upon him, deliberately took out his jack-knife, opened it, plunged the blade into the small of Demson's back. The little boy was removed to his home. Both his legs were paralysed, and he is not expected to recover. Blackwood is still at liberty, and so steps have as yet been taken to have him arrested or punished.

Blended With Grief.

A shabby dressed woman called a gentleman for aid, claiming that she was in a starving condition. He looked upon her pathetic form, estimating her arduousness of a sordid form,
and answered:
"You don't look like a starving woman."
"I know it," she whined to-day, "I'm blended with grief."—Cincinnati Sun.

A Steamer Blown up.

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 5.—The steamer Wave plying between Wilmington and Fayetteville burst a boiler this afternoon and sank.
Three of her crew were blown into the river and drowned.

A Fatal Feast.

SILVER MILL, O., March 4.—Fifteen persons were poisoned by eating oysters at a church social here. Three are dead and six others will probably die.

"Frozen Face" is a purely American expression, and one, too, of recent origin. It has the merit of attracting attention, and also seems to bear conviction of truthfulness on its face.
We make room in our columns to-day, for a fact of this character. A correspondent, Henry Whiting, Esq., of Boston, Mass., says:
"Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured my son of a fever of two years' standing. Please accept our gratitude." We believe it to be a fact, whether "frozen" or otherwise, that America needs more men like Mr. Whiting; men who act, men who invest igate truth, and setse opportunities.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1886.

LENNOX

THE Lennox election trial was resumed at Napawan on Thursday. Several witnesses were examined, but Anderson, one of the "hot head ad young men," and the witness who was most particularly wanted in order to discover where the money came from that the "mysterious stranger" used so freely, was still absent in the United States. Mr. Hawley, the Reformer who was elected, stated that Anderson's evidence would not affect him, and said: "I can only fancy that he keeps away knowing that his evidence will affect somebody, but it will not affect me." If the Reform Association of the constituency did not furnish the funds, as was sworn to; if it was not raised by subscription among the faithful in the riding, as was also stated, and if Mr. Hawley did not furnish it, as he swears, where did the money come from?
Who is it that Anderson is trying to shield by remaining in the United States?

Anderson must have important reasons for not coming home. He is a law student and the time of his studies is about out, but he has not passed his examinations. None but weighty reasons could keep him away from the country and endanger his future in his profession. The persons he wishes to shield must be such as would give him reasons for thinking that he would not eventually lose by the course he is following, for it is not for personal safety that he stays away from Canada, the prosecution having even gone so far, in their endeavours to get his evidence, as to agree not to prosecute him if he appeared. He need not fear for himself, Mr. Hawley states on oath that Anderson's evidence would not affect him, then who are the parties for whom he remains away from his country and neglects his personal concerns?

The persons who were interested in securing Mr. Hawley's return were the ones who would be most likely to furnish the money, and who would desire not to have Anderson appear in court. The persons most interested were Mr.
Hawley, the Ontario Government and the local Reformers. Mr. Hawley says he did not furnish the money, and does not fear Anderson's evidence. The leading local Reformers know of no fund being subscribed, yet the "mysterious stranger" had plenty of money and Anderson remained in exile to shield some one.
The result of the trial, so far as it effects the constituency, is that Mr. Hawley is unseated, but not disqualified.

THE PROVINCIAL FRANCHISE.

THE Ontario Government has at last undertaken to deal with the franchise, and a bill for that purpose has been introduced into the Legislature by the Minister of Public Works.
That the measure introduced extends the franchise to many who have heretofore been excluded from the privilege of voting, is little to the credit of the Government. The best features of the bill are taken from the measure drafted by the Dominion Government or embody the principles urged upon the Government by the Opposition.

The opinion of the Opposition in regard to the extension of the franchise was set forth in a resolution moved by Mr. Meredith in the House previous to the last general election, the resolution being as follows:—
"That this House is of opinion that justice to large and important portions of the community demands a liberal extension of the franchise, particularly in the direction of conferring on the sons of mechanics and others not now entrusted with the franchise, the same privileges as are now conferred on farmers' sons."

The Government has adopted the policy of the Opposition, and all that the people now to be given the right of assisting to govern the Province have to thank the Reformers for, is for not allowing them to possess the privilege earlier. They caused delay and staved off the extension of the franchise until they had prepared a gerrymander act which they hoped would make them more independent of the majority of the people, and through the operations of which they would have less to fear from such an extension of the franchise as the Opposition has compelled them to adopt. We mistake the character of the people very much if they do not resent both the attempt to mislead them by claiming credit for the franchise extension and the insult offered them by the gerry-mander act which the Government have introduced into the Legislature, and which their present majority there will no doubt vote for and place in the statute books.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIA-MENT OF CANADA.

The Factory Act, Railway Passenger Tickets, The Exchange Bank Again
—A Fallen Angel's Record.

THURSDAY, March 5.—A number of petitions were presented in regard to the Scott Act and the Insurance Bill.

FACTORY ACT.
Mr. BROWN introduced his Factory Bill as amended.

PASSENGER TICKETS.
Mr. McCARTHY introduced a bill as to the reclamation of unused railway tickets.

THE EXCHANGE BANK.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT moved a resolution condemning the Government for advancing $300,000 to the Exchange Bank. He made a bitter attack upon Sir L. Tilley for lending the money to a bank in difficulties, for not taking better security, and for not making greater efforts to obtain repayment. He said that the advance was made because it was a political bank and to favor political friends. He believed, however, that if an angel from Heaven should prove a Minister guilty, his followers would vote him innocent.

Sir L. TILLEY said that in his long experience in Parliament he had always received courtesy and respect from every one but Sir R. Cartwright, who had reflected upon his honor and integrity in a very ungentlemanly manner. As to the accusation that he had supported the Exchange Bank for political motives, the only instance he knew of such action was when Sir Richard supported that Reform institution, the Ontario Bank. The present Administration had also come to the aid of the Ontario Bank, through a political opponent. He had noticed the Exchange Bank from public motives, to avert a run and a disastrous panic. Being ill himself the Deputy Minister made enquiries, and came to the conclusion that the bank was safe and that an advance was expedient. Some of the directors were so sure of their standing that they made themselves personally responsible for a further loan. They had at the time, it must be remembered, large sums of money to deposit. He had acted solely in the public interest, and he was confident that on this second attack the House would declare that he had done so.

Mr. HOLTON blamed the management of the Bank, and argued that the Finance Minister ought to have known its position. He maintained that the loss would have been far less heavy if the Bank had closed then.

Mr. CARRUTHERS objected to the Government urging a preferential claim, and said that it proceeded against Mr. Ogilvy on his guarantee.

Mr. MULLOCK urged that the Finance Minister should have known the position of the Bank, and should not have advanced the money.
When the Bank ultimately failed no panic was occasioned.

Mr. BLAKE said that more caution should have been exercised. When the Bank went, there was a general feeling of relief, not of panic.
The other Banks should have been left to afford it any relief that might be necessary. He declared that the Ontario Bank was not a political bank. He excused the advance to the Ontario Bank and the advance to the Exchange Bank.
He declared that the failure would have been less serious if it had not been deferred.

Mr. WHITE (Cardwell) said it was easy for gentlemen opposite to be wise after the event.
When some years ago assistance was required by the Commercial Bank its advocates were two of its directors, Mr. Holton and Mr. Cartwright, now Sir Richard. The manager, Mr. King, placed the responsibility for the failure of the bank upon Sir Richard Cartwright. As the argument that the money should not be advanced to the Exchange Bank because it had reduced its capital, he showed that immediately after the reduction of the capital of the Merchant's Bank Mr. Mowat had deposited $200,000 in it, and immediately after the reduction of the capital of the Ontario Bank Mr. Mowat deposited $300,000 with it. Mr. Blake said that the Ontario Bank was never profitable, a rather singular statement in the face of the letter from its president on the eve of a general election asking for support for the Reform Government, "because if they are sustained we will have the use of the government surplus," and the Ontario Bank had the use of the surplus in return for this support. The manager of the Ontario Bank had issued a circular to the same effect as that of President Simpson. The failure of the Exchange Bank was due to bad management and bad book keeping, which had deceived even the Directors, and well might mislead the Government.

Mr. DAVIES was for proceeding against Mr.
Ogilvy and not proving the preferential claim.
If the bank had been allowed to fail, without ministerial interference, it would then have paid a hundred cents on the dollar.

Mr. McMASTER said if the bank could pay one hundred cents on the dollar it was not insolvent as the resolution pretended. The loan had been useful as maintaining public confidence at the time, and the subsequent collapse was due to the speculative management of Mr.
Craig.

Mr. LITTLE and Mr. McMILLAN supported the resolution.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT renewed his attack upon Sir L. Tilley. As to Mr. White's remarks about the Commercial Bank, he challenged his brother director, Sir J. Macdonald, to make any charge against him.

Sir J. MACDONALD said he had not brought any charge. Sir Richard had said that the majority would support the Government even if an angel proved them wrong, but in this case the accuser was a fallen angel—an angel fallen from his high estate into the Reform slough. Mr.
Blake had implied motives, for if he had not the courage to assert he had always the malice to insinuate. But who was more anxious to ride into office or leadership than Mr. Blake—to ride over anybody, whether a member of the Government or the member for East York. The movement of the resolution had raised this question last year and had been defeated, and at present he was only factiously wasting the time of Parliament.

The motion was negatived by 118 to 59.

Playing With Fire.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 5.—Frank Kunkle placed a mixture of turpentine, tar and kerosene oil on a stove to boil this evening. The mixture boiled over and exploded, igniting the clothing of his 7 year old daughter, who was burned to death. Julia Walters, aged 13, was fatally burned. The flesh was burned off the hands and arms of a young man named Depp, who attempted to extinguish the flames, and Kunkle and a 5 year old son were seriously injured.

Good for Nothing.

A young man a few evenings ago ordered a pair of boots in a leading shoe store, and asked for a written guarantee that the boots would last him one year. When he persisted in having the guarantee, the proprietor penned out the following: "Guarantee boots to last one year.
If they do not, I will make them good for nothing."
The young man went off rejoicing.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PRO-VINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

A Bill to Further Extend the Franchise Introduced—The Public Fisheries—Education Department.

THURSDAY, March 5.—Mr. Mowat introduced a bill relating to the administration of the estate of deceased persons, the principal object of which was to abolish the distinction between real and personal property.

THE FRANCHISE.

Mr. FRASER introduced a bill to further extend the franchise. He explained that in the case of owners, tenants, and occupants of real estate in cities and towns the qualification would be reduced to $200 (on the assessment roll), and in incorporated villages and townships to $100. Those who exercised the franchise would in all cases have to be residents at the time of election in the electoral district.
No man would consequently have more than one vote. As to ordinary income, the amount would be reduced to $300, and the stipulation as to paying taxes would no longer exist. Any man who is earning $300 by his labour in a year would get the franchise, whether it was taxable income on the assessment roll or not. A class of voters would also be given to householders who were not entered on the roll, to the limit of $200 in towns and cities or $100 dollars in villages and townships. The householder, however, must not be a joint tenant or boarder. This class would have to be assessed for the qualification on the roll. Another class of voters would be created, called landholders, referring to domiciled owners of land of twenty acres in extent, assessed at $400 in towns and cities, and $200 in villages, or the tenants of houses with land attached of similar value.
This franchise was also extended to the sons and stepsons of this class. The Indian franchise would be allowed to remain as it was before under the last amended Act. In the unorganized districts of Peterborough, Victoria, Hastings and Renfrew, Muskoka, Algoma, and Perry Sound residence would be required of land owners. He thought the extension would be cordially endorsed.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

Mr. G. W. ROSS introduced a bill to define clearly the powers of the Education Department.

THIRD READING.

A number of bills were read a third time, among them being Mr. Wood's bill to amend the Public Lands Act.

SAINT RIVER DISTRICT.

Mr. MOWAT'S bill in regard to the Saint River District passed through the Committee of the Whole with some verbal amendments.

THE FISHERIES.

The House went into Committee to consider the Public Fisheries Bill.

Mr. MERRITT pointed out that the rights in regard to which they were legislating were not defined, and the decision upon which the bill was founded was given on a question of private fisheries.

The Bill was reported with slight amendments.

THE SCHOOL LAW.

The House went into Committee on the Public Schools Act.

Mr. MERRITT moved an amendment that the school elections must take place on the same day as the municipal elections and by ballot.

The amendment was lost.
The section disqualifying municipal officials from acting as school trustees, and also the clause providing that municipal treasurers should act as school treasurers, were struck out.
The Committee rose and reported progress, and the House adjourned.

The Exchange Bank.

An important judgment was rendered in Montreal on Thursday, in a suit brought by the official liquidators of the Exchange Bank, and against a depositor for alleged fraudulent preference, dismissing the case with costs. As this decision effects four or five hundred similar cases, it will materially reduce the dividend of the unfortunate depositors.

Young Men's Meeting.

Mr. Theo. Bone, of St. Catharines, will address the young men's meeting in the Y. M.
C. A. rooms this evening. A large attendance is requested. All young men will receive a cordial welcome.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly east and north, generally fair weather, preceded by light falls of snow in the southern portion; not much change in temperature.

The Nile Centennial.

A telegram has been received from Ottawa that the Peterborough members of the Nile centennial are not likely to obtain a settlement in time to reach home to-day, and they need not be expected till the morning. The reception and banquet intended to be tendered to them this evening will therefore have to be postponed.

A New Era in the Dry Goods Trade at the
"Golden Lion."

This season's importation well worthy of your inspection. Fair, VanEvery & Co. are daily opening their New Spring Goods for every Department. Their Grand Exhibit this season will surpass their former efforts and eclipse everything for Variety, Quality and Cheapness.

Vim and Enterprise.

The Hoboyagone Independent contains the following paragraph:—
"The Peterborough Review mentions the fact that Mr. Corkery, who has been chief bookkeeper for many years, at T. Dolan's large establishment, has entered the partnership as a member of the firm. Mr. Dolan is one of the younger business men of Peterborough who have contributed largely to the vim and enterprise possessed by that thriving town."

With Gen. Brackenbury.

Mr. Sidney Blade, one of the men from Peterborough who remained in Egypt, was attached to Gen. Earle's column, which had a fight with the enemy during which the gallant commander was killed, and it is probable that he witnessed that battle. Gen. Brackenbury, who is now in command of the column, is returning to Lord Wolseley's headquarters at Kord.

The Market.

The attendance at the market this morning was fairly large. The beef supply continues to be fully up to an excess of the demand. Pork and other meats were offered for sale in a less degree of plenty. Beef sold at 50 to 57 per cent, and pork at 37 to 38 per cent. Poultry was very scarce, and what was offered was quickly picked up at high prices. Eggs sold at 18 cents per dozen, and butter at 20 cents per pound. The price of other commodities are unchanged.

Heat and Fresh.

The house clearing season will be soon at hand. Messrs. Salisbury Bros. are at this season, and others, in advance of the time.
The effects of the paint brush are visible immediately on entering their new paint booths.
The shelving has been painted in colors pleasing to the eye, and the coats are also clothed in a new spring paint. The new and rich design ornaments the ceiling, and columns to make the place a "blossom garden." The windows and doors have received their share of adornment, and Messrs. Salisbury Bros. are presenting an appearance at each both fresh and new.

The Relief Work.

In consequence of a despatch being received to the effect that the voyageurs would not arrive in time this evening, the banquet which was to have been held in the roller rink will not take place. The rink will be open to-night to all lovers of the pastime. During this afternoon Mr. C. A. McDougall, of Philadelphia, gave an excellent exhibition of what wonderful evolutions might be gone through on the rollers. He will probably be present to-night.

Those Who Did the Work.

The success of the series of carnivals just completed, reflects credit upon Court Peterborough, No. 29, C. O. F., and to three members of the committee who worked assiduously from beginning to end. The Court ought to feel proud of possessing such energetic workers as Thomas Hooper, Jr., John Fanning, R. Lang, J. Fraser, W. Hooper, H. W. Watson, R. H.
Adams, T. Hooper, Jr., and the well known chairman. To the above named gentlemen the success of the carnivals is largely due. The entertainment provided have been enjoyable to the public and profitable to the Foresters.
All we can add is "God Speed" the Foresters.

The Spring of 1885.

It will not be long until we will once more welcome with delight the beautiful spring days, when the long and cold winter months will have passed away. As the season approaches young men are busy contemplating the purchase of spring clothing. Habilitment Hall's stock will be found unusually large and well selected. A superior and entirely new line of suitcases has arrived, and more are to follow. The stock of gent's furnishings has also been replenished thoroughly, and there is now kept in stock everything that is necessary to clothe a man, from head to foot. The medicine department is a sight worthy the inspection of all young men.
There has just arrived a line of very handsome white and colored shirts that should please the fancy of even the most confirmed dandy. The latest thing out to stand-up and turn-down collars. Call and inspect. A. McNiel, Habili-ment Hall.

Sad and Unexpected Death.

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of Mr. James Howden. Only a few days ago the deceased was attending to the usual duties devolving upon him in his business and was in the best of health. On Monday evening while at his home engaged in entertaining his children, he was taken with a sudden pain, but thought it to be nothing more serious than a bilious attack. He spoke of it to his brother who insisted on medical attendance being summoned. On Tuesday the disease, a simultaneous affection of both liver and bowels, with which he was suffering, grew so dangerous that a consultation was held which resulted in no hope of recovery being extended to the sufferer.
On Friday night about 9 o'clock the deceased breathed his last. He was a man of excellent business qualities, thorough integrity, and was one of our most respected citizens. His loss will be felt in business circles for he was a man on which every reliance could be placed. We extend our sympathy to the wife and family who were so suddenly and unexpectedly bereft of a good husband and kind father. The funeral will leave the residence of the deceased, Locks road, North Monaghan, at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

HOUSE-KEEPERS and Hotel-keepers should inspect Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s large stock of Cottons, White and Grey, Flax and Twilled; Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, Cretonnes
in all conceivable patterns, Lace Curtains, Lambrequins, &c., &c. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All Wool, Tapestry, Brussels and Oil
Cloths, Mats, &c. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attraction.

Families that require Mourning will find at Turnbull's Jet Cashmeres and a
